LETTER FROM BOSTON.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

BOSTON THEATRE, Mass, June 26th, 1871.

DEAR FIGARO.—It being the vacation have little to communicate. The Boston Theatre has been occupied with parties you have heard of. I believe it opens on or about the 11th of Sept., and whisper says with Edwin Booth, he not having played here for two years. For the next 3 or 4 weeks a short Summer season with G. Buckley in a sensational piece of "On the Track," which will tend to shorten the vacation. Rumor says Louis Aldrich has the offer of the new theatre nearly completed at St. Johns. Dan Bryant, moderate business at the Globe. Their business manager, McGlennan, a smart man has left and joined the Boston Theatre and no doubt an acquisition. The Boston Museum is open with Craig from Philadelphia, in burlesque; business pretty good. Barnum did immensely; the Japs under canvas here but not much success. I heard Harry Edwards joins Booth in New York. I hope you have enough amusements in California and of course they cannot pay. TOUCHSTONE.

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit.

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

The Best is the Cheapest.

J. W. Tucker & Co. have the finest assortment of jewelry, diamonds, watches, watch-chains, onyx sets, lockets, opera chains, of the finest make, and medallions, of all kinds, ever offered for sale in this city, and their prices are low.

He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge.

Creme de Lis.

Beautiful is the finish developed by the use of DICKEY'S celebrated CREME DE LIS, a pure transparent complexion being imparted. No poison enters its composition.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents.

Oysters and Chowder.

Artificial Limbs,

Pleasing the People.

It is a common doctrine—and, carried to extremes, it has led to all the evils with which the stage is hampered and the drama defiled—that managers of theatres must "give the people what they want," or, in other words, must abdicate all intellectual functions and make their establishments mere marts of trade, selling entertainment as the grocer sells pickles. How false this doctrine is, when not suitably qualified, and how pernicious in its consequences, all observant and thinking people are aware. It would be folly, indeed, to urge that theatres ought always to be kept up to the Shakspearian standard. That is impracticable, and it is undesirable. Plays inferior to those of Shakspeare are, nevertheless, good, and are entitled to their place on the stage. Some attention, moreover, must always be paid to the state and needs of the public mind by the manager who would succeed. But there is a clearly perceptible line where deference to the public taste must stop. The manager of a theatre exercises an educational art, and therefore is bound to respect other considerations than that of filling his pocket. The fact that a considerable portion of the play-going populace may happen to crave a prurient drama, like "Camille," or an indecent exhibition, such as some of the pestiferous British Blondes have occasionally furnished, is not a justification for his administering to that taste. To cater to all the desires of the multitude is simply to wallow in mercenary greed and shameful sin.

How low a public entertainer might descend in carrying out this doctrine of giving the people what they want may, perhaps, be conjectured from the fact that there really are people—and a good many of them—who enjoy seeing a certain English ruffian eat live rats. The same plea that has been urged in vindication of the policy of management which, within the last few years, has brought forward on the New York stage some of the most foul and vicious spectacles that ever disgraced the theatre and insulted a decent public, would equally justify the exhibition of this loathsome eater of vermin. He too is "what the people want." At least, a recent sporting English paper announces his presence at Ramsgate Sands, and says that "unless some steps are taken to check his filthy proceedings, visitors to this popular watering-place will be annoyed by him throughout the season." And the same writer, premising that "this ruffian is an old offender, and must have received encouragement of a marked kind," indulges in the moderate reflection, which we doubt not will be generally approved, that "it is surely somewhat of a reproach that an Englishman exists who bites off the heads of live rats, splits them up with his teeth, and wallows in the entrails, while an appreciative audience cheers the villain grinning at them with a mouth full of blood and hair!"—New York Tribune.

The "Star" System.

The New York Season, speaking of the large number of professionals out of engagements, and the low rates of salary which rule at present, says: "There is no evil without a cause, and no cause of evil that may not be removed. The cause of the inability of the manager to pay higher salaries is the unconscionable extortion of popular stars. The popular stars walk into a theatre, work about twenty hours a week, and take away sums varying from five hundred to six thousand dollars a week! They invest and risk no money, while the manager is responsible for nightly expenses that vary from two hundred to five hundred a night. The stock is powerless to cure this evil. Not so the managers. If they would combine and agree to cut down the star prices, and raise stock salaries, the stars must accept their decision, because without a theatre the star, of course, could earn nothing. The managers should know that they can do far better without Lotta, Jefferson, Booth or Fechter, than Lotta, Jefferson, Booth or Fechter can do without them. The managers hold the keys of the theatres of the country, and should, in the management of the business of these theatres, see that the moneys they pay out are distributed among all the workers with some approach to equitable proportion. Till this is done no permanent good can be effected for the rank and file of the profession, though it contains many an artist of greater ability, greater industry, greater reliability than almost any star who walks away with nearly the whole of the night's receipts of the theatre in which he plays."

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing."

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st.

A Faithful Public Servant.

The morning papers mention the name of Supervisor Badlam for Sheriff. As conservators of the public weal we have watched the official course of Mr. Badlam for the past two years, and agree with the Golden City that he is the "livest" member of the Board. To our notion there are two kinds of honest officials: one, always voting and acting in the interests of the city, but never turning aside to ferret out out official malfeasance for fear of offending some one; the other, equally sound as to acts and votes, but bold and outspoken in the denunciation of rascality wherever it crops out, and not waiting for dishonesty to turn up, but going for it with a will. To this latter class the member from the Sixth belongs. He possesses that bold, aggressive character so much needed and so seldom found in public officials.

After the expose of the management of the Sheriff's office so ably conducted by Mr. Badlam it would be a fitting testimonial to place him in the position where the proposed reform would be rigidly and scrupulously enforced. To thus reward a faithful public servant who has passed the trying ordeal of a term in the Board of Supervisors, would be an incentive for future members, and productive of much good. With, perhaps, the exception of Mayor Selby, we believe Mr. Badlam to be the most deservedly popular man in San Francisco. His name has recently been mentioned in connection with the Mayoralty; we are not aware of the reasons which caused him to withdraw his name from that connection.

FIGARO don't meddle much in political affairs, but takes gratification at times in sustaining an honest officer, and commending an honest man. As a tried, active, bold, outspoken, honest man, FIGARO believes Alec Badlam's name would give important strength to any ticket, however strong it might be without it. We have had our say.

Del Gratia,

I went to the opera last night or I should have felt grieved beyond the possibility of expressing myself, as I could not have witnessed the eight wonder of this progressive age, c'est a dire, the unexampled improvement in mechanical genius displayed in the home manufacture of the ladies' shoes purchased at F. X. Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite Alhambra Theatre.

I have carefully tested and examined your I X L Bitters, and find that they cannot fail to be beneficial as a tonic and promoter of digestion.—G. HOLLAND,

CITY AND COUNTY HOSPITAL, San Francisco, June 29th, 1871.—I should judge that the I X L Bitters must be a very efficient remedy in Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and similar complaints, being composed of a number of vegetable drugs which are principally used in diseases of that nature, and are of the greatest efficiency in their cure.—F. H. ENGELS, M. D. Ass't Resident Physician, Apothecary O. & C. Hospital.

STATE ASSAYER'S OFFICE, San Francisco, July 21st, 1871.—I have made a careful examination of your I X L Bitters, and have found them entirely free of deleterious mineral substances.—Yours, etc., LOUIS FALKNAU, State Assayer.

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

"FIGARO"

Published every day, except Sunday, by

J. P. BOGARDUS

—AT—

532 Merchant st. and 535 Washington st.

SATURDAY.....AUGUST 5, 1871

Figaro will be much obliged if theatrical managers in all parts of the United States, particularly in California, will send to this office programmes of their performances. Brief letters from members of the theatrical profession will also be acceptable. Figaro will mailed free of charge to all desiring it.

"Figaro" is used every night as House Programme for Maguire's Opera House, Metropolitan Theatre, California Theatre, Alhambra Theatre, Bella Union Theatre, Theatre Comique, and all places of amusement in San Francisco.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.—The capital comedy of "Masks and Faces" was presented last night with Mrs Lander in the character of Peg Woffington, Miss May Howard as Mabel Vane, Miss Minnie Walton as Kitty Clive, John McCullough as Triplet, James Carden as Ernest Vane, Owen Marlowe as Sir Charles Pomander, and the other parts appropriately cast. Mrs. Lander's Peg Woffington was of course an artistic impersonation; Miss May Howard played Mabel Vane with much feeling and discretion, and Minnie Walton made a charmingly pert Kitty Clive. John McCullough was excellent as Triplet; James Carden played Ernest Vane in his usual careful style, and Owen Marlowe strengthened the good opinion the public formed of him on his first appearance by his finished style of acting in the part of Charles Pomander. This excellent play will be performed at the matinee to-day. This evening Mrs. Lander will appear in the great play of "Mary Queen of Scots."

Alhambra Theatre.—There are so many attractive features in the programme presented at this establishment that it is hard to particularize "The Nightingale Polka" in the first part is very popular; Vivian is as fresh, original and brilliant as ever in his sketches; Fostelle's Bee dance is a marvel of grace; the sots are funny, the music is good and all are pleased. There will be a matinee to-day for ladies and children.

Bella Union.—There will be great doings at this place of amusement to-night. The inimitable Ella Weaner will appear in her lightning changes; the ever-popular Aline Le Favre will appear for the first time in "The Statue Blanche;" Johnny Manning will perform on the flying trapeze; George and Charles Reynolds will give songs and dances and perform in negro sots; the whole company will appear in a rich and varied programme, and Charles Stetson, the Musical Moke, will make his first appearance. A new local burlesque extravaganza entitled "A lad-in-a-lamp; or, the 40 Thieves of the Period," is announced as in preparation.

Theatre Comique.—Little Maggie Knight who is creating a sensation at the Theatre Comique, is not merely a pretty little girl who can sing a song but is an artiste on whose training for the profession much care has been bestowed. She will appear to-night in a new programme of songs and dances. New acts will be introduced be Jake Wallace, Johnny Tuers and Frank Jones; Ned Ward and Rosa will appear in gymnastic feats; Rosa Vincent, Eva Clayton, Lizzie Harmon, Eva Silva, Blanche, Rose Durand, Annie Lamar and others in a varied selection of songs and dances and the performance will inlcude the ever-popular opera of "Oh Hush!"

The New York Mammoth Circus.—In consequence of previous engagements, this Circus can exhibit but a few nights longer in this city. The fact that the pavilion is crowded nightly sufficiently attests to the merits of the performance. The finale—the desperate hurdle act, winding up with a leap through a ring of flames—is one of the most sensational ever introduced in a circus ring. To-day there will be a matinee for ladies and children, at half price; and this evening a great programme, including many new acts, will be performed.

Skating Carnival.—The members of the Howard-street Skating Rink, together with the most accomplished skaters of the old Pavilion Club, are to hold a grand carnival at Platt's Hall on the evening of the 16th inst. As many of the skaters have acquired great proficiency in the graceful art since former carnivals, and the managers have the experience of these to profit by, the proposed carnival cannot fail to be a grand success.

The Cliff House.—Everyone visits this delightful seaside resort. The rocks covered with sea lions and aquatic birds, present a spectacle to be seen in few parts of the world. The Cliff House is beautifully arranged with private rooms, ball room, bowling alley and other attractions. Captain Foster is the ne plus ultra of hosts, the cuisine is unexceptionable and the wines are superb. Moonlight drives to the Cliff House, are now the fashion.

A Constellation of Stars.—Billy Emerson, who has returned from the Springs; Charley Howard the famous delineator of plantation darkeys; and Sheridan and Mack, the renowned double song and dance men; will blaze with dazzling brilliancy at the Alhambra Theatre on Monday night.

City Gardens.—To-morrow these gardens will be the scene of a general jollification, as the Italians intend to celebrate the completion of Italian unity with Rome as the Capital. Many will join with the children of sunny Italy in their merry making, and the gardens will present a cheerful appearance.

Sunday Excursion.—There is not within miles of this city a more delightful spot than the groves of San Rafael. The steamer Contra Costa will leave the wharf on Davis street, near Vallejo, to-morrow at 10½ A.M., on an excursion.

A Pleasant Excursion.—The splendid steamer Capital will make an excursion to Vallejo to-morrow, leaving Vallejo-street wharf at half-past eight, and leaving Vallejo on the return trip at five o'clock P.M. Tickets for the round trip, $1. No pleasanter excursion could be made.

Anatomical Museum.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Stars For the California Theatre.—F. S. Chanfrau will follow Mrs. F. W. Lander and and after him will come Mrs. D. P. Bowers with a new play.

Opening of a New Theatre.—We have heard of late many rumors of a new theatre to be built in some central location. Last night a new theatre just completed, capable of seating three hundred persons, was open for the first time. The company is a large one, consisting of eleven actresses and twenty-three actors. The opening piece was a comedy, which caused much laughter; the low comedian of the company causing much amusement by his local "rags." The theatre was thronged in every part, and the ladies present attracted much attention by their rich toilettes and tasteful mode of arranging their hair. The name of this new place of amusement, is the Wing Man Ning Theatre, and it is situated on Washington Alley, between Washington and Jackson streets. The lessees are Joseph Toy and Ye Yuen & Co. All our Eastern visitor go to to the Chinese Theatre, and we have no doubt that the Wing Man Theatre will attract many Caucasian visitors, who will go out of coriosity.

Re-Opening of the Oxford.—The popular Oxford Theatre, corner of Sutter and Kearny streets, will be re-opened to the fun-loving public on Thursday next, the 10th inst., by Mr. Chas. Vincent, who has just returned from his annual Summer tour—carpenters, painters and others are busily engaged making every improvement necessary to the comfort of the audience. The bills announce a full and complete burlesque, comedy, minstrel, sensation and pantomime troupe, also the Circassian beauties. See mammoth posters, and programmes, and for list of company see Figaro of Tuesday. N. B.—Performers engaged and those wishing engagements must present themselves at the Oxford on Monday, 7th, at usual rehearsal hours.

Hayes Park.—The wonderful little singer character actress, and dansense Miss Maggie Knight, will appear at these beautiful gardens to-morrow, in conjunction with a company including Johnny Tuers, Jake Wallace, Ned Ward, Rosa, and many other favorites. After the entertainment there will be a ball. The admission is only 25 cents.

Joe Murphy.—Joe Murphy and troupe returned yesterday from a most pleasant and profitable tour in the country. J. H. Vinson; the stage manager, called on us, as in duty bound, to report proceedings, and the company then left for Petaluma.

Manhattan Guard.—This company will hold their adjourned target excursion at Harbor View to-morrow.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

Vallejo.—Joe Murphy, Miss Kate Newton and Charley Backus appeared in "Help" at Eureka Hall, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, to large houses.

Grass Valley.—Prof. Haselmayer gave his last performance at Hamilton Hall on Thursday, for the benefit of the public schools of Tuolumne, recently destroyed by fire.

Petaluma.—Joe Murphy and troupe will appear at the Theatre this evening and to-morrow night in "Help."

Woodland.—The only thing in the way of amusement the Woodlanders had this week was a stump speech by Erick Pourroy. They are all looking forward to the grand gift concert at Washington Hall in aid of the Public School, Fire Department and benevolent orders. At this concert $100,000 are to be distributed in gifts of $20,000 $10,000, $5,000 and in smaller sums. The Woodlanders are jubilant as the tickets are selling rapidly.

Stockton.—The theatre is closed at present On the 30th the San Joaquin Engine Co., No. 3 will give a gift concert at Mozart Hall for the purpose of buying a No. 1 steam fire engine. The tickets are only $2 and $22,000 will be distributed among holders of tickets in sums of $5,000, $3 000, $2,000 down to $20. The man who wins the $5,000 will be able to get plenty of partners at the ball.

Nevada City.—A new brass and string band has been organized in Nevada City—Phil. Coyne leader of the one and M. M. Blum director of the other.

Sacramento.—Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton lectured last night at the Metropolitan Theatre on "The New Republic."

Alameda.—A dramatic club after the style of the Hawiberne club is about to be formed and "Hamlet" will be played at the first entertainmen.

Marysville.—Joe Murphy played in "Help" at the theatre on Monday ard Tuesday evenings. The Appeal says:

The boys have established on a vacant space on C street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, where they hold very intersting entertainments occasionally. They call their performance the "Grand Trans-Atlantic-seven-by-nine-Central-Circus-Company. When we learn the price of admission and managers' names from their advertising cards, the public will be informed of the particulars.

Folsom.—The Pioneer Blind Troupe performed at Firemen's Hall on last night.

Oakland.—De Witt Talmage will lecture this evening on the "bright side of nature."

Portland, Or.—The Tyrolean-Alpine singers gave a concert at Canyon Garden on the 30th ult. The theatre will shortly be opened by the Nathan Troupe.

Virginia City, Nev.—The Lingards performed at Piper's Opera House on Monday and Tuesday evenings. On Thursday, Van Hartman, Newton & Co. took the theatre and exhibited their Panorama of the Franco-German War, and scenes from Paradise Lost.

Corinne.—The Hyers Sisters were announced to give a concert on the 2d.

Salt Lake.—The Theatre has been closed for the Summer season. It will open for the Fall and Winter season in a few weeks. In the meantime the Lingards appeared on the 4th and 5th, and Charley Backus and Kate Newton are announced to appear for two nights—the 7th and 8th.

Port Townsend, W. T.—On the 29th ult. the Forrestelle Troupe, consisting of M'lle Forrestelle May Chapman, R. Bergess, G. Niekerson, Mike Quinn and Frank Carey, gave a performance..... M'lle Jeal's Circus was billed for Aug. 2d.....The Weekly Message says:

Barker's grand Panorama of the Four Rivers of the West, exhibited in this city last Wednesday evening, elicited great praise from our citizens. It was painted at Victoria by S. Barker, and is a work of superior merit, consisting of 45 paintings, 10x16 feet, embracing many familiar scenes.

Omaha.—The next entertainment to be given at the Academy of Music, will probably be the Gift Festival, which has excited so much attention for some time past; and tickets for which are held in all parts of the United States. At this concert the first prize will be $30,000, the second $15,000 the third $10,000, the fourth $5,000, the fifth $2,000, the sixth $2,000, and any number of thousand dollar prizes. The tickets are only $3 and coupons $1

Silver City I. T.—The Owyhee Avalanche chronicles the success of the Pixley sisters in Silver City It says:

It is a rare occurrence to see so many excellencies combined in a traveling troupe as are found in this one. Misses Annie and Minnie are pretty, modest, and charming actresses. They are very lady-like in their demeanor, both in and out of their profession and cannot fail to win golden opinions wherever they go.

It speaks in equal'y high terms of the other members of the company—Ned Campbell, Ellerton, Clara Lewis, Frank Sparrow and Clinton.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

No Eastern mails having arrived for three days our news is necessarily limited.

Mr. and Mrs. Bandmann are residing for the Summer, at Nanuet, Rockland County, N. Y.

Mr. Charles Koppitz, and his band from the Boston Globe Theatre, are giving musical entertainments at Newport, R. I.

The 28th dramatic season at the Boston Museum, which closed on the 5th of July, included 336 performances. Mr. Robert Craig, with a burlesque company, is now acting there; and this is the only actually dramatic entertainment that Boston now enjoys.

We learn that Mr. Florence, the popular comedian, has purchased Mr. Falconer's new play of "Eileen Oge," paying $6,000 in gold, and has likewise agreed to pay Mr. Boucicault $10,000, in gold, for a new piece, now in preparation. Mr. Florence will sail for the United States on the 12th of August. He is now in Bohemia.

The only important New York theatres that are now open, are Wallack's, Niblo's, the Olympic, and Lina Edwin's. At Wallack's the visitor sees Mr. Boucicault's "Elise;" at Niblo's a play called "Across the Continent;" at the Olympic a play called "Schneider;" and at Lina Ewin's a performance on the Swiss Bells, by the Berger Family. A few concert hall entertainments are also to be met with, here and there. This period, however, is the literal Sahara of the dramatic year.

The manager of the New Varieties Theatre in Philadelphia couples the announcement of new comedians, etc., with the extraordinary intimation that, on Saturday, "Twenty sugar cured hams will be given away." What is the connection between sugar cured hams and harlequinades?

Tony Pastor's Opera Troupe are to appear at Louisville, Kentucky, on the 10th and 11th.

The N. Y. Programme says:—"Fred. Taylor will be business manager of the California Theatre, San Francisco, next season." Bah! It would take nine Taylors to make a Fred Lyster.

Mrs. Bowers has purchased the right to Amy Robsart (Hallid's dramatization of Scott's Kenilworth) for every city in the United States, except New York and Philadelphia. The piece will be played at the Walnut in the latter city, and at Booth's New York. It is rumored that Mrs. Chanfrau will be the Amy at the Walnut.

In Boston, Dan Bryant's Minstrels are at the Globe; Robert Craig is at the Museum; the Howard is greatly improved and it is rumored that G. Fawcette Buckley is shortly to bring out his drama "On The Track" at the Boston Theatre.

Jamauschock will travel next season with a complete dramatic company, under the direction of Mr. Pillot.

Butler & Gilmore, the managers of the variety troupe known by that name, have dissolved partnership, and Mr. Butler will manage the company in future.

"Humpty Dumpty" and Blanchard and dog are at the Bowery.

Over one hundred women have applied to the Boston Lyceum Bureau to be placed on their list of lecturers.

Major de Boots Clarke is doing the Rhine and Switzerland with his family. He will appear in New York early in the Fall.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

It is remarked, as a token of a waste, that the New Opera House, in London, built on the site of the one that was destroyed by fire, has been finished nearly two years, and still remains untenanted.

The corner stone of the new Gaiety Theatre, in Dublin, has been laid, the Lord Mayor officiating. The new theatre occupies a piece of ground fronting on South King street, and having a depth of 138 feet toward Tangier-lane.

The farewell of the lyric stage to be taken by Signor Mario was to occur at the Royal Italian Opera of London on July 15th. The Athenæum observes: "It need be scarcely stated that the great Italian tenor has been no party to the raised tariff at the Covent Garden box-office, where the price of stalls asked is 30 shillings, in place of the guinea This is sharp practice on the part of the director, who ought to have adhered loyally to the house-tariff, and left extortion to the middlemen who speculate in stalls and boxes." The result was of course that the public had to pay two and three and guineas for choice seats. Fifteen dollars for one evening's entertainment would rather astonish the good people of San Francisco, who think they pay liberally when they buy a ticket for Italian Opera at "one dollar hop,"—four bits more than they pay to see a circus.

Mrs. Lander, the Tragedienne.

We have never seen an audience exactly "drowned in tears," but Mrs. Lander does make some people weep. The question arises, is grief a provocative of thirst? It seems so, for Hermann, of the cosy little Figaro Saloon, where the red light shines brilliantly opposite the stage entrance of the California Theatre, assures us that more people flock over there for liquid comfort in the shape of prime old Bourbon, English ale, brandy punches, etc., on a tragedy night than when burlesque or farce is played. Strangers in town must be told that the Figaro is the place to go to.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

There is Nothing

Which attracts public attention more than a genteel gait in either sex, to acquire which it is necessary that children's shoes should be made to fit well, which may be accomplished by going to Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, where our scions of respectability are daily to be seen emerging with their purchases.

Eradicator—the only known remedy. Frank

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Julien Perrault, M. D.,

Physician and Surgeon, member of the Medical Faculty of Paris, etc. Dr. Perrault's studies and practice have, for ten years past, been almost exclusively devoted to the cure of General Debility and other Specific Affections, acute or chronic, all which he continues to treat successfully by the newest scientific methods. "FIGARO"

Published every day, except Sunday, by

J. P. BOGARDUS

—AT—

532 Merchant St. and 535 Washington St

MONDAY.....AUGUST 7, 1871

TO HOTEL KEEPERS.

"Figaro," is mailed every morning to all the hotels on the Pacific Coast. Proprietors of new hotels who have not yet received it will have it forwarded free of charge on sending us their address.

FIGARO ON THE CALA. PACIFIC RAILROAD.

FIGARO is thoroughly distributed every day on the cars of the California Pacific Railroad, leaving Marysville for Vallejo and San Francisco at 1 o'clock P. M.

FIGARO ON THE OAKLAND BOATS.

200 "Figaros" are distributed on the Oakland Ferry boats every afternoon, mostly among the passengers arriving by the great Overland Train.

FIGARO ON THE VALLEJO BOAT.

200 "Figaros" are distributed every day among the passengers on the Steamer Capital, on her afternoon trip from Vallejo to this city.

FIGARO ON THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD

"Figaro" is circulated every day on the cars of the Southern Pacific R. R. which leave San Jose for this city at 3:20 P. M

"Figaro" is circulated every day at the Skating Rink.

The Cosmopolitan Hotel.

This fine hotel, always a favorite with the traveling public, and also with those resident in San Francisco for a time, has been purchased by H. H. Pearson, late of the Russ House. Everyone who put up at the Russ House during the time it was under Mr. Pierson's management confessed that he knew how to keep a hotel, and now he is in a position where his facilities for ministering to the comforts of guests are doubled, we may be sure that he will give full scope for his talent for making people feel at home, and that the Cosmopolitan Hotel will be more popular than ever.

How to Dress for a Photograph.

Dark Brown, dark green, maroon and plain black goods without gloss, will make a rich drab color. Silks of the same color will take considerably lighter. Snuff, brown dark leather, dark drab, scarlet, cherry, dark orange, crimson and slate will also take a rich drab color. Violet, blue, purple pink and magenta will take very light, and should be avoided. The hair should not be very wet or glossy.

Dr. Levi W. Taylor's Diamond Tooth Paste makes the teeth shine like pearls.

What leads people to buy all sorts of trash at auction? More bid curiosity.

The Noble Game.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

What Cheer Laundry.

321 Leidesdorff street, near Sacramento.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge.

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 618 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

Creme de Lis.

Beautiful is the finish developed by the use of DICKEY'S celebrated CREME DE LIS, a pure transparent complexion being imparted. No poison enters its composition.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents.

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Sansome street. Ladies' saloon attached. Open day and night.

Artificial Limbs,

Easily Explained.

Some editor, wishing to say a very sharp thing against women, asks: "Why is it that all the Borgias from Brinvilliers down to Martha Grinders, Mrs. Sherman and the Baltimore poisoner, have all been females?" This is very easily answered. As a rule, a woman would be no match for a man in a hand-to-hand struggle; then, again, women do not like the sight of blood, are many of them nervous about using firearms (they are getting over that now, dear creatures, under the tuition of Mesdames Fair and Savier), and they don't like to spoil the carpet or bed-furniture. Of course it may happen to any woman in the course of her lifetime that she would like to remove a certain person from her path, and then she begins to speculate on the best means of doing it. A man in such a case would, perhaps, waylay his victim, put a bullet through him, and then dig a hole in the ground and bury the body. This is too fatiguing for a delicate woman. She therefore very naturally avails herself of science—puts a little arsenic, strychnine, digitalis or prussic acid, as the case may be, into the obnoxious lady or gentleman's drink, then lets down her back hair and then howls forth her grief at his or her sudden and unexpected demise. Poisoning is a feminine art just as much as embroidery, potochomanie, or other work which requires delicacy in every step taken. The reason why the celebrated poisoners of history have been women is that they have done their work well, and have accomplished much before they were discovered.

Lotteries.

In the Kentucky lottery prosecution, a lawyer for the defense claimed that lotteries were "a great moral, religious and Christian institution." Lotteries for the purpose of bringing about public benefits have generally been winked at by the government in most countries, if not specially licensed. The lottery in Omaha for the purpose of founding a public library is duly legalized and has at the head of its management the Mayor and other city authorities. Therefore, those who buy tickets in this scheme break no law, and would not have to return the $2,000 prize as conscience money if they win it.

Look Well.

It is the duty of every true woman to look as beautiful as she can. It is her duty to brighten and gladden the world with her loveliness just as the trees and flowers, the skies and waters brighten and gladden it. Her sense of the beautiful should always and everywhere be cultivated, for thus will her thoughts be made pure, and her mind be the home of sweet and beautiful things. Refinement comes of a love of all things beautiful.

Decidedly Rough.

The Call terms DeWitt Talmage "the Splurger of America." Perhaps, though, it is not much worse than calling him after the vulgar, beery Spurgeon who every Sunday tickles the long ears of thousands at his tabernacle in London.

The ideas of young ladies used to incline them to attract as little attention as possible; now it seems to be just the other way. Dress, attitude, expression, manner — all say now as plainly as they can speak, "Behold me! I am the celebrated Mrs. So-and-so; what do you think of me, good people?"

Ladies are beginning once again to wear charms. Bravo! This is certainly an improvement, for the watch chain is much better place for artificial charms than the back hair or the complexion.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones. from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st.

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure.

What is Glucolein?

So Much the Better.

We find the following in the Sacramento Bee:

Many people have wondered how it was that Joseph Proctor managed to keep up his theatrical company here last year, when it was manifest at times that he was not making expenses. The riddle was partly solved to our satisfaction when he told us just before his departure for the East that he was "going to spend a few months with his family in quiet at his Summer residence at Long Branch." So we suppose he must have had something to depend upon beside what he made here in Sacramento. The matter is now explained by a New York dramatic paper, which says that "Joseph Proctor is the wealthiest actor in America, not excepting John E. Owens." This must be taken with a grain of allowance, but there is no doubt Proctor is well "fixed," and there is not a soul here so mean as to "begrudge" him one cent of his riches.

Two Shifts.

The Ely Record says:

A gentleman who arrived in Pioche from the East (New York State, we believe) was recently heard expressing himself in terms of wrath at the annoyance occasioned by the flies in this vicinity, and, it being about 10 o'clock P. M., he ventured the remark that Nevada was the first place he had ever been in where the flies did not go to bed after dark, and were as troublesome then as any time in the day. "Oh!" said an old resident, "that is easily explained. You see they have adopted the system which prevails in our mines, and work two shifts!" "By George!" exclaimed the immigrant, "I never thought of that.

A Detroit base-ball club glories in the poetic title of "The Waving Lilies," and they are darkies, at that.

Del Gratia,

I went to the opera last night or I should have felt grieved beyond the possibility of expressing myself, as I could not have witnessed the eight wonder of this progressive age, c'est a dire, the unexampled improvement in mechanical genius displayed in the home manufacture of the ladies' shoes purchased at F. X. Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite Alhambra Theatre.

"The Thing."

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit.

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

Euphrosyne's Enameline.

A delicate ENAMEL, imparting an irresistible elegance and refinement to the face. Price 50 cents. Wilson & Co., southeast corner of Fifth and Mission streets.

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

"FIGARO."

MONDAY.....AUGUST 7, 1871

FIGARO will be much obliged if theatrical managers in all parts of the United States, particularly in California, will send to this office programmes of their performances. Brief letters from members of the theatrical profession will also be acceptable. FIGARO will mailed free of charge to all desiring it.

"Figaro" is used every night as House Programme for Maguire's Opera House, Metropolitan Theatre, California Theatre, Alhambra Theatre, Bella Union Theatre, Theatre Comique, and all places of amusement in San Francisco.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

It is very seldom that such a constellation of stars in the minstrel profession is seen as that which will appear to-night at the Alhambra Theatre. Those who visited this popular place of amusement last week were well pleased, but to-night in addition to the artists they saw then there will be Billy Emerson, back from the Springs; Charley Howard, of whom report speaks as the best representative of the old plantation darkey in the world; and Sheridan and Mack, the famous double song and dance men. All these stars of the first magnitude will appear in their most popular specialties which will be found in the programme our first page.

California Theatre.

To-night is the last but five of the farewell engagement of Mrs. Landers. The thrilling play of "Marie Antoinette" will be presented in the same excellent style as on former occasions, with Mrs. Lander as the heroine, John McCullough as Louis XVI, Mrs. Sophie Edwin as Madame Elizabeth, and the characters of the drama—twenty-four in all—well filled by the very strong company of the California Theatre. A new local play by Fred Lyster and W. H. Sedley Smith is underlined for speedy production.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The Agatha States season of Italian opera is in the full tide of success, seats being engaged many nights in advance. To-night, the eighth of the season, the very popular opera of "Rigoletto" will be produced with Miss Ridgway as Gilda, Signor Orlandini as Rigoletto, Signor Cecchi as the Duke of Mantua, Susini as Sparafucili, Signor Ronsovieri as Count Manteroni, Mrs. Melville as Maddalena, Mme. Yonker as Countess Crepano and M. Charles as Borso. To-morrow "Faust" will be performed.

Maguire's Opera House.

The season of French Opera Bouffe at Maguire's Opera House, has been postponed until the termination of the season of Italian Opera at the Metropolitan Theatre.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Ella Wesner has come among us as a missionary of good taste. In the matter of dress she is a model for all young gentlemen and her tailor, whoever he may be, is a genius. Her songs, "The Upper Ten," "Just the Style," and a dozen more are received nightly with great applause. Miss Le Favre is charming as Pete in "The Statue Blanche;" George and Charles Reynolds are great in song and dance, and Johnny Manning performs most gracefully on the trapeze and flying rings. The Bella Union Theatre is crowded nightly.

Theatre Comique.

The attractions at the Theatre are very numerous. Miss Maggie Knight is a decided genius and is the pet of the public; Frank Jones holds his own bravely, and is encored again and again; the operatic play of "Oh Hush!" is a complete success, and Johnny Tuers is excellent as Cuff, and Blanche sings and acts the part of Rose capitally. Eva Silva's sentimental ballads are very popular and Eva Clayton is good in character songs. The bill for to-night will please everyone.

New York Mammoth Circus.

So great and multitudinous are the attractions at the New York Mammoth Circus that the attendance, so far from falling off, increases. It can remain here but a few nights longer, and in order to present as many as possible of the acts comprising the repertoire of the talented company, there will be a change of programme this evening. Hundreds were turned away at the matinee on Saturday, and an extra matinee will be given on Wednesday next to accommodate those who cannot conveniently attend evenings.

The Coming Fair.

The formal opening of the Industrial Fair will take place to-morrow, with appropriate exercises. Hon. Milton S. Latham will deliver the inaugural address. The Pavilion is filling—photographs, statuary, flowers, and hundreds of things, are coming in and being arranged for exhibition; but many exhibitors are tardy, and are urged by the managers to hurry up, or they will be excluded from the exhibition. The Fair will not be in complete running order till the last of the week.

Woodward's Gardens.

The usual skating assemblies to-day, for which no extra charge is made, except for the use of skates. A stroll through these grounds yields a better return for the investment of twenty-five cents than anything that can be purchased with that fractional part of a dollar.

Howard Street Skating Rink.

This rink will be open on Sundays hereafter. Afternoon and morning levees every day. The new floor is perfection itself in its way. New beginners will receive particular attention. Howard street, opposite New Montgomery, between Second and Third streets.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Cranibu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On your way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

Ridiculous Old Woman.

Granny Alta is really too absurd. What we are going to recount will scarcely be believed, but it is nevertheless true. Yesterday the old lady got an idea into her cranky brain that if there was any row caused by the Italian procession, she would be attacked. The Alta office was garrisoned with printers, shooting-sticks and irons were laid in readiness to repel invaders, and Granny Alta was prepared to go into hysterics in the back office on the slightest symptoms of a disturbance. Silly old Granny! not to know that if the Catholics of San Francisco had arisen in their strength to avenge any insult offered to the Pope by the procession, her age and sex would have protected her. This is altogether too rich a joke. Does the Alta imagine for an instant that it has an equal influence with Harper's Weekly on the minds of the people? Pshaw! We shall have the Plebeian fearful of an attack by an armed mob next.

An Improvement.

Some men show their wisdom in making blunders. A Western journalist seems to have been wiser than he knew, when, drawing upon his memory for a poetical quotation about women, he delivered himself in his paper as follows:

> O, woman, in thine hours of ease,
> Uncertain, coy, and hard to please;
> But seen too oft, familiar with her face,
> We first endure, then pity, then embrace.

It is doubtful if Scott and Pope, so essentially unlike, could with the greatest care be so happily combined to present an old subject in a new light.

A "Genial Host."

Dolly Davenport broke his leg in Texas recently, and, nursed by his wife, has been staying at the Washington Hotel in Galveston. His landlord called at his room the other day, and presented his bill in full for six weeks. Dolly examined it, and remarked that it was receipted. "Well," said the old-fashioned landlord, "you should always take good care of your receipts. It's just a little compliment, you see. Good morning."

Going the Whole Hog.

Some years ago, at a public dinner, a Dutchman was one of the company; and during the banquet he paid so much attention to a sucking pig immediately in front of his plate, that he devoured the entire animal. As he finished the last morsel, unctuous and savory, a bustling waiter asked him what he would be helped to next.

"Oh," replied the feeder, "I'll dank you for ven more of dem leetle hoke."

Good Breed.

The London dog show this year will include a mastiff descended from the animal which in 1415 saved his master, Sir Percy Leigh, when lying apparently dead on the field of Agincourt.

Do you think that mastiff does'nt know she had ancestors? Such a dog as that would never form a mesalliance.

Well Put.

At a recent wedding in Rhinebeck, as the clergyman reached the part of the ceremony "I now pronounce you—" a fish peddler in the street shouted "bull heads! bull heads!" to the amusement of some and the consternation of others present on the occasion.

The New York Herald correspondent who thought he had better go when Jeff. Davis called him "a liar and a puppy," was clearly right. If he had remained longer he might have been insulted.

Not a miss—A pretty widow.
A mere blind—A sun-shade.
How to serve a dinner—Eat it.
The best thing out—Out of debt.

A GOOD BURLESQUE.

Ben Butler has been the worst abused man in the country by the newspapers during the last three or four years, yet the following paraphrase on Leigh Hunt's delightful little allegory is so good that we cannot let it pass—notwithstanding its personal application:

ABOU BEN BUTLER.

Abou Ben Butler (may his tribe decrease)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace,
And saw—illumined by the silver moon
And glistening like (curse simile!) a spoon!—
A goblin writing in a book of gold,
A fellow feeling made Ben Butler bold,
And to the presence in the room he said
"What writest thou?" The vision raised its head
And, with a squint peculiarly uncivil,
Answered, "The names of those who serve the d—l."
"And is mine one?" said Butler; "Well I guess so,"
Replied the demon. Butler muttered "yes so."
Then louder—"If there's any doubt, shrewd el',
Write me as one who serves himself."
The goblin wrote and vanished. The next night
It came, blue-gleaming with a sulphurous light,
And showed their names who served Old Nick the best,
And lo! Ben Butler's name led all the rest!

The girls at the East are wearing their hair in a coronet of braid on the very top of the head this Summer. This may be considered a result of the upbraiding to which the pendulous style of coiffure has so long been subjected.

Some young ladies now wear small mirrors, set in gold, hung on their necklaces, instead of lockets. Every time they look at them they see the counterfeit presentiment of the person in whom of all the world they are the most deeply interested.

The worst thing out—Out of money.
The Sultan has learned to "parley voo."
Rapid Consumption—Bolting one's food.

The latest style of silverware is satin-finished, oxidized, and ornamented with purest gilding.

A new style of powder for for the hair has made its appearance. It is of a blush-gray color.

Bonnets, except for church or state occasions, have been discarded for the summer at the East.

Black lace is more used for trimming on dresses than anything else this season at the East.

The decoration of the head with natural flowers and vines is a pretty foreign fashion.

Sunshades with perfume bottles attached to the handles is the latest thing.

Large gilt and enamel combs for the back hair have come in fashion again.

A new style of watch chain is ornamented with small acorns with enamel top.

The Washington Critic is the most sparkling of exchanges. We steal from it daily.

Don't Forget to Visit

The San Francisco Health Lift, 24 Post st.

Mrs. Lander, the Tragedienne.

We have never seen an audience exactly "drowned in tears," but Mrs. Lander does make some people weep. The question arises, is grief a provocative of thirst? It seems so, for HERMANN, of the cosy little FIGARO SALOON, where the RED LIGHT shines brilliantly opposite the stage entrance of the California Theatre, assures us that more people flock over there for liquid comfort in the shape of prime old Bourbon, English ale, brandy punches, etc., on a tragedy night than when burlesque or farce is played. Strangers in town must be told that the FIGARO is the place to go to.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

Which attracts public attention more than a genteel gait in either sex, to acquire which it is necessary that children's shoes should be made to fit well, which may be accomplished by going to KATZ'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, where our scions of respectability are daily to be seen emerging with their purchases.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

"FIGARO."

Published every day, except Sunday, by

J. P. BOGARDUS

—AT—

535 Merchant St. and 535 Washington St

Below Montgomery Block.

TUESDAY.....AUGUST 8, 1871

TO HOTEL KEEPERS.

"Figaro," is mailed every morning to all the hotels on the Pacific Coast. Proprietors of new hotels who have not yet received it will have it forwarded free of charge on sending us their address.

FIGARO ON THE CALA. PACIFIC RAILROAD.

FIGARO is thoroughly distributed every day on the cars of the California Pacific Railroad, leaving Marysville for Vallejo and San Francisco at 1 o'clock P. M.

FIGARO ON THE OAKLAND BOATS.

300 "Figaros" are distributed on the Oakland Ferry boats every afternoon, mostly among the passengers arriving by the great Overland Train.

FIGARO ON THE VALLEJO BOAT.

200 "Figaros" are distributed every day among the passengers on the Steamer Capital, on her afternoon trip from Vallejo to this city.

FIGARO ON THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD

"Figaro" is circulated every day on the cars of the Southern Pacific R. R. which leave San Jose for this city at 8:20 P.M

"Figaro" is circulated every day at the Skating Rink.

Dry Hash.

Some of our contemporaries devote a column to short paragraphs which they call "gleanings," "sun notes," "diamond dust," or some other sweet-pretty name. There is not much nourishment in the stuff generally, but it is easy to devour. We suggest "dry hash" as a good heading for a column of such interesting facts as the following:

Emperor Norton has hair on his nose.

The new Mint is progressing.

Watermelons are cheap.

Newton Booth does'nt smoke.

Governor Haight is a warm-water Babtist.

A slice of lime is good with fried flounder.

The Pyramid of Cheops is two miles in height.

San Francisco streets are cleaner than they used to be.

A lady was seen on Montgomery street yesterday with her hair dressed a la Chinois. Her name was Mrs. Ting Foy.

The weather is warm.

The Prince Imperial speaks good English.

Two and one make three.

The next day after to-day will be to-morrow.

Small things amuse small minds.

Etc., etc., etc., etc., etc., etc., etc., etc.

Those "Materfamilias"

who really feel interested in their children's welfare should call at KAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, to see the sense displayed in his peculiar make of children's Balmorals and Button Gaiters, the adoption of which will certainly guarantee comfort, ease and grace. x

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit. •

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices. •

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoilt, send them to the What Cheer Laundry. •

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge. •

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco. •

Creme de Lis.

Beautiful is the finish developed by the use of DICKEY'S celebrated CREME DE LIS, a pure transparent complexion being imparted. No poison enters its composition. •

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. [illegible], Agents. •

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Summer street. Ladies' saloon attached. Open day and night. •

Artificial Limbs,

Dr. Bly's Patent. Menzo Spring, manufacturer, S.W. cor. Second and Jessie sts. •

A Quaker Printer's Proverbs.

Never sendest thou an article for publication without giving the editor thy name for thy name oftentimes secures publication to worthless articles.

Thou should'st not rap at the door of a printing office, for he that answereth the rap sneereth in his sleeves and loseth time.

Neither do thou loaf about, ask questions or knock down type, or the boys will love thee like they do shade trees—when thou leaveth.

Thou should'st never read the copy on a printer's case, or the sharp and hooked contanor thereof, or he may knock thee down.

Never inquire thou of the editor for the news, for behold, it is his business at the proper time, to give it thee without asking.

It is not right that thou should'st ask him who is the author of an article, for his duty requireth him to keep such things to himself.

When thou dost enter into his office, take heed unto thyself that thou dost not look at what may be lying open and concerneth thee not, for that is not meet in the sight of good breeding.

Neither examine thou the proof sheet, for it is not ready to meet thine eye, that thou mayest understand.

Prefer thine own town paper to any other and subscribe for it immediately.

Pay for it in advance, and it shall be well with thee and thine.

Mrs. Fair.

The New York World having accused the Woman's Rights advocates of defending the crime of Mrs. Fair, Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly replies and denies that it has any objection to her being hanged because she is a woman:

How the World can assume to say that Miss Anthony and Mrs. Stanton "defend or excuse the crime of this woman" is inconceivable. Whatever may have been the antecedents of Mrs. Fair, or her relations with Mr. Crittenden, up to an hour of the murder, or whether to be approved or disapproved upon the principle of free love, there can be no excuse for the killing. She did kill Mr. Crittenden, and if the jury, acting without any motive than justice, found that she was not insane at the time, then, if any murderer should be hanged, Mrs. Fair should be hanged. The question of capital punishment is not specially involved in this case, and the law should have its way the same as in any other case.

Missing.

During the season of Italian opera at the Metropolitan Theatre, a little programme, with the advertisements of a few misguided business men, was pushed in there alongside of FIGARO. Last night it didn't appear and FIGARO was the only programme of the opera. Oppositions to FIGARO, the recognized programme of the theatres and places of amusement in San Francisco, don't pay. There is a large burying ground full of Programmes, Critics, Town and Stages, Dramatic Reviews, and other corpses where we go and weep sometimes. Send on another, FIGARO's ready.

Liberal.

The Boston Pilot, the leading Catholic organ of that city, has had the good sense to say: "If the Orangemen determined to parade, they have a right to parade; that is they have as much right to parade with orange scarfs and banners as a Fenian regiment has with green scarfs and sunbursts."

"The Thing."

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones. from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them. •

What Cheer Laundry.

321 Leidesdorff street, near Sacramento. •

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st. •

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure. •

Perils of Circus Riders.

A writer who has been behind the scenes in a circus says that the dressing-room was occupied by twelve or fifteen performers, in the operation of preparing for their respective acts. Some were naked, and upon their bodies, in every conceivible place, appeared formidable bandages and plasters. These were from sprains and bruises, of which everyone had his share, and no small share at that. One of these gentlemen, a well-known bare-back and four-horse rider, while in the act of putting on a pair of elastic knee-caps, to strengthen his knees, explained that the most serious strains resulted from riding and tumbling came upon the kidneys, which were often badly injured. The breast was also strained at times, though not so frequently. Such matters as shoulder and ankle sprains were continually occurring and unworthy of notice. Heaps of porous plasters and quantities of glycerine—enough to stock an apothecary's shop—were used by a circus company in one season.

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual au5 1m

FIGARO will be much obliged if theatrical managers in all parts of the United States, particularly in California, will send to this office programmes of their performances. Brief letters from members of the theatrical profession will also be acceptable. FIGARO will mailed ree of charge to all desiring it.

"Figaro" is used every night as House Programme for Maguire's Opera House, Metropolitan Theatre, California Theatre, Alhambra Theatre, Bella Union Theatre, Theatre Comique, and all places of amusement in San Francisco.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

An immense audience assembled last night to welcome the most popular of minstrels, Billy Emerson, back, and to give a cordial greeting to the new arrivals: Charley Howard and Sheridan and Mack. Everything went well and everyone was encored again and again; Vivian's songs being rewarded with great applause, and Billy Emerson having to beg the audience to forbear; Charley Howard, whose specialty is the old plantation negro, made his appearance in the sketch of "Old Uncle Jeff at Home," and in the character of Uncle Jeff sang several songs and executed a break-down which drew great applause. Billy Emerson having appeared in the same part before, Charley Howard's success was not so great as it might have been had he made his debut before a California audience in something entirely new, but he had no reason to be disatisfied with the measure of applause which rewarded his efforts. Sheridan and Mack are decidedly original, they appeared first as an aged couple and sang "My Old Wife and I," retired behind the curtain and in an instant were on the stage as a boisterous Irishman and woman and sang "Pat McCan" in rollicking style; another change and they became a school-boy and girl and sang "The Nerves," and finally appeared in tasteful costume and performed a very graceful double dance entitled "We'll Have no Noise," the peculiarity which gives it its title being that it is danced in shoes with felt soles, and none of the clattering noise which sometimes drowns the accompaniment was heard. Their changes were really marvellous, and their assumptions of character were good. With Billy Emerson at the head, the inimitable Vivian and these new additions, Emerson's Minstrels may challenge the world to give an entertainment equal in excellence and variety to that which will every night this week delight large audiences at the favorite Alhambra Theatre

California Theatre.

The play of "Marie Antoinette" was performed in excellent style last night. Mrs. Lander as the unfortunate Queen gave a most powerful representation of the character, and John McCullough was equally good as the King. Miss Imogene Van Dyke played Princess de Lamballe naturally and unaffectedly; Henry Edwards was excellent as the Duc de Lauzun, and James Carden gained many a round for the speeches complimentary to American institutions, which he had to utter in the role of Lafayette. The same play will be performed to-night.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The opera of "Rigoletto" was performed last night in good style, though Signor Orlandini craved the indulgence of the audience, his voice not being in good order. Signor Cecchi filled the role of the Duke of Mantua well, and Miss Ridgway strengthened the good opinion formed of her by the public, by her fine acting and singing as Gilda. To-night the ever-popular opera of "Faust" will be presented again, and those who have not already secured seats, will do well to put in an early appearance at the box-office. The present week is the last of the Italian Opera. And on Saturday it will close. On Thursday night "La Traviata," will be sung for Madame State's benefit.

French Opera Bouffe.

The season of French Opera Bouffe under the management of Madame Lea Silly will commence on Monday, the 14th inst. The opera of "La Belle Helene" will be produced, with Madame Silly in the title role, M. Felix Girrebunk as Paris, and MM. Bennet, Vandelet, Noe and other favorite artistes in the cast.

Bella Union Theatre.

Round the bright planets, Miss Ella Wesner, Aline La Favre, George Reynolds, Charley Reynolds, and Johnny Manning, the most graceful of gymnasts, cluster a number of lesser luminaries, and all shine brightly in their respective spheres. The music is good, the singing is pleasing, the acts are fonny, and "The Statue Blanche" is capitally performed.

Theatre Comique.

Who says San Francisco does not appreciate opera? Italian opera is drawing crowded houses at the Metropolitan Theatre, horse opera is crowding the pavilion on Jackson street, next week we are to have French opera at Maguire's, and Ethiopian opera—"O, Hush!"—is performed nightly to large and delighted audiences at the Theatre Comique. In addition to this, Miss Maggie Knight appears in gorgeous Chinese costume and sings a character song which must be heard to be appreciated, and the other members of the talented company appear in a varied programme.

New York Mammoth Circus.

But a few days more and the circus will depart. All should enjoy while they may, the feats of the riders, the performances of the wonderful horses and ponies, the graceful acts of the gymnasts, the jokes of the clown, and the many amusing features, which go to make up a first-class circus performances such as that given by the New York Circus. At 3 P. M. to-morrow there will be a matinee performance for the accomodation of families. Everyone should pay at least one visit to the circus before it leaves.

The Pavilion.

From morning till night, yesterday, exhibitors were rushing their goods into the Pavilion and thon procrastination has prevented the space allotted being as well filled as should be the case. the building will to-day present a lively appearance on the occasion of the opening which will take place to-day at 11 o'clock. The inaugural address will be delivered by Milton S. Latham. The Pavilion will form a delightful lounging place for many weeks to come, and those who neglect to purchase season tickets will miss a great deal of pleasure. A place of resort where friends may meet and spend the afternoon or evening in social chat and listening to good music is sadly wanted in San Francisco and the Fair fills the Congress Hall.

This fine hall, opposite the Alhambra Theatre Bush street, will be occupied by a troupe of wonders known as the Madagascar Combination on Thursday next. This troupe was brought to New York by Barnum the great showman, in 1871, and for a long time was the sensation of his Museum there. Their attractions are their hair and beards; one of the members glories in a beard over nine feet long. They have with them, an Eastern snake charmer, and his serpents, among which are some African anacondas of great size, who will give an exhibition of his powers every half hour. The exhibition promises to be interesting and instructive; especially so to California children, who have never had opportunity to see the like before.

Complimentary Benefit to Joe Murphy

Joe, the successful, is not to leave California, his old home, without a farewell complimentary being tendered to him. The affair will come off at the Metropolitan Theatre on Monday next, when "Help" will be played for the last time, as Joe takes the morning train on Tuesday for the East, stopping at Salt Lake City en route to play a short engagement.

Re-Opening of the Oxford.

Since manager Vincent's return from the Northern trip he has busy superintending the remodeling and refitting of the Oxford, which will re-open on Thursday evening, improved in many respects. The programme will be announced to-morrow.

Woodward's Gardens.

The usual skating assemblies to-day, for which no extra charge is made, except for the use of skates. A stroll through these grounds yields a better return for the investment of twenty-five cents than anything that can be purchased with that fractional part of a dollar,

Howard Street Skating Rink.

This rink will be open on Sundays hereafter. Afternoon and morning levees every day. The new floor is perfection itself in its way. New beginners will receive particular attention. Howard street, opposite New Montgomery, between Second and Third streets.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Obailiu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that th former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

The Noble Game.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

LETTER FROM CHICAGO.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

CHICAGO, July 22d, 1871

DEAR FIGARO:—The amusement world in Chicago is probably quite as brisk as in any other city at this season of the year. In fact, since the Chicagoans have succeeded in making a river run up hill, and through which they empty the waters of Lake Michigan into the Mississippi river, they have special reasons for rejoicing, and why not demonstrate their hilarity by patronizing the excellent comedy troupes that are now catering to the dramatic tastes of the Chicago public? But speaking of the famous Chicago river, whose stench has so long occupied the attention of journalists and visitors to our city, reminds me of meeting on the bridge one day this week the well-known editor of the "Happy Hours, whose handkerchief was closely pressed to his face, which was red from holding his breath, while crossing this formerly turbid stream. "Got the nosebleed?" I asked, buttonholing Mr. Editor. "No; let me be," was the response. But holding on, I discovered that the Knight of the Quill had become so accustomed to preparing for the expected stench that he had not yet got out of the old habit. He said it was with him as with one of his contributors who had a turbulent wife, and when she experienced religion it became very hard to break himself of dodging the expected missiles which formerly greeted his arrival when entering his door.

HOOLEY'S OPERA HOUSE

has been doing an immense business for the past week. Crowded houses have greeted them every evening. Con. T. Murphy, of the McKee Rankin company, and Mr. John Dillon have been engaged by this company for three weeks, when they will rejoin Rankin for a tour in the country. "Everybody's Friend" and "Little Rebel" have been th attractions. "The Field of the Cloth of Gold" is underlined. Mr. Fawcett has gone to New York to take his place at the Fifth Avenue Theatre. W. J. Jennings, also of this troupe, leaves for Boston soon to fill his engagement at the Globe.

WOOD'S MUSEUM

has been closed—that is, the auditorium—the past week for renovation. The opening night for the troupe, which is a powerful one, has not yet been fixed. The members of the new troupe are as follows: J. K. Mortimer, leading man; Miss Isabella Freeman, leading lady; Miss Lizzie Maddern, soubrette; Misses L. and M. Mahen, juveniles; Mrs. Chas. Walcott, old lady; Mr. Langrishe, comedian; Messrs. Griffith and C. H. Wilson, old men. Mr. Bernard, of Crosby's Opera House, takes the orchestra, Mr. Marsh the box office, and Mr. Cook the door. Mr. Langrishe takes upon his shoulders the entire management of the theatre, while Col. Wood looks out for the curiosities.

M'VICKER'S THEATRE

is rapidly drawing to completion. There are about one hundred workmen now engaged in renovating the building and making it ready for the opening night, August 31st. The company have all been secured.

DEARBORN THEATRE.

"Ours" was the attraction at this house during the past week. McKee Rankin and Beval Ryan saved the piece from being an utter failure. The piece was put on the stage in fine style; the mechanical effects were good; but the acting of some of the leading characters was wretchedly bad. Underlined for this house is "The Little Treasure" and a singing piece called "Minnie."

THE OLYMPIC.

Bowman and Harris, end men and comedians, "Little Pauline" and Frank Dillon have been the attractions at this popular place during the past week. "The Country Cousin" was the afterpiece which was played well for a variety company. For next week we are promised some very big attractions. Dillon is underlined for a benefit at this house.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Cazaurin's play, "American Divorce," will be produced at Wood's Museum for the first time, with J. Mortimer in the principal role, the right for this city having been sold to Mr. Langrishe.

John Robinson's Circus is billed here for next week. Van Amburg's Menagerie is billed—time not stated.

WILL.

Mrs. Lander, the Tragedienne.

We have never seen an audience exactly "drowned in tears," but Mrs. Lander does make some people weep. The question arises, is grief a provocative of thirst? It seems so, for HERMANN, of the cosy little FIGARO SALOON, where the RED LIGHT shines brilliantly opposite the stage entrance of the California Theatre, assures us that more people flock over there for liquid comfort in the shape of prime old Bourbon, English ale, brandy punches, etc., on a tragedy night than when burlesque or farce is played. Strangers in town must be told that the FIGARO is the place to go to.

"Uneasy Rests the Head

"That wears a crown" unless it has one of Shaber & Co's wonderful easy chairs—the best and cheapest ever offered to the public. Coin will buy furniture and bedding of Shaber & Co. at very low rates.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

There is Nothing

Which attracts public attention more than a genteel gait in either sex, to acquire which it is necessary that children's shoes should be made to fit well, which may be accomplished by going to EAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, where our scions of respectability are daily to be seen emerging with their purchases.

Reading Matter for All,

Loomis, at his stationery store at the S. E. corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the Post Office, does almost as rushing a business as the Post Office itself. All the New York papers and English magazines are there.

Since the Great Reduction

In prices at Guerin & Kelly's Prize Boot and Shoe Store, their store has been crowded with customers. Call and see them. 327 and 329 Bush street.

The Radical Rheumatic

Eradicator—the only known remedy. Frank H. Lashier, proprietor, No. 206 Fourth street San Francisco.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Julien Perrault, M. D.,

Physician and Surgeon, member of the Medical Faculty of Paris, etc. Dr. Perrault's studies and practice have, for ten years past, been almost exclusively devoted to the cure of General Debility and other Specific Affections, acute or chronic, all which he continues to treat successfully by the newest scientific methods. Office 502 Montgomery street, northeast corner of Sacramento st., San Francisco, Rooms 9, 10 and 11. Consultations in English, French, German and Spanish.

I have carefully tested and examined your I X L Bitters, and find that they cannot fail to be beneficial as a tonic and promoter of digestion.—G. HOLLAND,

CITY AND COUNTY HOSPITAL, San Francisco, June 20th, 1871.—I should judge that the I X L Bitters must be a very efficient remedy in Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and similar complaints, being composed of a number of vegetable drugs which are principally used in diseases of that nature, and are of the greatest efficiency in their cure.—F. H. ENGELS, M. D., Ass't Resident Physician, Apothecary C. & C. Hospital.

STATE ASSAYER'S OFFICE, San Francisco, July 21st, 1871.—I have made a careful examination of your I X L Bitters, and have found them entirely free of deleterious mineral substances.—Yours, etc., LOUIS FALKNAU, State Assayer.

"FIGARO."

Published every day, except Sunday, by

J. P. BOGARDUS

—AT—

632 Merchant St. and 535 Washington St

Below Montgomery Block.

WEDNESDAY.....AUGUST 9, 1871

TO HOTEL KEEPERS.

"Figaro," is mailed every morning to all the hotels on the Pacific Coast. Proprietors of new hotels who have not yet received it will have it forwarded free of charge on sending us their address.

FIGARO ON THE C.P.A. PACIFIC RAILROAD.

FIGARO is thoroughly distributed every day on the cars of the California Pacific Railroad, leaving Marysville for Vallejo and San Francisco at 1 o'clock P. M.

FIGARO ON THE OAKLAND BOATS.

200 "Figaros" are distributed on the Oakland Ferry boats every afternoon, mostly among the passengers arriving by the great Overland Train.

FIGARO ON THE VALLEJO BOAT.

200 "Figaros" are distributed every day among the passengers on the Steamer Capital, on her afternoon trip from Vallejo to this city.

FIGARO ON THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD

"Figaro" is circulated every day on the cars of the Southern Pacific R. R. which leave San Jose for this city at 3:20 P. M

"Figaro" is circulated every day at the Skating Rink.

A Religious Conundrum.

A correspondent of the Occident propounds the following conundrum:

If Christians can indulge in dancing with propriety, is there any impropriety in using the church to dance in? If there is none, why are they not so used?

Here is another for this smart correspondent: If Christians may make love to pretty girls, is there any impropriety in using the church for that purpose? If it is improper, why will people do so? Another still: If Christians can ride velocipedes, why don't they velocipede in the church? Go to, correspondent of the Occident—thou art an imbecile.

A Modest Enterprise.

On the 30th inst. a gift concert is to take place at Mozart Hall, Stockton. The first prize will be $5,000, the second $3,000, the third $2,000, and the fourth $1,000. This concert is given by the San Joaquin Engine Co. No. 3, for the purpose of purchasing a steam fire engine for the city. As the tickets to the concert and the ball which follows are only $2 each, we may safely prophesy that the San Joaquin Engine Co. will get its new steamer, and some lucky fellow will get $5,000. The enterprise is under the patronage of the Mayor and leading citizens of Stockton.

Academy of Natural Sciences.

The Academy of Natural Sciences held a meeting in their rooms on Monday evening. Prof. Bumble in the Chair.

Professor Doddle presented the petrified bone of an animal which he had found in his well. He supposed it to be the maxilla of a pullus asini, its size being diminutive.

Dr. Blinker said that the contribution was of no value; the Society had more than they wanted of that sort of thing.

A specimen of what Mr. Toddle thought might be coal was smelled carefully by the members present, and the conclusion was come to that it might be coal and then again it might not.

Professor Bumble announced that the "savange" of the East had been invited to pay a visit to the West. He hoped that they would not be obliged to "put to sea in a bowl," as other wise men had done in early days in consequence of not being able to dead-head through on the steamer or railway, and proposed that a subscription be taken up among the members to pay their fare.

Professor Goggles said "that gas bill had better be paid before any other subscription was taken up."

Prof. Minnikin had no doubt if the "savange" came, arrangements could be made to board them at half the usual rates at the What Cheer House, as Mr. Woodward had a Museum and liked scientific men, and knew as much about science as a majority of the Academy, and scientific men were very plain in their tastes, and he'd speak to Woodward about it.

Professor Clinkipot said he didn't see no use in importing no foreign "savangs;" there was just as good savangs in San Francisco as anywhere, and it was throwing away money, and if they wanted to come they should be made to pay their way. The Academy could teach them a darned sight more than they could teach it, and he was opposed to the whole matter.

An angry altercation arose which might have become serious had not the attention of the meeting been called by Dr. Gibbons, with admirable tact, to a pipe-fish, which he said he had had in his possession for a long time, but had never exhibited it, keeping it for some such an occasion as the present when it might serve as oil on the troubled waters.

Professor Gramp wanted to know what the mischief a pipe-fish had to do with oil on troubled waters. He was called to order.

Professor Waffles read forty-five pages of foolscap on the subject of infusional deposits induced by by infulcion and their ingravescence when infuscation was existent. The members of the Academy present said "they thought so too."

Professor Doddle read an interesting paper on the peditum and its prevalence, which he attributed to the advance of civilization. The subject of the gas bill came up for discussion, and a committee was appointed to wait on the Gas company, to ask them to supply light free, in consideration of the immense service done the world at large by the California Academy of Science.

Euphrosyne's Enameline,

A delicate ENAMEL, imparting an irresistible elegance and refinement to the face. Price 50 cents. Wilson & Co., southeast corner of Fifth and Mission streets.

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing."

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

Deeds at expense of purchasers.

P. H. CANAVAN,
JOS. G. EASTLAND,
CHAS. E. McLANE,
Board of City Hall Commissioners.

ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

THE GREAT

MADAGASCAR COMBINATION

A Family of the Most Wonderful people ever seen, will open at this popular Hall

ON WEDNESDAY.....AUGUST 9th

FOR FOUR DAYS ONLY.

Their great wonders are their Eyes and Hair. Their eyes, are not round, as other people's, but of an angular form, nearly square, and continually in motion, and are of a pinkish hue changing their color every minute in the day. They have beautiful white silken Hair, nearly three feet in length, and complexion fair and white as the driven snow.

In connection with this Wonderful Family,

Miss Zobeide Luti,

THE BEAUTIFUL CIRCASSIAN LADY,

May be seen. This lady was born in the year 1849, at Kizlar the Capital of the Russian Government in Circassia. Miss Luti has just returned from Great Britain, where she appeared before over 16,000 people in one day at the Crystal Palace, and within the last three years has made a complete circuit of Europe, visiting all its Capitals. She has appeared before their Majesties Queen Victoria and the French Emperor and Empress. She invites interrogation that bears upon herself or her own native land, and the stranger will quickly detect, and long remember, that grace and reserve of manner which indicate a brilliant lady. She speaks nine different languages.

MASTER JOSEPH

Inherits all the wonderful peculiarities of his parents, the Madagascars; is very handsome, is a perfect master of the Violin, and speaks five languages fluently.

Herr Kerpin,

"FIGARO."

Published every day, except Sunday, by

J. P. BOGARDUS

—AT—

532 Merchant st. and 535 Washington st.

Below Montgomery Block.

WEDNESDAY.....AUGUST 9, 1871

Figaro will be much obliged if theatrical managers in all parts of the United States, particularly in California, will send to this office programmes of their performances. Brief letters from members of the theatrical profession will also be acceptable. Figaro will be mailed free of charge to all desiring it.

"Figaro" is issued every night as House Programme for Maguire's Opera House, Metropolitan Theatre, California Theatre, Alhambra Theatre, Bella Union Theatre, Theatre Comique, and all places of amusement in San Francisco.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

"Marie Antoinette" was performed again last night in excellent style. To-night Mrs. F. W. Lander will appear in her great character of Mrs. Haller, in "The Stranger." On Friday evening Mrs. Lander will take her farewell benefit.

Alhambra Theatre.

This house was crowded again last night and every portion of the programme was loudly applauded. Vivian's songs, especially "I Saw Esau Kissing Kate," went well; Billy Emerson was capital in first part, interlude and afterpiece; Charley Howard repeated his sketch of 'Old Uncle Jeff at Home;" Sheridan and Mack appeared in their great character acts, and Master Eugenia gained great applause for a pretty ballad. The same bill will be presented to-night.

Metropolitan Theatre.

"Faust" was presented last night in the same acceptable style which characterized its first production, and the audience were liberal in the applause. To-morrow evening Madame Agatha Bates, who has every reason to be proud of the success which has attended her in giving a season of Italian opera in San Francisco, will take her farewell benefit. The opera of "La Traviata" will be performed.

Bella Union Theatre.

It is a pity that ladies can't go to the Bella Union, they would all fall in love with Ella Weaner in the characters of "Champagne Charley," Rackety Jack," and a dozen others which she impersonates with such delight, dash and spirit. Aline La Favre is particularly good in the character of Pete in "The Statue Blanche," and the Reynolds Brothers, Johnny Manning and the large company of artistes engaged here present a very good entertainment every evening.

Theatre Comique.

Miss Maggie Knight, Frank Jones, Johnny Tuers and a host of others will appear to-night in the programme set forth on our first page. The capital negro opera of "O, Hush!" has made a decided hit; it is well sung and acted, and much applauded. Miss Maggie Knight's Chinese act is as popular as ever.

New York Mammoth Circus.

But a few days more and the circus will depart. All should enjoy while they may, the feats of the riders, the performances of the wonderful horses and ponies, the graceful acts of the gymnasts, the jokes of the clown, and the many amusing features, which go to make up a first-class circus performances such as that given by the New York Circus. This afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a matinee performance for the accomodation of families. Everyone should pay at least one visit to the circus before it leaves.

Platt's Hall.

This fine hall on Montgomery street, will be occupied all this week by a troupe of wonders known as the Madagascar Combination of curiosities. This troupe was brought to New York by Barnum the great showman, in 1862, and for a long time was the sensation of his Museum there. Their attractions are their hair and beards; one of the members glories in a beard over nine feet long. They have with them, an Eastern snake charmer, and his serpents, among which are some African anacondas of great size; he will give an exhibition of his powers every half hour. The exhibition promises to be interesting and instructive; especially so to California children, who have never had oppertunity to see the like before. Hours of exhibition from half past 1 to 5 P. M., and from half past 7 to 10 in the evening.

The Pavilion.

The Eighth Industrial Exhibition of the Mechanic's Institute was formally opened yesterday. After a few opening remarks by President Hallidie, Hon. Milton S Latham delivered the inaugural address. The Pavilion presented an animated scene, a large audience being present to hear the address and swarms of workmen busy everywhere fitting up stands and arranging goods. It is a great pity that everything could not have been in place at the opening, but everyone is hurrying up now and by the end of the week, the exhibition will be complete. Every inch of space is taken and those who have not sent in their applications are bitterly disappointed at being left out in the cold as they richly deserve to be. The Pavilion will form a delightful lounging place for many weeks to come, and those who neglect to purchase season tickets will miss a great deal of pleasure. A place of resort where friends may meet and spend the afternoon or evening in social chat and listening to good music is sadly wanted in San Francisco and the Fair fills the void.

Woodward's Gardens.

The usual skating assemblies to-day, for which no extra charge is made, except for the use of skates. A stroll through these grounds yields a better return for the investment of twenty-five cents than anything that can be purchased with that fractional part of a dollar.

Howard Street Skating Rink.

This rink will be open on Sundays hereafter. Afternoon and morning levees every day. The new floor is perfection itself in its way. New beginners will receive particular attention. Howard street, opposite New Montgomery, between Second and Third streets.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Cranilin Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Ladies And Gentlemen.

Guerin & Kelly prize boot and shoe makers are rapidly clearing out their immense stock of stylish boots and shoes, at low prices. Call to Sacrificing a Local.

Grace Greenwood writes to the Chicago Republican, declaring that there is neither truth nor fun in its "personal," that she had boxed the ears of a carrier of that journal for bringing the paper late. She saucily adds that she has always found newspaper carriers fruitworthy and obliging, and that if she were in the boxing line she would not direct her stinging blows against the carrier's ears; but against those of the local editor, "preferring a good, large mark." The Republican humbly proposes, by way of amend, to send its fiery, untamed local up to Grace to be killed, and offers to pay the funeral expenses.

A Romance Spoiled.

The Dayton Figaro says: A romantic young lady fell into the river the other day, and was nearly drowning, but succor being fortunately at hand, she was drawn out senseless and carried home. On coming to, she declared to her family that she must marry him who had saved her. "Impossible," said her papa. "What, is he already married?" "No." "Wasn't it that interesting young man who lives here in our neighborhood?" "Dear me, no; it was a Newfoundland dog."

The Industrial Fair Evening Gazette

The first number of this paper was published in the Pavilion yesterday evening. It is a neat eight page sheet and contains the opening address, good notices of Cardoza's punches and Thomas Newcombe of the Call, and some other advertisements.

Very Unkind.

The Chronicle in its description of Judge Sawyer's disposal of the "drunks" brought before him for sentence, says, "he knows how it is himself."

Different Kinds.

The girls who've a neat foot and show it; the girls who will walk, and won't; the girls who are pretty and know it, and the girls who are pretty, and don't.

Yazoo City boasts a duck with four wings, four legs, two bodies, one neck, one head, and two bills. At last accounts it was in excellent spirits—alcohol.

Tourists among the White Mountains report very cold weather and a beggarly patronage thus far.

Violet-wood fans are the latest novelties. They are fragrant, are quaintly carved, and bear the owner's monogram.

An English tourist says an American watering place comprises sea, and, sun, shells, surf, sailors and swells, of all kinds and sexes.

Brick Pomeroy's ex-wife has the agency for an insurance company in Milwaukee.

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

Don't Forget to Visit

The San Francisco Health Lift, 24 Post st.

The Noble Game.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. Tucker & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices.

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line.

GOOD-BYE.

Good-bye! It must have come some time;
'Tis best to-day, dear friend;
You can have naught to say besides
Good-bye—that is the end.

We two have naught to do with tears,
We are too wretched quite,
And tears are for the blessed ones
Who know not storm nor night.

Nay, smile, for smiles with breaking hearts
Methinks should ever go,
As on green graves the brightest flowers
Paler than pale ones blow.

Good-bye! It must have come some time,
Since we have met too late,
There's nothing left for us to do
But bow our heads to fate.

One of Disraeli's admirers, in speaking about him to John Bright, said: "You ought to give him credit for what he has accomplished, as he is a self made man." "I know he is," retorted Bright, "and he adores his maker."

There is a good story of M'lle Nilsson. It is said that she recently sang "Home, Sweet Home," in a hotel where she was staying with such effect that the next morning the hotel was empty.

The Boston Courier says: "Bret Harte has gone to study profanity among the mosquitos of New Jersey."

A mosquito is said to have a proboscis like an elephant, only on a smaller scale.

Who Don't Know

That to achieve the greatest desideratum in business "patronage" a person must be liberal in his outlay, by purchasing the best material, employing the best workmen, and seeing that his patrons are attentively and courteously waited on, and in a style compatible with the dignity of the establishment he pretends to manage. Such is the golden rule practiced at Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, as is verified by the bon ton seen there daily, who are likewise to be seen at the Opera and all distinguished resorts of the city.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

Mrs. Lander, the Tragedienne.

We have never seen an audience exactly "drowned in tears," but Mrs. Lander does make some people weep. The question arises, is grief a provocative of thirst? It seems so, for Hebmann, of the cosy little Figaro Saloon, where the red light shines brilliantly opposite the stage entrance of the California Theatre, assures us that more people flock over there for liquid comfort in the shape of prime old Bourbon, English ale, brandy punches, etc., on a tragedy night than when burlesque or farce is played. Strangers in town must be told that the Figaro is the place to go to.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

Reading Matter for All.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Julien Perrault, M. D.,

Physician and Surgeon, member of the Medical Faculty of Paris, etc. Dr. Perrault's studies and practice have, for ten years past, been almost exclusively devoted to the cure of General Debility and other Specific Affections, acute or chronic, all which he continues to treat successfully by the newest scientific methods. Office 502 Montgomery street, northeast corner of Sacramento st., San Francisco, Rooms 9, 10 and 11. Consultations in English, French, German and Spanish.

Nothing Like Perseverance.

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try, try again," runs the old rhyme. An exchange says:

A lady in Halifax county, Va., who a year before last, was the mother of three boys at a time, none of them living, was week before last, the mother of four boy babies, all hearty and kicking.

That woman will have double-headed twins next year.

Forgiving Child.

A small boy in Placerville or somewhere else up country was bitten by a dog the other day; his father was about to kill the animal, but the sweet infant said, "Oh! Pa, don't kill him, you know the Bible says 'let dogs delight to bark and bite.'" That was a very nice little boy, though he did get the Bible and Dr. Watt's Hymns slightly mixed.

A Lugubrious Comedy.

The Call yesterday announced that "the comedy of 'The Stranger' would be presented at the California Theatre. That is equal to Quince in "Midsummer Night's Dream"—"Marry, our play is—the most lamentable comedy, and most cruel death of Pyramus and Thisbe."

Quite Good-looking

The best-looking likeness we have seen in the California Police Gazette for some time past is that which adorned its first page last week. It is that of H. H. Haight, we don't know why he's there, but believe its something about lotteries.

Inexplicit.

The Sacramento Record had an item the other day headed "Bady Injnued," and when we read it could not find a word about Bady in it and no one was "injued," only a man of the name of Hopkins nearly killed.

A Fact.

It is unjust to blame a man who doesn't advertise because his prices are high. He has to make them high because his sales are so small.

Too Particular.

Why not put in the sleeve buttons too?

Euphrosyne's Enameline,

A delicate ENAMEL, imparting an irresistible elegance and refinement to the face. Price 50 cents. Wilson & Co., southeast corner of Fifth and Mission streets. •

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing." •

TWIABA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street. •

Well Established.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge. •

Creme de Lis.

Beautiful is the finish developed by the use of DICKEY'S celebrated CREME DE LIS, a pure transparent complexion being imparted. No poison enters its composition. •

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of HUG & SCHMIDT, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. •

Swinburne Outdone.

They have a sort of female Swinburne, in sentiment if not in poetic skill, in Woodland. Her name is Eusebia A. Mezger. The following appears in the last issue of the Yolo Democrat:

A PLEA FOR PLEASURE.

He lay so sweetly sleeping on his couch—
My Southron love—
I pounced upon him as some ravenous hawk
Swoops on a dove,
And bent his white throat back and kissed
Under his chin;—
Ah God, if but such bliss could last
I'd risk the sin:
His throat like a pure, spotless dove.
So smooth and white,
I kissed, nor thought on one who claimed
A better right.
And what was she to me, that I
Should bliss forego?
Though I make all I can of life
I'll taste its woe;
So I'll not let a single bliss escape
Or joy go by,
A single moment of sweet sensuousness—
Indeed not I:
But I will steep my soul in every bliss
And sweet delight,
And take my chances that the future state
Sets all things right.
For this I know, and knowing it am wise:
The present's ours,
The future yet is no man's; it belongs
To higher powers,
And since all futures are uncertain things,
Each sense I'll cloy,
Lest in the future I look back and mourn
Neglected joy.

EUSEBIA A. MEZGER.

The lines:

I kissed, nor thought on one who claimed
A better right,

suggest rather forcibly the fact of E. A. M.'s "Southron love's being married. If we were the Southron love, we would not under the circumstances encourage this kind of thing, but would sleep where Eusebia couldn't get at us. That was just the kind of game Mrs. Fair played, and poor Mr. Crittenden lost his life through it. Eusebia is altogether too reckless for a quiet little town like Woodland, and if she puts her "poetry" into practice, she'll be driven out by a vigilance committee of indignant matrons. Eusebia, we are shocked; your verses are very unproper, and we wonder at the Yolo Mail's publishing them. You'll never be an angel if you go on thinking as you do now. Fie!

Quite a Nice Time.

At a Missouri picnic Mr. Whicher stabbed Mr. Reeves, and the remainder of the pleasure party hanged Mr. Whicher.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them. •

....OF THE....

NEW CITY HALL LOTS

....AT....

PLATT'S HALL

....ON....

MONDAY.....AUGUST 14th

AT 12 O'CLOCK, M.,

BY ORDER CITY HALL COMMISSIONERS

NINETY-NINE LOTS

FRONTING ON

Market, Jones, McAllister and Larkin Streets,

....AND....

Park and City Hall Avenues,

TO WIT:

Forty-eight Lots fronting on Market Street, each fronting 25 feet by a uniform depth of 100 Feet.

Forty Lots fronting on Park Avenue, each fronting 25 Feet by 100 Feet deep.

Seven irregular shaped Lots, forming Valuable Corners.

Four Corner Lots, each 25 by 100 Feet, fronting on Park and City Hall Avenues.

MAPS AND FULL DESCRIPTION AT SALESROOM.

Terms of Sale very Reasonable

25 PER CENT CASH,

And Balance in Three Equal Yearly Payments, with Ten per cent. Interest.

☞ Deeds at expense of purchasers.

P. H. CANAVAN,
JOS. G. EASTLAND,
CHAS. E. McLANE,
Board of City Hall Commissioners.

ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

Miss Zobeide Luti,

THE BEAUTIFUL CIRCASSIAN LADY.

May be seen. This lady was born in the year 1849, at Kinlies the Capital of the Russian Government in Circassia. Miss Luti has just returned from Great Britain, where she appeared before over 1600 people in one day at the Crystal Palace, and within the last three years has made a complete circuit of Europe, visiting all its Capitals. She has appeared before their Majesties Queen Victoria and the French Emperor and Empress. She invites interrogation that bears upon herself or her own native land, and the stranger will quickly detect, and long remember, that grace and reserve of manner which indicate a brilliant lady. She speaks nine different languages.

MASTER JOSEPH

Inherits all the wonderful peculiarities of his parents, the Madagascars; is very handsome, is a perfect master of the Violin, and speaks five languages fluently.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Lively Times in Amusements.

FIGARO will be the house programme for eight places of amusement to-night, viz: The Italian Opera, California Theatre, Alhambra Theatre, Bella Union Theatre, Theatre Comique, The Oxford, the Circus and Platt's Hall.

California Theatre.

Kotzebue's thrilling play entitled "The Stranger" was most powerfully acted last night, with Mrs. F. W. Lander as Mrs. Haller and John McCullough as the Stranger. The performance concluded with the farce of "Cool as a Cucumber," in which Owen Marlowe amused the audience much in the eccentric part of Plumper. Mrs. Lander's engagement is rapidly drawing to a close and to-night she will present for the last time her wonderful impersonation of Elizabeth. To-morrow night is set apart for her farewell benefit.

Alhambra Theatre.

Immense crowds flock nightly to the Alhambra Theatre to see the famous Charley Howard's wonderfully natural representation of the old plantation darkey, in which he has made such a reputation in all parts of the United States. His songs of "Swanee River" and "Hand Down de Corn Gabriel," are received nightly with thunders of applause. In addition to this the wonderful character artistes, Sheridan and Mack, who doubly discount Lingard in the rapidity of their changes, appear in "My Old Wife and I," "Pat McCann," "The Nerves," and "You'll Hear no Noise." Billy Emerson is as much a favorite as ever, and Vivian's songs are applauded to the echo. We doubt if the entertainment now given at the Alhambra can be equalled by that presented by any minstrel company in any part of the world.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night Madame Agatha States will take her farewell benefit and the opera of "La Traviata" will be presented for the first time this season. The Metropolitan Theatre will certainly be thronged on this occasion both on account of the merits of the beneficiary and the popularity of the opera. To-morrow night Miss Ridgway, who has made herself a great favorite with the public, will take a benefit, when "Un Ballo en Maschera" will be performed.

Bella Union Theatre.

In addition to the incomparable Ella Wesner, who stands alone as a female impersonator of dashing young swells, Alina Le Favre, the gay and vivacious actress, the inimitable Reynolds Brothers, and the graceful and daring Johnny Manning, a host of stars appear nightly. Among them we may mention Fanny Garreteon, Minnie Corbyn, Maggie Brewer and Lottie Loder in sweet ballads, Marie Zoel in a clog dance, pretty May Leroy in a fancy dance, R. H. Taylor in a baritone song, and Mat Kelly and Harry Thompson in funny acts.

Theatre Comique.

This lively place of amusement is always well patronized. The public can never weary of charming little Maggie Knight in her inexhaustible repertoire of songs. Frank Jones, the Lively Moke, is as popular as ever; Lizzie Harmon, Eva Clayton, Rose Durand, Eva Silva, Fanny Webster and many others appear in songs and dances, and other entertainments are given. To-night the favorite vocalist, Miss Lizzie Worrell, will make her first appearance, and to-morrow night the popular comedian, Harry Courtaine, will commence an engagement at this house.

New York Mammoth Circus.

There are but three more circus nights (why not circus nights as well as opera nights?) remaining to us, and everyone should see the New York Circus before its departure for the interior. There is no more enjoyable place to while away an evening, than in one of the comfortable chairs at the circus witnessing the daring acts of the graceful riders, of which Kingsley is the chief, only surpassed by the famous Robinson, and one other, the wonderful feats of the trained horses, enjoying the philosophical jokes of Cooke, the clown educated, seeing vaulters revolving in their varied colored robes, like brilliant fire works in the air. The farewell circus matinee on Saturday at 2 o'clock; take the little ones and let them enjoy themselves.

Platt's Hall.

Soon after seven o'clock last night, a stream of people began to pour into Platt's Hall to see the Madagascar Family of Albinos, the man with the beard nine feet seven inches in length, and the wonderful den of East India boa constrictors and African anacondas. This exhibition is in every respect what the bills claim for it. The Madagascar family have hair white as snow, and pink eyes. Herr Kerpin's beard is as long as stated. The snakes are the largest ever seen here—such snakes as you read of only—and are handled with perfect safety by Sindh Bahadovi. Master Joseph plays the violin beautifully. Miss Zobedie Lutz, who was quite a favorite here when she made her first visit, was indisposed last night and did not appear, but will probably be well enough to greet her many friends to-day.

Farewell Benefit to Johnny De Angelis.

Johnny De Angelis who has so long contributed to the amusement of the San Francisco theatregoers soon leaves us for the East to play in the new Opera House on Broadway, New York. Prior to his departure he takes a farewell benefit, on Friday evening, 11th inst., at the Alhambra. The bill for the evening embraces, in addition to the popular favorites now playing at that theatre, Joe Murphy, who has kindly volunteered his valuable services, and little Sallie De Angelis, who on this her last appearance, will give Vivian's ever popular "Ten Thousand Miles Away." Johnny will have a bumper to-morrow night.

The Pavilion.

The Pavilion is rapidly filling up with rich and rare goods, and presents a very brilliant appearance. The public are not inclined to wait until the last entry is completed before they avail themselves of this delightful place of resort. Crowds roamed through the picture gallery and the beautiful garden of the Horticultural Society yesterday afternoon and evening, the band discoursed sweet music, friends met and strolled about examining and commenting on the many curious things to be seen, and all enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The most economical plan of enjoying the Fair will be to buy season tickets, which admit at any time during its continuance.

Howard Street Skating Rink.

This rink will be open on Sundays hereafter. Afternoon and morning levees every day. The new floor is perfection itself in its way. New beginners will receive particular attention. How-

Oxford Theatre.

This South-end variety hall, will re-open this evening Manager Vincent has been very busy superintending the remodeling and refitting of the interior of the hall since his return to the city, and everything now is in applepie order. The stage has been enlarged, new private boxes have been erected, and the whole interior of the hall has been handsomely decorated. The manager announces three distinct combinations in one entertainment, consisting of a band of female minstrels, and twenty variety artists.

The New Opera Bouffe Season.

Mme. Lea Silly and her company will open for a short season of French Opera Bouffe at Maguire's Opera House on Monday next. "La Belle Helene," the opening opera, has been in rehearsal all the week, and will be rendered as perfect as care and attention and constant rehearsals can produce it.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Which is it?

The Vallejo Recorder says:

The proprietors of one of the minor daily papers in San Francisco are in negotiation for the sale of the establishment to the Democrats, who propose to run it as a campaign paper until after the election.

Which can this be? Is it the Call, the Chronicle or the "Pelican" as the boys call the last one started? It isn't FIGARO. FIGARO is going to praise or abuse each and any of the candidates just as they may be good or bad, without regard to whether they are Republicans or Democrats.

Improvements in Red Bluff.

The Sentinel says:

Red Bluff begins to show unmistakable signs of improvement. Many new buildings are in course of construction, many new branches of business begin to crop out. The melodious strains of the violin, banjo and guitar, mingled with the sharp report of the pistol can now be heard at all hours of the night. Fights are of daily occurrence bunged eyes and bruised heads, are becoming quite common—whisky that will kill at ten paces, flows plentifully in numerous places. Verily, we should say, he who wishes to keep up with the times, must keep late hours and rise early.

Drawing to a Close.

One of the first of the lottery enterprises now before the public to draw its prizes will be the Woodland, at which gifts ranging in value from $20,000 down to $20 will be distributed. The Woodland Enterprise will be pushed through, it being under the management of the most enterprising men of the town, but a great many of the small lottery enterprises will collapse and the "lottery fever" about which the papers talk so much will die out.

Perhaps?

The Salt Lake Herald has the following:

How to tell when a house is clear of smallpox—Peel an onion, place it in the house, and if the disease is not gone the onion will break out within forty-eight hours with the small-pox.

How would it be if a vaccinated onion were used, would it break out then?

Angels in Prospective.

When you see young children gratifying their little appetites on unripe fruits, green apples and hard peaches, you may be sure that carriages and crape will be in demand soon.

The Noble Game.

It is as necessary for a gentlemen to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 633 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Deluded Woman!

A Virginian mother-in-law, less prudent than most of her kind in the selection of methods of annoyance, foolishly lay in wait for her daughter's husband in ghostly apparel, expecting by this clumsy expedient to give him a fright—as if a nervous system rendered callous to a mother-in-law in the flesh would be likely to quail before a disembodied spirit. The shrewd fellow had presence of mind enough to pretend that he didn't recognize her, and gave the supposed spectre a sound drubbing. Lucky dog! there are few sons-in-law to whom such a golden opportunity has ever offered itself.

Precisely

For the same reason that the ladies have determined to calceate for the Opera, the opposite sex, to be in juxtaposition, have determined to purchase their Patent Leather Oxford Ties and Dancing Pumps at Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre.

Who Don't Know

That to achieve the greatest desideratum in business "patronage" a person must be liberal in his outlay, by purchasing the best material, employing the best workmen, and seeing that his patrons are attentively and courteously waited on, and in a style compatible with the dignity of the establishment he pretends to manage. Such is the golden rule practiced at KAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, as is verified by the bon ton seen there daily, who are likewise to be seen at the Opera and all distinguished resorts of the city.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

Mrs. Lander, the Tragedienne.

We have never seen an audience exactly "drowned in tears," but Mrs. Lander does make some people weep. The question arises, is grief a provocative of thirst? It seems so, for HERMANN, of the cosy little FIGARO SALOON, where the RED LIGHT shines brilliantly opposite the stage entrance of the California Theatre, assures us that more people flock over there for liquid comfort in the shape of prime old Bourbon, English ale, brandy punches, etc., on a tragedy night than when burlesque or farce is played. Strangers in town must be told that the FIGARO is the place to go to.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Hascke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Libel Suits.

The Pacific Coast Advertiser thus discourses on libel suits:

It is not only the sensational, hap-hazard, reckless class of newspapers that are pursued by men of notorious bad character for pretended damages to their "reputation," but the more substantial, cautious, sagacious. The most unprincipled men that hang around the Courts and practice their villainy under the shadow of legal forms, are the pests who most frequently attempt blackmailing the press. If a public journal, in discharging its duty, exposes the rascality of a certain bad man, or a class of men, it is immediately subjected to a suit for libel and damages for a fabulous amount. The law concerning suits for slander is so construed, that a person without position or character, save for infamy, can annoy publishers as easy as if he were spotless as the purest saint in the calendar.

Pretty Strong.

Theodore Tilton, of the Golden Age, is in favor of free love, women's rights, and all that sort of thing, and thinks it hard that Mrs. Fair should not have a more comfortable cell while she is in jail, but he concludes by saying:

If any crime ever deserved the extreme penalty of the law, it was the crime which Mrs. Fair committed in murdering a man who loved her and whom she loved.

Nasal Music.

Lady (who is canvassing for a choir at the village church)—I hope, Mrs. Giles, you will persuade your husband to join us. I am told he has a very sonorous voice.

Mrs. Giles—A sonorous voice, marm? Ah! you should hear it a-comin' out of his nose when he's asleep.

Why the Unknown Left.

The cause of the sudden departure of the Unknown is now explained. He heard that the Madagascar Family, Herr Kerpen and Zobside Luti were coming, and that his head of hair would be nowhere compared to theirs. He was right to get out of San Francisco before they came.

The New York swells discard juleps for buttermilk at the Summer resorts this season. There was a "corner" in the latter commodity at a popular resort last week, but the "put-up job" soon fell through, and the Wall street "bulls" were defeated, to the intense satisfaction of the "bears."

Euphrosyne's Enameline,

A delicate ENAMEL, imparting an irresistible elegance and refinement to the face. Price 50 cents. Wilson & Co., southeast corner of Fifth and Mission streets.

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing."

Dr. Barlow J. Smith

Gives Free Lectures (to Gentlemen only) every Friday evening, commencing at 8, at his Hygeian Hall, 637 California st., and examines patients phrenologically as to health, gratis.

TWIARA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street.

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit.

What Cheer Laundry,

321 Leidesdorff street, near Sacramento.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge.

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

Creme de Lis.

Beautiful is the finish developed by the use of DICKEY'S celebrated CREME DE LIS, a pure transparent complexion being imparted. No poison enters its composition.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the names of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents.

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Summer street. Ladies' saloon attached. Open day and night.

The New City Hall Lots.

It will not be long before the New City Hall will be the centre of the business portion of the city; the sale of the new City Hall lots therefore, which is to take place on Monday at Platt's Hall by order of the City Hall Commissioners, excites very general interest among those having money to invest. There are ninety-nine lots for sale. The terms of sale are very reasonable, being 25 per cent cash and balance in three equal yearly payments. Many a man can lay the foundation of his fortune on Monday by purchasing one of the new City Hall Lots.

Lotta's Team.

A Long Branch letter says: "There is the cunningest of little pony phaetons, with the most majestic of tigers, sitting in solemn state, with folded arms, calmly viewing the situation; and everyone turns and stares after it and the impressible, curly-haired girl who drives it. This is Miss Lotta, the dainty little body, whose pranks have amused all theatre-goers for the past two or three years. She drives with the same zest that she plays, and enjoys life equally before or behind the foot-lights."

In Trauble.

The Reno Crescent has the following:

Miller, who will be remembered as the manager of the Leo Hudson troupe which played in Reno some months ago, is now in jail at Pioche charged with stealing a mule. He left the company at Pioche, went to Bullionville and got employment as a cook; not liking the situation, he borrowed one of his employer's mules and started out. He was overhauled and captured at Hiko by the officers, who on examining his valise found a complete set of burglars tools.

Rather Bad for a Jail.

The Dayton Figaro says:

A new jail has also been commenced on Third street, adjoining the Court House, which will present a handsome and inviting front.

We don't think a jail ought to be made too inviting.

Rosewater Preaching.

A fashionable clergyman in Chicago warns the sinners of his congregation that if they don't repent, they will "go to the place of eternal uneasiness." Certainly, a mild way of putting it.

Violet is the most popular perfume East. Trained dresses for the street and sailor hats have gone out of fashion.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st.

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure.

What is Glucolein?

A preparation of Cod Liver Oil, without any disagreeable taste; the most efficacious remedy for all pulmonary complaints. Prepared and sold by JAMES G. STEELE & Co., No. 521 Montgomery street.

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices.

Thirty Dollars.

French china breakfast, dinner, and tea set $30, at P. Douglas & Co's, 131 Kearny street. Other goods at same low rates.

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANCE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while its large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

FOR FOUR DAYS ONLY

THE GREAT

MADAGASCAR COMBINATION

A Family of the Most Wonderful people ever seen, will open at this popular Hall

ON WEDNESDAY.....AUGUST 9th

FOR FOUR DAYS ONLY.

Their great wonders are their Eyes and Hair. Their eyes, are not round, as other people's, but of an angular form, nearly square, and continually in motion, and are of a pinkish hue changing their color every minute in the day. They have beautiful white silken Hair, nearly three feet in length, and complexion fair and white as the driven snow.

In connection with this Wonderful Family,

Miss Zobeide Luti,

THE BEAUTIFUL CIRCASSIAN LADY.

May be seen. This lady was born in the year 1848, at Kizlias the Capital of the Russian Government in Circassia. Miss Luti has just returned from Great Britain, where she appeared before over 16,000 people in one day at the Crystal Palace, and within the last three years has made a complete circuit of Europe, visiting all its Capitals. She has appeared before their Majesties Queen Victoria and the French Emperer and Empress. She invites interrogation that bears upon herself or her own native land, and the stranger will quickly detect, and long remember, that grace and reserve of manner which indicate a brilliant lady. She speaks nine different languages.

MASTER JOSEPH

Inherits all the wonderful peculiarities of his parents, the Madagascars; is very handsome, is a perfect master of the Violin, and speaks five languages fluently.

Herr Kerpin,

The Long-Bearded Man, whose Beard has grown to the wonderful length of NINE FEET SEVEN INCHES.

FRIDAY.....AUGUST 11, 1871

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Lively Times in Amusements.

FIGARO will be the house programme for eight places of amusement to-night, viz: The Italian Opera, California Theatre, Alhambra Theatre, Bella Union Theatre, Theatre Comique, The Oxford, the Circus and Platt's Hall.

California Theatre.

To-night Mrs. F. W. Lander will take her benefit, and appear in the play of "Camille." There will be a matinee to-morrow.

Alhambra Theatre.

To-night an extraordinary entertainment will be given at this most popular of places of amusement on the occasion of the farewell benefit of Johnny De Angelis, who leaves for the East to fill an engagement at Butler's Opera House, New York. In addition to the programme which has been performed during the week by Charley Howard, Sheridan and Mack, Billy Emerson, Vivian and others, Joe Murphy will appear in the old time act of "The Stranger," and little Sallie De Angelis will sing Vivian's song, "Ten Thousand Miles Away." Johnny will have a bumper benefit and those who wish to attend had better buy their tickets at once and secure seats.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Madame Agatha States' benefit at the Metropolitan Theatre last night was a most gratifying success in every respect. The opera of "La Traviata" went off well and the beneficiary received much applause and many bouquets. To-night the pretty and piquante Miss Ridgway will take her farewell benefit as the page in the delightful opera of "Un Ballo en Maschera."

The New Opera Bouffe Season.

"La Belle Helene" which has been for some time past in constant rehearsal, will be produced at Maguire's Opera House on Monday, under the management of Madame Lea Silly.

Bella Union Theatre.

Ella Wesner, Alme Le Favre, the Reynolds Brothers, and the talented company of the Bella Union Theatre, will appear in a great bill to-night.

Theatre Comique.

To-night the popular comedian, Harry Courtaine, who has won goldan opinions from all sorts of people during his trip in the interior with Joe Murphy, will make his first appearance. Maggie Knight and all the favorites will appear.

New York Mammoth Circus.

The circus is ane immense success; everybody goes there and everybody is pleased. There are constant changes in the programme. There will be a matinee to-morrow.

The Pavilion.

There are thousands of beautiful articles to attract the attention of visitors to this charming place of resort. Here everyone goes to see and to be seen. The Japanese and Chinese department will be open to visitors to-day.

Platt's Hall.

The Madagascar Family, the man with the beard nine feet long, Miss Zobedie Luti and the wonderful collection of enormous snakes, will all be on exhibition to-day and this evening.

Farewell Benefit to Johnny De Angelis.

Johnny De Angelis who has so long contributed to the amusement of the San Francisco theatre-goers soon leaves us for the East to play in the new Opera House on Broadway, New York. Prior to his departure he takes a farewell benefit, which will come off to-night, at the Alhambra. The bill for the evening embraces, in addition to the popular favorites now playing at that theatre, Joe Murphy, who has kindly volunteered his valuable services, and little Sallie De Angelis, who on this her last appearance, will give Vivian's ever popular "Ten Thousand Miles Away." After which Joe Murphy will play the good Mrs. Haller in the "Stranger," to Johnny's melancholic Stranger, for this nightly. Johnny will have a bumper to-night.

Woodward's Gardens.

The usual skating assemblies to-day, for which no extra charge is made, except for the use of skates. A stroll through these grounds yields a better return for the investment of twenty-five cents than anything that can be purchased with that fractional part of a dollar.

Howard Street Skating Rink.

This rink will be open on Sundays hereafter. Afternoon and morning levees every day. The new floor is perfection itself in its way. New beginners will receive particular attention. Howard street, opposite New Montgomery, between Second and Third streets.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Just the Same as it Used to Be.

The old folks sent the boys to bed,
But out of the window over the shed,
They went to the ground for a little spree,
But it's just the same as it used to be.
The damsels old, they fume and fret;
They say they never saw such a set,
Of girls as these, "they make so free;"
But they're just like the girls that used to be.

Brides are now married in the Eastern cities in plain and simple traveling dresses, and step from the altar to the cars to do their wedding tour. That is like the age, unpoetical, but very practical.

"Mr. Postoffice man, I want to pay the postage on this letter. "Single or double, miss?" "Double, sir," (with a courtesy;) I was married last week."

Shoo-fly beer is the beverage at the East.

Ladies And Gentlemen.

Bill Posting.

There are in the United States about 275 professional bill-posters, employing from two to twenty men each, and probably 800 men earn their living, in whole or in part, by this industry. There are some funny experiences that come to the notice of a bill-poster. Not long ago, when the practice of mystic advertising was in vogue, a prominent merchant issued "dodgers," and had them thoroughly posted over the city, with the somewhat unique inquiry, "Who stole my dog?" He intended to follow this with a business announcement calculated to draw custom to his store; but a piratical fellow was too sharp for him, and the next day he posted, side by side with the inquiry, "Your dog may be found at Candy Fred's, where the very best quality of molasses candy is always kept on hand." Another merchant posted the town with the question "What is it?" A neighboring shop-keeper answered the inquiry by appending: "It is the cheapest place to buy goods in the city," affixing his own name and number. To bill a town as the work is called, is an expensive undertaking. The printing of the bills, in the first place, is a expensive item. Posters cost, when one engraving is done, and they are printed in but one color, from $15 to $20 per 1,000; colored posters from $25 to $35 per 1,000; theatrical or concert programmes from $5 to $9 per 1,000; small hand-bills about the same, while the printing of large and elaborate posters, including the price of engraving, costs from $120 to $150 per 1,000. It costs a regular theatre from $50 to $90 a week for posting the ordinary bills, while extras, such as the steamers and display bill of stars, are put up at their charge. A transient show will have to pay to the bill-poster, for billing the city, from $100 to $200, while it will cost a circus from $200 to $300, according to the time the boards are occupied.

Smart Little Boy.

Two little boys, who were familiarly called Tom and Jack, on their first day at school, were asked their names, to which the first replied, "Tom." "That is not polite," said the teacher; "your real name is Thomas; be sure and always say Thomas. And now my little man"—turning to Jack, whose face seemed suddenly to brighten up with the light of a new idea, "what is your name?" "Jack-as!" triumphantly exclaimed the little urchin.

Milwaukee is the fourth "pork emporium."

Memorabilia!

There can be no more evidential proof of where the most modern style of Opera Shoe now in vogue, is to be obtained than to ask any "abonada" in the dress circle of the Metropolitan Theatre where she calceates. She will answer at Kast's fashionable Shoe Store, No. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre.

Don't Forget to Visit

The San Francisco Health Lift, 24 Post st.

The Noble Game.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

Who Don't Know

That to achieve the greatest desideratum in business "patronage" a person must be liberal in his outlay, by purchasing the best material, employing the best workmen, and seeing that his patrons are attentively and courteously waited on, and in a style compatible with the dignity of the establishment he pretends to manage. Such is the golden rule practiced at KAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, as is verified by the ton ton seen there daily, who are likewise to be seen at the Opera and all distinguished resorts of the city.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

Mrs. Lander, the Tragedienne.

We have never seen an audience exactly "drowned in tears," but Mrs. Lander does make some people weep. The question arises, is grief a provocative of thirst? It seems so, for HERMANN, of the cosy little FIGARO SALOON, where the RED LIGHT shines brilliantly opposite the stage entrance of the California Theatre, assures us that more people flock over there for liquid comfort in the shape of prime old Bourbon, English ale, brandy punches, etc., on a tragedy night than when burlesque or farce is played. Strangers in town must be told that the FIGARO is the place to go to.

So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Del Gratia.

I went to the opera last night or I should have felt grieved beyond the possibility of expressing myself, as I could not have witnessed the eight wonder of this progressive age, c'est a dire, the unexampled improvement in mechanical genius displayed in the home manufacture of the ladies' shoes purchased at F. X. Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite Alhambra Theatre.

Who Don't Know

That to achieve the greatest desideratum in business "patronage" a person must be liberal in his outlay, by purchasing the best material, employing the best workmen, and seeing that his patrons are attentively and courteously waited on, and in a style compatible with the dignity of the establishment he pretends to manage. Such is the golden rule practiced at Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, as is verified by the bon ton seen there daily, who are likewise to be seen at the Opera and all distinguished resorts of the city.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

Mrs. Lander, the Tragedienne.

We have never seen an audience exactly "drowned in tears," but Mrs. Lander does make some people weep. The question arises, is grief a provocative of thirst? It seems so, for HERMANN, of the cosy little FIGARO SALOON, where the RED LIGHT shines brilliantly opposite the stage entrance of the California Theatre, assures us that more people flock over there for liquid comfort in the shape of prime old Bourbon, English ale, brandy punches, etc., on a tragedy night than when burlesque or farce is played. Strangers in town must be told that the FIGARO is the place to go to.

Drs. Macbeth & Grattan's

Medical Institute, No 322 Bush street, opposite Alhambra Theatre, San Francisco.—Specific and chronic diseases made a specialty, and cures guaranteed in every case according to agreement, or no charge.

"Uneasy Rests the Head

"That wears a crown" unless it has one of Shaber & Co's wonderful easy chairs—the best and cheapest ever offered to the public. Coin will buy furniture and bedding of Shaber & Co. at very low rates.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices.

Everybody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line.

A New and Original Drama.

At the benefit of Fred Wilson at De Bar's Theatre, St. Louis, recently, a new and original drama by one J. P. Manning, called "Jonathan Sharp; or, Gold," was produced. It was considered original in being decidedly bad. Destitute of plot, language, situations; exhibiting a total lack of stage business, a lack of how to make performers play together harmoniously; how to begin a scene, conduct a scene, or end a scene; making what was meant to be pathetic appear farcical, and what was intended to be farcical ridiculous. In all these respects the piece decidedly excelled. It was simply beneath criticism. There were five scenes in the first act. During the first the audience were tolerant; during the second impatient, and during the remaining three they indulged in laughter and ironical cheers. At the termination of the first act two-thirds of the ladies and gentlemen in the dress-circle left the house. The second act was a scene of wildest confusion. Cat-calls, ironical cheers, advice from the audience to the actors, etc., were the characteristics. At the end of the first the author came before the curtain and explained that this was his first attempt as a dramatist, but he met anything but complimentary treatment. When the second act closed, the dress-circle showed nearly empty benches, and between that and the third a number of indignant spectators left the theatre and armed themselves with missiles to cast on the stage in case the piece was proceeded with. Although it contained four acts, it did not reach its fourth in representation. Cabbages, tomatoes, etc., were thrown at the performers; the ladies fled affrighted off the stage, and the curtain fell amid wild confusion and ironical cheering before the piece was over.

A Word for Ballet Girls.

A playgoer of Glasgow has been to see "Caste," and he airs himself after his visit in the columns of a local paper. He took exception to "the blunder which made Esther Eccles a ballet-girl, an occupation utterly incompatible with the refined manner and high-toned character of Esther." He met with a doughty champion in Mr. Morris Edmondson, of the Prince of Wales Theatre, whose answer was very much to the point. Said Mr. Edmondson: "I beg to inform Playgoer that the story is founded on facts, and moreover, that I have been connected with the theatrical profession for more than twenty years in London and the provinces, during which time I have met with many ballet-girls both of refined manners and high-toned character, quite as good as Esther is represented to be."

Euphrosyne's Enameline,

A delicate ENAMEL, imparting an irresistible elegance and refinement to the face. Price 50 cents. Wilson & Co., southeast corner of Fifth and Mission streets.

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing."

R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. The Noble Game.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

JOS. G. EASTLAND,
CHAS. E. McLANE,
Board of City Hall Commissioners.

ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

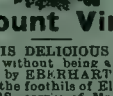
CHANCE OF PROPRIETORSHIP



H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The Table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual au5 1m

MADAGASCAR COMBINATION

A Family of the Most Wonderful people ever seen, will open at this popular Hall

ON WEDNESDAY.....AUGUST 9th

FOR FOUR DAYS ONLY.

Their great wonders are their Eyes and Hair. Their eyes, are not round, as other people's, but of an angular form, nearly square, and continually in motion, and are of a pinkish hue changing their color every minute in the day. They have beautiful white silken Hair, nearly three feet in length, and complexion fair and white as the driven snow.

In connection with this Wonderful Family,

Miss Zobeide Luti,

THE BEAUTIFUL CIRCASSIAN LADY,

May be seen. This lady was born in the year 1848, at Kistias the Capital of the Russian Government in Circassia. Miss Luti has just returned from Great Britain, where she appeared before over 15,000 people in one day at the Crystal Palace, and within the last three years has made a complete circuit of Europe, visiting all its Capitals. She has appeared before their Majesties Queen Victoria and the French Emperor and Empress. She invites interrogation that bears upon herself or her own native land, and the stranger will quickly detect, and long remember, that grace and polsere of manner which indicate a brilliant lady. She speaks nine different languages.

MASTER JOSEPH

Inherits all the wonderful peculiarities of his parents, the Madagascars; is very handsome, is a perfect master of the Violin, and speaks five languages fluently.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—The Alhambra was literally packed last night, it being impossible to wedge another person into it. Johnny De Angelis may well feel flattered at the ovation which he received last night. In response to the applause which greeted him on making his appearance Johnny in a neat little speech, thanked everyone who had been kind to him, the management of the Alhambra Theatre, the members of the company individually. Joe Murphy generously volunteering to appear without remuneration, and the public who had sent such a deputation to represent them. He hoped when he returned from New York, he should, like others come back with money in his pocket, and till that time bid his many friends good-bye. The performance went off capitally. Charley Howard drew great applause for his excellent representation of Old Uncle Jeff; Sheridan and Mack's wonderful changes delighted the audience, and the sketch of a "Trip to Paris" caused much fun. Little Sallie De Angelis convulsed the audience with laughter by her wonderfully comical imitation of Vivian in his song "Ten Thousand Miles Away," was encored again and again and rewarded by the compliment of showers of half dollars from all parts of the house. The audience fairly yelled with merriment at "The Stranger," performed by Joe Murphy and Johnny De Angelis, the former proving that having become a character actor has made him no less famous as an Ethiopian comedian. The bill for this afternoon and this evening is an extraordinary one and cannot be equalled by that given at any minstrel hall in the United States.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—Mrs. Lander closes her second engagement at the California Theatre to night, appearing in "Camille," which she played last night for her benefit.

METROPOLITAN.—Our fickle public treated Miss Ridgway rather coldly last night, her benefit not being nearly so well attended as we expected it would be. To-night the season of Italian opera will close and "The Sicilian Vespers" will be produced for the first time in this city. Madame Agatha States has worked a miracle in running a season of Italian opera in San Francisco and making money out of it. Other managers have spent money in providing extra orchestra and chorus, and mounting the operas in excellent style and have, at the end of the season, found themselves losers to the extent of thousands of dollars. Mme. States knew how much the people of San Francisco were willing to pay for opera—just as much as they do for a circus or a minstrel show—she supplied an article of correspondingly low cost and has made money out of it. The Italian opera we have had during the last two weeks has been of Republican simplicity in its stage appointments, but quite good enough for the money.

BELLA UNION.—The dramatic brilliant Miss Ella Wesner, will appear to night, in a new repertoire; George and Charles Reynolds, will execute one of their characteristic dances; Johnny Manning will appear on the swinging rings, a fine programme of songs and dances will be performed by the company, and the performance will conclude with the sensation play of "Paris by Gaslight," with the dashing Aline Le Favre as the Queen of the Blondes.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—Harry Courtaine received a hearty welcome on making his appearance at this house last night, and caused much amusement in the farce of "Bob Ticket." To-night little Maggie Knight will make her appearance in lightning changes, a la Ella Wesner, and a variety of other performances enumerated on our first page will be given.

OYFORD.—An immense troupe of male and female minstrels and variety performers will appear here to-night in a varied programme published on our first page.

THE NEW YORK MAMMOTH CIRCUS.—There are many who have not seen this arenic show yet, and will regret they have not done so when it will be too late. The last circus matinee will be given to-day, the usual ring performance to-night, and on Sunday evening the management announce "a grand representation." It is the intention to proceed interiorward on Monday, but business holds good that we think the managers would act very unwisely in doing so.

PLATT'S HALL.—The Madagascar Family of Albinoes, with their snow hair and pink eyes, the boa constrictors and anacondas, and the man with the beard nine feet long, will all be on exhibition at Platt's Hall to-day and this evening.

SKATING CARNIVAL.—The members of the Howard-street Skating Rink, together with the most accomplished skaters of the old Pavilion Club, are to hold a grand carnival at Platt's Hall on the evening of the 15th inst. As many of the skaters have acquired great proficiency in the graceful art since former carnivals, and the managers have the experience of these to profit by the proposed carnival cannot fail to be a grand success.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—Wetterman's Band will give a grand concert at these gardens on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, playing new music just received from Europe, and the Lopez Family and the "Iron Boy" will give an entertainment in the grand hall. On Sunday Prof. Lovett will exhibit his proficiency on on the Pedispede, or one-wheeled skate, for the first time.

PACIFIC LITERARY ASSOCIATION.—This association gave one of the most pleasant parties of the season at Mercantile Library Hall on Wednesday evening. The readings and songs were all well received, especially C. Vivian's "Ten Thousand Miles Away," and a pleasant social dance terminated the evening's amusement. Another similar entertainment will be given in two weeks's time at Platt's Hall

JOE MURPHY'S BENEFIT.—On Monday, Joe Murphy will be the recipient of a benefit at the Metropolitan Theatre. "Help," will be produced, and in the parlor entertainment scene, in addition to Joe appearing in his specialties, Johnny De Angelis and he will perform the act of "The Stranger," and little Sally De Angelis will sing "Ten Thousand Miles Away."

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—The road to the Cliff House is as smooth as a ten-pin alley, the days are beautiful, the nights are fine, consequently Captain Foster receives many visitors daily at his incomparable hostelry, the Cliff House. It is worth while driving out to get such a dinner or supper as his chef can serve up. The road will be lively to-morrow.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most

THEATRICAL PROPERTY LOST.—By an advertisement which appears in another column it will be perceived that Miss Ella Wesner the popular character singer, has had the misfortune to lose a valuable pin, composed of an emerald surrounded by diamonds. Thousands have seen this jewel on the stage, and could recognize it. Therefore, even if not troubled by his conscience, the finder had better, instead of trying to sell it, take it to Miss Wesner, receive $50 and have no questions likely to hurt his feelings put to him.

SUNDAY EXCURSION.—There is not within miles of this city a more delightful spot than the groves of San Rafael. The steamer Contra Costa will leave the wharf on Davis street, near Vallejo, to-morrow at 10½ A.M., on an excursion.

A PLEASANT EXCURSION.—The splendid steamer Capital will make an excursion to Vallejo to-morrow, leaving Vallejo-street wharf at half-past eight, and leaving Vallejo on the return trip at five o'clock P.M. Tickets for the round trip, $1. No pleasanter excursion could be made.

LECTURE.—Elizabeth Cady Stanton, will deliver her lecture entitled "Our Young Girls," at Platt's Hall, on Monday evening. Mrs. Stanton is the most delightful of female lecturers, and has such a pleasing address, that one is forced to agree with everything she says for a time at least.

BENEFIT.—Miss Esther Williams is to have a benefit at Turn Verein Hall on the 3th. The Fire-fly Club has volunteered.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

DENVER, COL.—Geo. Constable, the clown, writes under date of August 6th:—"show business has been very lively here for a few days, first Madame Lake's Circus was here, then came Bartholomew with his circus, then came the Atlantic and Pacific Circus, and we have done a fine biz, we go from here to Central City and Georgetown. Hernandez left here a few days ago for Central City. Silvester and Miss Schott come here to-morrow, E. M. Hall, from the Emerson party, opens at the Cricket Monday. Our biz has been immense."

SILVER CITY, NEV.—The Owyhee Avalanche of the 5th says:

The Pixley Sisters took their departure for Boise City on Tuesday and Wednesday after playing to full houses for nearly two weeks. They leave a favorable impression behind them and it is to be hoped they will visit Owyhee again. They intend to go to Corinne and Salt Lake, and to get back to Salem, Oregon, in time for the State Fair.

EUGENE CITY, O.—The Eugene City Guard has the following:

The Vieuxtemps Brothers, enlisted nearly all the young ladies of our town to sell tickets to their recent concert, promising to present to the one who sold the most, a silver goblet, and minor presents to the others. Of course under these circumstances, they had a full house. But, after the concert, they vamoosed, leaving our fair damsels none the richer in the way of goblets and things. We are sorry for them—regret that they sent their aid to make a raise for any strangers of whom they knew nothing good, and of whom discreditible stories were in circulation.

It was too bad of the Vieuxtemps Brothers to get all the Eugene City young ladies to help them to make money by promise of a silver goblet, and then to gobble it up themselves.

VALLEJO.—The amateurs of Mare Island, gave a dramatic performance at the Avalon Theatre, last week playing "Woodcock's Little Game," and the "Rough Diamond."

ELKO, NEV.—The Independent of the 5th says:

The Halleck Variety Troupe, composed of Uncle Sam's "boys in blue," gave an entertainment on Thursday evening, at Music Hall, in this town. The house was completely filled with ladies and gentlemen, and at the appointed hour the curtain was raised and there was exhibited to the assemblage nine very fashionably dressed gentlemen of color, who proceeded with music and song to interest the audience.

SALT LAKE.—The Lingards took a farewell benefit and closed their engagement on Saturday last. On Monday, Charley Backus and Miss Kate Newton, made their first appearance, the latter playing Hester Eccles in "Caste," and the former giving his sketches of "John Chinaman" and imitations of actors. Philip Margetts made his first appearance in three months, in the part of Sam Gerridge.

PIOCHE, NEV.—A concert was given by amateurs at Capitol Hall, on Saturday last, for the benefit of the Public School. Dick Carroll and little Dick volunteered, and danced a champion jig.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—Piper's Opera House was given up to a "Bull and Bear Fight," on Saturday. The animals on the stage didn't fight much, so the others in the pit went on the stage and pitched into them with sticks. The Agatha States Opera Troupe, will perform at Piper's Opera House, on the 21st, 22d, and 23d.

LOS ANGELES.—La Merced Theatre was opened on the 1st by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bates and company. The Star of the 4th says:

"Caste" was performed at Merced theatre, night before last, to a very small house, and however well worth seeing the play may be, when properly put upon the boards and sustained, its presentation, in this instance, was a decided failure. Mrs. Bates is an actress of acknowledged talent and ability, and her husband is above the average as an actor; but, with the exception of Mr. Cox, and, in her line of business, Miss Ingalls, they are self reliant without support, their remaining members of the troupe being dead weight, and most empathatically, too heavy to be easily carried.

Nothing but a company "all stars" will satisfy our country cousins. "The Stranger" was presented on the 4th.

WOODLAND.—This pretty little town will next week or the week after be the centre of attraction not only for those in the immediate neighborhood but for many in San Francisco who hold tickets in the Gift Concert which is then to come off at Washington Hall, for the benefit of the Public Schools, Fire Department and other Woodland institutions. The tickets are $2.50 each, the first prize is $20,000, the second $10,000, and there are 1,143 gifts in all of $5,000, $900 and smaller sums.

OMAHA.—The Gift Festival at the Academy of Music, which is to come off in a little over two weeks' time, is the topic of conversation at present. At this festival gifts are to be distributed ranging in value from $20,000 down to $5. There are 2,311 gifts in all. Tickets being only $2 each and coupons $1, the number of prizes large and the management of the affair in the hands of the Mayor and chief men of Omaha, tickets are selling very rapidly, and the distribution will be made very shortly.

SACRAMENTO.—Madame Agatha States will commence a season of Italian Opera at the Metropolitan Theatre, on Monday, with Ernani. The season will last three nights. The present stage at the Metropolitan Theatre is shortly to be torn up, and a new one with all the modern improvements will be put in. The whole interior is to be renovated in preparation for the opening of the Fall season by Mr. Proctor.

STOCKTON.—On the 30th of this month, a grand concert and ball will be given at Mozart Hall, by San Joaquin Engine Co. No. 3, for the purpose of raising funds to buy a new steam fire engine. Tickets are $2. An agreeable feature of the evening's entertainment, will be the distribution of gifts ranging from $5,000 down to $30. Tickets under these circumstances are thought cheap enough and are selling rapidly. One dollar for the concert, one dollar for the ball, with $5,000, $3,000, $900 or even $2 thrown in is pretty liberal.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

Joseph Jefferson, the celebrated comedian, is occupying his farm at Hobokur, in company with his cousin and fellow-actor, Wm. Warren, of the Boston Museum. Two more jolly farmers never drove a team a-field.

Taylerre and Simmonds have arranged, in joint partnership, a season of twelve weeks in New England and the interior of the State, commencing 4th of September, and will run a succession of stars. Lawrence Barrett will be their first feature.

The general complaint of theatrical managers is that there are more attractions in the market than the theatrical calenders can furnish time for.

John Collins, the Irish comedian, has been engaged by B. Lowell for a tour through New England in September.

Mr. Bandmann will produce T. O. De Leon's dramatization of "Edwin Drood" in the Grand Opera House in September.

Louisville Opera House is undergoing renovation. De Groat will be stage manager next season, and William A. Warner, business manager. Charles Mathews and Joe Jefferson will be among the early stars.

The Boston Sun says: "The Boston Theatre persists in making itself a regular variety hall. More of it next week. How has the mighty fallen!"

Mr E. L. Davenport is passing his Summer at a pleasant villa in Roxbury.

It is said that Bristow's "Rip Van Winkle" will be performed by the Nilsson Italian Opera Troupe next season. It was a perfect failure in Boston.

Little Mack, of Bryant's Minstrels, although only three feet high, is twenty-seven years of age His father is a baker and confectioner in Brookville, Canada West, and Mack's proper name is Ebenezer Nicholson. He starts out next month with a minstrel troupe of his own.

Madame Parepa-Rosa, it is now announced, is about to start for America, bringing with her no less than four new artistes, who are to appear in English opera at the Academy in October. In addition to this and to the certain appearance here of Southey, Edith Wyane, Rudersdorf, Nilsson and Caparel, it is pretty certain that Toole, Miss Neilson, and Sothern will come as stars about the same time.

Charles B. Griste, late Billy Emerson's agent, has arrived in New York.

Kelly & Leon opened Lina Edwin's Theatre as a minstrel hall on the 31st ult.

Geo. W. Thompson has done pretty well in his Dutch pieces at Tony Pastor's.

Johnny Allen is still playing "Schneider" at the Olympic.

"Across the Continent" is running at Niblo's.

Charlotte Ousbman is definitely engaged to play six weeks at Booth's Theatre immediately succeeding the engagement of Lotta.

"Amy Robsart" will be acted at the Grand Opera House during the coming season.

"Shin Fane" is the title of an original Irish drama which John F. Poole has written for T. G. Riggs, a popular actor, and which is to be acted at the Bowery Theatre, for the first time, on August 14th, on which date Mr. Riggs commences an engagement at that theatre.

The season at the Walnut-street Theatre, Philadelphia, opens on the 14th with "Ridle."

Gayler has written a new play for J. K. Emmet, entitled, "Carl, the Fiddler."

Lingard was due in New York on the 10th.

"Alms," play written by Fred Marsden, was produced at the Park Theatre, Brooklyn, for the first time in that city, on July 24th, on the occasion of the first appearance of Miss Lily Eldridge at the Park. The piece ran during the week to good houses, it being well placed upon the stage and creditably performed.

The Alhambra, Philadelphia, has failed and scenery, wardrobe, and stage property have been sold at Sheriff's sale. Tony McCrystal was the last manager.

The veteran Ole Bull will commence a concert tour of the United States early in the coming October. This tour will also include the Southern country, where Ole Bull has not played for twenty years.

Otto M. Burbank and wife are spending the heated term at their country residence in Laporte, Indiana.

There will be from twenty to twenty-five combinations upon the road next season, including three dramatic, three operatic, four burlesque, three pantomime and three variety companies.

At the Richmond Theatre, the following stars have been engaged for the ensuing season: Mrs. F. S. Chanfrau, Miss Lillie Eldridge, D. L. Morris, M. W. Leffingwell, F. S. Chanfrau, Miss Kate Fisher, Joe Murphy, C. W. Couldock and the Jamauschek combination.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

Mrs. John Wood closed St James' Theatre, London, for the season, July 22, and started on a provincial tour, during which she will re-open the Nottingham Theatre Royal and several new theatres.

The attempt to sell the Ampnitheatre at Liverpool, Eng., July 10th, resulted in a failure; only one bid was made, £17 10 0, and as that did not come up to the reserve price, it was refused.

At the breakfast to the Comedie Francaise, at the Crystal Palace, London, Eng., July 8th, dramatic literature was represented by Lord Lytton, Dr. Westland Marston, Mr. Tom Taylor, Mr. Charles Reade, Mr. Planche, Mr. Shirley Brooks, Mr. Wilkie Collins, Mr. Palgrave Simson and Mr. Don Boucicult. The stage furnishes the names of Mr. Macready, Mr. Wigan, Mr. Phelps, Mr. Buckstone, Mr. Vezin, Mr. Walter Lacy, Mr. Sothern, Mr. Clark, Mr. Cowper, Mr. Clayton, Mr. Stirling and Mr. Chippendale. Music sent a few distinguished representatives including Sir Jules Benedict, M. Arthur Sullivan and Mr. Santly.

Frank Mathews, died in London, Eng., July 26th. He made his first appearance in that city at the theatre now known as the Lyceum, July 1st, 1829 as Waldeck, in the "Bottle Imp."

From our Parisian namesake of the 21st ult. we translate the following items of theatrical news in Paris:

The Opera releases itself from the interference of the authorities this evening, and to morrow will give "Les Huguenots."

The other theatres of Paris have generally chosen Saturday for their first representations. Thus to morrow at the Opera Comique the reproduction of "La Dame Blanche" is announced; at the Chatelet, the reproduction of "Mousquetaires;" at Folies-Marigny, a new piece.

"The Siege of Paris," a grand spectacular drama by MM Tourondo and Victor Koning, will be represented at L'Ambigu Comique. It was formerly played at the Gaiete.

At the Gymnase, "Le Fils de Famille" has been running.

M. Harmant is about to sell the Vaudeville to MM. Raymond Deslande and Mayer for the sum of 150,000. M. Deslande is a popular author; M Mayer was secretary of the Porte Saint-Martin, and is an indefatigable worker.

Reading Matter for All.

Loomis, at his stationery store at the S. E. corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the Post Office, does almost as rushing a business as the Post Office itself. All the New York papers and English magazines are there.

New Furnishing Goods,

Cheap at the What Cheer Laundry,

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Hasche, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Julien Perrault, M. D.,

The Pleasures of Hope.

A man can live on very frugal fare if he has even a little hope to flavor it. We know of any number of hard up fellows in San Francisco who are a little more cheerful than they would otherwise be, because they have a little hope of winning $20,000, $15,000, $10,000, or even one of the $500 gifts in the Omaha Gift Festival, which is to be drawn in a couple of weeks. If they hadn't bought tickets they wouldn't have even a little bit of hope, so they think anyhow $2 is not much to pay for the pleasure of knowing that there is even a possibility of their making a raise all of a sudden.

Waste of Money.

The following is the gist of an advertisement which appears in the Fair Gazette:

In order to save exhibitors the trouble and the expense of treating irresponsible parties, the Morning Call hereby gives notice that if drinks are to be put into any one with a view to future benefits to accrue, the right parties to put the drinks into are Messrs S. F. Sutherland and Thomas Newcomb, each of whom will as far as in him lies pattern after the chief magistrate of the nation. Portable articles preferred. Patent harrows will be accepted if delivered at the reporter's country seats.

An Efficient Conductor.

The Paris Figaro tells a good story of R., a leader of an orchestra, who was deeply engaged in reading the market report, while the members of the orchestra with bows in hand awaited the first movement of the conductor's baton. At length noticing they were ready, R. cried out. "Commence, commence! I'll follow you directly."

A Cruel Slander.

An exchange says:

A vicious sow in Albany attacked and nearly killed a boy named Monroe, because one of its pigs had got its head fast in a gate.

The fact is that the poor old sow was rather near-sighted, took Master Monroe for one of her family and corrected him for leading his brother into trouble.

Sold Again.

When we saw an advertisement in the Alta headed "Peanuts! Peanuts!" we thought it was something about the Call's being ready to receive political advertisements from either party, but it wasn't.

A graceless scamp, not being able to keep up with the pall-bearers at his wife's funeral, without making more exertion than he was willing to put forth, called out to them: "Hold up a little. What's the use of making a toil of pleasure?"

There is Nothing

Which attracts public attention more than a genteel gait in either sex, to acquire which it is necessary that children's shoes should be made to fit well, which may be accomplished by going to Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, where our scions of respectability are daily to be seen emerging with their purchases. •

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair —and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one. •

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf. •

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. Tucker & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices. •

H. A. Callendar,

Manufacturer of Hair Jewelry, No. 62 Second street, corner of Mission. •

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line. •

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge. •

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Do You Know

That with BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent, office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 113 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco. •

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Summer street. Ladies' saloon attached. Open day and night. •

Artificial Limbs,

Dr. Rix's Patent Magno-Spring manufactured by Rix & Co., 121 Kearny street.

Laura D. Fair.

There is scarcely a paper published in the United States, apart from one or two in San Francisco, and the immediate vicinity to the columns of which some of her pensioners have access, which attempts to talk of pity for Laura D. Fair. The Washington Critic says:

We are not often disposed to dispute the condition of martyrdom invariably assumed by condemned criminals when the time for atonement approaches, and therefore should have allowed the statement of Mrs. Laura Fair, recently published, to pass unnoticed but for the fact that it exhibits certain characteristics calculated to have a pernicious effect upon society—an attempt to dwarf the enormity of her own crime. Nothing could be more laudable, even in a saint, than the fine vein of morality which runs through her document. The indignation expressed against all slanders; her horror of persecution; her very careful and particular disapproval of treasonable sentiments; the sublimely virtuous manner in which she exposes an unchivalric insulter of chastity, are all worthy of the highest praise, and would seem to indicate the possession of honorable sentiments. Yet this woman, so blameless in professed principles, so touchingly supplicant for mercy, shot down a man in cold blood as if he were a dog. How are we to estimate this criminal? Can all these virtues exist in the same heart with a spirit which holds the taking of human life a mere peccadillo? To this there can be but one answer in the minds of all intelligent people; and lovers of order and right will view the whole statement as a tissue of falsifications and special pleadings.

The latest report current about the means used to create sympathy for this woman, is that in hopes of gaining time by a merciful provision of the law, she has taken a leaf from Charles Reade's last novel: "A Terrible Temptation."

Balfe Statue Fund.

The committee representing the proprietors of Drury Lane Theatre has, with the consent of the lessee, Mr. Chatterton, accepted a proposal made by the friends of the late Mr. Balfe, to place in the vestibule of that theatre a statue to the late eminent and popular composer. An appeal has been made to the press of the United Kingdom and to that of Australia and the United States, to solicit their aid in raising a sufficient sum, towards which subscriptions have already been made, in order to carry out the object.

A Little Outcast.

A little vagrant boy, brought up in a London police court the other day, in reply to questions, said: "I don't live nowheres. I ain't got no friends. I sleep at night under the showboard agin the Lyceum Theatre. Sometimes I gits under other boards."—Ex.

Poor boy! But after all, the theatres provided him with board and lodging.

A devoted little wife in Indiana, seeing her husband blowing in the muzzle of a gun while holding back the hammer with his foot, tripped down to ask a milliner about it the cost of mourning, and whether it would be becoming to her complexion.

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again. •

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices. •

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them. •

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st. •

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure. •

What is Glucolein?

A preparation of Cod Liver Oil, without any disagreeable taste; the most efficacious remedy for all pulmonary complaints. Prepared and sold by JAMES G. STEELE & Co., No. 521 Montgomery street. •

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices. •

Creme de Lis.

Beautiful is the finish developed by the use of DICKEY'S celebrated CREME DE LIS, a pure transparent complexion being imparted. No poison enters its composition. •

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock. •

Thirty Dollars.

French china breakfast, dinner, and tea set $30, at P. Donglas & Co's, 121 Kearny street.

E. F. Bunnell, Dentist,

No. 319 Kearny street, near Market. •

Since the Great Reduction

In prices at Guerin & Kelly's Prize Boot and Shoe Store, their store has been crowded with customers. Call and see them. 327 and 329 Bush street. •

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco. •

Don't Forget to Visit

The San Francisco Health Lift, 24 Post st. •

The Noble Game.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening, may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table. •

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoilt, send them to the What Cheer Laundry. •

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few door below What Cheer House. •

Vivian's Treadmill Song.

"Ten Thousand Miles Away" for sale, price five cents, by Wm. Cohen, 912 Kearny street, between Jackson and Pacific streets. 10,000 different songs for sale.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP
H. H. PEARSON,
LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,
HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times, he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The Table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furnitures and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Lively Times in Amusements.

FIGARO will be the house programme for seven places of amusement to-night, viz: The Opera House, California Theatre, Alhambra Theatre, Bella Union Theatre, Theatre Comique, The Oxford, and the Circus.

Maguire's Opera House.

"La Belle Helene," performed last night on the opening of the season of French opera bouffe, was a great success in every way. A large and fashionable audience was in attendance and the theatre presented a charming appearance, festooned with evergreens and adorned with bright carpeting and flowering shrubs. The scenery was good, the dresses were new, the orchestra efficient and the chorus numerous. The excellent style in which the opera was produced showed how much may be accomplished by careful rehearsal and preparation. Mlle Silly made a delightful Helene, and kept the audience laughing by her arch and piquante acting, and gained great applause for the excellent manner in which she sang the airs in the part. She was ably supported by M. Felix Girrebeck as Paris; the old favorite, M. Bonnet, MM. Adrien, Nor; Mlles Vandelet, Marie, Felice, and the other members of the well-trained company. The music of the opera is light and pleasing and the libretto abounds in fun of the most lively description. To-night "La Belle Helene" will be repeated.

Alhambra Theatre.

It would be hard to find a stronger team than Billy Emerson, Charley Howard, Sheridan and Mack, Vivian, S. S. Purdy and the talented troupe of minstrels now performing at this little bijou theatre. The acts are lively, the music is delightful, and all do their best to present an entertainment which leaves no room for criticism.

California Theatre.

One of the most attractive bills of the season was presented last night at this theatre, when Miss May Howard, the very popular leading lady of the company, took her benefit. The comedy of "She Stoops to Conquer" was played very well indeed throughout, the beneficiary acting the part of Miss Hardcastle with much power. "A Sentence of death on the high seas," was recited with admirable feeling and expression by John McCullough, and the very pleasant evening's entertainment concluded with the play of "An Actress by Daylight." The same bill will be played to-night.

Metropolitan Theatre.

This theatre was thronged last night, when Joe Murphy took his farewell benefit. The performance went off excellently well, Joe Murphy, Sallie De Angelis and Johnny De Angelis, all receiving their due meed of applause, and the ever-popular "Help" being performed in capital style.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Ella Wesner introduced new songs last night, and one in particular which she sung in a gorgeous military uniform was much applauded "If Ever I Cease to Love" is the popular song of the day. Mlle Aline Le Favre is immense in "Scenes in Paris;" Johnny Manning, the most graceful as well as the most daring of gymnasts, delights everyone by his wonderful performance on the flying rings, and the Reynolds Brothers are always encored; Little Josie Abecco, who made her first appearance last night, is a charming vocalist and will certainly become a favorite with the public.

Theatre Comique.

The new addition to the large and and talented company at this house, Dan Taylor, at once made himself a favorite with the audience last night. A capital bill has been prepared for to-night, comprising a number of new acts, songs and dances, and the popular little Maggie Knight in her lightning changes.

Oxford Theatre.

An immense troupe of favorite performers nightly appears at this cosy little place of amusement, and music, mirth and minstrelsy make the evening pass pleasantly away. The full programme of the entertainment offered to-night appears on our first page.

New York Mammoth Circus.

Extraordinary attractions are offered at the circus to-night, and the price of admission has been reduced one half. Miss Leo Hudson, the daring equestrienne, will perform her dashing act of "Dick Turpin's Ride to York," and the immense company will appear in a brilliant and diversified performance.

Platt's Hall.

A very large audience assembled to hear Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton's lecture entitled "Our Young Girls." All were entertained and instructed and we don't think it possible that any were offended. The applause was loud and frequent. Mrs. Stanton closed her highly interesting lecture with a brief account of the wonders of California, which she had lately visited. Mrs. Stanton is the most delightful of lecturers and we hope it will not be long before she again offers our public an evening of instruction and amusement.

Skating Carnival.

There will be great attractions at Platt's Hall to-morrow night. The members of the Howard-street Skating Rink, together with the most accomplished skaters of the old Pavilion Club, are to hold a grand carnival at Platt's Hall on the evening of the 16th inst. As many of the skaters have acquired great proficiency in the graceful art since former carnivals, and the managers have the experience of these to profit by, the proposed carnival cannot fail to be a grand success.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Woodward's Gardens.

Over three thousand people visited this delightful resort yesterday and in addition to the thousand and one objects of interest always to be seen there, enjoyed the performances of Professor Lorett, the champion skater, and the wonderful feats of the Iron Boy.

Leo Hudson.

This daring equestrienne will make her first appearance at the New York Mammoth Circus to-night in her great character of Dick Turpin

"UNGRATEFUL FRANCE."

What Prince Bismarck Thought of the Revolution of Sedan.

In an expose of the motives that actuated Bazaine in his passive defence and ultimate surrender of Metz, published by the Journal des Debats, the author (an officer in the Army of the Rhine) gives the following account of what occurred at the interview between Gen. Boyer and Prince Bismarck, when the former was sent by Marshal Bazaine to Versailles with a "mission" to the Prussian Chancellor:

"The General introduced to Prince Bismarck, after a few formal remarks, asked him what were his aims and objects; in a word, what he desired as the result of the war. To this M. de Bismarck replied very frankly that his policy was most simple; that the French might do as they pleased; that as for themselves (the Germans) they were sure of Paris, its fall being merely a question of time. 'The French took Rome without injuring its monuments; the Germans will do the same with Paris, which is a city of art in which nothing shall be destroyed. I have nothing to say to the various considerations that you lay before me. You tell me that your Metz army is the sole element of order remaining in France, and that it is alone capable of establishing and upholding a Government in the country. If this is the case, constitute this Government; we will offer no opposition, and we will even render you some assistance. The Marshal will repair to some town to be named with his army, and summon the Empress thither. In our eyes the sole legal Government of the country is still that of the plebiscitum of the 8th of May; it is the only one we recognize. You speak to me of the necessity of putting an end to a war such as this one; but who am I to treat with? There is no Chamber. I had proposed to let the elections be held on the 2d of October; the departments occupied by the Prussian troops would have had full liberty in the selection of their deputies. This offer was not taken advantage of. I then suggested the date of the 18th of October with no better success.' We then learn that Prince Bismarck, entering into another train of ideas, pronounced the following sentence with no little warmth: 'I cannot say what will befall France, nor what is the future that awaits her; but I do know this, that it will redound to her shame, to her eternal shame in all time, in all ages, and in all tongues, to have abandoned her Emperor as she did after Sedan. The stain which she will never wash out is the revolution of the 4th of September.' Finally, returning to what was peculiarly the object of the interview, the Chancellor repeated that he would offer no opposition to the reconstitution of a Government by Marshal Bazaine and his army."

COREAN CONCERNS.

The American Fleet Gone to China—English men Captured by the Coreans—The British Fleet Sails for China.

The Monocacy and Palos have gone to Shanghai to repair damages; the other American vessels in the Corean expedition have gone to Chefoo to obtain supplies and await orders.

The Hiogo Herald says:

It appears that on or about the 2d of June the German schooner Ohusan left Chefoo for Passiett, or Port May, but in passing round the Corean Peninsula, was drifted out of her course by the current during a fog, stranded on an island of the Sir James Hall Group, and was abandoned by her crew. In due time the wreck was sold at auction at Chefoo, and was knocked down, "as she lay on the island of Sir James Hall Group," for some $80 to two British subjects, one named Campbell and the other Paul. They immediately got ready a junk, and with another foreigner, a German, and a numerous body of Chinese to conduct the salving operations, started for the scene of the wreck. But they had scarcely arrived there when they were surrounded by large numbers of the Coreans who bound the three foreigners hand and foot, and, slinging them on bamboos, as we see pigs carried about through the settlement, hurried them off into the interior. The Chinese were glad to make their escape, and reaching Chefoo on the morning of the 6th inst. reported what had occurred. The Admiral had left some time before in the Salamis, and Captain Hewett, of the Ocean, as senior naval officer, at once sent orders to H. B. M. Ringdove to get up steam to proceed, as was generally supposed, to make inquiries regarding the abducted foreigners. After what has recently occurred on Corea, we fear their fate will be a hard one.

A Veritable Fire-eater.

They have in Caroline county, Maryland a veritable fire eater named Coker, a colored man. The Eaton Journal says of him: "Coker the negro fire-eater from Caroline county, was in Easton, and was induced to give an exhibition of his fire proof qualities, of which so much had been said. He lapped his tongue several times on a red-hot shovel, rubbed the same hot shovel on the bottom of his foot, and poured melted lead into his mouth, where he let it remain until it hardened. There was no legerdemain about it—it was done in the presence of a number gentlemen immediately around him, and by whom he was closely watched to prevent imposition. A physician examind his mouth but could find no evidence of burns, or that the heat had any effect upon him. It is certainly wonderful, and an examination of his skin worthy the attention of scientific men."

NIL NISI VERITAS.

MARY E. BRADLEY.

They talk amiss
Who would teach us this—
That wisdom is folly and ignorance bliss.

Better the truth,
Though it bring me ruth,
Than a lie as sweet as the dreams of youth.

Better to stand
In a lonely land,
My feet unshod in its desert sand,

Than to blindly go
Where cool streams flow,
And a serpent coils in the grasses low.

There was one I knew,
And he seemed so true,
With a heart so brave to dare and to do!,

And a soul so clear
That, rejecting fear,
Mine lay at ease in an atmosphere

Of love secure,
And joy so pure,
I said, "For eternity this will endure!"

Yet there came a time
To my proud love's prime,
When that proved base I had deemed sublime.

By the cool stream's bed
My flowers hung dead,
And the serpent, hissing, uptossed its head;

Who sees laid low,
At a single blow,
The sweetest thing in his life, may know

What bitter ruth
For my heart, in sooth,
Was born of this naked, terrible truth.

Yet I hold it still
With a steadfast will,
To live deceived is a crueler ill.

And though I stand
In a lonely land,
Afar from the touch of a tender hand,

Or a mouth to kiss—
It is better this,
Than to cling to a falsehood, and dream it bliss.

A Cambridge gentleman caught cold the other night by kissing a lady's snowy brow.

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing."

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

Reading Matter for All.

Loomis, at his stationery store at the S. E. corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the Post Office, does almost as rushing a business as the Post Office itself. All the New York papers and English magazines are there.

EIGHTH INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION

... OF THE....

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE

WILL BE OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

AT 11 A. M., TUESDAY, AUGUST 8

HON. MILTON S. LATHAM

Has consented to deliver the OPENING ADDRESS

THE EXHIBITION BUILDING IS SITUATED on Union Square, in the heart of the city of San Francisco, and on the line of three street railroads. The building covers a ground area of 95,200 feet, and is complete in all its appointments.

Steam power and water supply furnished free to exhibitors.

All goods competing for premiums, or to be catalogued, must be receipted for by the entry clerk before August 12th.

Rules and Regulations can be obtained from any of the officers at the Institue or Pavilion.

In conjunction with the Industrial Exhibition, the BAY DISTRICT HORICULTURAL SOCIETY will hold its first Exhibition of the Flowers and Fruits of California, occupying a space of 320x50 feet.

Was Alice Ever in Love?

As to whether Alice Cary, the sweet poet, ever had a lover, her sister Phoebe in the last Ladies' Repository says:

"If in her mortal life she ever felt any deeper and holier affection than that for her kindred, except in dreams of poesy, she rolled the stone over the mouth of its dead sepulcher, and sealed it with everlasting silence. Among the things not hallowed by her use there was not left a single relic which could reveal such a secret. Not a picture, not a written line, not even a withered flower to say that she had loved or been beloved. And so, knowing there was one chamber in her heart kept by her always as a safe and sacred sanctuary, mine is surely not the hand to lift from it now the solemn and eternal curtain of the past."

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. The difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

Euphrosyne's Enameline.

A delicate ENAMEL, imparting an irresistible elegance and refinement to the face. Price 50 cents. Wilson & Co., southeast corner of Fifth and Mission streets.

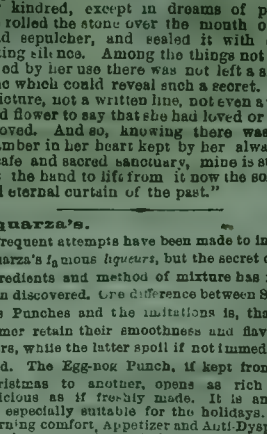
To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Julien Perrault, M. D.,

Physician and Surgeon, member of the Medical Faculty of Paris, etc. Dr. Perrault's studies and practice have, for ten years past, been almost exclusively devoted to the cure of General Debility and other Specific Affections, acute or chronic, all which he continues to treat successfully by the newest scientific methods. Office 502 Montgomery street, northeast corner of Sacramento st., San Francisco, Rooms 9, 10 and 11. Consultations in English, French, German and Spanish.

A Pleasant Location.



Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Should Suicide be Prevented?

If a man has thoroughly made up his mind to commit suicide, has another man a right to try to prevent him? This is a question which admits of discussion. A cruel case occurred at San Quentin on Friday, when a man for the purpose of committing suicide jumped into a copper vat of boiling water. The report says "he suffered terrible agony for two hours and then died." It seems rather hard that a man who was so anxious to end his life he was willing to be boiled to death rather than live, should not have been able to procure means of putting an end to his existence painlessly. It seems hard that the doctor was not allowed by the laws of civilization to shorten those two hours of terrible agony by means of his art. There are cases where to prevent a worthless member of society from destroying a life which is a burden to himself and a curse to others, is inflicting a wrong on an entire community. Sometimes as much reflection is needed before saving a life as before taking it. Surely the world is not yet sufficiently civilized or this useless interference with suicides would cease. There are people who would have had Judas Iscariot stopped while he was on the way to hang himself. Would they have been right? Suicide should be recognized in San Francisco at least as a social evil which exists, and its horrors should be lessened as far as possible, that we may have no more cases of self-destruction by plunging into vats of boiling water—no more worthless lives saved through sickly sentimentality.

If you would be pungent, be brief, for it is with words as with sunbeams, the more they are condensed the deeper they burn.

In dying Ruloff put his hand in his pocket. In life he put his hand in other people's pockets.

A Good Way to Raise Strawberries.—With a spoon.

The Noble Game.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Reduced Prices.

Guerin & Kelly, prize boot and shoe makers, 317 and 319 Bush street. Must sell $35,000 worth of boots and shoes within 60 days. Call and examine our stock.

Twiaba, or White Sage Hair Restorative, stops the hair from falling out, and is the purest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street.

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices.

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair —and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. Tucker & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices.

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoilt, send them to the What Cheer Laundry.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies Figaro to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge.

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Do You Know

That with Butterick's Patterns you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent, office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 113 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco.

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Summer street. Ladies' saloon at sached. Open day and night.

Artificial Limbs,

Dr. Bly's Patent. Mcnzo Spring, manufacturer, S.W. cor. Second and Jessie sts.

The Bohemian.

The term Bohemian, as applied to professionals, appears to have originated in Paris, as an epithet for Polish refugees; Poland, previous to the division, having been famous for the brilliancy and erudition of its cultivated classes. After the division there was a large influx of Poles at Paris, who, coming from that quarter, were designated Bohemians, and became, with the natural instinct of brilliant men having no other means of subsistence, its literateurs and journalists. Hence the term Bohemian is applied to that class of public men. The modern Bohemian is, however, an individual of another stamp; and Professor Porter's crayon of him is by no means exaggerated. "He is a person," says the professor, "of no mean qualifications, but smart rather than solid, and apt rather than trustworthy. He has received an education more or less accomplished, from the finished classical culture of the English University, down to the scanty but stimulating curriculum of the printing and editorial rooms. He has a facile command of the pen, a good memory, a ready wit, and infinite volubility. His assurance is unbounded, and his principles and his sense of consistency never stand in the way of an engagement. He never hesitates to write leaders at the same time in the organs of two opposing parties —for and against protection, or whatever question divides the parties of the day. He is ready to applaud and to defame any man, to extol and depress the same man in two successive weeks, according to his engagement. He has no conviction except upon a single point, and that is, that those who pretend to have any, are either weekly self-deceived or are self-conscious knaves. And yet no class of writers uses the vocabulary of earnestness more fervently and impressively than he."

A Benighted Britisher.

An English tourist thought that a Detroit sign, reading "Dinner from 12½ to 2 P. M., meant dinner from 12¼ to 2 shillings per meal."

The swells at New London (Conn.) pronounce Pequot "Paquo," and the Bulletin says: "Shades of Uncas! Shall we have to wrestle with Poquetanoc, Pogwamistick and Wiccopeset in French?"

One of Barnum's anacondas shuffled off 13 feet of mortal coil, in Worcester, a few days ago.

It is Not

Because you wear cheap boots and shoes that you become crippled—it is because they do not fit properly; neither does a bad-fitting boot or shoe last so long by half the time as one made by a first-class cutter, such as is found at Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre.

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the Figaro Saloon, opposite the stage entrance, where the red light burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. Hermann keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the Figaro Saloon once go there again.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of Figaro among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st.

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure.

What is Glucolein?

A preparation of Cod Liver Oil, without any disagreeable taste; the most efficacious remedy for all pulmonary complaints. Prepared and sold by James G. Steele & Co., No. 521 Montgomery street.

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line.

Creme de Lis.

Beautiful is the finish developed by the use of Dickey's celebrated Creme de Lis, a pure transparent complexion being imparted. No poison enters its composition.

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passebooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Thirty Dollars.

French china breakfast, dinner, and tea set $30, at P. Douglas & Co's, 131 Kearny street. Other goods at same low rates.

Very Democratic.

The Sacramento Bee, writing about the impounding of dogs, says:

Within a space of ten feet square there are a score of dogs, untagged, and awaiting recognition by owners. Some of them are of high breed, and doubtless prized accordingly by their owners. Recently a friend from El Dorado, whose dog died a few days ago from the bite of a rattlesnake, inflicted while picking up a bird, offered ten dollars for a dog in that pen; the offer was refused. The City Trustees may act mercifully in this matter by amending the ordinance relating to the dog pound. At present two dollars and a half are allowed for redemption, and a per diem per dog is charged for keeping him. If a cur is captured he should be killed, and dogs of a higher degree should be similarly treated, and there should be no distinction made where dogs of a higher degree are not called for. Their sale should not be permitted.

Why shouldn't a good dog be sold as well as a good cow or horse, if he unfortunately gets into the pound? That a dog of high breed, good education and gentle instincts, deserves to be knocked on the head as much as a valueless cur, may be good democratic doctrine, as proving that all dogs are by nature equal, no matter who their mothers or fathers are; but we think it would be much more rational, instead of killing good dogs, to sell them, and thus add to the revenue of the city.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

CHAS. E. McLANE,
Board of City Hall Commissioners.
ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSH HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The Table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au8 1m

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Lively Times in Amusements.

FIGARO will be the house programme for seven places of amusement to-night, viz: The Opera House, California Theatre, Alhambra Theatre, Bella Union Theatre, Theatre Comique, The Oxford, and the Circus.

California Theatre.

To-night will be produced a new and original play written by Mrs. Mary Watson of this city. It is entitled "Lady Clare," and is founded on Tennyson's poem. It will be produced in good style with the full strength of the company, and we hope to be able to record the success of a California play.

Alhambra Theatre.

The popular Charley Howard, appears nightly as Uncle Jeff; Billy Emerson gives some of his best songs and characteristic acts; Vivian has new songs, Sheridan and Mack, are the most popular of lightning change men; and S. S. Purdy, M. Ainsley Scott and other members of the invincible Emerson's Minstrels, appear in a programme of extraordinary attractions.

Maguire's Opera House.

To-night, the third of the season of French Opera Bouffe, Offenbach's opera of "La Perichole" will be produced for the first time in San Francisco. This opera was a great success when it was played in New York and cannot fail to be popular here. M'lle Lea Silly appears as La Perichole, for the remainder of the cast we refer our readers to our first page.

Bella Union Theatre.

Miss Ella Wesner in new songs; the inimitable Aline Le Favre in sensational drama; Johnny Manning in his unapproachable acts on the trapeze and flying rings; Geo. and Charles Reynolds in their original songs and dances, and the other members of the large and talented company at the Bella Union Theatre, delight large audiences nightly.

Theatre Comique.

Little Maggie Knight has made a great hit in her lightning changes; Dan Taylor, Johnny Tuers and Jake Wallace are the most comical of Ethiopian comedians, and George Fane's songs, the newest sensations of the London music halls are all good. Miss Maggie Lawrence who made her first appearance last night, is a pleasing balladist.

Oxford Theatre.

Four new stars are announced to appear at this favorite place of amusement to-night: Eva Clayton, La Belle Violet, Josie Mayfield and Jennie Clayton. The names of the very full company and corps de ballet engaged here, appear on our first page.

Leo Hudson at the Circus.

This daring equestrienne will make her second appearance at the the New York Mammoth Circus to-night in her great character of Dick Turpin. There will be no advance in the price of admission, 50 cents to the dress circle. The circus only remains two nights longer. The death of Black Bess, and the bearing off horse and rider on the shoulders of the crowd, forms a very effective finale.

Skating Carnival.

There will be great attractions at Platt's Hall this evening. The members of the Howard-street Skating Rink, together with the most accomplished skaters of the old Pavilion Club, are to hold a grand carnival at Platt's Hall on the swift gliding skates to-night. As many of the skaters have acquired great proficiency in the graceful art since former carnivals, and the managers have the experience of these to profit by, the carnival to-night cannot fail to be a grand success.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chailiu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Japanese Novelties.

The Royal Yeddo Troupe of acrobats, ventriloquists and posturers, from the Imperial Theatre, Yeddo, (the Mikado's Theatre,) which arrived here by the last China steamer, will open their budget of novelties at Platt's Hall on Monday evening next. This is the first troupe ever imported from the Capital, and wonderful feats are imputed to them. The other troupes that have preceded this are but small frys in comparison, having come from the smaller towns and seaports only, and have never played before the Mikado. Future programmes will appear in FIGARO.

Joe Murphy.

Joe Murphy goes East this morning well satisfied with the help his California friends have given him, the receipts of his two week's engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre having been $12,052,50. Joe goes to fill an engagement at the Boston Theatre commencing on Sept. 4th, he will stop at Salt Lake on his way and play four nights.

TWO INSTEAD OF ONE.—A young man who visited his sweetheart on Sunday night was expostulated with for drinking whisky and so much of it; but found a satisfactory explanation in the remark that it was in order to see two angels instead of one when he looked at her.

SELF-ASSURANCE.—At a recent Sabbath-school concert, a little boy stood up to say his "piece," and, forgetting the words of the text, hesitated a moment, then, with all possible assurance, said, "Blessed are the shoemakers."

VALUABLE BIRD.—One single pigeon, a favorite bird with the pigeon fanciers of Paris, brought into that city during the siege 500 pages of official dispatches and 15,000 private dispatches.

WRETCHED BUSINESS.—A crusty old bachelor says that "love is a wretched business, consisting of a little sighing, a little dying, and a deal of lying."

"The Days of Forty-Nine."

Ben Butler Overboard.

The Eastern Argus tells the following good story of Ben Butler: "The doughty hero of Big Bethel, Fort Fisher, etc., met with a mishap in Newburyport the other day, which nearly deprived the country of his services.

Butler and Colonel French were pacing the quarter deck in a style worthy of Admiral Jim Fisk. The yacht rounded to, and off went a gun that made the Newbury porters think of powder ships. The yawl was brought alongside and Butler and French seem to have attempted to get in together. Now it is a well established fact that two locomotives with steam up cannot pass each other on the same track. Butler and French could not, nor could they both go down the steps at the same moment without damage to their political economy. French pitched forward and landed half in the water and half in the little boat. Butler was less fortunate. He disappeared, and the murky waters of the Merrimac closed over his bald and busy head. But not forever. Ben appeared on the surface directly, with a spout that is represented as a cross between that of a porpoise and a bump-backed whale. He thrashed about until the water frothed like yeast. His jolly tars made heroic efforts to rescue him, but Ben's bald pate left them little to clutch at, and it was not until the honorable gentleman from Massachusetts had gone down for the conventional third time that he was dragged out, half drowned, the most dilapidated, woe begone looking statesman and warrior that ever tumbled into the drink. He did not go ashore that night, and is understood to have taken on board more water than the average Congressman requires for a whole session.

Romance and Reality.

Recently a young girl in New Orleans who was engaged to be married, mysteriously absented herself from her home. A few days afterward her body was found in the great river. The Picayune thus describes the corpse.

"The body had not been in the water long, and no alteration had taken place in the beautiful face and tall, slender form. In the fresh, pure air and morning sunshine it resembled sleep, only for the terror of its presence and the waxen look of the passionless face. The damp hair hung in disorder over her brow and tangled meshes lay upon her shoulder, while the slender limbs, defined through the clinging dress, repose awe-like in their stillness. It was a picture of youth and beauty—but of death."

So much for the romance, now for the reality. The Times, in its report of the finding of the same corpse says:

"When she was found, yesterday morning," it says, "the body had been caught in the wheel of the steamboat W. S. Pike, her face being terribly bruised and disfigured. The hair, long brown tresses, were nearly all gone from the head. The body was dressed in white pique dress and similar basque, gaiters with rosettes and steel buckles, and so much decomposed that it was necessary to have it immediately buried."

A Pernicious Practice.

We find the following sensible remarks in an exchange, and deem them of sufficient importance to lay before our readers. We especially call the attention of loving mothers to their purport:

We know many mothers who have a practice of making their children be in bed for an hour or two after they want to get up in the morning. They are affectionate mothers, very. "Children," they say, "should spend as many hours in bed and get all the sleep they can—health journals say so." Health journals say nothing for this pernicious practice, which results in sluggishness, laziness, bad temper and bad health in youth, and deformity in age. Children thus kept in bed curl up into every awkward position to rest themselves from the long and tedious confinement, and the result is they almost invariably have bent spines, crooked forms and hanging heads. We observed the evils of this practice for twenty years, and know whereof we speak. Another bad practice is that of letting children run about the house and premises for an hour or two in the cold morning air with nothing but a shirt or night wrapper about the person. Some people are totally blind to these results, and wonder why their children who never performed any hard labor, are more crooked than those who have.

El Dorado Fruit Crossing the Sierra.

Already large quantities of fruit, says the Placerville Republican, are being transported to Nevada by the Placerville route, conveyed in four or six-horse Concord thorough-brace-wagons. About nine days are required to make the trip. The farmer or fruit-raiser disposes of his load on the road or at Virginia City, at from four to ten cents per pound, generally having a variety, such as apples, pears, peaches, plums and grapes. Each load, after paying expenses, leaves him quite a margin for profit. On this route upward of forty teams were engaged three months last year in transporting fruit raised in this vicinity. In all, more than 750 tons were delivered, for which about $120 per ton was realized and some $90,000 distributed among the dry goods, grocery and lumber dealers.

SHOULD BE.—Letter writing, says Mr. Beecher, should be taught in schools instead of composition. There are few things more absurd than to set a child of ten or twelve years of age to the writing of a composition. But every child can be taught to describe familiar things, to use his senses sharply in observation, and to record accurately what he sees or hears or feels.

GAS.

I'm thankful that the sun and moon
Are both hung up so high,
That no presumptuous hand can stretch
And pull them from the sky.
If they were not, I have no doubt
But some reforming ass
Would recommend to take them down,
And light the world with gas.

Wonderful Feat.

The Alaska Herald says: When the Russian American Telegraph is completed, the following feat will be possible: A telegram from Alaska for New York, leaving Sitka, say at forty minutes past six on Monday morning, would be received at Nicholaevsk, Siberia, at six minutes past one on Tuesday morning; at St. Petersburg, Russia, at three minutes past six on Monday evening; at London, twenty-minues past four on Monday afternoon; and at New York at forty-six minutes past eleven on Monday forenoon. Thus, allowing twenty minutes for each retransmission, a message may start on the morning of one day, to be received and transmitted the next day, again received and sent on the afternoon of the day it starts, and finally reaches its destination on the forenoon on the first day, the whole taking place in one hour's time.

A DISGUSTED DARKY.—Pinchback, a colored member of the Louisiana Legislature, stated the situation between himself and Col. Carter, Speaker of the House of Representatives, when he said: "I have been playing second fiddle long enough. I want it clearly understood that I'm not a Warmouth man, or a Dunn man, nor a Carter man. If I am going to be in the orchestra I shall be one of the chief fiddlers. For instance, I am very friendly with Col. Carter, and he honors me with his friendship. But just as soon as Carter gets what he wants out of Pinchback, Pinchback may go to the devil—and [after a long pause] I'm d—d if it ain't vice versa."

THE REASON.—A reformed gambler suggests that the reason why Hamlet declined to "shuffle" was because he didn't have anything to do with the de'il.

THEIR ESTIMATE.—Titusvillians express value in terms of oil barrels. Thus, they speak of a fashionable young lady as wearing an eighty-six barrel suit.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

"The Thing."

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

An Antediluvian Young Lady.

The Chronicle on Sunday mentioned among other attractions at the Fair, "a young lady of ten and a half decades." Before the flood, with gentlemen living to the age of 960 years, as we are told Mr. Methuselah did, a lady of a hundred and five years of age might have been considered a mere girl, but now-a-days a lady of ten and a half decades is to say the least—matured.

An Original Paper.

The newest grief is the Evening Journal, which ought to be consolidated with the Pelican and form a double-headed baby—a democratic-republican monster. This paper coolly heads a column of clippings from the funny department of the Alta "Editorial Paragraphs." If impudence will keep a paper alive, then the Evening Journal will live.

Fifty cents a shine is the Long Branch boot-black tariff.

Pauline Markham's golden tresses fill a bushel measure.

A Michigan judge solves technicalities by flipping a nickel.

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets.

Those "Materfamillas"

who really feel interested in their children's gait should call at KAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, to see the sense displayed in his peculiar make of children's Balmorals and Button Gaiters, the adoption of which will certainly guarantee comfort, ease and grace.

The Noble Game.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corvillo's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

TWIGGA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street.

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices.

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices.

LETTER FROM CHICAGO.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

CHICAGO, August 7th, 1871

DEAR FIGARO:—Closing up the regular dramatic business is in order now. Great changes among the different stock companies are to be made. The old companies are to be entirely broken up and new ones substituted. Managers are working hard to get together new companies.

HOOLEY'S OPERA HOUSE.

At this place of amusement there has been one continued ovation to the charming Katie Putnam. Mr. Edwin Brown, its enterprising manager, has worked hard for the success of this troupe, and he accomplished it, notwithstanding the obstacles that came in his way in the shape of hot weather, etc. Mr. Brown knew what would please the taste of the Chicago public, and he succeeded admirably. "The Field of the Cloth of Gold," with new local songs, scenery and costumes, ran two weeks. It was succeeded by "Little Nell and the Marchioness," and the afterpiece, "Happy Pair," with Miss Putnam as the Marchioness and Millie Trent. It was well mounted, and was cleverly played by Miss Putnam and some of the other leading characters. Quilp was sustained by J. W. Jennings, and Dick Swiveller by Edwin Browne, in a manner that will not soon be forgotten by the Chicago public. Friday evening, August 4th, a grand testimonial benefit was given by the members of the company and citizens of Chicago to Miss Putnam, and it was a rouser. "Fanchon, the Cricket," was the bill of fare for the evening, with a varied interlude. On Saturday evening, the last night of this company, Mr. Blais fell was presented by his friends with a valuable cane and pin, Con Murphy making the presentation speech. The company will rest until September 2st, when they will re-organize for a trip in the rural districts. This evening (7th) the McKee Rankin Comedy Company will commence a short engagement under the management of A. L. Parkes. "Dora" and "Black-Eyed Se-u-san" are down on the programme.

WOOD'S MUSEUM

The audience room is still closed, but will be thrown open to the public for a season, commencing August 14th, under the management of Mr. Langrishe; the programme for the opening night is not yet announced.

M'VICKER'S THEATRE

Is fast drawing to completion, and will open its regular dramatic season on Sept. 1st. Stars of the highest order have been engaged and will appear shortly. The stock company have all been engaged and are now waiting patiently for its grand opening. Mr. Henry Basconet is engaged.

DEARBORN THEATRE.

"School" was the attraction at this house the past week, and is retained on the boards this week. Let me state that too much independence is maintained by the management of this place of amusement and there is no little complaint by the many "quills" both dramatic and local of the lack of gentlemanly courtesy on the part of the managers. The burnt corkists will soon make their appearance again.

THE OLYMPIC.

Is still in full blast. Lew Wallace, the California accordeon player, created quite a furor among the patrons of this popular place. The complimentary benefit of Frank Dillon was a grand affair, 20 stars appearing on the stage during the evening. Among them were Messrs. Ned Fox, Neil Rogers, Tom Clawson, Fernando Fleury, Johnny Bowman, Billy Harris, Frank Crane, Lew Wallace, Miss Nellie Clifford, (called the Belle of the American Stage,) Miss Josephine Wally, Helen Revere, Clara Butler, and a host of others. Among the features given on the evening's entertainment was the shooting of an apple with a Colt's (large size) revolver, from the head of Miss Clara Butler, by Mr. Frank Frayne, at the distance of ten paces. The accomplishing of this daring feat was greeted by deafening applause of those present. Miss Viola Clifton put in her appearance on Friday evening, in her popular sensational songs and changes and was greeted with 7 encores, she will be a number one card for this house. Geo. F. Moore and Katie Henderson are underlined to appear soon.

JOHN ROBINSON'S CIRCUS

Is billed here for one week commencing this evening with their trip'e show and menagerie.

THE SCOTT CENTENARY.

There will be given on the evening of the 14th, 15th and 16th, and matinee, four grand performances by the dramatic profession of Chicago for the erection in one of the public parks, of a monument to Scott, mammoth programmes are announced; over 100 actors and actresses on the bills. On the 14th "Rob Roy" will be performed: on the 15th, "Guy Mannering; on the 16th, "Heart of Mid Lothian," with "Rob Roy" for the matinee on the same date. The whole dramatic profession of Chicago will put in an appearance in the above plays: and it is impossible in my limited space to go into any enumeration of casts.

MISCELLANEOUS.

E. S. Marble, late of the California Theatre, is in town, organizing a fine dramatic company to travel in the rural districts. The company is nearly made up, and will start out for Wisconsin on the 14th.

The Sawtelle Comedy Company returned last week to re-organize, and will soon go back to the country again.

Mr. Blaisdell, of the Putnam Troupe, goes to Boston to fill an engagement at the Boston Theatre next season.

Frank Dillon is off for Cleveland. Bowman and Harris also go the same way.

The jovial Frank Aikin is in town again, and from him I learn that some great attractions are in store for the Chicago public.

WILL.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all he Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st.

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

To the Unfortunate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure.

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Vivian's Treadmill Song.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE.

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. aug 1m

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

Charley Howard's impersonation of Old Uncle Jeff is received with thunders of applause nightly and unanimously pronounced the best representation of the old plantation darkey ever seen; Sheridan and Mack's wonderful changes are the talk of the town. Vivian's songs are as sparkling and bright as ever, and the prince of minstrel performers, Billy Emerson, in first part, interlude and afterpiece, keeps the audience in a roar.

Maguire's Opera House.

Many are not aware of the rich treat they miss in not witnessing French Opera Bouffe as presented at Maguire's Opera House under the experienced management of Madame Lea Silly. "La Perichole" was produced last night to a large and fashionable audience and proved one of the greatest successes ever achieved on the San Francisco stage. The audience applauded until they were hoarse and encored again and again the delicious morceaux with which the opera abounds. Mme. Lea Silly positively excelled herself and was ably sustained by M. Girrebank and the admirably drilled company. Even after the fall of the curtain the delighted audience lingered and demanded a repetion of the finale, which was good-naturedly given, the audience remaining standing in breathless delight. "La Perichole" is the success of the season, and those who know nothing of French opera Bouffe save what they have learned by witnessing a performance of "La Grande Duchesse," should certainly attend the second representation of this charming opera, which will take place tonight.

California Theatre.

A large and fashionable audience attended the production of Mrs. Mary Watson's drama of "Lady Clare" last night. It is a well constructed play, though a trifle too "talky," as the first attempts of dramatists are apt to be. It is founded on Tennyson's poem of "Lady Clare," to which we refer our readers for the plot. Miss May Howard acted the part of the high-principled Lady Clare admirably; James Carden was very good in the character of Lord Ronald; Mrs. Sophie Edwin sustained the part of Lady Maud with much ability, and E. J. Buckley, as Lady Maud is made to say, "looked beautiful" as Sir Henry Stanfield. Altogether the piece for a first attempt is a very creditable production, though not quite sensational enough to suit the taste of the present day. This evening the ever-popular drama of "Arrah-na-Pogue" will be produced with a strong cast, which appears on our first page.

Metropolitan Theatre.

This popular theatre will be re-opened for a permanent dramatic season on Monday evening, under experienced management and with an efficient stock company. The opening attraction will be Mr. G. B. Waldron and Miss Isabel Smythe, in Victor Hugo's historical play of "The Lion of St. Marc." The Bulletin contained last evening an article copied from the London Times, in which a correspondent from Venice describes how he came to see the embalmed head of Marino Faliero, the great Doge of Venice, who was decapitated near 500 years ago. San Franciscans will have an opportunity to see in "The Lion of St. Marc" Victor Hugo's dramatic version of his life, the best extant, and one that ranks with "Elizabeth," "Mary Stuart," and other historical plays. Marino Faliero, the hero of Byron's tragedy, is one of the celebrities of history, and his eventful life has been the theme of many a song and story.

Bella Union Theatre.

There are some performers who have one or two specialties in which they are good; the public see them and then weary of them. This cannot be the case with the charming character singer, Miss Ella Wesner, who produces new songs in rapid succession and is thoroughly good in all. Miss Aline Le Favre is so original, so daring, and so pleasing that she too holds her place in the affections of the public admirably. Geo. and Charles Reynolds are sterling artistes in their line, and the performance at the Bella Union Theatre is brisk, sparkling and lively throughout.

Theatre Comique.

Miss Violet Forest, the vocalist, has already established herself a favorite at this house; Miss Maggie Knight gains great applause nightly in her very artistic character songs and lightning changes; George Fane has an inexhaustible budget of songs which Leybourne, Harry Clifton and Vance have made famous; Dan Taylor is a very lively performer; Jake Wallace, Johnny Thers and others, appear in screaming Ethiopian farces and a capital entertainment is given.

Oxford Theatre.

To-night after the usual first part by the female minstrels, a new sensation play entitled "Scenes in a Divorce Court," written expressly for the Oxford by Dick O'Neil, will be produced cast to full strength of the company engaged at this popular place of amusement. The full cast and synopsis of scenery and incidents of this play, which promises to be a very exciting one may be seen by referring to our first page. A constant succession of novelties have been arranged for by the management of this establishment.

New York Mammoth Circus.

The spacious pavilion was thronged last night. Miss Leo Hudson's act of "Dick Turpin" was loudly applauded. A rich and varied programme will be presented this evening for the benefit of Miss Leo Hudson, and a host of volunteers will appear. As this is the last night of the circus everyone will want to go.

Hayes Park.

There will be great doings at this popular suburban resort on Sunday. Miss Leo Hudson and her beautiful trained mare "Black Bess" will appear in a series of wonderful acts, terminating with "Dick Turpin's Ride," in which an ascent will be made on horseback from the gardens to the roof of the Pavilion.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chailiu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

This talented lecturer will deliver her last lecture in San Francisco at Platt's Hall to-morrow evening. The subject will be "Marriage and Divorce."

Prize Poultry Association.

The first exhibition of the California Stock and Poultry Association will commence to day at Mercantile Library Hall.

"Ready."

The productions of California playwrights have generally speaking, been thrust on the stage "scarce half made up, and that so lamely and unfashionably," that they have met with little success. This will not be the case with Fred Lyster's play of "Ready, or California in 1871." For this new scenery has been painted, new music arranged the characters cast to full strength of the company, and in fact everything done that can possibly make it a success. It will be produced at the California Theatre on Monday evening, and will we confidently anticipate crowd the house, and have a successful run.

Value of a Female Gymnast.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial.]

John Robinson and his wife this morning commenced suit in the courts to recover of Adam Forepaugh, whose tents are now spread in Ohmer's Garden, the sum of $43,000, in which they claim he is indebted under the following circumstances:

In March, 1868, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson entered into a contract with Mrs. E. Wilkinson by which Cordelia Juanick, daughter of Mrs. Wilkinson by a former husband, was apprenticed to them for a period of five years. They then expended $2,000 in clothing and instructing her as an equestrienne until she became valuable to them as such. On the 28th of last January she ran away from them, and on the following 8th of March joined Forepaugh's circus, Forepaugh entertaining and harboring her, he being informed by the complaints in writing that she was a minor, and owed service to them as an apprentice and a servant; and that they would hold him responsible in triple damages, under the statute, for such harboring.

Notwithstanding the notice, the complainants allege that Forepaugh has continued to harbor the girl up to the time of filing their complaint, a period of twenty-one weeks. They claim that she is worth to them $600 per week, which sum Forepaugh offered to her. Consequently they ask damages in $2,000 expended upon her, and the value of her services for twenty-one weeks, $14,000, besides the triple damages allowed by law—in all, $43,000.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

The Elixir of Youth.

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again.

KENTUCKY'S DEAD.

"The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo!
No more on life's parade shall meet
The brave and fallen few;
On Fame's eternal camping-ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And glory guards, with solemn round,
The bivouac of the dead.

"No rumor of the foe's advance
Now swells upon the wind,
No troubled thought at midnight daunts
Of loved ones left behind;
No vision of to-morrow's strife
The warrior's dream alarms,
No braying horn nor screaming fife
At dawn shall call to arms.

"Their shivered swords are red with rust,
Their plumed heads are bowed,
Their haughty banner, trailed in dust,
Is now their martial shroud—
And plenteous funeral tears have washed
The red stains from each brow,
And their proud forms, by battle gashed,
Are free from anguish now.

"The neighing troop, the flashing blade,
The bugle's stirring blast,
The charge, the dreadful cannonade,
The din and shout are past—
Nor war's wild note, nor glory's peal,
Shall thrill with fierce delight
Those breasts that never more may feel
The rapture of the fight.

"Like the fierce Northern hurricane
That sweeps his great plateau,
Flushed with the triumph yet to gain
Came down the serried foe—
Who heard the thunder of the fray
Break o'er the field beneath,
Knew well the watchword of that day
Was victory or death."

* * * * * *

"Full many a mother's breath has swept
O'er Angostura's plain,
And long the pitying eye has wept
Above the moulder'd slain.
The raven's scream or eagle's flight,
Or shepherd's pensive lay,
Alone now wake each solemn height
That frowned o'er that dread fray.

"Sons of the Dark and Bloody Ground!
Ye must not slumber there,
Where strangers' steps and tongus resound
Along the heedless air;
Your own proud land's heroic soil
Should be your after grave;
She claims from war its richest spoil—
The ashes of the brave.

"Thus, 'neath their parent turf, they rest
Far from the gory field,
Borne to their Spartan mother's breast
On many a bloody shield.
The sunshine of their native sky
Smiles sadly on them here,
And kindred eyes and hearts watch by
The heroes' sepulchre.

"Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead!
Dear as the blood ye gave;
No impious footsteps here shall tread
The herbage of your grave;
Nor shall your glory be forgot
While Fame her record keeps,
Or Honor points the hallowed spot
Where Valor proudly sleeps.

"Yon marble minstrel's voiceful stone
In deathless song shall tell,
When many a vanished year hath flown,
The story how ye fell;
Nor wreck, nor change, nor Winter's blight
Nor time's remorseless doom,
Can dim one ray of holy light
That gilds your glorious tomb."

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing."

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

TO WIT:

Forty-eight Lots fronting on Market street, each fronting 25 feet by a uniform depth of 100 Feet.

Forty Lots fronting on Park Avenue, each fronting 25 Feet by 100 Feet deep.

Seven Irregular shaped Lots, forming Valuable Corners.

Four Corner Lots, each 25 by 100 Feet, fronting on Park and City Hall Avenues.

MAPS AND FULL DESCRIPTION AT SALESROOM.

Terms of Sale very Reasonable

25 PER CENT CASH,

And Balance in Three Equal Yearly Payments, with Ten per cent. Interest.

Deeds at expense of purchasers.

P. H. CANAVAN,
JOS. G. EASTLAND,
CHAS. E. McLANE,
Board of City Hall Commissioners.
ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

Tempting Offer.

The following advertisement appears in the Call:

A POOR GIRL BETWEEN THE AGE OF seven and ten years, wanting a good home in a respectable family, who will be well educated and kindly cared for, can find such by calling at —.

We think any poor girl who wants a home "in a respectable family who will be well educated and kindly cared for," need not be tempted by this advertisement. Poor girls generally get poor food and poor beds, and their poor feet ache a good deal before their day's work is done. The baby is not "poor;" there is about seventy pounds of him. Again, this carefully guarded advertisement, though it says the family will be well educated and kindly cared for, doesn't promise equal advantages to the "poor girl." That's the sort of place, we'll bet, to knock all the romance of a poor girl out of her in a precious short time.

Poor Horace Greeley!

An exchange says:

Recent suicidal and mad-house statistics develop the queer fact that a very large proportion of both lunatics and self-murderers come from those engaged in farming occupations. It is a strange and unexpected discovery, and one which no one has yet attempted to explain.

We sincerely trust that Horace Greeley will give this matter his serious attention. Let him cease telling the world what he knows about farming, for that way lies madness. If he goes on his brain will become soft as mashed turnips. If it is absolutely necessary that the reason of the above fact should be explained, the matter had better be referred to Horace as he knows how it is himself.

Smooth Faced.

The Boston Courier admires Dan Bryant's cheek (so do we) and thus expresses itself:

Dan Bryant, the negro delineator and Irish comedian, never shaved in his life, and has to-day a face nearly as smooth as a boy's—in fact we have seen some boys who could give him many points and beat him on a moustache. But although he is farthest removed from an Esau of any person we ever saw, he is still as manly and handsome a gentleman as anyone would wish to meet in a day's walk.

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY, Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets.

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

TWIGGA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street.

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices.

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair —and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices.

Artificial Limbs,

Noble Hearted Philanthropist!

We have always protested against the injustice of calling our worthy and wealthy fellow citizen, Michael Reese, a close, hard man, because he does not lavish his money round indiscriminately and looks after the dimes. We always knew he had the well-being of his fellow-citizens at heart and would not grudge even money to do them a real service. And now he has done it. Half a column of yesterday's Chronicle was occupied by an advertisement, "Look out, look out, look out, for the change, for the change, for the change." Again and again was that solemn warning repeated, "Look out for the change." Who could have put that advertisement in but Michael Reese? Who cares so much for the change as he? Who sees more plainly than he that the present wide-spread hard-uptiveness among our population is in a great measure caused by their having neglected to "Look out for the change?" Noble-minded man, great philanthropist, thus to publish to the world his guiding maxim, the secret of his life, the foundation of his fortune, "Look out for the change!" These words should be on every wall in letters of nickel.

She Means It.

A young lady has written some very racy verses to The Capital, in praise of the German by moonlight. They are too numerous to reproduce here, but the last two show what a state of mind the lovely writer must be in:

For Lulu, I don't mind confessing
To Alice, and you, and Kate Doren,
I feel, when we waltz and Jim's pressing,
I feel—well, I feel I'm in heaven!

There surely is right in what raises
Two humans to heaven with a vim.
Aunt Prudence may blow till she blazes!
I go for the German with Jim!

The Rights of Labor.

Two masons were recently arrested at Brighton, England, for setting fire by means of petroleum to a house which the owner had built of machine-made bricks instead of those made by hand.—Ex.

Let us break into the cigar stores and smoke up all the Chinese-made cigars, and thus encourage our brothers in England in their fight against capital and cheap labor.

Fruitful.

There has been a good deal said in the public prints lately about the degeneracy and unfruitfulness of American women. No other argument in refutation of this slander is needed than a glance at the public service. The Grant family is certainly one of the most extensive since the days of the patriarchs.

A Rag-doll Suicide.

A New Orleans female has supplied the grateful world with a novelty in the suicide way by trying to kill herself by stuffing a rag-doll down her throat. As the attempt was a failure we refrain from publishing her name. With practice she may do better by and by.

Of Course.

The particulars in the case of Dr. Moreno and the Mexican girl Olympia Lopez, are unfit for publication in any paper, so those who like this kind of reading will have to buy the Chronicle of Wednesday. We promised the Chronicle a puff some time ago.

Mr. Choate wants to know what article of the toilet a young lady names when she is kissed, and we most unhesitatingly answer, "O-don't-O."

Who Don't Know

That to achieve the greatest desideratum in business "patronage" a person must be liberal in his outlay, by purchasing the best material, employing the best workmen, and seeing that his patrons are attentively and courteously waited on, and in a style compatible with the dignity of the establishment he pretends to manage. Such is the golden rule practiced at Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, as is verified by the hon ton seen there daily, who are likewise to be seen at the Opera and all distinguished resorts of the city.

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few door below What Cheer House.

What is Glucolein?

A preparation of Cod Liver Oil, without any disagreeable taste; the most efficacious remedy for all pulmonary complaints. Prepared and sold by JAMES G. STEELE & Co., No. 521 Montgomery street.

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Tipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st.

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

To the Unfortunate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 628 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure.

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line.

Ladies And Gentlemen.

Guerin & Son, prize boot and shoe makers are rapidly clearing out their immense stock of stylish boots and shoes, at low prices. Call to day and save your money, 327 and 329 Bush street.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Vivian's Treadmill Song.

"Ten Thousand Miles Away" for sale, price five cents, by Wm. Cohen, 922 Kearny street, between Jackson and Pacific streets. 10 000 different songs for sale.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

A most enthusiastic audience assembled last night to witness the reproduction of Boucicault's capital play of "Arrah-na-Pogue." Miss Minnie Walton played Arrah charmingly, and brought down the house with her Irish song. J. C. Williamson made a fine, manly Shaun, and drew great applause, but he can't sing "Wearin' of the Green." James Carden's make-up for Michael Feeny was absurdly hideous, but he played the part with much earnestness. The barn-door jig by Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Buckley was received with tremendous applause and the play went off well. "Arrah-na-Pogue" will be played again this evening and at the matinee on Saturday.

Maguire's Opera House.

"La Perichole" which has created an immense sensation and which everyone is going to see, attracted a good audience last night. It will be played again to-night. The music-loving public of San Francisco have something genuine in the operatic line at last, and no fear but what they will patronize it liberally enough as soon as they find it out.

Alhambra Theatre.

The new stars, Charley Howard, the most natural of Ethiopian comedians, and the inimitable Sheridan and Mack, shine brightly every night and are rewarded with much applause. The bill for to-night contains something to please everyone.

Metropolitan Theatre.

This fine theatre will re-open on Monday, with G. B. Waldron and a fine company in the drama of "The Lion of St. Marc." The full cast appears on our first page.

Bella Union Theatre.

There is no end to the attractions at this popular theatre. The delightfully vivacious Miss Ella Wesner, sings the most attractive songs; Aline La Favre shines in "Paris by Gaslight;" the Reynolds Brothers are immense in their song and dance, J. H. Larkin's Dutch songs are nightly encored, and a variety of entertainments too numerous to mention are given.

Theatre Comique.

A great bill has been prepared for this evening. Frank Jones will make his reappearance; Bobby Scott and C. Mathews, song and dance men, will make their first appearance; Maggie Knight will present her lightning changes; Fanny Webster will sing an original comic song; Geo. Fane will sing the latest popular songs published; a variety of acts will be given and the performance will conclude with the farce "George Put Him Out."

Oxford Theatre.

Dick O'Neil's new piece entitled "Scenes in a Divorce Court" proved quite a success last night. Amelia Dean as the dashing Mrs. Jockeyhat was very good; Lydia Livingstone acted the serious part of the broken-hearted wife with much power and pathos; Clara Starr gave a capital piece of acting as Patience Small, evincing much comic talent; Charley Vincent was very good in the dual role of Paddy Fogarty and Bridget O'Shaughnessy; C. Emerson's Dutch business was amusing, and the piece, which has a powerful moral, ending with divorce courts being abolished by order of President Grant, who becomes despotic for the occasion, goes very well. The first part is amusing and varied. Miss Josie Mayfield, who made her first appearance on this occasion, is sure to become a favorite. The same bill will be played to-night.

New Skating Rink.

The Occidental Skating Academy will open to-morrow evening, on the corner of Post and Stockton streets, opposite the Mechanics' Fair Pavilion. The building is admirably adapted for the purpose; being lofty, spacious, and well ventilated. The rink is on the ground floor, has a spectator's gallery running all around it, and is lighted by patent sun burners. The floor is of the best quality, and of double thickness. The new Occidental skate will be used, for which particular merit is claimed by many skating experts. The new Rink promises to become a popular place of resort for health and pleasure seekers.

Humboldt Park, Oakland.

There will be a balloon ascension at this popular pleasure garden on Sunday, between 2 and 3 o'clock P. M. Professor Harris, the Wizard of the North, offers prizes to the handsomest lady, the handsomest man, the fattest man, the leanest man, the man with the biggest nose and the man with the biggest feet. A good band will be in attendance for dancers. The Chin Du Wan will take people across the bay for 10 cents, and admission to the Park and all the fun is only 25 cents.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

This talented lecturer will deliver her last lecture in San Francisco at Platt's Hall this evening. The subject will be "Marriage and Divorce." One highly interesting to a host of people in San Francisco, and one to which Mrs. Stanton has devoted years of study.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Hascke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

The Elixir of Youth.

For ages the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

CHLOROFORM

Science Explodes a Newspaper Theory—It Cannot be Successfully Used by Robbers.

"The Availability of Chloroform and Similar Agents in Facilitating Robbery," was the subject of a lecture delivered before the Medico Legal Society of New York, at its regular meeting a few evenings since. Dr. Stephen Rodgers, the speaker, took the ground that chloroform cannot be effectively used in aid of robbery or in stupefying persons against their will for any felonious purpose whatever. He believed that no well authenticated case of robbery, effected by means of chloroform, was extant, and cited numerous cases in which burglaries, said to have been effected by its aid, proved afterward to have been facilitated by the very incorruptible guardians of property, who were declared to have been put under the influence of the anæsthetic. He gave it as his opinion that no anæsthetic could be effectively used unless sufficient force were present to hold the subject while the anæsthetic was applied. In the first place, the long time invariably required for the gradual overpowering of the victim, would of itself be a great objection to the use of the anæsthetic among thieves. Moreover the patient always got into a wild state when coming under the benumbing influence. He got into a state of chloroformic intoxication, singing, dancing, and shouting in a way that would alarm the sleepiest household. Moreover, when in a lethargic state the patient was seized with violent vomitings, which would be likely to terminate life if no aid were at hand, adding to the probable danger of detection, and the severity of punishment to the culprit. Even in case of sleep, the choking and retching would probably wake the patient up before the process of stupefaction was complete.

Grizzlies.

The Los Angeles Express of August 7th says:—Last Thursday as Jas. Tweedy, a stock-herder, was sitting astride of a log, up in the Fort Tejon region, eating his lunch, four large-sized grizzlies came trotting down the canon, and one of them coming quietly up behind him, hit him alongside the head, knocked him off the log and then bit him severely through the back of the neck and shoulder. The young man played dead, and the bear probably thinking he had finished him, went off a short distance, but to make doubly sure came back and smelt around him again, and again started off. When the bear had gone a distance of about fifty yards Tweedy jumped up, mounted his horse which was standing near by, and rode away. His injuries are painful but not dangerous. He has been in the stock business there for some time but thinks it is not a good place, and talks of moving. In the same neighborhood, on the next day, Wm. Thomas, son of Judge H. B. Thomas of Los Nietos, was sleeping in a tent, when being unaccountably disturbed, by a dream or something else, he got up and looking out saw four grizzlies coming toward his tent. He did not stop to receive them, but mounted his horse and rode away, leaving them masters of the situation. That is undoubtedly a good place for a man without a gun, a horse, a dog, and bottle of earthquake preventative to keep away from. The grizzlies are giving stock raisers in that section a good deal of trouble this season. If some of our Los Angeles sportsmen want to have a grand hunt for game worthy to be captured, Fort Tejon is the place to find it.

Andy Johnson on Grant.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune has been interviewing Andy Johnson, who thus expresses his opinion of General Grant:

Mr. Johnson expressed with great freedom the poor opinion he entertains of General Grant. "Grant," he said, "is wanting in integrity, wanting in intelligence, and wanting in the will to promote the good of the country. The little fellow is selfish and avaricious beyond bounds. His cupidity knows no limit. He is no statesman and no soldier. He never displayed any generalship. He marched at the head—no, not at the head, but in the rear—of an immense column of men that would have accomplished the same results if he had been in the moon. Grant was a mere unimportant incident. He never showed a spark of genius. What inspiring remark did he ever make that cheered his soldiers and helped to win a victory? When did he ever put himself in danger, like Napoleon at the bridge of Lodi, to give courage to his troops? He never showed a single trait of generalship. He had no sympathy with his men; he never visited the hospitals or showed any feeling for the suffering wounded. He was utterly remorseless. He was no leader. He had no plans and no strategy. I repeat, that for any good he did in putting down the rebellion, he might as well have been in the moon." Mr. Johnson said he had no doubt that Grant would be re-nominated. Grant wanted the nomination for the purpose of making more money, and he had the power to compel the Republicans to give it to him.

ANACREONTIC.

Oh, if my love offended me
And we had words together,
To show that I would master be
I'd whip her with a feather!

If then, she like a naughty girl,
Would tyranny declare it,
I'd give my love a cross of pearl
And make her always bear it!

If still she tried to sulk and sigh,
And threw away my posies,
I'd catch my darling on the sly
And smother her with roses!

But should she clench her dimpled fists,
Or contradict her betters,
I'd manacle her tiny wrists
With dainty golden fetters!

And if she dared her lips to pout,
Like many pert young misses,
I'd wind my arm her waist about
And punish her with kisses?

A Sick Crowd.

The captain of one of the largest steamboats running on the Potomac was astonished one day lately, as his boat touched the landing at one of the riverside watering-places not a great distance from Washington, to see all the guests assembled with their baggage ready to take passage for the city. In making inquiries as to the cause of this sudden exodus he soon discovered that hereby hung a tale. A cat's. It appears the fare at the hotel had disagreed with the boarders, and not satisfied with complaining they took French leave. A batch of dough had been prepared for the oven and placed on a table. A playful kitten thought it would be nice to run over it, it looked so snowy, warm and tempting. Kitty tried it, and soon found her delicate little feet sinking in the dough. She struggled to escape, and, like Governor Morton in the stolen treaty business, only struggled to sink deeper until this youthful cat disappeared entirely, and so, like young Lochinvar, went into the yeast. She never rose again, but the bread did. It closed over this unfortunate specimen, not leaving a hair apparent. Cooky, of course was not aware that, instead of a loaf of bread, she had a kitten dumpling, and put the mass into the oven and baked it. When the bread was opened at breakfast next morning, the birds did not begin to sing, but the boarders did. They fairly howled with wrath. They knew that there had been a family of kittens, and as hash had been served for breakfast before this extraordinary loaf was opened, the conclusion was natural that the other part of the family had gone into the hash and down their throats. They were first taken with sea-sickness, next with home-sickness, and then ensued a general packing-up. The fashionable summer resort was left with no inhabitants but the cook and the bar-keeper and what remained of the family of kittens.

Deery's Billiard Rooms.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Julien Perrault, M. D.,

Physician and Surgeon, member of the Medical Faculty of Paris, etc. Dr. Perrault's studies and practice have, for ten years past, been almost exclusively devoted to the cure of General Debility and other Specific Affections, acute or chronic, all which he continues to treat successfully by the newest scientific methods. Office 502 Montgomery street, northeast corner of Sacramento st., San Francisco, Rooms 9, 10 and 11. Consultations in English, French, German and Spanish.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

Reading Matter for All.

Loomis, at his stationery store at the S. E. corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the Post Office, does almost as rushing a business as the Post Office itself. All the New York papers and English magazines are there.

New Furnishing Goods,

Cheap, at the What Cheer Laundry.

Industrial Depot, New Mont. street.

Orders received for sewing by the Magdalens. Machines rented by the day or week.

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing."

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

Deeds at expense of purchasers.

P. H. CANAVAN,
JOS. G. EASTLAND,
CHAS. E. McLANE,
Board of City Hall Commissioners.
ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANCE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The Table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual.

Precisely

For the same reason that the ladies have determined to calceate for the Fair, the opposite sex, to be in juxtaposition, have determined to purchase their Patent Leather Oxford Ties and Dancing Pumps at East's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre. *

Julien Perrault, M. D.,

Physician and Surgeon, memoer of the Medical Faculty of Paris, etc. Dr. Perrault's studies and practice have, for ten years past, been almost exclusively devoted to the cure of General Debility and other Specific Affections, acute or chronic, all which he continues to treat successfully by the newest scientific methods. Office 502 Montgomery street, northeast corner of Sacramento st., San Francisco, Rooms 9, 10 and 11. Consultations in English, French, German and Spanish. *

Washing Returned in One Day

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry. x

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

The Radical Rheumatic

Eradicator—the only known remedy. Frank H. Lashier, proprietor, No. 206 Fourth street San Francisco. *

Dr. Barlow J. Smith

Gives Free Lectures (to Gentlemen only) every Friday evening, commencing at 8, at his Hygeian Hall, 637 California st., and examines patients phrenologically as to health, gratis. *

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit. *

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table. *

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY, Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets. *

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco. *

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones. from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them. *

TWIABA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street. *

Don't Forget to Visit

The San Francisco Health Lift, 24 Post st. *

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair —and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one. *

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices. *

The Plot of Offenbach's "La Perichole."

[The scene of the opera is laid in Lima, Peru.]

La Perichole and her lover Piquillo are street singers, who appear singing in front of the Viceroy's house. Receiving no recompense and being wearied, La Perichole lies down to take a comfortable nap, while Piquillo pursues his vocation elsewhere, to seek the wherewith to procure dinner. Don Andreas, the Viceroy, having become enamored with La Perichole, accosts her, and offers her his protection, with a present of a purse. The reluctant Perichole consents, writes a fare well letter to Piquillo, leaves the purse and gold for him, and disappears in the Viceroy's house. Piquillo returns, and attempts to hang himself because he is deserted, but is cut down and taken into a hotel. The Minister objecting to Perichole residing in the house without being married, gives orders to seek a man who will marry her offhand. Piquillo, who has recovered, is encountered, plied with liquor, and consents. La Perichole, who has also been placed in an elevated state, signs the contract, and the impromptu ceremony ends in a bacchanalian song and dance, the newly married couple being borne off on the shoulders of the crowd. After becoming sober, Piquillo is indignant at the falsehood of La Perichole, whom he believes to be the mistress of the Viceroy. He abuses her and is imprisoned. La Perichole manages to procure his liberty, convinces him of her fidelity, and congratulates him that they have been married at the Viceroy's expense. Piquillo proposes to her to give up all she received from the Viceroy and go back to street singing again. She consents. The Viceroy pleased by her true love and her conduct, will not take anything back. So the opera leaves La Perichole and Piquillo married, happy and rich, and street singers as of old.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. x

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing." *

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again. *

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices. *

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf. *

Vivian's Treadmill Song.

"Ten Thousand Miles Away" for sale, price five cents, by Wm. Cohen, 912 Kearny street, between Jackson and Pacific streets. 10,000 different songs for sale.

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices. *

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 619 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few door below What Cheer House. *

What is Glucolein?

A preparation of Cod Liver Oil, without any disagreeable taste; the most efficacious remedy for all pulmonary complaints. Prepared and sold by JAMES G. STEELE & Co., No. 521 Montgomery street. *

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st. *

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock. *

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure. *

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line. *

What Cheer Laundry.

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANCE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual au5 1m

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—The events of the week have been the benefit of Miss May Howard on Monday, and the production of "Lady Clare," an original drama by Mrs. Mary Watson, on Wednesday, both of which occasions drew large audiences. "Arrah-na-Pogue" was played last night. To-night James Carden, an ambitious and painstaking actor, who has a host of friends in the community, will take his first benefit, and there will of course be a crowded house. The performance will consist of the drama of "The Brigands," a reading by John McCullough, and the farce of "A Gentleman from Ireland," in which the beneficiary will appear.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—Charley Howard the original old Uncle Jeff, Sheridan and Mack the most lively of lightning change men, Vivian the neatest of character singers, S. S. Pardy, whose dry humor keeps the audience constantly laughing, and the band of minstrels headed by the redoubtable Billy Emerson, give an entertainment to night that it would be hard to equal.

BELLA UNION.— very fine entertainment will be given at this place of amusement this evening. After a good first part, Miss Ella Wesner, Geo. and Charles Reynolds, Marie Zoel, J. H Larkin, Minnie Fillmore, little Josie Abecco, and a host of others will appear in an interlude and the performance will conclude with a new and original extravaganza entitled "A Lad and His Lamp; or, the 40 Thieves of the Period," with the dashing and versatile Aline Le Favre in three characters. The full cast and synopsis of scenery and incidents may be found on our first page.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—The new song and dance men, Bobby Scott and C. Mathews, made a decided hit last night in the "Blooming Morning Glories," and other acts. Frank Jones will appear only two nights more previous to leaving for the Sandwich Islands. Great attractions are offered this evening, the popular Miss Nellie Leonard will make her first appearance, and the favorite performer Miss Ida Fisk, who has been missed by the patrons of the Theatre Comique, will make her re-appearance.

THE OXFORD.—Amelia Dean, Lydia Livingstone, Susie Lee, Clara Starr, Josie Mayfield, and a host of others all appear in Dick O' Neil's new play of "Scenes in a Divorce Court," which is a decidedly amusing affair. The capital first part and interlude which precede it can be seen on our first page.

NEW YORK MAMMOTH CIRCUS.—This circus closed a most successful season on Thursday evening with a benefit to the dashing and graceful equestrienne, Miss Leo Hudson, on which occasion the pavilion was even more crowded than on the opening night. On Friday it exhibited at Redwood City and will give a matinee and an evening performance to-day at San Jose.

PLATT'S HALL.—On Monday evening the Royal Yeddo Troupe of Japanese performers, composed of the very cream of the profession, will make their first appearance at Platt's Hall. Professor Gangero's performances are said to be unequalled by those of any living performer. The troupe is a large one and comprises two Japanese ladies. The programme of the extraordinary entertainment to be given on the opening night appears on our first page.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—Wetterman's Band will give a grand concert at these gardens on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, playing new music just received from Europe, and the Lopez Family and the "Iron Boy" will give an entertainment in the grand hall. On Sunday Prof. Lovett will exhibit his proficiency on on the Pedispede, or one-wheeled skate. The sea monster, the Devil and Angel fish are also on exhibition.

HUMBOLDT PARK, OAKLAND.—There will be a balloon ascension at this popular pleasure garden to-morrow, between 2 and 3 o'clock P. M. Professor Harris, the Wizard of the North, offers prizes to the handsomest lady, the handsomest man, the fattest man, the leanest man, the man with the biggest nose and the man with the biggest feet. A good band will be in attendance for dancers. The Chin Du Wan will take people across the bay for 10 cents, and admission to the Park and all the fun is only 25 cents.

FIJI ISLANDERS.—Three Fiji Islanders, one a dwarf of remarkable appearance, have been brought to this city and will, in conjunction with a large number of Fijian curiosities and samples of the products of the islands, be shortly placed on exhibition. Particulars of time and place will appear in FIGARO on Monday.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—The road to the Cliff House is as smooth as a ten-pin alley, the days are beautiful, the nights are fine, consequently Captain Foster receives many visitors daily at his incomparable hostelry, the Cliff House. It is worth while driving out to get such a dinner or supper as his chef can serve up. The road will be lively to-morrow.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

SUNDAY EXCURSION.—There is not within miles of this city a more delightful spot than the groves of San Rafael. The steamer Contra Costa will leave the wharf on Davis street, near Vallejo, to-morrow at 10½ A. M., on an excursion.

NEW SKATING RINK.—The Occidental Skating Academy opens to-night on the corner of Stockton and Post streets, opposite the Mechanics' Fair. The building is admirably adapted for the purpose; being lofty, spacious, and well ventilated. The rink is on the ground floor, has a spectator's gallery running all around it, and is lighted by patent sun burners. The floor is of the best quality, and of double thickness. The new Occidental skate will be used, for which particular merit is claimed by many skating experts. The new Rink promises to become a popular place of resort for health and pleasure seekers.

"[illegible]NDY."—Great preparations have been made for the production of this new and original play by Fred Lyster and W. H. Sedley Smith at the California Theatre on Monday. No less than fourteen new scenes of different localities in San Francisco, Yosemite, and the Pacific Railroad, have been painted. The characters represent the cosmopolitan nature of California society, the situations are sensational, and we hope to be able to chronicle the success of a California play. Henry Edwards, Carden, Marlowe, Williamson, Mestayer Miss May Howard, Miss Minnie Walton, Mrs. Judah and Mrs. Saunders are all in the cast.

MAGUIRE'S OPERA HOUSE.—"La Perichole," as performed at Maguire's Opera House by Mme. Lea Silly and company, is the sensation of the day. It is a pity that the season so soon closes as the oftener this delightful bit of extravagance is played the more popular it will become. Mme. Silly's impersonation of the devil-may-care Perichole is inimitable; every gesture of her hands expresses something, and her simulation of a jolly tight is wonderfully natural. The bacchanalian chorus which forms the finale to the first part is already hummed at every corner of the street, and Girrebeuk's song, "La Femme," is to the French population what Vivian's "Bloomin' Pal" is to the general public. "La Perichole" will be played at the matinee to-day, this evening and to-morrow evening for the last time. In order that all may be able to enjoy this opera, even if unfamiliar with the French language, we give a sketch of the story by which the action may be easily followed. "La Grande Duchesse" will be produced on Monday evening.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—On Monday evening, this fine theatre will open its doors again to the public. The historical play of the "Lion of St Marc" has been chosen for the opening piece, in which Mr. J. B. Waldron and Miss Isabel Smythe will make their bows before a California audience in the leading roles. The Salt Lake Telegraph in speaking of this play, and Mr. Waldron's rendition of its principal character, says: "The play of the "Lion of St. Marc" is a very striking illustrated page of Venetian history and character. Mr. Waldron's Orsecola may be considered the greatest personation, and the greatest triumph of any professional gentleman who has trod our boards." Miss Isabel Smythe is from the Western and Southern theatres, and is favorably spoken of. The cast embraces the names of Miss Sallie Hinckley, Messrs. J. H. Hardie, Edgar Piercy, John Woodard, Frank Rea, George Hinckley, G. Powers, H. Colton, J. O. Maguire, E. Lipsie, and J. Roberts. Mr. J. H. Vinson is stage manager, and Mr. J. H. Dohrman leader of the orchestra The management have determined to remain permanently in the field, and have, we understand taken a long lease of the theatre.

MRS. TONY PASTOR.—Mrs. Tony Pastor, wife of the proprietor of Tony Pastor's Opera House in New York, came to this city in company with Miss Ella Wesner, but has as yet not made her appearance in public. In order to assist the Tyrolean Warblers—Professor Geschwandner and company—who have had a run of bad luck in this country, Mrs. Pastor has consented to make her first appearance in San Francisco, at the performance given at Mozart Hall, for their benefit on Monday evening, when she will sing four character songs in female costume. Mrs. Pastor is attractive in appearance, has a sweet voice, and has appeared at Tony Pastor's Opera House, Fisk's Opera House, and other places of amusement in New York. The fact that her first appearance is made for a benevolent object, will recommend her favorably to the San Francisco public, should she hereafter accept an engagement in this city.

JOHNNY DE ANGELIS.—This talented and popular minstrel performer left on Thursday on the steamer Montana for New York, where he goes to fill an engagement at Butler's New Opera House. A host of friends—Emerson, Vivian, Howard, Sheridan and Mack and nearly all the Alhambra people; Johnny Tuers and a large deputation from the Theatre Comique, and an immense number of members of the profession went down to the steamer to see Johnny off. A brass band was engaged, which played "Good bye John, Don't Stay Long," and other appropriate tunes. If Johnny does not prove as great favorite in New York as he is in San Francisco, we shall be only too glad to have him back. He is as full of fun as an egg is full of meat, and with his old "pard" Lew Rattler, will prove to the New Yorkers that we can send them as good talent as they can supply us with.

MINSTREL COMPANY FOR HONOLULU.—On Monday Charles Brooks, one of the proprietors of the Theatre Comique in this city, will start with a capital company of minstrels for Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, where he has engaged the Theatre Royal for a short season. Among the company are Frank Jones, whose performances as the Lively Moke cannot fail to give satisfaction to any audience; Jake Wallace, the prince of banjo players, and amusing Ethiopian comedian; T. M. McLaughlin, who is a very clever jig dancer; T. Rosa, posturer, acrobat and general performer: T. F. Barnwell, the sweet-voiced tenor; a full orchestra, and other performers. The Sandwich Islanders may well congratulate themselves on the prospect of a series of very pleasing entertainments.

MRS. CADY STANTON.—This talented lady had an immense audience at Platt's Hall last night and her admirable lecture on "Divorce and Marriage," was listened to with pleasure by all. Mrs. Stanton promised ers long to pay another visit to California and lecture "our boys" and "our gentlemen," in compliance with a general request to that effect. Mrs. Stanton bears with her East the good wishes of the entire community. Any woman who can speak as she speaks, has a right to speak.

PRIZE POULTRY ASSOCIATION.—The exhibition of the California Stock and Poultry Association at Mercantile Library Hall, is a highly interesting one, and attracts many visitors. The finest breeds of poultry known are well represented, as well as ducks, turkies, rabbits and specimens of the pigeons, which did such good service during the siege of Paris.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

Rose Evans is coming from England to play the heroine in the Fritz-Emmet engagement at Niblos.

Kelly & Leon have been doing a splendid business since their opening, their beautiful little theatre being full every night. Don Pedro Dorrego who appeared as a guitarist in a white face, was enthusiastically encored.

The following company is engaged for the coming season at Booth's Theatre: Messrs. J. T. Raymond, D. C. Anderson, John W. Norton, John Wilson, Robert Pateman, A. W. Fenno, N. Decker, Charles Rosene, T. F. Brennan, M. Turk, Mesdames Mary Wells, Marion Andrews, McDougal, Mary Young, Burgess Jennie Ross, and Whitlock.

Bryant's Minstrels are advertised to re-open Sept. 4th.

Little Mac is said to have abandoned his contemplated minstrel company.

Fechter has determined on leasing the Fourteenth-street Theatre, and will give, with Miss Leclercq and company, a series of standard plays.

The Union Square Theatre, Fourteenth street, will be ready for occupation early in September. It will be of the variety class, and is intended to take the place of Niblo's, which has been going to the bad for a long time.

Strakosch & Co. have engaged Mme. Moubelli, now performing in London, for the heavy opera business. A series of four-dollar concerts will be given at Steinway Hall previous to the appearance of the Nilsson troupe in opera.

The Kiralfy Brothers will shortly return from Europe, bringing with them several premiere danseuses and the original Paris grotesques, the Zig-Zags. The whole will appear in connection with the Kirlfy ballet of fifty persons, six premieres, two harlequins and two columbines.

Harry Stanwood and Walter Bray have been engaged to open with Aimes, in Pittsburg, Aug. 14.

The Martinetti-Raval Troupe will be the opening feature of the New Union-square Theatre, New York.

M'lle Morlacchi is in Baltimore superintending the rehearsals of "The Black Crook," at the Holliday-street Theatre, where she will be joined by the Dearborn Sisters, the charming little English girls, Lusardi, and Louise Mezzeri.

J. B. Murphy is dead. His voice will be heard no more in the minstrel quartette, and the pen that wrote "Young Eph's Lament," "Nicbodemus Johnson," and "Josephus Orangeblossom," is laid aside, his "Trip Around the World" is ended

Miss Blanche, daughter of E. L. Davenport, sailed for Europe on the 4th inst., by the Tarifa. She will proceed to Milan, and remain there two years for the purpose of completing her musical education, she decided to adopt the lyric stage as a profession.

Ben De Bar's Opera House, at St. Louis, has been very handsomely refitted. The new fresco paintings, on its walls and ceilings—representative of scenes from Shakespeare's plays—are cordially commended. Nilsson and Janauschcek are among the stars that will shine next season.

Mr. Joseph Heine, the blind violinist, has created quite a furore in Brooklyn musical circles.

Mr. Lawrence Barrett has been visiting John E Owens at the country residence of the latter actor at Towsonstown, Maryland.

Edwin Booth will not star this season. Up to the present time he has refused all provincial engagements.

Lucille Western will open the regular season at Wood's Museum in September.

Mrs. Bowers is stopping at the Pavilion, Long Branch.

Madame Parepa-Rosa and Mr. Carl Rosa, arrived at New York by the Scotia on the 8th. They have gone to spend a few weeks at Sharon Springs before the commencement of the season.

A. Zimmerman, the treasurer at Niblo's Garden, had a benefit on the 12th, at which Edwin Adams, Emma Howson, Mi-s Pauline Markham, and other volunteers appeared.

Miss Amy Stone is billed in New York as a "California favorite." We here formally deny her right to the title. We don't like her, she is neither young enough nor pretty enough for the characters she attempts.

Harry Beckett and Willie Edouin are with the Lydia Thompson Troupe at Wallack's. Geo. O. Boniface is quite popular in New York. He won't come to San Francisco again.

Miss Cushman and Creswick will follow Lotta at Booth's, then come John E. Owens, the two Edwins, Booth and Adams, and at the close of the season Maggie Mitchel will appear.

Barnum is showing his California sea lions at 616 Broadway.

Add Weaver and son are with Hart, Ryman and Barney's Minstrels at Wood's Theatre, Cincinnati.

Johnny Thompson, the lively fraud, has since his failure at the Boston Theatre, sunk into obscurity.

F. L. Davenport opened in St. Johns, N. B., Aug. 7th, for one week.

Billy Ashcroft and wife are rusticating at Providence, R. I.

We last heard of Siegrist and his children at Utica, N. Y.

Stuart Robson was on the bills for old Geo. G. Spear's late benefit at Boston, but as he had no part, he walked on as a supe and removed a chair amid general acclaimation.

A friend of Miss Lydia Thompson writes that Miss T. has invested $100,000 of her money in this country, and $100,000 in England, besides buying a large house in St. John's Wood, London. She also talks of building a theatre in New York.

J. E. Carton and Josie Carton have arrived in New York.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

M'lle Marimon's illness is reported to have cost her managers £5,000.

Mrs. John Wood's season at the St. James, London, ended July 22d.

Mr. Sothern's engagement at the London Haymarket terminated on the 1st of August.

Alberry's comedy of "Tweedie's Rights" is in the tenth week of its career at the Vandeville Theatre, London.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair. •

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever. •

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone. •

Reading Matter for All.

Loomis, at his stationery store at the S. E. corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the Post Office, does almost as rushing a business as the Post Office itself. All the New York papers and English magazines are there.

"The Days of Forty-Nine."

Ballad for sale by Ww. COHEN, 912 Kearny street, price 5 cents. Also, all of Vivian's and Louis Braham's songs. x

Thirty Dollars.

French china breakfast, dinner, and tea set $30, at P. Douglas & Co's, 131 Kearny street. Other goods at same low rates. •

Silver Plating.

Articles from which the silver has been worn are received for re-plating by Haynes & Lawton, Market street, under the Grand Hotel. •

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail. •

Auction Sale

....OF THE....

NEW CITY HALL LOTS

....AT....

PLATT'S HALL

....ON....

MONDAY.....AUGUST 28th

AT 12 O'CLOCK, M.,

BY ORDER CITY HALL COMMISSIONERS

NINETY-NINE LOTS

FRONTING ON

Market, Jones, McAllister and Larkin Streets,

....AND....

Park and City Hall Avenues,

TO WIT:

Forty-eight Lots fronting on Market street, each fronting 25 feet by a uniform depth of 100 Feet.

Forty Lots fronting on Park Avenue, each fronting 25 Feet by 100 Feet deep.

Seven irregular shaped Lots, forming Valuable Corners.

Four Corner Lots, each 25 by 100 Feet, fronting on Park and City Hall Avenues.

MAPS AND FULL DESCRIPTION AT SALESROOM.

Terms of Sale very Reasonable

25 PER CENT CASH,

And Balance in Three Equal Yearly Payments, with Ten per cent. Interest.

Deeds at expense of purchasers.

P. H. CANAVAN,
JOS. G. EASTLAND,
CHAS. E. McLANE,
Board of City Hall Commissioners.
ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 260 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

Absurd.

We find the following Munchausen story in a contemporary :

A Mosquito taper is a Pittsburg invention. It creates such a smell while burning, that mosquitoes ask to be excused. It drives human beings out doors also, which is its only defect.

This is altogether too thin. The idea of a Pittsburg mosquito or man being able to smell any odor in the form of smoke is absurd on the face of it. You might as well try to frighten rats out of a saw mill by making a noise, as to smoke mosquitoes out of mosquitoes.

The Pelican.

We cannot pretend to grieve. The Pelican is dead. Why it was ever started, is one of the mysteries of journalism. The Republican Committee indignantly repudiated it as an organ, the Pelican itself said it wasn't a campaign paper. We said when it was started, that it was a very mean, sick little plebeian paper, and didn't look as if it could live, and we hoped that it wouldn't live. The Plebeian has set a good example for the Evening Journal to follow. These mosquitoes of journalism are very annoying.

A Quadrupedal Encore.

A singer being encored four times the other night at a theatre, our friend Miggles said it was "a quadrupedal encore." On our suggesting that Miggles meant quadruple, Jones chipped in, asked "how we knew what Miggles meant?" and insisted that "quadrupedal encore" and "quadrupedal applause" were good terms constructively, hands and feet being both employed, and a large proportion of the audience being quadrupeds asinine.

Come, Cum.

What the mischief does Fred Lyster mean by "et aliis omnibus" in his bill of "Ready?" Who ever heard of et governing the ablative case? Cum, Feed, if you must sling Latin in your bills, we shall become accusative if your grammar is in the vocative.

Adopted.

We suggested a day or two ago to our contemporaries the heading of "Dry Hash" for their stale clippings. The San Jose Guide has dutifully adopted it.

There is Nothing

Which attracts public attention more than a genteel gait in either sex, to acquire which it is necessary that children's shoes should be made to fit well, which may be accomplished by going to Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, where our scions of respectability are daily to be seen emerging with their purchases. x

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco. *

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them. *

TWIABA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street. *

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices. *

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoilt, send them to the What Cheer Laundry. *

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge. *

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Do You Know

That with BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent, office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 113 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco. *

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Summer street. Ladies' saloon attached. Open day and night. *

Artificial Limbs,

Mario's Farewell to the Stage.

The great tenor, Mario, at the age of 63, took his farewell of the stage on the 19th of July in "La Favorita." If the voice was not that mellow, tuneful organ which in old days went straight to the heart upon wings of melody, there was still enough of its beautiful quality, enough of the singer's masterly command of it, to prove that he had been without a rival; while his grace and refinement of manner, his ease and dignity, carried the performance of Fernando beyond that of any other tenor who had essayed the character. Very early in the opera his admirers found an opportunity to testify their appreciation by twice recalling him at the end of the first act. Then, in the impressive finale to the third, when, with knightly scorn, he casts at the feet of the Monarch the decorations which would have purchased his shame; when with passionate ardor to preserve his honor unstained, Fernando breaks into fragments the sword he will no longer wear in the service of a king who has disgraced him, Mario was unequalled. The audience not merely applauded, but were frantic with delight and admiration, and not until the stage resembled a flower show at the Crystal Palace—not until the glorious singer had three times come forward in recognition of this reception—not until from royal hands a further brilliant wreath was added to the floral offerings already scattered upon the stage, could Mario depart and the curtain fall. But the excitement did not end here. Again in the concluding act the exquisite romance "Angiol d'amore" stirred the audience to even increased delight, and at the close of the act Signor Mario was recalled six times. If Kean proudly said that the "house rose at him," what can Signor Mario say? Never in the history of the stage, whether operatic or lyrical, was there such a leave-taking, and the greatest charm about it was that it was thoroughly deserved. Let there be but desert, and an English audience can be roused as fully as the most impassioned children of the South.

A man who married a buxom Irish girl, greatly to the horror of his mother and sister, made the following defense: If I married an American girl I must have an Irish girl to take care of her, and I cannot afford to support both of them.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table. *

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all he Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices. *

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st. *

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock. *

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure. *

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line. *

Sad Times for the Drama.

In announcing that Lotta was to open at Booth's Theatre, the Tribune said:

Miss Lotta especially as a Summer star, seems well chosen; and we dare say her performances will prove acceptable to the public and remunerative the theatre. But it would be, in our judgment, nothing less than a deplorable calamity to see the whole motley tribe of Fritzes and Schneiders, Ferrets and Snorkeys, Kits, Margaret Rookleys, and tag-rag and bob tail generally, come pouring through the same portal of expedient toleration. The star system must prevail, we presume, and must be endured. At least, it is pretty well rooted in certain universal and immutable characteristics of human nature. When Longfellow writes rythmical ecomiums of desicated codfish, or Palmer takes orders to chisel common grave-stones, then, possibly, the actor who possesses the ability, and has earned the right, to play Hamlet or Charles Surface, will be ready and willing to exchange those parts for Rosencrantz and Trip.

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY, Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets. *

"Uneasy Rests the Head

"That wears a crown" unless it has one of Shaber & Co's wonderful easy chairs—the best and cheapest ever offered to the public. Coin will buy furniture and bedding of Shaber & Co. at very low rates. *

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. x

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing." *

Squarza's:

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again. *

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANCE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The Table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

To-night, after weeks of preparation, the new and original play of "Ready, or California in 1871," the joint production of Fred Lyster and W. H. Sedley Smith, will be produced with new scenery, original music and a strong cast, comprising Henry Edwards, Carden, Marlowe, Williamson, Mestayer Miss May Howard, Miss Minnie Walton, Mrs. Judah, Mrs. Saunders and Miss Imogene Vandyke. The play is as cosmopolitan in its characters as could be wished, a Western man, a Yankee, a Californian, two Englishmen of different stamp, a number of Chinamen, and other foreigners being introduced. There is a railroad sensation, (no modern play is complete without this) a burning sensation, (equally necessary) and in fact everything that the public taste requires is there.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night this theatre will open its doors again to the public. The historical play of the "Lion of St Marc" has been chosen for the opening piece, in which Mr. J. B. Waldron and Miss Isabel Smythe will make their bows before a California audience in the leading roles. The Salt Lake Telegraph in speaking of this play, and Mr. Waldron's rendition of its principal character, says: "The play of the "Lion of St. Marc" is a very striking illustrated page of Venetian history and character. Mr. Waldron's Orsoelo may be considered the greatest personation, and the greatest triumph of any professional gentleman who has trod our boards." Miss Isabel Smythe is from the Western and Southern theatres, and is favorably spoken of. The cast embraces the names of Miss Sallie Hinckley, Messrs. J. H. Hardie, Edgar Piercy, John Woodard, Frank Rea, George Hinckley, G Powers, H. Colton, J. C. Maguire, E. Lipels, and J. Roberts. Mr. J. H. Vinson is stage manager, and Mr. J. H. Dohrman leader of the orchestra. The management have determined to remain permanently in the field, and have, we understand taken a long lease of the theatre.

Maguire's Opera House.

This theatre was thronged last night, every seat being occupied and many persons obliged to stand. The performance of "La Perichole" excited the same enthusiastic applause as on the former occasions of its representation. To-night the ever-popular opera of "La Grande Duchesse" will be produced, with Madame Lea Silly in the title role and the other parts well filled.

Alhambra Theatre.

A great bill will be presented this evening. After a brilliant part concluding with "I Don't See the Point," Charles Vivian will appear in a new budget of songs; Billy Emerson will follow in his Dutch sketches; Charley Howard and S. S. Purdy will present the former's original sketch entitled "The Power of Music;" the great Sheridan and Mack will appear in duets and dances—"The Oakland Belle," "Frisco Swell," and "Moonlight Walk," and the entertainment will conclude with Charley Howard's original sketch entitled "Scenes on a Mississippi Steamboat," in which he and the entire company will appear

Bella Union Theatre.

R. G. Marsh is the most indefatigable of managers. On Saturday night he produced the extravaganza of "A Lad and His Lamp." When we state that he wrote this piece, painted all the scenery for it, arranged the marches and tableaux, put it through rehearsal and played three characters in it, the public can understand that Mr. Marsh has enough to do. On the first night the piece dragged a little, but last night it was trotted off in a more lively manner. Miss Aline Le Favre won much applause for her performance of the triple role of A Lad, Pretty Charley and Girl of the Period; the scene where the female suffragists demand their rights caused much laughter, and all the actors and acresses played their parts well. "A Lad and his Lamp" will be played again to night; Miss Ella Wesner will present new character songs, the Reynolds Brothers will perform their most popular double song and dance acts, and a capital bill will be performed.

Theatre Comique.

There is no end to the novelties presented at this popular place of amusement. The management announce for to-night the first appearance of Johnny Kelly, and also of Maggie Murphy. Miss Maggie Knight delights everyone by her character songs and dances; Bobby Scott and Chris Mathews are capital song and dance men, and the host of artistes enumerated on our first page appear in a very attractive bill.

Oxford Theatre.

Miss Josie Mayfield, Miss Susie Lee, Miss Lydia Livingstone, and many other attractive young ladies appear nightly in song and dance in the intervals, a capital first part is given and the play of "Scenes in a Divorce Court," which concludes the evening's entertainment, causes much amusement.

Platt's Hall.

As may be seen by advertisement, this evening the Royal Yeddo Troupe of Japanese performers, composed of the very cream of the profession, will make their first appearance at Platt's Hall. Professor Gangero's performances are said to be unequalled by those of any living performer. The troupe is a large one and comprises four Japanese ladies.

Mozart Hall.

The Tyrolean Warblers will have a benefit to-night. Mrs. Tony Pastor has volunteered and will make her first appearance before the San Francisco public on this occasion.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

For the Sandwich Islands.

Tuers & Brook's minstrel company left this morning on the Comet for Honolulu. The following compose the party: Frank Jones, the lively moke; Jake Wallace, banjo; F. Mc Laughlin, jig dancer; G. Fane, comic singer, T. F. Barnwell, tenor; T. Ross, gymnast and general performer; Frank Medina, cornet; L. Brodecker, piano; L. Smith, violin; M. Feit, double bass, and brass band. C. Brooks accompanies the party, and Frank Jones acts as stage manager; John Tuers will stay here and attend to the Theatre Comique.

Woodward's Gardens.

The attendance at these delightful gardens yesterday was very large and the performance by the talented Lopez Family and the Iron Boy gave general satisfaction.

The Occidental Skating Rink.

The Occidental Skating Rink, at the Northwest corner of Post and Stockton streets, was opened on Saturday evening and a large number of persons visited it. It has been fitted up with a fine floor and galleries for spectators. Miss Carrie Moore gave a skating exhibition and afterwards performed some wonderful feats on the velocipede. The Occidental Skating Rink will be open during the day and evening and will doubtless become a popular resort.

Agricultural Park.

The Fair of the Bay District Agricultural Association will open to-day and the receipts will be given to the Orphan Asylums. There will be a grand parade of cattle, horses, sheep, goats, poultry and swine, and after this there will be trials of speed between some noted horses. The day's diversions will conclude with a race for $300 for stallions. Alexander, Alex, Copperhead, Brilliant, Hiram Woodruff and Venture have been entered for this race.

Wronged Musicians.

The musicians who formed the band that went to play Johnny De Angelis a tune at parting on Saturday, feel hurt at our saying they were "engaged," they having equally with the other professionals attended out of friendship for Johnny.

Important, if True.

A shrub has been discovered in South America the juice of which, it is said, will produce drunkenness in three minutes. Democratic papers say this is an infernal Radical lie, invented for the purpose of starting Democrats on a pilgrimage to that country.

SHARP SHAVER.—The Sentinel says that at one of the Iowa Falls Sabbath-schools, lately, the Superintendent was reviewing the lesson, and was talking of the verse reading "Let your loins be girded and your light burning." He asked the question, "Why are we commanded to gird our loins?" One little sharp shaver sang out, "To keep your breeches up."

ITS NAME.—"I know what your beau's pretty white horse's name is," said a little Greenfield boy to his sister, Monday morning, "it's Damye." "Hush, Eddie, that's a naughty word." "Well, I don't care if 'tis; that's his name, 'cos, last night I was standing outside the fence when he stopped in front of the gate, and heard him say 'Whoa, damye."

HOW HE KNEW THEM.—"I weeded my friends," said an eccentric old man, "by hanging a piece of stair-carpet out of my first-floor window, with a constable's announcement affixed. It had the desired effect. I soon saw who were my friends. It was like firing a gun at a pigeon-house. They forsook the building at the very first report."

DARE NOT.—A Yankee in Italy, after a severe tornado, which the people seemed to think a great thing, declared it was hardly up to the average of daily breezes in Maine, his native State, where the people dare not raise children, except in sheltered localities, on account of the strenuous character of the zephyrs which play over the hills.

WHY?—"Mother," said a bright little girl, "is hell a hot place?" Being a little puzzled what reply to make, the mother answered, "Yes." "Then," said the little girl, "why don't they turn the damper?"

NEVER.—"Ma, dear, Ada won't take her physic. I've mixed her a dose of sand, and she says I must take some first. Doctors never do, do they, ma?"

NAUGHTY.—The naughty boys of Philadelphia inebriate organ-grinders' monkeys with oranges soaked in brandy.

AWFULLY.—Some husbands, though anything but sharp, are awfully shrewd.

DAISIES.

Meekly, like dutiful
Children, they stand,
Milk-white and beautiful,
Gemming the sand;
Cheering lone passengers,
Weary and wan,
Hope's ready messengers,
Helping them on.

All over Flora land,
Nurtured with care,
Lilies in glory stand,
Roses are fair;
Gold and white, bringing up,
Out of poor soil,
Daisies are springing up,
Asking no toil.

Where waters flowing are,
Green meadows through,
Flag blossoms growing are,
Tenderly blue;
Nymphæ blossoms, sending out,
Fragrance at will,
Where the streams, bending out,
Learn to lie still.

Butter-cups standing are,
Hayfields in spring,
Wake robins, nodding where
Wood-thrushes sing;
Barely o'er daisy homes,
Green branches meet;
Seldom sweet water comes,
Bathing their feet.

Daisies, like duty, are
E'er doing well,
Lavishing beauty where
Drouth and dearth dwell.
Dust in each dainty cup
Often is driven,
Soilless, still looking up,
Are they to heaven.

The Mocking-Bird's Song that was Hushed Forever.

[From the Nashville Banner.]

A very curious incident, illustrative of the power which can be exercised over the animal creation by kindness and careful training occurred but a few days ago at Scottsville, Kentucky. The sister of officer Harry Mansfield, of this city, had raised a mocking-bird which she taught to come and go at her call, and which, in return for all the kindness bestowed upon it, exhibited a peculiar fondness for her. Last Monday week Miss Mansfield was taken ill, and to while away the tedium of the sick room, she had her little pet brought to her bedside, and day and night it cheered her with its sweet carols, bringing to mind many happy thoughts of field and meadow, sunshine and song. As her illness grew more alarming, and day after day brought no relief from suffering, the warblings of the little songster rather served to annoy than to please her, and so turning wearily on her pillow, she said to him, "Birdie, hush, you worry me." Strange to say, the words seemed to be understood, for immediately the song was hushed, and the bird retired within himself, as it were. On the next day the lady died, leaving, as it would seem, a command of silence upon the bird, which will never be broken, for, although several days have elapsed since, and every effort has been made to induce him to sing, he refuses to respond with song to any lips but those of his once loved mistress.

THREE KINDS.—There are three kinds of wills in the world—the wills, the won'ts and the can'ts. The first effect everything, the next oppose everything, and the last fail in everything. "I will" builds our railroads; "I won't" does not believe in experiments; while "I can't" grows weeds for wheat, and ends his days in bankruptcy and confusion.

CORRECT ANSWER.—"What is that which sticketh closer than a brother?" said a Sunday school teacher to one of his class. "A postage stamp, by gum!" said the incorrigible.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair. •

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever. •

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone. •

Reading Matter for All.

Loomis, at his stationery store at the S. E. corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the Post Office, does almost as rushing a business as the Post Office itself. All the New York papers and English magazines are there.

What a Whopper!

The editor of the Vallejo Recorder last week said:

Yesterday morning, in company with over fifty guests of the ice company, we visited the manufactory and witnessed its wonderful operations. The machine is located close upon the bank of the Atlanta side of the Chattahoochee, near the abutments of what is known as the old bridge.

Those who don't know that the editor of the Recorder "prigs" paragraphs from all his contemporaries without credit would think they were expected to believe he went to the Atlanta side of the whatyoumaycallit in the morning and returned to Vallejo the same evening.

How Would it Do?

The municipality of Milan have voted a subsidy of 110,000 francs to La Scala Opera House. Wouldn't it be a good plan for the highly cultured gentlemen composing our Board of Supervisors to set aside a portion of the city revenue for the encouragement of Italian opera in San Francisco. How would it do for a man to run for a Supervisorship on the platform of "Italian opera every year"? There wouldn't be any objection, would there? We ask for information.

Important Injunction Denied.

Supreme Court Judges Rhodes, Wallace and Crockett denied the application for injunction against the sale of the New City Hall lots yesterday. That decides the case; the last straw is removed and the Commissioners can meet with no further legal impediments. The sale will certainly come off on Monday next.

The Difference.

The Critic says:

Half-grown New York boys amuse themselves by stoning Jewish orphans.

Well, well, boys will be boys; ours stone Chinamen.

Rowdy Times.

Political mass meetings are all the go now

Precisely

For the same reason that the ladies have determined to caicease for the Fair, the opposite sex, to be in juxtaposition, have determined to purchase their Paten Leather Oxford Ties and Dancing Pumps at East's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre.

There is Nothing

Which attracts public attention more than a genteel gait in either sex, to acquire which it is necessary that children's shoes should be made to fit well, which may be accomplished by going to East's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, where our scions of respectability are daily to be seen emerging with their purchases. x

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

TWIARA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street.

Don't Forget to Visit

The San Francisco Health Lift, 24 Post st.

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoilt, send them to the What Cheer Laundry.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge.

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Wretched Old Woman!

Has Granny Alta no friends who will look after her? Won't the auctioneers look after the poor, demented old soul? Two bits of original "poetry" in Sunday's paper and Monday's issue the most nauseating mess of dreary, idiotic drivel imaginable. It is too bad. Granny used to be so respectable even if she was dull and heavy. Just fancy a substantial commercial paper publishing as "written for the Alta California," that horrid double song and dance by J. L. O., which appeared in yesterday's issue! Isn't this pretty stuff?

Up and down each busy street,
Winking at the girls they meet,
And with supercilious air
Turning round with brazen stare;
Laughing at some empty joke;
Puffing clouds of nauseous smoke;
Fearing duns at every corner;
Using fortune but to scorn her.

Granny's losing her head fast and if her friends don't look after the poor crack-brained old creature, she will be volunteering to dance a break down at the Bella Union. In the same paper appears three quarters of a column of twaddle by some poor idiot who signs himself "Swallow." Oh! dear, Oh! dear, how sick this kind of stuff makes us:

I am your special swallow, engaged expressly for this occasion, and these are the tracks of my flight. I swell the noble army of the Bohemians, and my hour shall come as well as his.

What will become of me then, I wonder? It is a momentous question I dare not ask too audibly for fear of an unwelcome answer. On that solemn occasion I trust I shall bid you an amiable adieu. Farewell base world! I shall exclaim. Welcome, thou worn and rusty coat! And welcome the earliest shuffling off of a too mortal coil, that will have grown cumbersome by that time.

By Jove! isn't this sort of thing melancholy? Let's change the subject!

Then a column and a half of tolerable doggerel about Haight. A column and a half of rhyme in the Alta California!

"Sauce," a fearful proof of how stupid it is possible for a funny man to be when engaged to write for the Alta. Street Etiquette, written for the Alta California, and "to be continued"—the most painful attempt at sarcasm ever made. This is the kind of thing:

RULE XI.—Never on any account raise your hat to a lady unless she should insist upon shaking hands, and then be careful to have your hand engaged about your hat, so that she may have to keep her own held out waiting for your convenience. Perfect ease and self-possession never fail a gentleman of ton.

Worse and more of it! "Humors of the Campaign." "How Mac lost the nomination," "A Candidate's experience before the Committee," by Tim Crelly. A lively story—Oh! so deadly lively—of how a man got a newspaper man to write a speech for him and found that he had bought one which had already been sold to another candidate. So new, so startling, so humorous. Give us back Fitz Smythe, we can stand him, let Upton make as many "jokes" as he likes, we won't complain, but somebody please do something and keep poor old lunatic Granny Alta from employing all the the idiots permitted to roam at large, to drivel inanities in rhyme and prose for her columns.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers saw that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Vivian's Treadmill Song.

"Ten Thousand Miles Away" for sale, price five cents, by Wm. Cohen, 912 Kearny street, between Jackson and Pacific streets. 10,000 different songs for sale.

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices.

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few door below What Cheer House.

What is Glucolein?

A preparation of Cod Liver Oil, without any disagreeable taste; the most efficacious remedy for all pulmonary complaints. Prepared and sold by JAMES G. STEELE & Co., No. 521 Montgomery street.

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaefler, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st.

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

To the Unfortunate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure.

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line.

What Cheer Laundry,

It has No Rival.

Purify your blood, strengthen your system, eradicate scrofula and humors of every description, by tasting "Fluid Extracts of Sarsaparilla and Yellow Dock with Iodide of Potash." Prepared by Moody, apothecary, northeast corner of Kearny and Sutter.

New Dry Goods Store.

Gleeson & Fell have opened a fine store at No. 144 Fourth street, with a well-assorted stock of dry goods suitable to the season. If integrity and fair dealing be any inducement the public will find it to their interest to visit the above store.

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY, Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets.

"Uneasy Rests the Head

"That wears a crown" unless it has one of Shaber & Co's wonderful easy chairs—the best and cheapest ever offered to the public. Coin will buy furniture and bedding of Shaber & Co. at very low rates.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents.

"The Thing."

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again.

Ladies And Gentlemen.

Guerin & Son, prize boot and shoe makers are rapidly clearing out their immense stock of stylish boots and shoes, at low prices. Call to day and save your money, 327 and 329 Bush street

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

A large audience assembled last night to witness the production of the new and original California play of "Ready," written by Fred Lyster and W. H. Sedley Smith. The plot is not very intricate—only just sufficient to link together some good scenes and incidents. It is as follows: Mr. Brodhead adopted as a son Harry Hargrave, who went to the bad; he has an adopted daughter, Miss Caroline Milford, and a ward, Charles Belton, who is in love with Caroline, so he has enough on his hands. Hargrave, among other misdeeds, has stolen a box of family papers and jewels, the property of Caroline Milford. Brodhead has returned from England with his adopted daughter and ward, and finds that Hargrave, whom he has disowned, has forged his name repeatedly in South America. He employs a detective, Captain Lee Sharphold, to watch to see if any forged paper is presented in San Francisco. Hargrave has come to this city accompanied by an accomplice, Sam Scroggins, and is introduced to Caroline under an assumed name. Charles Belton discovers who he is, and is about to deliver him into the hands of Sharphold, when he escapes by jumping out of a window. Sharphold and his wife Susan set to work to follow in his track and bring him to justice. Hargrave learning that Brodhead is in an eastern bound train, attempts to throw it off the track by dislodging a rail, but is foiled by Sharphold, who hammers it into place just as the train comes rushing on. Hargrave is afterwards killed by the fall of a boulder which he dislodges in digging up the box containing the jewels and papers which establish Caroline's right to estates in Virginia. Caroline has a bosom friend, Miss Emily Vaughan, who at the end of the play is betrothed to Hon. Philip Paget, an English Guardsman who has come to America with Charles. Archibald Brodhead was admirably played by Henry Edwards, James Carden was effective as the villain Hargrave, and W. A. Mestayer amusing as his confederate Scroggins; J. C. Williamson gave a very natural representation of the detective Sharphold, making him a real California character; the part of Susan Sharphold, his wife, was admirably played by Miss Minnie Walton; Owen Marlowe played the part of the English swell, Philip Paget, with very good taste, carefully avoiding exaggeration; Miss May Howard was delightfully genuine and natural as Caroline Milford; Miss Imogene Vandyke did all she could with the part of Emily Vaughan, which did not suit her; Mrs. Judah was excellent as the Yankee aunt, and Mrs. Saunders as Dr. Rebecca Everclack, one of the strong-minded ones, was wonderfully amusing. The scenery of this play is absolutely gorgeous—every picture is worthy of a frame. The first, a magnificent view of the Pacific ocean from the Cliff House, with the rays of the setting sun shining on the waters, was greeted with immense applause. California street is finished with a degree of care seldom seen on the stage, every line in every building being as true as if the picture were an architectural drawing to be hung on the wall of an office instead of a stage representation. This scene called forth even more applause than the first. Kearny street, with a view of the White House, was also much applauded. Mr. Porter's greatest triumphs, however, are the magnificent paintings of Cape Horn and scenery of the valley below, and the surpassingly beautiful Vernal Fall in Yosemite Valley. No description can do justice to these gorgeous specimens of scenic art. The audience called for Mr. Porter again and again, and twice he came on the stage to receive their congratulations on his success in so vividly representing on canvas the beauties of California scenery. The music and quartets composed for the play are good, and the applause throughout proved that the audience were thoroughly well pleased with every part of it. The burning scene in the second act was well managed. The sentiments put in the mouths of the characters were well received; all acted their very best, and "Ready," though it gives one the idea of having been written to scenes painted before the plot was formed, will certainly rank with "Under the Gaslight" and other popular plays of the day. It will be played until further notice.

Alhambra Theatre.

The new bill at the Alhambra Theatre is immensely popular. The first part is capital. Vivian's songs "Daddy Daddy" and "Sweet Jenny," were received with thunders of applause last night; Billy Emerson surpassed himself in his Dutch specialties; Charley Howard's sketch "The Power of Music," in which he was assisted by S. S. Purdy, caused roars of laughter; Sheridan and Mack brought down the house in their new songs and dances, "The Oakland Belle," "Frisco Swell" and "Moonlight Walk;" and the capital sketch of "Scenes on a Mississippi steamboat" with Charley Howard, M. Ainsley Scott, S. S. Purdy, G. H. Foster and company in the cast, wound up one of the best entertainments of the season.

Bella Union Theatre.

To-night after a fine first part, in which Fanny Garretson, Tommy Bree, Minnie Filmore and others, will sing the popular ballads of the day, an interlude will be given, and Miss Ella Wesner will introduce new songs to please an audience always delighted with her singing; the Reynolds Brothers will appear in song and dance, Miss Fanny Garretson will sing the beautiful ballad "Deserted I Wander," which was a pleasing feature in last nights programme; a variety of other entertainments will be given, and the evening's amusement will conclude with the extravaganza of "A Lad and his Lamp" with the dashing, vivacious and ever-pleasing Alice Le Favre in the leading role.

Theatre Comique.

Johnny Kelley and Miss Maggie Murphy were both hailed last night as valuable additions to the strong company engaged at this popular temple of mirth, music and minstrelsy. Little Maggie Knight continues to delight all with her songs and dances; Nellie Leonard sings sweet ballads, Ida Fisk's "How is that for High" is much applauded, and there is lots of fun every night.

Oxford Theatre.

"Scenes in a Divorce Court" has made a hit of the most decided kind at this place of amusement. In addition to this, there are any number of pretty girls in songs and dances, Ethiopian comedy, Dutch comedy, dances, acts and all sorts of amusement to suit the taste of the public.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Maguire's Opera House.

The performance of "La Grande Duchesse" last night was a grand success in every respect. M'lle Lea Silly sang "Le Sabre de mon Pere" in excellent style, "Dites a Lui" with charming expression and gave the drinking song in the last act in a style which was never been approached in California, the house rang again with the applause it drew forth, and it will be long ere we have it sung again so well. M. Felix Girrebeuk sang and acted the part of Fritz well; M'lle Vandelet made an interesting Wanda, and altogether the performance was most satisfactorily carried through. To-night a very attractive entertainment will be given for the benefit of M. Felix Girrebeuk; M'lle Lea Silly will sing the very amusing comic song "C'est dans le nez que ca me Chatouiville; the first act of 'La Belle Helene,' the second act of "Barbe Bleue," and first act of "La Perichole," will be performed; C. Vivian will sing "Champagne Charley" and "Ten Thousand Miles Away" and the charming M'lle Gangain will dance "Les Metamorphoses."

Metropolitan Theatre.

All were glad to see this theatre open again last night and a good audience assembled in the handsome dress circle to celebrate the occasion. Mr. G. B. Waldron met with a tremendous reception on making his re-appearance, after many years absence, on the California stage and proved that he had used his time to good advantage. Mr. Waldron is of the Forest School of muscular actors and played the character of Orsola in the drama of "The Lion of St. Marc," with much power. Miss Isabel Smythe is an actress of pleasing personal appearance and lady-like manners on the stage and made a good impression in the part of Viola; J. H. Hardie distinguished himself in the part of Galieno Faliero, and Miss Sallie Hinckley, whom all were glad to see again on the stage played Lesbia in her usual excellent style. The drama of "The Lion of St. Marc" will be be presented again this evening.

Platt's Hall.

The Royal Yeddo Troupe of Japanese performers gave their first exhibition last night, and made a decided success, being pronounced by all who witnessed their performance the very best troupe that has ever visited this city. The feats of Gangero are most astonishing, and must be seen to be believed. Description cannot give even a faint idea of them. Kingero, "the man-monkey," well deserves his name; he seems to use his hands and feet with equal dexterity. The Japanese belle Okatsan's performances on the slack wire caused general wonder and admiration, while her personal appearance and extraordinary head-dress were the theme of general comment. The troupe will give another exhibition this evening, when new feats will be performed.

Mozart Hall.

The Tyrolean Warblers had a good benefit last night and the performance was a very attractive one. The feats of Madame Lopez and pupils were much applauded. The sensation of the evening however, was the first appearance of Mrs. Tony Pastor, who sang four songs. Mrs. Pastor has a very handsome appearance, dressed magnificently, and, though the orchestra accompanied her so badly that a singer of less nerve would have given up the attempt, proved that she had a sweet though not strong voice of good quality, and a pleasing manner on the stage. We hope to hear Mrs. Pastor on some future occasion under more favorable circumstances.

The Occidental Skating Rink.

The Occidental Skating Rink, at the Northwest corner of Post and Stockton streets, was opened on Saturday evening and a large number of persons visited it. It has been fitted up with a fine floor and galleries for spectators. Miss Carrie Moore gave a skating exhibition and afterwards performed some wonderful feats on the velocipede. The Occidental Skating Rink will be open during the day and evening and will doubtless become a popular resort.

Agricultural Park.

The opening of the Fair and Races at these grounds yesterday was largely attended. The display of stock takes place every day at 1 o'clock. Everybody should see it. Cornelius Stagg's stallion "Hiram Woodruff," admirably handled by Col Dickey, won the stallion purse of $400. To-day the Grand Tournament will come off.

Diabolical.

That incorrigible Muffington, reading the following paragraph:

"Charles Mathews, the veteran actor, delights to sip tea."

Said, "Ah yes, Charley is pretty old, and now enjoys his sip tea pleasures as much as he did the tipsy delights of his youth."

What Cheer Laundry

Is the best laundry in San Francisco.

Kindly Considerate.

An exchange says:

A Chicago man killed himself because his divorced wife was to marry another man.

That was very thoughtful of him. No doubt he did it so that she might be perfectly easy in her mind.

Unsatisfactory.

The Oregonian has a notice of a lady named Mrs. Dice, who weighs 323 pounds. It says she is strong and healthy, and has several children, but does not tell us whether Mrs. Dice ever threw pairs.

The Lowell idiot who lit a pipe by a kerosene lamp, is better.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all be Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Hancke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Reading Matter for All.

Loomis, at his stationery store at the S. E. corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the Post Office, does almost as rushing a business as the Post Office itself. All the New York papers and English magazines are there.

"The Days of Forty-Nine."

Ballad for sale by Ww COHEN, 912 Kearny street, price 5 cents. Also, all of Vivian's and Louis Braham's songs.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

Republican Demonstrations.

The most prominent Republican demonstration that has yet been made during the present canvass was the action of Stow and Carr, the great political guns of the Republican party, last evening in the Lick House. It was a deed of which every American citizen and unprejudiced Republican should be proud. It shows us of what stuff our leaders of the present day are made. In place of Tracy, and Baker, and other intellectual giants for standard-bearers and leaders, the party is now championed by Cookie Gorham and Platitude Booth, and defended by Stow and Carr, a la Casey and Mulligan, by rushing up to an unarmed man, presenting a derringer at his breast and demanding that he "leaves town." Gorham stumped the State four years ago, and achieved the most remarkable defeat for his party on record. He now returns literaly and truely forcing himself on the party to the party's detriment as, all unbiased men must admit. Stow and Carr in the present day resort to the past code of the pistol and chair, and the "leave town" edict, in cases of political squabbles on stump denunciations. Verily the Republican's should be proud of their leaders and the demonstrations they are making towards elevating and popularizing their party.

The Bulletin on the Drama.

It seems a pity that the Bulletin, which is a respectable paper, and gives a little attention to literature, should think the drama of so little consequence that it sends its roller boy or some other attache of the office to criticise plays produced on the California stage instead of employing a capable dramatic critic. The notice of the first performance of "Ready" at the California Theatre was beautifully absurd. The readers of the Bulletin were informed that "Mr. Saunders" played "the Pioneer," when there was no "Mr. Saunders" in the cast, and no character called "Pioneer;" and Mestayer, who took the character of a comic English pickpocket, was said to have played "the heavy villain"—because Mestayer's fat, we presume. The Bulletin is a donkey.

The story is now out that Jeff. Davis killed and devoured his father.

A vagrant named "Johnny Anyhow" has died in Jersey City.

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 619 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

TWIABA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street.

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices.

That with BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent, office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 113 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco.

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Sansome street. Ladies' saloon attached. Open day and night.

Squarza's.

Academy of Sciences.

A meeting of the Academy of Sciences was held on Monday.

The first business of the evening was the tendering of a vote of thanks to FIGARO for publishing correct reports of the meetings of the Association. This encourages us.

Mr. Diggles produced from his coat-tail pocket a number of oyster shells which he said he had obtained at the Bivalve, near the corner of Market and Kearny streets, where you could get oysters in every style—fancy roasts—

Professor Boggles called Mr. Diggles to order. The Association had not met to hear a disquisition on the Bivalve oyster-house and the different modes of cooking oysters.

Mr. Diggles replied that there was just as much science in a fancy roast as in any of the proceedings of the Association, but he wasn't going to talk about that. What he wanted to call the attention of the meeting to was the shells of Eastern oysters which had been transplanted.

Professor Dingbat said he didn't see no pints about them shells.

Mr. Diggles said these shells had changed their color since they had been put in the Bay, and he wanted to know why.

Mr. Sniffles suggested that it might be the mud.

Professor Tinkfoozle begged to remark that it was within the bounds of possibility that the expassation and consequent excussation of the testa ostreria might have produced the effect which Mr. Dale attributed to the demigration or excambrium of an Eastern for a Western alveum.

Dr. Yoddles said that was just his opinion.

Professor Cumtux said he thought they'd better drop the subject, and Mr. Diggles obligingly put his shells in his pocket.

Dr. Blake read a paper on diatoms collected at a hot spring in Pueblo Valley, Humboldt county, Nevada, during which most of the members went to sleep.

Professor Jagger said no doubt Dr. Blake's paper about "infusions" was very good, but there wa'n't nothin' practikle about it, and science if it wanted to do anything in California must be practikle.

The usual discussion on whether or not the gas bill should be paid arose, but was cut short by Professor Jagger's producing a coal oil lamp and a can of oil which he wished the Association to accept, as they were too tarnation mean to pay for gas.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Professor Jaggers, and the meeting adjourned, Jaggers observing that it was the most stupid he he had ever attended, and if there warn't more fun next time he'd go to the Bella Union instead of wasting an evening there.

It is Not

Because you wear cheap boots and shoes that you become crippled—it is because they do not fit properly; neither does a bad-fitting boot or shoe last so long by half the time as one made by a first-class cutter, such as is found at Kast's fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre.

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure.

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line.

What Cheer Laundry.

321 Leidesdorff street, near Sacramento.

It has No Rival.

Purify your blood, strengthen your system, eradicate scrofula and humors of every description, by taking "Fluid Extracts of Sarsaparilla, and Yellow Dock with Iodide of Potash." Prepared by Moody, apothecary, northeast corner of Kearny and Sutter.

New Dry Goods Store.

Gleeson & Fell have opened a fine store at No. 144 Fourth street, with a well-assorted stock of dry goods suitable to the season. If integrity and fair dealing be any inducement the public will find it to their interest to visit the above store.

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents.

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing."

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. BERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again.

Reduced Prices.

Guerin & Son, prize boot and shoe makers, 327 and 329 Bush street. Must sell $35,000 worth of boots and shoes within 60 days. Call and examine our stock.

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANCE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual au5 1m

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Maguire's Opera House.

Felix Girrebeuk's benefit last night was well attended and the performance went off well. We regret to state that these delightful performances must be brought to a close, just as the San Francisco public are learning to appreciate them. In consequence of M'lle Lea Silly's engagements elsewhere, to-night will be the last but one of the season of French Opera Bouffe and M'lle Lea Silly to whom our public are indebted for much pleasure, will take her farewell benefit. "La Perichole," the most popular of operas, will be performed on this occasion. Those who have not yet seen it have missed a treat which they cannot hope to have an opportunity of enjoying for years again.

California Theatre.

"Ready" was played again last night and the audience were liberal in their applause of the manner in which the piece is mounted. It went off in a much more lively manner than on the first night; actors and actresses discovered new points in their characters and altogether the performance pleased everyone. "Ready" will be played again to night.

Metropolitan Theatre.

This fine theatre now presents a bright and cheerful appearance. New scenery has been painted and the theatre generally renovated. The drama of "The Lion of St. Marc" is sensational enough to please anyone and is well played. John Woodard makes the audience laugh heartily in the character of Barpo, the spy, who finally meets the reward of his misdeeds. We have already spoken of the performance of G. B. Waldron, J. H. Hardie, Miss Isabel Smythe and Miss Sallie Hinckley. E. Percy as Spoliato plays his part well and the characters generally are well filled. "The Lion of St. Marc" will be repeated this evening.

Alhambra Theatre.

Billy Emerson, Charles Howard, Vivian, Sheridan and Mack, S. S. Purdy and the talented band of ebony minstrels at this place of amusement, give an entertainment nightly which leaves nothing to be desired. Visitors who have come to see the Fair will miss a great treat, if they omit to spend at least one evening at the Alhambra.

Bella Union Theatre.

Ella Wesner's new songs are as popular as any she has sung; she has not a dull song in her repertoire; Aline Le Favre flashes like a ray of sunshine on the stage, and is always in earnest in everything she does; the Reynolds Brothers' new song and dance "The Two Benjamins," is immense; the extravaganza is lively, and the songs, dances and acts which make up the rest of the bill, are all good.

Theatre Comique.

Constant novelty is the rule at this establishment. To-night the management announce the first appearance of A. P. Durand, the famous gymnast and dancer; Charley Howard, the popular banjoist, and Miss Zadie Zelmar, the slack wire performer. Miss Maggie Knight will appear in her characteristic songs and dances; the trio of clog dancers, Kelly, Scott and Matthews, will execute some of their clever dances and Johnny Tuers and the numerous company will appear in a varied bill.

Oxford Theatre.

The great combination company at the Oxford are highly successful in their efforts to suit the public taste, as the large attendance at this cosy little place of amusement proves. The ballet of twenty performers is a popular feature; Miss Lizzie Lollor, great in song and dance, is a favourite; Josie Mayfield's ballads are always encored; Charley Emerson's Dutch characters cause much fun and the sensation play of "Scenes in the Divorce Court," is a great success.

Platt's Hall.

Those who think that the entertainment given by the Royal Yeddo Troops of Japanese performers at present at Platt's Hall, is the old stereotyped tub balancing affair they have seen before are mistaken. Professor Gangero was the greatest juggler in Japan, and can certainly accomplish feats that no other living man is capable of. Last night the building fairly shook with the applause and laughter caused by his wonderful box and bottle feat, the result of twelve years' hard practice. This is of itself worth the price of admission. His extraordinary performances with balls and swords causes the greatest astonishment. The jolly little twin Japs, Tami and Kumi, are wonderful gymnasts; the ladder of swords is a thrilling feat; Kingoro is wonderful and Otoksan, the Japanese belle, performs beautifully on the slack wire. The performance at Platt's Hall is certainly the best of its kind ever in the United States. There will be no performance this evening and to-morrow night there will be a change of programme.

Agricultural Park.

This place is daily the resort of the fashionable people of San Francisco. The show of valuable stock is extremely fine, and the races are exciting. The Agriculture Fair divides the honors with the Mechanics' Fair.

French Democratic Club Benefit.

This newly organized Club will have a benefit at Maguire's Opera House to-morrow evening, on which occasion "La Perichole" will be performed for the last time, and M'lle Lea Silly will positively make her last appearance in California, as she will go East by the morning train on Friday.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

New York Mammoth Circus.

The farmers in the lower valleys having reaped and sold their golden harvest, Messrs. Kingsley & Thompson are reaping a golden harvest from them with their New York Circus. Their business has been unprecedentedly good since they left San Francisco. After taking a trip through the Bay counties, and showing at the various Faires, they intend to return to this city and close their season with a series of performances here in which they will introduce novel arenic features.

In Search of Talent.

Mr. Brohowski, proprietor of the San Jose Opera House, is in town looking out for attractions for his theatre during the San Jose Fair. If he cannot get a variety company, which we hear he desires, we recomend him to capture Gangero and the wonderful Japs to astonish the San Jose people.

LETTER FROM CHICAGO.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

CHICAGO, August 17th, 1871.

HOOLEY'S OPERA HOUSE.

The McKee Rankin comedy company is concluding a one week's engagement at this place with Mr. A. L. Parkes, late of Hooley's, as the manager. "Dora" was the attraction nightly, with the afterpiece of "Black-Eyed Susan." Miss Blanchard made a hit as Dora, also Mr. Stanley as Captain Crosstree in "Black-Eyed Susan." They close this evening their short, brilliant engagement, to the regret of their many admirers. After the Scott Centennial performances on Monday and Tuesday and Wednesday, the remainder of the week will be devoted to benefits. First on the list will be that of A. L. Parkes, on August 10th, a testimonial benefit by the McKee Rankin comedy company. Morton's comedy of "The Little Mother" and "Black-Eyed Susan," when Miss Kitty Blanchard will make her last appearance. On Friday M. Kee a benefit and appear in the character of Rip Van Winkle in a new version of that play. On Saturday the Chicago favorite, John Jennings, will have a benefit, presenting "Oliver Twist," Mr. McKee Rankin as Fagan, Mr. Jennings as Bumble, his brightest character; Miss Violet Campbell as Nancy, and Mr. Bival Ryan, the artful dodger, his original character. Hooley and Aiken's new company is announced to open on the 28th inst: the opening piece has not yet been decided upon. A rumor was in circulation among the dramatic fraternity that two of our managers were to open with the same piece, but I hope it is without foundation.

WOOD'S MUSEUM.

The lecture room of the Museum having undergone a thorough revision and repairing, is now in a highly attractive condition for the re-opening, which occured on the 14th. The programme for the opening was "The School for Scandal." Lady Teazle, Miss Isabel Freeman; Charles Surface, J. K. Mortimer; Sir Oliver Surface, C. H. Wilson; Sir Peter Teazle, J. S. Langrishe. A number of curiosities and some very fine paintings have been added to the Museum, among the latter a picture brought from Paris, entitled "The Betrayal of Sampson," which is a masterpiece of art.

DEARBORN THEATRE.

The Wyndham season closes this evening with the production of "School." The company will remain in this city four nights have been set apart for benefits. August 14th Miss Sidney Cowell takes a benefit with "Ours" and the "Happy Pair." On Tuesday Mr. Giddens takes a benefit—"Caste," with the farce of "Unwarrantable Intrusion." On Wednesday "Home" and "Mephistophilas" will be presented for the benefit of Miss Annie Goodall. On Thursday Chas. Wyndham is underlined for a benefit, giving "The Serious Family." The minstrel season at this house commences on the 21st. The following is the complete list of the new company: J. R. Kemble, interlocutor and stage manager; Ben Cotton, tambourine end; J. H. Budworth, bones; Luke Schoolcraft, comedian; Harry Talbot, comedian; Peasby and Fitzgerald, song and dance men; C. A. Fredericke, tenor; J. La Monte, basso profundo; M. Lang, alto; Edgar Markham, tenor; Frank Kent, female personator, and Huneman's orchestra. A new version of a burlesque entitled "Robinson Crusoe," is underlined for the opening night. The house will undergo some repairs and new scenery is now being put in position.

MCVICKER'S THEATRE

Is rapidly approaching completion; when finished, it will be one of the finest theatres West of New York. A fine new drop curtain is now being painted, and will shortly be finished; it represents a tropical scene in Italy. Some very fine statues have been mounted on the exterior of the building, which makes its appearance very classical. Opening night, Sept 1st. Play not yet been announced.

THE OLYMPIC.

With its host of stars, is crowded every evening. Mr. Frank Frayne and Carrie Butler will soon take their departure for the East. After an engagement of six months, the patrons will be very sorry to lose them. They go to Detroit, Cleveland' Buffalo and thence to New York.

ROBINSON'S CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE

One of the strongest attractions during the past week has been this circus. There has been a constant rush of visitors to the show every day. The receipts for the first week's performances were something over $15,000—over $3,000 a day. The receipts up to this evening for to day amounted to $3,600. They go to Milwaukie next week.

MISCELLANEOUS

The organization of dramatic companies for the rural district is rapidly going on, there will be no less than seven from Chicago this season. The Pulman company, McKee Rankin, E. S. Marble company, Sawtelle, McVickers, and two small ones. Weather is very moderate, and people turn out now en mass, and managers rub their hands with glee.

Carl Schurz's lecture this evening drew a jammed house of German Republicans. He is the Dutchman eloquent.

The leading members of the Katie Putnam Comedy Company are somewhere on the Upper Lakes rusticating, and enjoying the amusement of catching the finny tribe. They will soon return preparatory to filling their engagement at Quincy, Ill., Sept. 4th.

James A. Oates, with a new dramatic company, will commence an unlimited engagement at Crosby's Opera House, Sept. 18th.

A concert for the purpose of liquidating the debt incurred in the late Fifreenth Amendment celebration is announced to come off Aug. 4th at Farwell Hall.

John Hogan, late of Manning's Minstrels, who has been on a sick bed for some time, is announced to have a benefit at Metropolitan Hall next Monday afternoon. Dillon, Jennings, and a number of the dramatic profession have kindly volunteered for the occasion.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all he Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

The Elixir of Youth.

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

NEW CITY HALL LOTS

....AT....

PLATT'S HALL

....ON....

MONDAY.....AUGUST 28th

AT 12 O'CLOCK, M.,

BY ORDER CITY HALL COMMISSIONERS

NINETY-NINE LOTS

FRONTING ON

Market, Jones, McAllister and Larkin Streets,

....AND....

Park and City Hall Avenues,

TO WIT:

Forty-eight Lots fronting on Market Street, each fronting 25 feet by a uniform depth of 100 Feet.

Forty Lots fronting on Park Avenue, each fronting 25 Feet by 100 Feet deep.

Seven Irregular shaped Lots, forming Valuable Corners.

Four Corner Lots, each 25 by 100 Feet, fronting on Park and City Hall Avenues.

MAPS AND FULL DESCRIPTION AT SALESROOM.

Terms of Sale very Reasonable

25 PER CENT CASH,

And Balance in Three Equal Yearly Payments, with Ten per cent. Interest.

Deeds at expense of purchasers.

P. H. CANAVAN,
JOS. G. EASTLAND,
CHAS. E. McLANE,
Board of City Hall Commissioners.
ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded: Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

THESE BRACES, IN THEIR PECULIAR construction, have all the advantages of Suspenders and Shoulder-Braces combined.

1st.—They do not disarrange the shirt-bosom.
2d.—They cannot slip off the shoulders.
3d.—They give no strain on the breast.
4th.—Each section of the parts can be adjusted independently.
5th.—By means of the adjustable back-strap, a gentle and powerful brace can be obtained.
6th.—Their ease and convenience commend them to everyone, and no person after using them will ever use the old-fashioned suspenders again.

Industrial Resources of the State.

An extraordinary fact has come to light concerning one of the "industrial resources of the State," which the Alta with characteristic modesty does not mention. It may not be generally known that the shelves on which the silk moths lay their eggs—eggs from which the future silkworm will spring—are neatly covered with newspapers. It is now announced by one of our most distinguished savans (whom may the Lord long preserve) that the papers on which they are born have a most important effect on the future industry and usefulness of the worms. It has been ascertained (so he avers) that in many instances the silk crop has failed solely because of the bad qualities of the paper on which the worms were bred. For instance, he says that those reared on the Alta have grown to a very large size, but that there is nothing in them. They won't give silk—in fact, they have not any; they are sickly all their lives, but they grow very old, many of them becoming grandmothers; they are of very little value. Those reared on the Call are worse. They do not, it is true, grow so large, but they are very sick insects, and are continually getting on the little fence or rim that surrounds the shelf, and tumbling off. Their silk is the worst in quality produced in the State. Blank paper is better than either of the foregoing, but it is expensive, so the worm-raisers are going to try the Chronicle; but we venture to predict that the worms raised on the Chronicle's political cartoons will be the sickest old worms in the world, besides being malicious, mischievous and mean. The papers best adapted for the worms are the Sacramento Union and the Evening Bulletin.

Poorly Paid.

A member of the Arkansas Legislature, in speaking of an extravagant appropriation indignantly exclaimed, "Gentlemen, talk about adequate compensation of public servants. Why, sir, during the late war I was in thirty-seven battles, was wounded thirteen times in the cause of the South, and the entire pay I received was $30 in Confederate money, every cent of which I gave for one glass of old rye whisky.

Somebody who considers fishing a scaly business, thus apostrophizes the finny tribe:

And when an angler for his dish,
Through gluttony's vile sin,
Attempts, the wretch! to pull thee out,
Heaven give thee strength, thou little trout,
To pull the rascal in!

These "Materfamilias"

who really feel interested in their children's gait should call at KAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, to see the sense displayed in his peculiar make of children's Balmorals and Button Gaiters, the adoption of which will certainly guarantee comfort, ease and grace. •

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco. •

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them. •

TWIABA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street. •

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one. •

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices. •

Those Stupid Englishmen!

Frank Pixley has been in England and has come back with a better opinion of himself than he had before—which is unnecessary. He found Englishmen terribly stupid. He asked one the way to Al-na-wick, and he actually didn't know what he meant, and Pixley had a good laugh at him because the poor, ignorant fellow had learned to call it Alnwick. Then Pixley met another Englishman, and he told him that Ben Lomond wasn't a quarter as high as the highest point of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, and told him that California was the greatest country in the world and sent out the most refined gentlemen and best scholars in the world, and he was a Californian, and all that stupid Englishman said was "A-a-h!" Mr. Pixley told this and a great deal more to a very small audience at Platt's Hall on Saturday evening for the benefit (?) of the Women's Hospital. Mr. Pixley wished to see the seas aflame with burning English vessels instead of the Alabama losses being paid for in coin. He also wished to see all the ancient cathedrals of England turned into quarries. Mr. Pixley also doted on the Communists of Paris. Mr. Pixley was glad he had not learned to speak broken English while he was away. We don't believe he did learn to do so on his travels from our recollection of his mode of expression in some of his stump speeches before he left. Altogether Mr. Pixley's lecture, if it did not benefit the Hospital, nor the audience, evidently afforded him much satisfaction. The people laughed heartily when he gave instances to prove how stupid Englishmen were; and Mr. Pixley didn't think they were laughing at him, so it was all right. Really his lecture is instructive, as showing how it is possible for a man to travel and come home just as wise as he was when he left.

A Present for the Alta.

The Alta speaking of the Yosemite scene at the California Theatre says:

Many wishes were expressed that such a painting could be preserved, with its beautiful water illusion and delicious atmosphere.

We suggest to the management of the California Theatre that it would only be fair of them to give Granny that picture when they have done with it. The dear old creature would spend many a happy hour looking at it while the editors took turns in revolving the wheels behind to produce the water illusion, a precious deal better business for them than producing milk-and-water "editorial notes."

California State Fair.

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to the State Fair to commence in Sacramento on the 18th of next month. All should do their best to make this fair a great success. Those who are at present exhibiting their productions at the Mechanics' Fair should transfer them on its close to the Pavilion at Sacramento.

Professional Improvements.

The following paragraph shows some of the new words that have been coined by the modern school of journalists:

He excurted a day or two on beer, and, getting short, he burgled a little. But he was soon copped and jailed. The news was immediately wired to his amiable wife, who railed at him to once.

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while its large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

"Ready" runs well and everyone is going to see it. For those whose means will not allow them to visit Yosemite, the next best thing is to see Porter's magnificent panorama of the scenery. Miss Minnie Walton's make-up when she is disguised as an Irish boy, is excellent, and she nightly receives an encore for her song and dance. As the audience are constantly amused during the progress of the piece they are well satisfied. After Emmet's "Fritz," and Joe Murphy's "Help," which ran for many nights to crowded houses, it is certain that "Ready" is quite good enough for our public. In consequence of the illness of Mr. Harry Edwards, Mr. W. Sedley Smith took his part last night and played it well.

Maguire's Opera House.

Mde. Lea Silly's benefit last night was largely attended and the performance went off well. We regret to state that these delightful performances must be brought to a close, just as the San Francisco public are learning to appreciate them. In consequence of M'lle Lea Silly's engagements elsewhere, to-night will positively be the last of the season of French Opera Bouffe and M'lle Lea Silly to whom our public are indebted for much pleasure, will make her last appearance. "La Perichole," the most popular of operas, will be performed on this occasion, for the benefit of the French Democratic Club. Those who have not yet seen it have missed a treat which they cannot hope to have an opportunity of enjoying for years again.

Metropolitan Theatre.

"The Lion of St. Marc" with its highly sensational scenes and thrilling situations, will be presented to-night for the last time. To-morrow G. B. Waldron will make his appearance in the part of McClosky in the ever-popular play of "The Octoroon." In this character Mr. Waldron cannot be excelled by any actor on the American stage.

Alhambra Theatre.

Charles Vivian comes on after the first part with new songs from his inexhaustible budget. Billy Emerson follows with his Teutonic sketches, then comes "The Power of Music," a capital act by Charley Howard and S. S. Purdy: Miss Fanny Gibson sings a ballad; Sheridan and Mack give their brilliant performance, and the lively sketch of "Scenes on a Mississippi Steamboat" concludes an entertainment which for variety and merit cannot be beaten.

Bella Union Theatre.

Ella Wesner in new character songs; Aline La Favre in three characters, songs and combat in the extravaganza; the Reynolds Brothers in a new song and dance, and the rest of the company in a good first part and lively interlude, give general satisfaction to the numerous patrons of the Bella Union Theatre.

Theatre Comique.

The new additions to the Theatre Comique are all excellent performers. Durand's rattlesnake jig was much applauded last night; the slack wire performance of Zadie Zelmar was very good; C. Howard is a capital banjo player, and the old favorites Miss Maggie Knight, Ida Fiske, Lizzie Harmon and others gave a capital entertainment.

Oxford Theatre.

Miss Amelia Dean in fancy dances; Fanny Heron Susie Lee, Josie Mayfield and others in ballads, Lew Parker, T. Arnold and J. Cotton, in acts Charley Emerson in Dutch specialties, and a host of other performers in various entertainments present a good bill nightly. The performance concludes with the popular drama entitled "Scenes in a Divorce Court."

Platt's Hall.

The wonderful juggler Gangero, the light and sprightly Kingero, the invulnerable Tumekechi, the great sleight-of-hand performer Yannanhowagh, the clever twin brothers, Tumi and Kumi, the wonderful balancer Tjion, and the graceful and attractive Japanese belle Otoksan, will all appear to-night in the best programme of Japanese feats ever presented in the United States.

Agricultural Park.

This place is daily the resort of the fashionable people of San Francisco. The show of valuable stock is extremely fine, and the races are exciting. The Agriculture Fair divides the honors with the Mechanics' Fair.

Benefit to Joseph W. Little.

To-morrow evening Joseph W. Little, formerly of Congress Hall Billiard Rooms, will take a benefit at the Alhambra Theatre. Many who have played at Joe's establishment have volunteered to play for him at the Alhambra, and though they missed their cues in his once-popular billiard hall, will not do so on the stage. Joe has many friends who will be glad to see him make a pocket—full of money—on this occasion. We think a good deal of Little, and hope his benefit will be big.

Japanese Troupe at Maguire's Opera House.

This theatre will be occupied by the Royal Yeddo Troupe, which is now performing at Platt's Hall, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings. A grand family matinee will be given on Saturday afternoon, when parents would do well to take the little ones, and thereby educate them in the mysteries of Eastern legerdemain.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Consolation.

Josh Billings says that a policy of life insurance doesn't exactly make a man's corpse smile at his widow, but it helps amazingly to get another fellow to do it for him.

The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the chief American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail. x

The Plot of Offenbach's "La Perichole."

[The scene of the opera is laid in Lima, Peru.]

La Perichole and her lover Piquillo are street singers, who appear singing in front of the Viceroy's house. Receiving no recompense and being wearied, La Perichole lies down to take a comfortable nap, while Piquillo pursues his vocation elsewhere, to seek the wherewith to procure dinner. Don Andreas, the Viceroy, having become enamored with La Perichole, accosts her, and offers her his protection, with a present of a purse. The reluctant Perichole consents, writes a farewell letter to Piquillo, leaves the purse and gold for him, and disappears in the Viceroy's house. Piquillo returns, and attempts to hang himself because he is deserted, but is cut down and taken into a hotel. The Minister objecting to Perichole residing in the house without being married, gives orders to seek a man who will marry her offhand. Piquillo, who has recovered, is encountered, plied with liquor, and consents. La Perichole, who has also been placed in an elevated state, signs the contract, and the impromptu ceremony ends in a bacchanalian song and dance, the newly married couple being borne off on the shoulders of the crowd. After becoming sober, Piquillo is indignant at the falsehood of La Perichole, whom he believes to be the mistress of the Vicoroy. He abuses her and is imprisoned. La Perichole manages to procure his liberty, convinces him of her fidelity, and congratulates him that they have been married at the Viceroy's expense. Piquillo proposes to her to give up all she received from the Viceroy and go back to street singing again. She consents. The Viceroy pleased by her true love and her conduct, will not take anything back. So the opera leaves La Perichole and Piquillo married, happy and rich, and street singers as of old.

Practical Youth.

A lady walking down-town saw a little boy pinching his youngest brother, who was crying bitterly.

"Why, my boy," said she to the young tormentor, "don't you know you are doing very wrong? What would you do if you should kill your brother?"

"Why," he replied, "of course, I should put on my new black pants and go to the funeral."

Too Bad.

Frank Pixley said the other night "He had been played the d—dest trick that was ever served on any man in California. He had gone out with Gorham, ridden in the same carriage twelve hundred miles, and spoken forty-two nights from the same stand, and never a political $20 had touched his hand." This is really too bad; Pixley certainly deserved one.

Wise Counsel.

A lady writes to know if it is proper—that is, if it is ladylike—to retaliate by squeezing back when a man squeezes her hand. Mr. Editor answers: "Well, you might squeeze easy, just enough to let him know you are not disposed to be mean about it. But don't turn round and ask him 'How is that for high?' or he might think you too forward."

What a Pity!

The telegraphic reporter of the Examiner in an account of a Democratic mass meeting in Stockton yesterday says: "Nothing marred the meeting except the numerous bursts of applause." It is a pity people should "mar" a meeting by applauding. They'd have spoiled it altogether we presume if they had thrown bouquets to the speakers.

Not Afraid of It.

The latest juvenile story comes from Cherryfield, Me., where lives little Willie. The other day, while teasing his mother for more raisins, he was told that too many of them would make him sick and die. Not to be thwarted by such an argument, he promptly replied, "I want to die; I want to see God awfully."

Mr. "Chawls Teawmpson" recently ran his head against a young lady during a cotillion. "Aw! excuse me, deaw," he cried: did it hurt, aw!" "No, sir," she replied; "it's too soft, thank you."

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again.

What is Glucolein?

A preparation of Cod Liver Oil, without any disagreeable taste; the most efficacious remedy for all pulmonary complaints. Prepared and sold by JAMES G. STEELE & CO., No. 521 Montgomery street.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

Dr. Barlow J. Smith

Gives Free Lectures (to Gentlemen only) every Friday evening, commencing at 8, at his Hygeian Hall, 637 California st., and examines patients phrenologically as to health, gratis.

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Hascke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 260 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

The Encore Custom.

It is related of the famous Dragonetti that, after performing a most fatiguing solo on the double-bass, he obstinately refused to obey the call for an encore. The public in vain insisted upon the encore being repeated. After considerable delay, the Venetian patriarch of the contra-basso explained to the manager in his own peculiar cosmopolitan language—"Well, I play encore, but you pay encore." And ten guineas was the penalty which this encore cost the manager. If popular singers, annoyed with the public appetite for encores, were to adopt the same system, managers would soon take means to suppress the custom, or else singers would become millionaires.

Energy.

The great difference between men—between the feeble and powerful—the great and the insignificant, is energy, invincible determination—a purpose once fixed upon, and then death or victory. That quality will compass anything that is possible in life, and no talent—no circumstances no opportunities—will make a man without it.

No Half Measures.

The Chicago Journal says, "When the Democracy get possession of the national finances we shall expect to see the fur fly." To which the Albany Journal retorts, "Then you will be disappointed; for it is the rule of the Tammany Ring to carry off the whole hide."

Very Bad.

"A subscriber" tells us, in confidence, that the English missionaries are trying to educate the subjects of the late King Theodore, and hope for great success, as these people have always been A, B, C,-nians. This is dreadful; but what can we do? Editors are constantly insulted thus.

Economical Rule.

The Gold Hill News says the royal family of England do not cost that country so much a year as New York has paid of late to a few plasterers and chairmakers.

Give Him a Chance.

A Michigan doctor who was arrested because his patient died, has been acquitted on the ground that he did the best he could, administering all the medicines he knew the names of.

Who Don't Know

That to achieve the greatest desideratum in business "patronage" a person must be liberal in his outlay, by purchasing the best material, employing the best workmen, and seping that his patrons are attentively and courteously waited on, and in a style compatible with the dignity of the establishment he pretends to manage. Such is the golden rule practiced at EAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 320 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra theatre, as is verified by the bon ton seen there daily, who are likewise to be seen at the Opera and all distinguished resorts of the city. x

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones. from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

TWIABA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street.

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices.

A Joke on the Doctors.

The worst joke that was ever perpetrated on scientific men took place at Louisana, Mo. A man was sick with rheumatism, or something, and a fellow went around to the doctors and professors and things, and told them it was the queerest case on record. He said the man had no feeling. You could stick pins in his body all over, and he paid no attention to them at all. He was perfectly numb. So the doctors got together and called on the sick man for experiment. All arrived with pins and needles and bodkins. The man was asleep and they all got around him, and each one stuck his pin in the patient. The sick man rolled over and looked at the crowd, and thought they had come to dissect him, so he took a chair in one hand and the bed post in the other and drove the crowd thence. They are around with their heads tied up, looking for the man who said that sick man had no feeling.

Soda from the Ould Soil.

The following is a fine specimen of what Col. O'Grady, in "Arrah-na-Pogue," calls "vituperative eloquence."

As the goat detective was passing the old Arsenal, in Jersey City, a day or two ago, a horde of women rushed out from that classic retreat, and visited upon him a shower of maledictions, so fearful that it would make one shudder to hear them. "You dirty thief—ye murthering son of a foul bred mother—ye bad contrivance of a crippled father—ye herd stealer—ye living lie upon decency—ye scab—may your bones whiten without the rites of the church, and yer mother live and want for bread and wather. Oh, I'd like to welt yees, and I would, too, if the goat was mine."

But the fellow got away with the goat.

Addison on Opera.

Addison disapproved of and ridiculed Italian opera in countries where the language was not understood. It was no rare circumstance in those days for an opera to be rendered in both German and Italian (and sometimes English), and when at length they were produced in a distinct tongue, Addison remarked: "People are better satisfied in comprehending nothing, than only half of what they hear."—London Musical World.

Prejudiced.

Muffington says he would't go to hear a man called Sunset Cox, and finds fault with the godfathers and godmothers for giving him such a sleepy name. "Why," says Muffington, "couldn't they have christened him 'Early Village,' that's something like a name, a wide-awake gitupandgit sort of name, Early Village Cox, and if he didn't like that, E. V. Cox would look well enough and sound better than that sibilant S. S." Muffington is prejudiced in this matter.

Puzzled.

The Saturday Evening Gazette says:

"Our own Lunatic," after reading a dictionary during a sane interval, said he found the definition of grant to be "the act of bestowing," and that he could not reconcile it with his idea of Grant, which seemed to be "forever receiving." The poor creature was overcome by the conflicting ideas, and immediately relapsed, and was borne off to bed after making several vain efforts to bite off his own nose.

Over-worked.

A buyer of eggs found something offensive in the last dozen, and took the dealer to task. "What is the matter with them?" asked the individual. "They ain't good," was the reply. "Well, that isn't to be wondered at," was the apologetic rejoinder. "Hens are so drove now, they ain't expected to be as particular as usual!"

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st.

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure.

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line.

What Cheer Laundry.

321 Leidesdorff street, near Sacramento:

A Sensation in Hats.

The new Fall and Winter styles are fast arriving at "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. One in particular has already been adopted as the fashion; it is a fine low-crowned felt hat, with a curved brim, and is called "The Grand Duke." Those who wish to be in the fashion must go to "THE" Hat Store, long famed for having the latest styles and for its moderate prices. x

It has No Rival.

Purify your blood, strengthen your system, eradicate scrofula and humors of every description, by taking "Fluid Extracts of Sarsaparilla, and Yellow Dock with Iodide of Potash." Prepared by Moody, apothecary, northeast corner of Kearny and Sutter. x

New Dry Goods Store.

Gleeson & Fell have opened a fine store at No. 144 Fourth street, with a well-assorted stock of dry goods suitable to the season. If integrity and fair dealing be any inducement the public will find it to their interest to visit the above store. x

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY, Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets.

Dr. Bly's Patent. Monzo Spring, manufacturer, S.W. cor. Second and Jessie sts.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. x

Ladies And Gentlemen.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP
H. H. PEARSON,
LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,
HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

FRIDAY.....AUGUST 25, 1871

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

"Ready," with its magnificent scenery of the Pacific Railroad and Yosemite Valley, wonderfully effective fire scene and thrilling locomotive sensation, will be repeated to-night.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night G. B. Waldron will appear in his great original impersonation of Jacob McClosky in the popular play of "The Octoroon." Miss Isabel Smythe will appear as Dora Sunnyside and Miss Sallie Hinckley will play Zoe. James M. Hardie will appear as Salem Scudder, J. H. Vinson as Pete, and John Woodard as the big Injin, Wahno-tee. The other parts are appropriately cast.

Maguire's Opera House.

The wonderful troupe of Japanese performers who have been exhibiting at Platt's Hall during the week under the title of the Royal Yeddo Troupe, will to-night appear at Maguire's Opera House. Gangero can be equalled as a juggler by no living man, and should by himself alone draw a house in any part of the world. Long before he came here his wonderful performances were the talk of all visitors to Japan, and many here had heard of him. Tycon since the death of Hy-a-taki has been universally acknowledged as the greatest balancer in the world. Otaksan, the Japanese belle, is attractive and graceful; the performance moves rapidly, without a single drag, and is far superior to anything ever seen here. There will be a matinee on Saturday, and a performance in the evening.

Alhambra Theatre.

The performance at this popular little theatre to-night, will be for the benefit of Mr. Joseph W. Little, who has many friends in the community who will rally on this occasion, and give him a bumper. Billy Emerson, Charley Howard, C. Vivian, Sheridan and Mack, S. S. Purdy, and Emerson's great band of minstrels will appear on this occasion, in a rich and varied programme, which appears on our first page. Joe has catered to the amusement of the public in his line for a long time, and they should seize on this opportunity to make a return by crowding the house.

French Opera Bouffe.

The season of French Opera Bouffe at Maguire's Opera House, under the magagement of M'lle Lea Silly closed brilliantly, the two last nights' performances drawing immense audiences. M'lle Silly has every reason to be very proud of her success in cultivating the taste of the public of San Francisco for this delightful species of entertainment. Her success was of course due to the fact that she is the best comic opera artiste we have ever had or can hope to have on this coast.

Bella Union Theatre.

To-night in addition to the bright particular star, Ella Wesner, in new character songs, the dashing and original Aline Le Favre in extravaganza, and the Reynolds Brothers in song and dance, a number of favorite performers will appear: Marie Zoel in song and dance; Minnie Corbyn and Lottie Loder in pleasing ballads; J. H. Larkin in Dutch song and dance; Little Josie Abecco in ballads; Miss Josephine in her unapproachable fancy jig; Mat Kelly, Harry Thompson, Tommy Bree, J. R Taylor and R. G. Marsh, in acts, and Fanny Garretson and Minnie Fillmore in popular ballads.

Theatre Comique.

Charley Howard in banjo solos, A. P. Durand in rattlesnake jig, Little Maggie Knight in characteristic songs and dances, Eva Silva in sweet ballads, Ida Fisk in comic songs, Johnny Kelly, Obris Mathews and Bobby Scott in clog dances, Lizzie Harmon in ballads, Maggie Murphy in lively songs, Lizzie and Blanche in song and dance, Rosa Vincent in fancy dances—all these and many more will appear to-night.

Oxford Theatre.

To-night a sensation burlesque of Joe Murphy's "Help" entitled "Burning," will be produced at this place of amusement, after a good first part and amusing interlude. Charles Vincent will appear in the quadrupal role of Micky Free, Carl von Baum, Pat Fin and Denis O'Brien, and give Dutch, Irish and Ethiopian sketches after the style of Joe Murphy; Miss Amelia Dean, Lew Paker, Hughy Morton and other popular performers are in the cast, which appears on our first page.

Woodward's Gardens.

To-morrow afternoon the talented Lopez Family whose performances are always pleasing, will take a benefit at these gardens and give an exhibition; the Tyrolean Warblers will give a concert; Mrs. Tony Pastor will make her second appearance before the public of San Francisco and other entertainments will be given. On Sunday there will be an instrumental concert and a skating exhibition by Professor Lovett.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Onailin Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HEGMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again.

The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the chief American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail. x

Mat Flowers.

The hand-writing of the Fair reporter of the Bulletin must be very bad, or one of the compositors must be very stupid. In yesterday's paper was a description of "mat flowers;" again and again "mat flowers" occurred in the report, until the following lucid paragraph capped the climax:

Mrs. A. O. Cook makes one of the largest and handsomest exhibits, embracing a beautiful female slave, a collection of sea mosa and shells of the ocean—with the Lord's prayer on a half-shell—all mat.

A beautiful female slave "all mat," and the Lord's prayer on a half shell, "all mat" must indeed be curiosities. The Bulletin's report will do very well to preserve as one of the curiosities of literature—one fully as great as the Lord's prayer on the half-shell executed by a hard-shell Babtist, as we presume it was.

A Curiosity.

The Nevada State Mineralogist, H. W. Whitehill, furnishes to the White Pine News the following note of a remarkable discovery hitherto annoticed: Near Ivanpah, Clarke District, which lies in the southwestern portion of this State, close to the line of California, about 40 miles from the Colorado River, and 230 miles from Los Angeles, can be seen this wonderful curiosity: On the eastern slope of Clarke Mountain, near its summit, there is a perpendicular cliff 250 feet in hight. At about 100 feet from the base of this cliff, on its front, are engraven the characters † I L D. The cross and letters are of immense size, being fully 60 feet in hight, and cut into the cliff 2½ feet deep—so that they can be plainly seen at a distance of at least five miles. By whom this strange workmanship was done, is unknown. The fact, however, that the letters are Roman characters and are preceded by the figure of a cross would make it appear probable that it was done by the Jesuit Missionaries, who are known to have been in this region many years ago. The Indians know nothing of its authors, nor have they any tradition concerning its origin.

A Valuable Location.

Horace Little & Co., successors to D. E. Appleton & Co., are closing out their stock of books, stationery, fancy goods, etc., at 508 and 510 Montgomery street, being about to retire from business. The late D. E. Appleton made a competency at this store, and left his family well off, now Horace Little & Co. have made enough to retire on. The store is to let and the fixtures are for sale. There is a good chance for another enterprising man to make a fortune in the line of business which has proved so profitable.

Throw Out Your Chest!

A man should stand up like a man, throw out his chest and throw his shoulders back, thus giving room for the free action of the lungs. The Champion and Pivot-action Braces sold by C. H. Burr, sole agent for the Pacific Coast, 818 Market street, will be found to afford efficient aid in accomplishing this. They are superior to all others, and cost no more.

SPEEDILY.—A woman has been sent to the Penitentiary for not paying her board bill. If every man and woman who does not pay his or her board bill should be sent to the Penitentiary, those Institutions would speedily have to be enlarged.

MUST ENJOY IT.—A rural visitor to the menagerie in Central Park, a day or two since, on seeing the young guanaco, an animal remarkable for the length of its neck, exclaimed, "By gosh! how that fellow must enjoy a drink!"

WHICH.—A question for any debating society to discuss—"If a man has a tiger by the tail, which would be the best for his personal safety—to hold on or to let go?"

THE THREE S'S.—At a dinner of English railway employees lately, they were told "to remember the three S's—Signals, Safety and Sivility."

"The Thing."

This is a very expressive phrase. A gentleman's gloves ought to be "just the thing," his boots should be "just the thing," and above all his hat should be "just the thing." He can be sure that it is so by buying it at "THE" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. Here the most fashionable hats are sold at the most wonderfully small prices. By all means go to "THE" Hat Store, and your hat will be emphatically "the thing."

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 688 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all he Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that th former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

Market, Jones, McAllister and Larkin Streets,

....AND....

Park and City Hall Avenues,

TO WIT:

Forty-eight Lots fronting on Market Street, each fronting 25 feet by a uniform depth of 100 Feet.

Forty Lots fronting on Park Avenue, each fronting 25 Feet by 100 Feet deep.

Seven irregular shaped Lots, forming Valuable Corners.

Four Corner Lots, each 25 by 100 Feet, fronting on Park and City Hall Avenues.

MAPS AND FULL DESCRIPTION AT SALESROOM.

Deeds at expense of purchasers.

P. H. CANAVAN,
JOS. G. EASTLAND,
CHAS. E. McLANE,
Board of City Hall Commissioners.

ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

"FIGARO."

Published every day, except Sunday, by

J. [illegible] BOGARDUS

—AT—

532 Merchant St. and 535 Washington St

Below Montgomery Block.

SATURDAY.....AUGUST 26, 1871

Sixteen different audiences will use to-day's issue of Figaro as programme.

Every Form.

Of chronic diseases cured by chemical treatment of the blood, by Dr. Mortimore at the Marton House, Post street, near Kearny. Especially diseases of the Lungs and Throat, Ozena, Catarrh, disease of the Heart, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Epilepsy, etc.

Precisely

For the same reason that the ladies have determined to calceate for the Fair, the opposite sex, to be in juxtaposition, have determined to purchase their Paton: Leather Oxford Ties and Dancing Pumps at Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre. x

It has No Rival.

Purify your blood, strengthen your system, eradicate scrofula and humors of every description, by taking "Fluid Extracts of Sarsaparilla, and Yellow Dock with Iodide of Potash." Prepared by Moody, apothecary, northeast corner of Kearny and Sutter. x

New Dry Goods Store.

Gleeson & Fell have opened a fine store at No. 144 Fourth street, with a well-assorted stock of dry goods suitable to the season. If integrity and fair dealing be any inducement the public will find it to their interest to visit the above store. x

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY, Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets. *

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again. *

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit. *

Don't Forget to Visit

The San Francisco Health Lift, 24 Post st. *

Creme de Lis.

Beautiful is the finish developed by the use of DICKEY'S celebrated CREME DE LIS, a pure transparent complexion being imparted. No poison enters its composition. *

How William Horace Lingard became a Character Actor.

Shakespeare says "Some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them." To which of these classes William Horace Lingard belongs our readers may judge from the following brief account of the manner in which he entered the dramatic profession, and how he was enabled to make his first appearance. In 1851 W. H. L. was occupying the responsible position of engine-driver on the South-west Railway in England, and was in the habit of spending many of his evenings at the "Crystal Palace," a public house in St. Martin's Lane, where a "free and-easy" was held. Lingard here cultivated his talent for comic singing, and contributed much to the pleasure of the company of choice spirits assembled. While employed as we have described he had the misfortune to break his arm, and the company, in order to help one who had served them faithfully, gave him while it was getting well the light job of dusting out the first-class carriages of the trains. During the first week that Lingard was thus engaged he found in one of the carriages a pocket-book containing a very large sum of money—some $20,000. He immediately took it to the officers of the company for them to retain until a claimant was found for it. The next day an advertisement appeared offering a reward for its recovery, and the pocketbook was given to Lingard to return to its owner. The gentleman who lost the money was very much pleased with Lingard's honesty, and offered him a large sum as a reward, which was refused. He then asked Lingard to allow him to be of service to him in some way, and drew from him a confession that he was very anxious to go on the stage as a comic vocalist. His newly-found patron assured him that if money would ensure his success it should not be wanting, and at once put Lingard under the tuition of the most celebrated comic singer of the present day—George Leybourne, author of "Champagne Charley" and many other popular songs. As soon as his tutor pronounced that he might safely appear before a London audience, the metropolis was gently prepared for the great star who was to break on them and dazzle them with his brilliancy. For weeks a hundred men paced up and down the chief streets with a board in front of them and a board behind them ("walking sandwiches," as they are called by the Londoners). On these boards nothing was to be seen but a blank bill. Then people began to ask, "What does this mean?" In a few days more the boards appeared with the word "Lingard" in very small letters printed on them, and people would go close to them, spell the word out and depart as puzzled as ever. Then the walls of London broke out in a fiery eruption of "Lingard—at the Alhambra," and all knew that Lingard was a comic singer who was to make his appearance at that most popular of London resorts. The result was that on the night of his first appearance hundreds were turned from the doors; the next night the rush continued, and the next, and the next, and the next, and the next, and Lingard's success was secured. He had profited by the instructions of Leybourne and learned to sing in pretty good style, and soon after came to the United States, where he has been singing his songs ever since under new titles. Thus, Leybourne's "On the Sands at Margate" is Lingard's "On the Beach at Long Branch;" "Walking in the Zoo" becomes "Walking Down Broadway," and so on. We are sure that our readers will say that the immediate cause of Mr. Lingard's entering the dramatic profession reflects credit on him, and will, while they say he fully deserves the success he has met with, repeat the old saying which never can grow stale: "Honesty is the best policy."

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.
CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP
H. H. PEARSON,
LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual, au9 1m

To-day's edition of Figaro will be circulated as house programme before sixteen different amusement audiences, viz., at three matinees, seven performances this evening, and six to-morrow evening.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—We have seldom seen a better pleased audience than that present last night at the Metropolitan Theatre, when Dion Boucicault's drama of "The Octoroon" was presented. All other sensation play manufacturers must hide their diminished heads before the great master of the art. Their inventions appear silly and contemptible when compared with Boucicault's thrilling scenes. "The Octoroon" had ample justice done it last night by the Metropolitan Theatre company. George B. Waldron's acting as the villain McCloskey was terribly real and he worked up the most powerful scenes with such intensity that the audience were perfectly carried away. Seldom has a more powerful bit of acting than Mr. Waldron's McCloskey been seen on the California stage, and the loud and prolonged applause which rewarded his efforts proved that he had hit the audience hard in this, his great character. Miss Isabel Smythe looked lovely as Dora Sunnyside and played the part with good taste and discretion. Miss Sallie Hinckley played Zoe, the Octoroon, charmingly, exhibiting pathos which was never maudlin, and power which never degenerated into rant. James M Hardie in the character of Salem Scudder was afforded an opportunity of proving to the San Francisco public how good an actor he really is; he made the many points in the character with a quiet power which brought forth repeated rounds of applause and in the speech before the court of Judge Lynch fairly brought down the house; the character might have been played a little more broadly with advantage, but Mr. Hardie showed good discretion in making Salem Scudder command the respect of the audience throughout, and avoided the error of making him a funny stage Yankee; Harry Colton read and acted the character of Geo. Peyton with much feeling and fine taste; J. H. Vinson as Pete was wonderfully good, and in the auction scene brought down the house as well as the table by his very amusing break-down; John Woodard as Wah-no-tee, was a carefully drawn and most faithful representation of the savage, and won for him the honor of a call before the curtain in conjunction with Miss Lipsis, who played Paul with much animation; Edgar Piercy did all he had to do in the part of Lafanche capitally; Frank Rea was good as Sunnyside; Mrs. Rea dressed and acted the character of Mrs. Peyton with good taste, and the characters of Grace, Dido, and Minnie were naturally represented by Miss Ada Shatuck, Miss Williams and Miss Johnson respectively; George H. Hinckly as the hearty, whole-souled Ratts was natural, and Harry Sinclair made a capital character of the Colonel. "The Octoroon," presented as it is at the Metropolitan Theatre with a strong cast, new scenery and finely arranged effects—instance the burning steamer and the concluding tableau—should take a new lease of life and achieve a run equal to those which it has had before at this fine theatre. "The Octoroon" will be played at the matinee to-day, this evening and until further notice.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—In the first part George Ashton, S. S. Purdy, M Ainsley Scott, Billy Emerson and Gustave Bidaux, perform an excellent programme of sentimental ballads and comic songs; Charles Vivian follows in the interlude with his very neat and artistic character sketches; Billy Emerson makes the audience laugh heartily by his impersonation of Dutchmen; Chas. Howard and S. S. Purdy come next in the former's inimitable sketch of "The Power of Music;" Sheridan and Mack present their original duets and dances, and "Scenes on a Mississippi Steamboat" concludes the entertainment. This evening the last performance but one will be given by this admirable troupe prior their departure to play a brief engagement in San Jose.

MAGUIRE'S OPERA HOUSE.—The prince of jugglers, the famous Gangero, and the wonderful Royal Yeddo Troupe will give a matinee to-day at half the usual price of admission and another in the evening. Gangero came very nearly losing his life last night in executing one of his fearfully thrilling feats with swords, but luckily escaped with a severe but not dangerous wound. Anything to equal the feats of this extraordinary man who seems to defy the law of gravitation and has the forces of nature perfectly under his control, cannot be imagined. Gangero is the sensation of the day. The Japanese will exhibit next week—at the Opera House if they can procure the theatre, if not, at Platt's Hall. See Monday's FIGARO.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—Small handbills announce a reduction of fare to Yosemite Valley, and invite all to take the trip at the small expense of one dollar by witnessing the play of "Ready." Porter has really by his magic brush brought Yosemite to our doors, and none should neglect the opportunity of seeing it. J C. Williamson's disguises, Frenchman, Chinaman, miner and others, are wonderfully good, and he is ably supported by his wife Susan, admirably played by Miss Minnie Walton, who gains great applause and an enthusiastic encore nightly by her song and dance in the disguise of an Irish boy. A very large audience was present last night, and the house will doubtless be crowded both at the matinee and evening performance. "Ready" will be presented every night till further notice.

BELLA UNION.—A very attractive bill has been prepared for Saturday night, when hundreds flock to this popular temple of Mormus, to enjoy a little relaxation after the labors of the week. In the first part Maggie Brewer will sing the pretty ballad of Ella Rhee, May Leroy will give Dreaming of Home, and other songs, comic and sentimental, accompanied with excellent music by Zimmer's talented orchestra, will be sung. Miss Ella Wesner will appear in the interlude in a new selection of character songs and lightning changes, new acts will be presented, and the burlesque of "A Lad and his Lamp," which has been received with roars of laughter during the week, will be played with Alise Le Favre, pretty, piquante and peculiar as the hero of the play.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—To-night the original and charming little artiste Miss Maggie Knight will sing her popular Chinese song, "Finnigan's Wake" and appear in favorite dances; Fanny Webster will sing an original song, Lizzie Harmon whose remarkable voice is heard to good advantage in both sentimental ballads and comic songs, will present some of the best in her repertoire; A. P Durand will appear in a characteristic performance, Zadie Zelmar will repeat her graceful performance on the slack wire, and a variety of new and popular performances will be given by the numerous and talented company of the Theatre Comique.

THE OXFORD.—The new burlesque of "Help" entitled "Burning," which was produced last night at this cosy little theatre, follows the original very closely and the points which gave the drama its popularity, are carefully preserved in the burlesque. The fire scene is effectively managed. Charley Vincent shows his versatility in the assumption of many characters, and all engaged in the representation of the piece play their parts well. "Burning" will, in conjunction with a lively first part and stirring interlude, be played to-night and until further notice. Those who missed seeing "Help" can get a good idea of its salient points by witnessing "Burning" at the Oxford.

FIJI ISLANDERS.—Three Fiji Islanders, one a dwarf of remarkable appearance, have been brought to this city and will, in conjunction with a large number of Fijian curiosities and samples of the products of the islands, be placed on exhibition at Woodward's Gardens to-day and every day until further notice. As these are the first Fijians who have been on exhibition in this city, they will undoubtedly attract a large attendance of visitors to Woodward's Gardens. Notwithstanding the expense attending these curiosities, the price of admission to these delightful gardens will remain the same as heretofore—twenty-five cents.

HAYES PARK.—To-morrow Miss Leo Hudson, who has returned from a most successful tour in the Santa Clara Valley, will make her appearance at these gardens with her beautiful trained mare Black Bess, in ring acts, and the daring Dick Turpin ride from the garden to the roof of the Pavilion, ending with the affecting scene of the Death of Black Bess. There will be a grand ball after the performance. The admission will remain as usual 25 cents.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—The road to the Cliff House is as smooth as a ten-pin alley, the days are beautiful, the nights are fine, consequently Captain Foster receives many visitors daily at his incomparable hostelry, the Cliff House. It is worth while driving out to get such a dinner or supper as his chef can serve up. The road will be lively to-morrow.

AN ORIGINAL OPERA.—San Francisco has had Italian opera and French opera bouffe and has patronized both well. Another operatic entertainment is promised next week, and one, which, we are sure will draw a crowded house. On Thursday evening will be produced at the Metropolitan Theatre a serio-comic opera composed by Signor Carmini Morley, to a libretto written by Miss Viola Pomeroy. It is entitled "The first Kiss; or, the Rival Tenors," Signor Morley and Miss Pomeroy will fill the leading roles In the second act Miss Pomeroy will sing an Irish, an English, a German and a French song. Those who have heard parts of the opera speak of it as a most pleasing composition and one worthy the reputation of Signor Morley as a master of the art of music.

EMERSON'S MINSTRELS.—This champion band of minstrels will leave for San Jose on Monday and will perform there three nights during the Fair. In the mean time the cosy little Alhambra Theatre will be renovated and redecorated for the opening of the regular Winter season, which will be inaugurated by the introduction of startling and attractive novelties.

MRS. D. P. BOWERS.—This talented tragedienne will commence an engagement at the California Theatre a week from Monday.

COMPANY FOR VIRGINIA CITY.—Field Marshal McCabe is organizing a new dramatic company for Piper's Opera House.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

The pressure on our advertising columns has crowded out our Pacific Coast Summary to-day. It will appear on Monday.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

E. S. Marble formerly of the California Theatre, has got a company together, "Marble's Comedy Company," and is traveling in Wisconsin. Katy Wilson is leading lady.

Frank A. Howson is musical director, and conductor of Mrs. James A. Oates' Comic Opera Company.

James Collins and Martha Wren are engaged at the Olympic Theatre, Brooklyn, which opened on the 14th, for the season.

Jennie Benson song and dance artiste and her clever little child Maggie, advertise for an engagement in the N. Y. Clipper.

Kitty O'Niel is traveling with Tony Pastor's troupe in Ohio.

Chas. W. Fisk equestrian is with Warner's Circus in Michigan.

The Satsuma Japs were in Portland Me. at last advices.

Joseph Proctor was announced to appear at the Boston Theatre on the 14th, 15th and 17th instants., as the Jibbenainosay in "Nick of the Woods," and on the 17th in "Ambition."

The New York Season wants "a school, a sort of college for actors," and urges Edwin Forrest to found one.

Milton Nobles was in New York a couple of weeks ago.

Johnny O'Niel did his "Quintessence of Old Virginny" at Niblo's Garden, for Zymmerman's benefit on the 12th.

The Lingards have arrived in New York.

We find the following announcement in the Boston Sporting Times:

Hughey Dougherty, Bob Hart, Fayette Welch and El Nino Eddie, of the Howard Athenæum, will each ride in a common washtub drawn by six geese, for a purse given by the management of the Howard. The sport will take place on Charles river, on the afternoon of Sept. 4th, at 3 o'clock. Mr. Hart has participated in a number of races of this kind. The last one, at Chicago, was witnessed by more than thirty thousand people.

Hughey Dougherty enters White Goose Ketchup and mates.

Bob Hart enters Brown Goose Hannah Jane and mates.

Fayette Welch enters Grey Goose Cady Stanton and mates.

El Nino Eddie enters Yellow Goose Sauer Kraut and mates.

The Lydia Thompson Troupe arrived in New York without Henderson, who was arrested upon the eve of departure on the suit of Brinsley Sheridan, a comedian who, it will be recollected, joined the Thompson party in California, and failing to give satisfaction, returned to England. Failing to furnish $6,000 bail, the manager was consigned to "durance vile." He afterwards procured bail and escaped to France, and thence to New York, where he arrived on the 14th.

"Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," by Charles Foster, proves to be one of the most popular sensation dramas that ever was produced at the Bowery Theatre.

At the conclusion of Bandmann's engagement "Amy Robsart" will be produced at the Grand Opera House.

Lawrence Patrick Barrett will be sole manager of the New Varieties Theatre, New Orleans.

The New York Mercury says: Charles H. Day and Walter Bray are writing a new minstrel act of plantation life, which will probably be a leading feature at the opening of Newcomb & Arlington's Minstrels at the Twenty-eighth street Opera-house, Sept. 4th. Bray will introduce a new song, which will rival his "Carry the News to Mary." It will be copyrighted.

Willie Edouin, of the Lydia Thompson Troupe, was married in London, July 20th, to Lily Whiting, daughter of Joe Whiting, champion of the light weights.

The Buffalo authorities have stopped all Sunday evening sacred concerts. They thought the psalm tunes and oratorios too lively. The Germans swear hard.

The Dayton (Ohio) Figaro announces Tony Pastor's troupe to appear on the 22d.

John Collins was playing at the Collingwood Opera-house, Poughkeepsie, in "The Irish Ambassador" and "His Last Legs," on the 15th.

The Nilsson opera season will open in Boston Oct. 9th, and will continue two weeks. It will then begin in New York, Oct. 23d, with Verdi's "Traviata." This will be followed by Ambroise Thomas' "Mignon," and Flotow's "L'Ombre," both new to America.

Olivia Rand one of our California actresses, is playing Stalacta, Queen of the Golden Realms in "The Black Crook" at the Holiday-street Theatre, Baltimore. Morlacchi is premiere danseuse in the ballet.

Maggie Mitchell will resume her professional labors in November. Her last season netted her $40,000.

Rose Hersee has sailed for England. She intends to return shortly with an operatic troupe of her own.

We find the following description of Lydia Thompson's new troupe in an Eastern contemporary:

Miss Hettie Tracy, a blonde of commanding appearance, and is one of the first-class burlesque actresses from the Vaudeville Theatre.

Miss Cornelius Zarbini, a brunette, has been singing contralto in the Grand English Opera in London, and comes direct from the Theatre Royal, Manchester.

Miss Lotta Mirs, a petite of considerable ability has just left the Royal Alfred Theatre, London.

Miss Tilly Earle is a dark brunette, with a petite figure. She is a piquante soubrette, and has played for a long time in Australia. For some time past she has been engaged at the Opera Comique, London, where she gained considerable prestige.

Miss Kate Edgerton is considered a beautiful creature of about eighteen Summers. She has a charming face and excellent voice, which she has been exercising with great effect at the London Lyceum Theatre.

Miss Millie Cook is a brunette, with a handsome figure and a good voice. She has recently played at Drury Lane.

Miss Camille Dubois is just from the Royal Adelphi, London. She is a tall brunette, French extraction, very stylish in her appearance; is said to be highly cultivated as a musician, and is a clear soprano.

Miss Kate Heathcote, late of the Royal Princess Theatre, London, has a lovely face and a figure tres elegante.

H. Montgomery has been doing the light comedian at the Prince of Wales Theatre for a long time past.

John Bryer is a comedian and grotesque dancer of considerable pretensions.

Harry Beckett and Willie Edouin will take their former positions.

Charles Storms well known in this city, for some time engaged at the Pacific Theatre, has joined Kelly & Leon's Minstrels at Lina Edwin's Theatre, as a Swiss warbler. He has made a success.

John Howson is engaged for the coming season at the Varieties Theatre, New Orleans.

The Vienna Lady Orchestra will make their first appearance in America at Steinway Hall, on Monday, Sept. 11th. These young ladies are all under twenty-one years of age, and are said to be handsome to an eminent degree.

Aimee will this winter give a short season of Opera Bouffe in New York.

The report that Marie Wilton, actress and manageress, intended to visit the United States the coming Winter, lacks confirmation. The late English exchanges say no more about it.

George H. Coes will be the stage manager of the Union Square Theatre, during the coming season.

Miss Rose Evans has returned from England and is to act in "Fritz" at Niblo's Garden. What a shame!

The Lauri Family, pantomimists, were at Providence, R. I., on the 15th.

E. M. Leslie has dramatized "A terrible Temptation" for Miss Kate Reignolds.

The Academy of Music, New York, is undergoing renovation. Minard Lewis is painting a complet set of new scenery for it.

Bristow's opera "Rip Van Winkle" will be the principal feature of the Nilsson opera season. Miss Nilsson will sing the roles of Gretchen and Alice.

Miss Annie Firmin one of our California actresses who has got on very well in New York has been engaged by Madame Januascheck as juvenile lady for her travelling company.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

Stirring Times.

A flood of eloquence is sweeping over the State, and in every town, village and camp, the power of oratory is felt. The country is in danger, hundrds of orators assert it, and on the action taken at the coming election depends the happiness of future generations. In Red Dog if Bulger be elected road surveyor, then indeed must we give up our proud boast of liberty. The foundations of the Republic will be shaken and the whole fabric of popular government will topple and fall. On the other hand if Tompkins, the regular nominee of the other party be elected, Red Dog will prosper and rise to greatness. Money will be plentiful, everyone will own land, the new jail will be finished, and the country will be saved. The independant candidate for the legislature, Jenkins appeals to the heads of families in Red Dog. He is a man of family, he has nine children and is expecting another. He calls upon all fathers of families to vote for him. Ten dollars a day is nothing to either of the other candidates, for they both have brick stores, but to Jonkins it will be a blessing, not that he cares much for the daily stipend, but he wishes to serve his country and has a consciousness that the vital interests of Red Dog will never be properly represented in the Legislature until he is sent there. So it goes in all parts of the country. The duty of every man at present is to be a patriot, a patriot and nothing else and remember that on his voting for Tompkins, Jonkins or Simpkins depends the future prosperity or misfortune of this glorious land.

The Sensation Novel of the Day.

There are three editions of Reade's "Terrible Temptation" on the market. The first issued by Osgood & Co., of Boston, who purchased the advance sheets from the author at a liberal cost. The second from the press of the Pharisaical Harpers, of New York, who helped themselves to that which more honorable-minded rivals paid for. The third flashed almost simultaneously from the press of the New York News Company, and is a popular edition, retailing for 15 cents. This novel is of the "Hot Corn" tribe, and will have more readers than anybody at first imagined. The moment a book is inderdicted by the press their perverse readers go for it in droves.—N. Y. Season.

We learn from our Eastern exchanges that no less than four dramatizations of this novel are in preparation.

Rather Good.

One of the humorous papers has a very funny out. It illustrates this scene: An old gent is walking in his garden. Presently the milkman comes along outside the high garden wall, and gives the customary yell. Old gent hears something, but, being very deaf, is unable to make out just what is wanted; so he puts his ear trumpet in place, and elevating the bell end over the edge of the wall exclaims, "Here!" Milkman takes it for a dish and empties a quart of milk in the old gentleman's ear, and goes about his business.

"A Natural Blonde."

A young lady thought it would be interesting to faint at an evening party recently, when one of the company began bathing her head with vinegar, upon which she started up and exclaimed, "For goodness sake put nothing on that will spoil the color of my hair!"

The Radical Rheumatic

Eradicator—the only known remedy. Frank H. Lashier, proprietor, No. 206 Fourth street San Francisco. *

"The Days of Forty-Nine."

Ballad for sale by Ww. COHEN, 912 Kearny street, price 5 cents. Also, all of Vivian's and Louis Braham's songs. x

Washing Returned in One Day

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry. x

Silver Plating.

Articles from which the silver has been worn are received for re-plating by Haynes & Lawton, Market street, under the Grand Hotel. *

TWIABA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street. *

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one. *

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices. *

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoilt, send them to the What Cheer Laundry. *

Do You Know

That with BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent, office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 113 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco. *

The Overland Monthly.

The Overland Monthly for September is for sale at all the bookstores. Its contents are: "Capt. Hall's Arctic Expedition," by Dr. Walker, M. D.; "The Parks of London," U. S. Dodge; "An Ornithologist in Mexico," A. J. Grayson; "Shakes," T. Evans; "One from the Dead," Mrs. S. M. B. Piatt; "The Royal Academy Exhibition," Peter Tomt; "The Mahomet of the West," Mrs. Thomas Fitch; "Queer Sights and Ways in Pekin," Spencer C. Browne; "The Maison-Mere of the Sœurs," Therese Yelverton; "Summons," Ina D. Coolbrith; "Hobbies and their Riders," Theodore F. Dwight; "Turk's Island," U. S. Senator Cole; "To Texas and by the Way," Josephine Clifford; "About the Shores of Puget Sound," Capt. C. M. Scammon; "Etc.," and the usual "Current Literature."

This number will be pronounced by many people rather heavy, but it is better that it should be so than owe its lightness to yeasty articles like "A Waif of the Pogonip," "A Middle Watch," and other light, trashy compositions which have found place in the Overland. Capt. Hall's "Arctic Expedition" is a severe criticism on Hell's lack of scientific knowledge, which is such, Dr. Walker avers, that he will not be able to ascertain when he reaches the North Pole. We are bound to accept Dr. Walker's statement as to this matter, as he modestly remarks: "I may be allowed to premise that no one on this continent except Dr. Hayes and myself, possesses the experience and information with which it is desirable to approach this matter." Dr. Walker makes out a strong case against the capability of the exploring party, and his paper is one of much interest.

"The Parks of London" is a delightful picture of these gardens for the people. A. J. Grayson's article entitled "An Ornithologist in Mexico" is a very pleasing sketch. "One from the Dead," by Mrs. S. M. B. Piatt, in a mysterious poem which requires a key or explantory note to render its meaning plain to the general reader, but there is something in it. "The Royal Academy Exhibition" is a very well written description of the pictures on exhibition this year, and is the work of one who understands the subject. "Shakes," by Taliesin Evans, is a very good sketch of a character in a mining camp, and supplies the California flavor to this number of the Overland, which but for for it would be entirely wanting.

One of the best papers in this or any other number of the Overland is "The Mahomet of the West," by Mrs. Thomas Fitch, who takes a more sensible view of the Mormon question than any statesman of the present day. If Mrs. Woodhull is elected President she should make Mrs. Fitch Secretary of State; she has a head. "Queer Sights and Ways in Pekin" is amusing. "The Maison-Mere of the Sœurs," by Therese Yelverton, is charmingly written. "Summer," delicious verse by Ina D. Coolbrith. "Hobbies and their Riders," a laboriously prepared catalogue of famous curiosity hunters—nothing new in it. "Turk's Island," a description of an island no one knew much about or cared to know much about. "To Texas and by the Way," pleasingly written. "About the Shores of Puget Sound," a very carefully written geographical article, lightened up by some funny descriptions of the Indians. "Etc." contains a good notice of Bierstadt's Emerald Pool, and encouraging words for our Art Association. "Current Literature" contains some well-written reviews of several interesting books. While there is nothing extraordinarily amusing in this number, all the papers, without exception, are written in good style, and convey information of some sort.

"Uneasy Rests the Head

"That wears a crown" unless it has one of Shaber & Co's wonderful easy chairs—the best and cheapest ever offered to the public. Coin will buy furniture and bedding of Shaber & Co. at very low rates. *

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices. *

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few door below What Cheer House. *

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st. *

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure. *

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line. *

What Cheer Laundry.

321 Leidesdorff street, near Sacramento: *

A Contemptible Threat.

The Alta threatens that if we do not allow the sickly drivel of its contributors "Swallow," "Ignotus Magnus" and other idiots who every Monday break out in its columns to pass without criticism, it will get the management of the California Theatre to debar FIGARO from circulating as programme in the house. This is what we suppose the following paragraph which appears in this morning's Alta means:

We have been told that a play-bill in this city is dissatisfied with the manner in which this journal is conducted. It became dissatisfied once before, but if our memory is not at fault, a certain manager in whose house it was used as a programme found a method of inducing it to preserve an outward appearance of contentment.

This is too contemptible and mean to be made fun of. Is it possible that the Alta would have the face to request the management of the California Theatre to prevent FIGARO being used as the house programme, because FIGARO makes good-natured fun of her absurd grammatical errors and pitiable inanities? It is too silly an idea. Dear old Granny we are sorry we made you mad, and if you will only become respectable and throw away those gaudy cheap ribbons and artificial flowers which you put in your Monday cap, and which make people laugh at you so much; we will not make fun of you any more. But don't be mean, and say you are a poor weak old woman who can't protect herself from a little fellow like FIGARO, and must get a big friend of yours to pitch into him. Fie! Granny, you ought to be ashamed of yourself.

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Summer street. Ladies' saloon attached. Open day and night. *

There is Nothing

Which attracts public attention more than a genteel gait in either sex, to acquire which it is necessary that children's shoes should be made to fit well, which may be accomplished by going to KAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, where our scions of respectability are daily to be seen emerging with their purchases. x

A Sensation in Hats.

The new Fall and Winter styles are fast arriving at "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. One in particular has already been adopted as the fashion; it is a fine low-crowned felt hat, with a curved brim, and is called "The Grand Duke." Those who wish to be in the fashion must go to "THE" Hat Store, long famed for having the latest styles and for its moderate prices. x

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.*

Dr. Barlow J. Smith

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf. *

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. x

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The "Octoroon" with new scenery, thrilling scenes, startling situations, and strong cast, will be presented again this evening. Many of our theatre-goers will remember the great success achieved by G. B. Waldron on his appearance many years ago in the character of Jacob Mc Closky. As "The Octoroon" must be withdrawn after Wednesday, all should see it at once.

California Theatre.

"Ready," with its magnificent local scenery, representations of California character, beautiful music and thrilling sensations, will be presented to-night. The great fire scene is the most real ever presented on the California stage and the railroad sensation is equal in every respect to that in "Under the Gaslight."

Bella Union Theatre.

We have before made mention of the versatility of R. G. Marsh, the active stage manager of the Bella Union Theatre, who is at home in all lines of the profession. Now he has made a new break and keeps up his end nobly with the tambourine which he handles most artistically and as to original jokes—his jokes beat those of all other minstrels out of sight for originality and atrociousness. Ella Wesner appears to-night in new character songs: Aline La Favre in extravaganza; the Reynolds Brothers in song and dance, and the other members of the company in a varied programme.

Theatre Comique.

Maggie Knight, the champion clog dancers Kelly, Scott and Mathews, A. P. Durand, Charley Howard the banjoist, Johnny Tuers and a score of others will appear in a great bill to-night. Mat Kelly the favorite Ethiopian comedian, and Miss Minnie Filmore are announced as engaged at this establishment.

Oxford Theatre.

"Burning" is the present sensation at this house. It is preceeded by an interlude of new songs, dances, farces, operatic scenes, marches, tableau, and character acts by the numerous Oxford company. There is always something new at the Oxford. "Ready" is underlined as in rehearsal.

Platt's Hall.

The wonderful Gangero is the talk of the town. Last night in addition to other wonderful feats, he balanced four ladders, three ten feet and one thirty feet long on his chin. Gangero and the great Yeddo Troupe of Japs will perform this evening at Platt's Hall. Gangero beats Hartz, Heller, Hermann and all other conjurors—none of them could do his bottle feat.

Woodward's Gardens.

An immense crowd of people assembled at these gardens yesterday, and all were much pleased at the eccentric performances of the Fiji Islanders, who will also be on exhibition every day this week. These cannibals will to-day eat a baby if any mother will spare them one for that purpose. They love children.

Benefit of W. H. Sedley Smith.

W. H. Sedley Smith, stage manager of the California Theatre, and an excellent actor in old men parts, will take his benefit on Friday evening. The performance will consist of "Ready" and a comedietta.

Another Blunder.

The Bulletin blunders persistently in matters dramatic. Its latest absurd statement, is that Emerson's Minstrels have "closed their engagement at the Alhambra," made because they have gone to play for a week at San Jose.

Mrs. Tony Pastor.

Mrs. Tony Pastor leaves on Wednesday for Portland, Oregon, where she will play a star engagement.

Curtailing the Democracy.

In publishing the Democratic State Ticket on Saturday, we accidentally left out the name of Capt. Geo. W. Thomas, the first on the list of Assembly nominees, and formerly manager of the Gibb and Vallejo Bonded Warehouses. We have corrected the omission, and the ticket can be found elsewhere in our columns, full and complete.

Gushing.

A country editor's sole editorial in one week's issue of his paper was to the effect that if anything will make a man feel juicy about the heart, it is to talk velvet to a pair of sky-colored eyes, by moonlight, in a clover field.

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again.

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

OAKLAND.—A vocal and instrumental concert by amateurs was given at Brayton Hall, on Tuesday, for the benefit of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Brick Pomeroy lectured on Monday, to a large audience. The New York Circus will show on Monday. Oakland is rather sleepy with regard to dramatic and musical news. The Transcript of Wednesday says:

Mme. Agatha States, the well known prima donna, has inaugurated a season of Italian opera at the Metropolitan Theatre, San Francisco.

Has it taken all this time for the news to get across the Bay?

SACRAMENTO.—A letter has been received from Joseph Proctor, in which he says he will arrive about September 3d, and commence a season at the Metropolitan Theatre, which has during his absence been renovated.

CHEYENNE, WY. T.—The Atlantic and Pacific Circus performed on the 19th. H. C. Lee and O. H. Pratt dissolved partnership at Denver City, Col., the latter taking the show and engaging H. C. Lee on salary.

DENVER, COL.—Hernandez and Silvester performed at the theatre on the 19th.

GILROY.—The New York Mammoth Circus performed on Thursday.

PORTLAND, OR.—The Nathan Troupe drew fair houses at the Oro Fino Theatre. The public were delighted with little Marian. The last performance of the season was given on the 19th. On the 21st a benefit was given by the Nathan Troupe to the widow of the late L. F. Beatty. On the 25th Barker's Panorama of California and Oregon scenery, was exhibited at Oro Fino Theatre. Mme. Jeal & Co.'s Circus showed on the 23d and 24th. Stephen Massett had arrived, and was to give an entertainment at the Theatre on the 29th. The papers give him splendid notices.

SALEM, OR.—The Nathan Troupe opened on the 23d, at the Theatre.

LOS ANGELES.—Mrs. F. M. Bates was the recipient of a complimentary benefit at La Merced Theatre on the 19th. "The Happy Pair," the Balcony Scene from "Romeo and Juliet," and a farce, formed the bill.....The Los Angeles Star has the following:

FIGARO says that a theatrical company composed entirely of stars is wanted in Los Angeles.

Well, you know that you wouldn't be satisfied with anything else. But we forgive you; you are pretty good on giving "benefits."

MARYSVILLE.—Bachelder's Tableaux of a tour Across the Continent was to be exhibited at the theatre on Friday and Saturday evenings.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—The Agatha States Italian Opera Troupe opened at Piper's Opera House on Tuesday to a splendid house. "Ernani" was performed; on the following night "Lucia di Lammermoor" was presented, and the short season was closed with "Faust," on Wednesday. An extra peformance was given on Friday evening for the benefit of Mme. States. "Il Barbiere di Siviglia" was presented. Mrs. E. C. Stanton lectured on "The New Republic" on Saturday.

SALT LAKE.—The Hyers Sisters took a complimentary benefit on the 16th. C. L. Graves appeared as Joques Strop in "Robert Macaire." They went on to sing at Omaha on the 19th....Joe Murphy appeared in "Help" on the 21st.

STOCKTON.—Some enterprising gentlemen are about to build a new theatre.

CARSON.—The Pioneer Blind Troupe are to give concerts at the theatre on Thursday and Friday.

RENO.—The Agatha States Italian Opera Troupe gave a performance here on Saturday.

ELY, NEV.—Dick Carroll has got into a row with the Record for not paying his printing bill. Very silly of Dick. He has gone back to White Pine.

Where Saturday's "Figaro" Went.

Eighteen assemblages of people in search of amusement—at least 15,000 people in the aggregate—had Saturday's FIGARO given to them as the programme of the afternoon and evening performances on Saturday and Sunday. In addition to the regular city places of amusement, FIGARO was circulated at Woodward's Gardens and Hayes Park yesterday afternoon.

Throw Out Your Chest!

A man should stand up like a man, throw out his chest and throw his shoulders back, thus giving room for the free action of the lungs. The Champion and Pivot-action Braces sold by C. H. Burr, sole agent for the Pacific Coast, 818 Market street, will be found to afford efficient aid in accomplishing this. They are superior to all others, and cost no more.

Too Fast.

A notorious gambler, who had ruined his constitution by high living and hard drinking, said to his physician the other day: "Doctor, I suffer the torments of the damned." "You may think so now," grimly responded the physician, "but you just hold on a little while you'll find out the difference."

Thick-headed.

A proof of the stupidity of neglecting to advertise in FIGARO, the programme of amusements, was afforded on Saturday evening, when Brick Pomeroy lectured to a lot of empty benches on "Pluck," rather a queer subject for him to tackle after his Oakland exhibition.

Exactly.

Trying to do business without advertising is like winking at a pretty girl through a pair of green goggles. You may know what you are doing. You may know what you are doing, but nobody else does.

A Western paper accuses a contemporary of dirty meannes, and remarks: We want him to understand that two can play at that game." A frank avowal.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

FOLLOW THOU ME.

Have you looked for sheep in the desert,
For those who have missed their way?
Have you been in the wild waste places,
Where the lost and wandering stray?
Have you trodden the lonely highway,
The foul and darksome street?
It may be you'd see in the gloaming
The print of the Saviour's feet.

Have you folded home to your bosom
The trembling, neglected lamb,
And taught the little lost one
The sound of the Shepherd's name?
Have ye searched for the poor and needy,
With no clothing, no home, no bread?
The Son of Man was among them;
He had nowhere to lay his head!

Have ye carried the living water
To the parched and thirsty soul?
Have ye said to the sick and wounded,
"Christ Jesus makes thee whole?"
Have ye told my fainting children
Of the strength of the Father's hand?
Have ye guided the tottering footstep
To the shores of the "Golden Land?"

Have ye stood by the sad and weary;
To smooth the pillow of death;
To comfort the sorrow-stricken,
And strengthen the feeble faith?
And have ye felt when the glory
Has streamed through the open door,
And flitted across the shadows,
That I had been there before?

Have ye wept with the broken hearted,
In their agony of woe?
Ye might hear me whispering beside you,
'Tis a pathway I often go.
My disciples, my friends, my brethren,
Can ye dare to follow me?
Then, wherever the Master dwelleth,
There shall the servant be!

Singular Custom.

An English paper, the Western Morning News, says Tuesday, July 24th, was the day appointed for carrying out the directions contained in the will of the late Mr. John Knill, of St. Ives. This gentleman who was formerly collector of the port, prior to his death in 1788, made a most eccentric will. In the first place he directed that an obelisk should be erected to his memory. Around this monument, known as Knill's steeple, ten virgins resident in the town, two old women, and a fiddler dance once in every five years. The virgins (who according to the wishes of the testator must not exceed ten years of age) each receive 10s, 6d; the old women 10s 6c. each, and the fiddler one guinea. In addition to these bequests, the oldest man (or his widow) in the parish who has brought up the largest family by his own industry, and without the aid of parochial or other relief, receives £5. The recipient this year was John Stevens, fisherman. The last married couple before the quinquennial distribution receive £1 1s. After the ceremonies are over, the trustees, the mayor, collector, and clergyman, with their friends proceed to dinner, on which a certain sum of money, agreeably to the will, is spent. The day was kept as a general holiday. The couples started, amid great cheering and laughter, at eleven, and returned at one P. M. to receive their bequests.

Every Form.

Of chronic diseases cured by chemical treatment of the blood, by Dr. Mortimore at the Marton House, Post street, near Kearny. Especially diseases of the Lungs and Throat, Ozena, Catarrh, disease of the Heart, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Epilepsy, etc.

Precisely

For the same reason that the ladies have determined to calceate for the Fair, the opposite sex, to be in juxtaposition, have determined to purchase their Patent Leather Oxford Ties and Dancing Pumps at Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre.

It has No Rival.

Purify your blood, strengthen your system, eradicate scrofula and humors of every description, by taking "Fluid Extracts of Sarsaparilla, and Yellow Dock with Iodide of Potash." Prepared by Moody, apothecary, northeast corner of Kearny and Sutter.

New Dry Goods Store.

Gleeson & Fell have opened a fine store at No. 144 Fourth street, with a well-assorted stock of dry goods suitable to the season. If integrity and fair dealing be any inducement the public will find it to their interest to visit the above store.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. Go hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of [illegible]

The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the chief American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all he Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

Julien Perrault, M. D.,

Physician and Surgeon, member of the Medical Faculty of Paris, etc. DR. PERRAULT's studies and practice have, for ten years past, been almost exclusively devoted to the cure of General Debility and other Specific Affections, acute or chronic, all which he continues to treat successfully by the newest scientific methods. Office 502 Montgomery street, northeast corner of Sacramento st., San Francisco, Rooms 9, 10 and 11. Consultations in English, French, German and Spanish.

What is Glucolein?

A preparation of Cod Liver Oil, without any disagreeable taste; the most efficacious remedy for all pulmonary complaints. Prepared and sold by JAMES G. STEELE & Co., No. 521 Montgomery street.

And Balance in Three Equal Yearly Payments, with Ten per cent. Interest.

Deeds at expense of purchasers.

P. H. CANAVAN,
JOS. G. EASTLAND,
CHAS. E. McLANE,
Board of City Hall Commissioners.
ROBERT GEORGE, Secretary.

All of the above Lots are graded; Market street is planked, sidewalks laid, etc. Park Avenue is 80 feet wide and graded.

The City Hall is to be immediately erected on the adjoining reservation. The main entrance of the Hall will front City Hall Avenue—a magnificent Avenue 200 feet wide, running from Market street to Park Avenue.

Market street is the main business artery of the city, and is destined to continually improve. Investments now made in that street are sure to repay many fold the money laid out. A just comparison of values can be made by taking into consideration the present value of lands surrounding the New York City Hall.

Special attention of capitalists and the public generally is called to this sale. The property surrounding the new City Hall is beyond comparison the best and most desirable that has ever been presented to the public at an auction sale in this city.

A design of the building to be erected is open for examination at the office of the auctioneers.

Education C mpleted.

Here is a letter which Mr. Harbruck, Superintendent of Platt's Mill, received from a Chinaman who had seen enough of California and intended to return to his native land:

San Francisco, Feb. 27, 1871.

Miss Harback—Dear Sir: Next March the first day I am sail boat to go back in the China. Ging Gah.

To Miss Harback.

As Gin Gah was an excellent cook, his departure was much regretted, but it was a consolation to reflect that he had remained long enough to complete his education in English.

Appreciative.

"Imogen Lee," the sprightly lady correspondent of the Grass Valley Union, says Frank Pixley plays "the lively moke" to perfection since his return from a starring tour through Europe, and she thinks a few of his speeches will gain the day for the Democratic party. Thus:

I am not rich, but as a good Democrat, will willingly subscribe toward Pacific Hall for Frank Pixley to speak in until after election. You see he knows all about his party, and the "tricks and manners" of his former confreres, and has a most charming frankness in revealing his knowledge.

Ingenious.—A curious invention is exhibited in New York. It is an apparatus by which the head and hair can be washed without wetting the face, neck or clothes. The process consists in adjusting a bottomless bath tub with an india-rubber rim to the head of a person sitting at ease in an armchair, so that the head forms the bottom of the bath. Another part of the apparatus is a ladies' hair dryer, whereby the hair can be very speedily dried by means of air being fanned around it.

Not Scared.—Mr. Jenkins was dining at a very frugal meal, and a piece of bacon near him was so very small that the lady of the house remarked to him: "Pray, Mr. Jenkins, help yourself to the bacon. Don't be at all afraid of it." "No, indeed, madam, I shan't; I've seen a piece twice as large, and it didn't scare me a bit."

Testimonials.—A writer in a Western paper offers himself as a candidate for a "testimonial." He is moved thereto, not by the consciousness of having done anything to deserve one, but by the fact that everybody he meets, who has done no more than he has, seems to be getting one.

Springs.—"How easy these cars ride," observed a rural traveler on the New York and New Haven Railroad, "what kind of springs do they use?" "Saratoga springs," replied his facetious companion. "I have heard of them," replied the rural traveler in a gratified manner.

Only.—Some one, wishing to be witty on a gentleman with a large mouth, asked him "If he had a long lease of that mouth of his," when he was good humoredly answered, "No, I have it only from year to year."

Before and After.—A young man generally gives a look of his hair to sweetheart before he marries her. After marriage she sometimes helps herself, and don't use scissors.

Must.—"Do you think me guilty of falsehood!" asked Mr. Knott of a gentleman he was addressing. "Sir, I must render a verdict of Knott guilty."

"Just So!"—Fun commenting on the proverb, "Peace hath her victories," says: "Just so; more men fall in love than in war."

The iTwo.—Ballet-girls and geese are the animals that can stand the longest on one leg.

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. Hug & Schmidt, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. x

The Radical Rheumatic

Eradicator—the only known remedy. Frank H. Lashier, proprietor, No. 206 Fourth street San Francisco.

Washing Returned in One Day

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry. x

Twiaba, or White Sage Hair Restorative, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 22 Post street.

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. Tucker & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices.

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoilt, send them to the What Cheer Laundry.

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Do You Know

That with Butterick's Patterns you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent, office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 113 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco.

Entirely Hardened.

When we took the trouble last week to point out to Granny Alta the injury she was doing herself by insulting her mercantile readers with such sickly bosh as "Swallow-Flights," Street Etiquette," etc., we thought she would take it kindly, but instead of that the ill-natured old harridan actually cut up rough and threatened us. She had complained once before that Figaro pointed out her errors of grammar and held her up to public ridicule and contempt, and piteously begged a theatrical manager to talk to the then proprietor of the paper about it, or else keep the paper out of his house. The manager told her that Figaro was worth a dozen such papers as the Alta for his purpose, or something to that effect, but promised that he would ask Figaro's funny man not to be too sarcastic. The paper is in different hands now, is too strong for the Alta to interfere with in any way, and Granny ought to be grateful when we take the trouble to give her counsel, and thus afford her an opportunity of correcting her errors. We made her shut up her Poet's Corner years ago, with the assistance of Mark Twain, Bowman, Bret Harte and other bright spirits, and we intend that "Swallow" and his tribe of gibbering idiots shall not disgrace a paper which is accepted as an authority on commercial matters in California, whose correspondence is excellent, and local intelligence well written and reliable. Is this fit for the Alta?

"Boffin's Bower."

Dear Swallow:—Turtle doves, watch-dog and squab pie! Front dooryard stocked with flowers, seven rooms all on one floor, in a cottage by the hillside. Yard wherein to raise chickens and cultivate a cow, if wanted—that's what we have come to. We have taken a slip of old Parodice for forty dollars a month. Time nor space will not serve me to tell you all, but I know your heart will leap like the joyful roe to hear of this good fortune. Here shall we keep house, with a dovecot at the back door and a horse at the front; here shall we have fernaries, yea, even conservatories, and our souls and the souls of those who love us shall abide in peace forever (which is a few months). Here shall my Swallow congregate in his declining years, and witness the gambols of his generation upon the emerald turf.

Thine in the first exstacies of housekeeping, Anon.

"My Swallow shall congregate," shall he, O, ungrammatical idiot?

"Street Etiquette" is continued, and respectable, sensible San Francisco merchants have this bosh thrust in their faces:

Rule XXX.—Be seen issuing from liquor saloons as much as possible, as this will have a very important signification. Primarily, it will tend to denote that you possess the three leading requisites indispensable to a gentleman, viz: time, taste, and money. The fact of free lunches being inside will never be assigned as an influencing motive in your case, and only your immediate enemies will be likely to harbor so insulting a suspicion.

Once for all, if the Alta doesn't stop this kind of thing, we shall continue to ridicule it.

Legal Prolixity.—Some idea of the complexity and length of legal trials may be gained from the following statement: "The papers in the Yelverton case weigh about three tons, and would fill a good-sized room. A verbatim report of the whole trial would fill dozens of folio volumes, and more than one readable book could be made from the incidents of the different trials." And if, as a morning journal recently declared, the case is not yet "half finished," and the documents continue to accumulate, what an array they must finally make!

Good Toast.—At the dinner of an Irish association not long since the following toast was given: "Here's to the President of the Society, Patrick O'Rafferty, an' may he live to eat the chicken that scratches over his grave."

Hippophagy.—The following lines on hippophagy come from the pen of the comedian, Charles Matthews:

"Uneasy Rests the Head

"That wears a crown" unless it has one of Shaber & Co's wonderful easy chairs—the best and cheapest ever offered to the public. Coin will buy furniture and bedding of Shaber & Co. at very low rates.

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Sumner street. Ladies' saloon attached. Open day and night.

There is Nothing

Which attracts public attention more than a genteel gait in either sex, to acquire which it is necessary that children's shoes should be made to fit well, which may be accomplished by going to Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, where our scions of respectability are daily to be seen emerging with their purchases.

A Sensation in Hats.

The new Fall and Winter styles are fast arriving at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. One in particular has already been adopted as the fashion; it is a fine low-crowned felt hat, with a curved brim, and is called "The Grand Duke." Those who wish to be in the fashion must go to "The" Hat Store, long famed for having the latest styles and for its moderate prices.

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

COSMOPOLITAN HOTEL.
CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP
H. H. PEARSON,
LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE.
HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night is the last but one of "The Octoroon," which has made such a great success with G. B. Waldron in his great impersonation of Jacob McClosky. We have already spoken of the able support he receives from Isabel Smythe, Miss Sallie Hinckley, James M. Hardie, J. H. Vinson, John Woodard and others engaged in the representation of the play. Those who fail to see the "Octoroon" as at present performed at the Metropolitan Theatre, will miss a great treat.

California Theatre.

There are no less than twelve new scenes in the local play of "Ready;" the characters are well drawn; the dialogue is bright and sparkling and the action never drags. "Ready" must be withdrawn at the end of the week, therefore those who have not yet seen it, have no time to lose.

Maguire's Opera House.

This evening the company of colored dramatic amateurs who have on several occasions astonished and delighted the public by their skill will present "Pizarro" at Maguire's Opera House for the benefit of Mrs. Cecilia Williams, the star of the troupe. The veteran stage manager has had the troupe under his training for some weeks past and speaks well of the proficiency of his pupils.

Bella Union Theatre.

The incomparable Ella Wesner in character songs; the dashing insouciante Aline Le Favre in extravaganza; the Reynolds Brothers in song and dance; J. H. Larkin in Dutch sketches; Marie Zoel in song and dance; Little Josie Abecco in ballads; Miss Josephine in duets; Fanny Garretson in a new song; and the rest of the company in amusing acts, will all appear to-night.

Oxford Theatre.

"Burning" promises to be as successful at the Oxford, as was the original drama of "Help" at the Metropolitan. Every night the house is crowded. The first part and interlude which precede the drama are very attractive.

Theatre Comique.

Little Maggie Knight is emphatically the pet of the public and has a large repertoire for so young an artiste; Mat Kelly, Minnie Fillmore, Zadie Zeimar, Maggie Murphy, Ida Fisk, Lizzie Harmon, Rosa Vincent, and many more appear in the programme.

Platt's Hall.

The great Gangero has bewildered the public with his Japanese bottle imp, which beats anything ever attempted by our magicians. Tumi and Kumi are clever little gymnasts; Tumike chi's ladder of swords is a most thrilling feat; Tyon is a most accomplished balancer; Otokean a very graceful performer on the slack wire; but Gangero, the great, good as the performances of the others are, always carries away the honors of the evening and is applauded until the walls ring again. The troupe will exhibit at this hall for the remainder of the week, giving matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. Last night the Japanese Consul, Charles Wolcott Brooks, was present, with two Japanese princes of high rank.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Woodward's Gardens.

In addition to the thousand and one beautiful and curious things to be seen at this delightful resort, the Fiji Indians will be on exhibition to-day, and the price of admission to everything to be seen in the gardens will still be only twenty-five cents.

Will Arrive.

Mrs. D. P. Bowers and Mr. J. C. McCollom, of dramatic fame, will arrive by the Overland train this evening. They will commence an engagement at the California Theatre on Monday next in "Lady Audley's Secret."

Occidental Skating Academy.

Miss Carrie Moore gives exhibitions on roller skates and on the velocipede every evening.

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again. *

LETTER FROM CHICAGO.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

CHICAGO, August 21st, 1871

DEAR FIGARO—For the past week there has been considerable of a stir among professionals with their benefits, and managers are bustling around making preparations for the coming season. Actors and actresses (good ones) are now in demand for traveling troupes, of which there are seven now organizing for the country. Chicago is always behind in selecting gentlemen for committee arrangements. At the Scott Centennary performance the usual blockheads were selected. They did nothing, but their self-importance was immense.

ET'S OPERA HOUSE.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, 14th, 15th and 16th, was devoted to the Scott Centennary performance. The less said of this, the better. It is sufficient to say that the stage management was put in green hands, and thereby the performance were not as great successes as they should have been. Thursday, Aug. 17th, A. S. Parkes, manager of the McKee Rankin company, received a testimonial benefit. Friday, Aug. 18th, McKee Rankin was benefited by his company, on which occasion "Rip Van Winkle" was produced, Rankin making a good Rip. On Saturday evening John W. Jennings, Chicago's favorite, received a testimonial benefit from the citizens of this city. There was not standing room, and a good many were turned away. This theatre will be closed for repairs next week, after which it will be re-opened with a very good dramatic company. In my next I will give you the entire list. Opening night, Monday, Aug. 28th. If the management could engraft a little more courtesy in some of the ushers, it would accrue to their benefit the coming season.

M'VICKER'S THEATRE.

Mr. Sam Meyers is the gentlemanly manager here, and his face, always smiling now, is an augury of the good things that are in store for us during the coming season. The interior of the new theatre is arranged somewhat after the style of the Alhambra in your city, only the auditorium is much larger. The seating capacity will be about 1,500. The stage is 60 feet deep and 32 feet wide. The theatre will be fitted up in the latest style.

CROSBY'S OPERA HOUSE

is undergoing a complete change in the auditorium. Everything is being brightened up and painted, scenery and drop curtain repainted, a new floor is being laid for the stage and other improvements making. Mrs. Jas. A. Oates English comedy and burlesque company is the first on the list next season. Parepa-Rosa, Nilsson, Clara Louise Kellogg, Fanny Janauschek, and the Female Orchestra from Vienna, will be the attraction at this house for the coming season.

DEARBORN THEATRE.

The Wyndham comedy company closed their engagement on Tuesday with a benefit to Mr. Wyndham. The rest of the week was given over to painters, carpenters and kalsominers. Monday, August 21st, the Dearborn Minstrels commence their season, with new songs, burlesques, dances, etc

WOOD'S MUSEUM.

The lecture room opened for the public on Monday. The house was densely packed from pit to dome. On the occasion the Col. presented every lady with a bouquet. The lecture room was handsomely decorated with flowers and evergreens, making the people and young lovers feel as if they were among the roses. The piece selected for the occasion was Sheridan's "School for Scandal," with the entire strength of the company in the cast. For their first introduction a better piece could not be selected; Miss Freeman was excellent as Lady Teazle; Mr. Mortimer's Charles Surface was fully up to the requirements of the part. Thursday evening, "London Assurance," with Miss Freeman as Lady Gay Spanker; Mr. Mortimer as Dazzle; Grace Harkaway by Miss L. Mahon. Monday evening, August 21st, and for the entire week, will be presented the glorious comedy by Geo. Coleman, the younger, entitled "Poor Gentleman," with the farce of "A Fight for the Championship." An original sensational drama written expressly for J. K. Mortimer entitled "Lost Upon the World," is underlined. As to the Museum department, the Col. is working hard to make it attractive, and I am glad to see that he is successful. The monster whale is the latest attraction at this house.

THE OLYMPIC THEATRE

is still maintaining its reputation by good performances, good houses, and a large and well balanced company. Bowman and Harris received testimonial benefits on Saturday evening, Aug. 18th, and the house was crowded. George Moore, the champion song and dance man, sprained his ankle in jumping across the stage, and will be laid up for a couple of weeks. Frank Frayer and Clara Butler go to Detroit to fill a three weeks' engagement. George Seymour greatly aids the success of this house by his novel mode of advertising. He understands his business.

SCOTT CENTENNARY BANQUET.

We were invited to the banquet held at the Tremont House on the evening of the 15th inst. It was a glorious affair; some 600 people were present. The banquet was a most pleasant one in every respect. Among those present were ex-Governor Oglesby, General Putman, Schuyler Colfax and other prominent notables. The occasion will not soon be forgotten by those who were present. We are exceedingly obliged to Dr. Carr and his able assistants for their gentlemanly courtesy to us.

MISCELLANEOUS.

John Hogan's complimentary benefit at Metropolitan Hall came off on an extremely hot day, and he did not do as big a business as he had expected.

The McKee Rankin Company will play a six weeks engagement in Milwaukee, commencing Aug. 21st.

Considerable wrangling is going on among the different companies here about their pay and contracts. One Mitchell had Mc Kee Rankin arrested for back pay, and Mr. Belvil Ryan was also detained for non-fulfillment of his contract with Mr. Wyndham. A. L. Parkes, business manager of the Rankin troupe, couldn't see it; Mr. Ryan disappeared and the next heard of him was in Milwaukee.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them. *

REMARKABLE DREAM VERIFIED.

A Husband's Return and Vengeance.

The Richmond Whig of August 8th contains an account of a brutal murder committed across the border in Wilks county, North Carolina, a few days ago, and the circumstances of which are not a little remarkable. The account is as follows:

It appears that a gentleman residing in that county a few days previous to the murder sold a tract of land for which he received $1,000 in cash. Business calling him away from home soon after, he left the money with his wife, and on returning he stopped over night with a friend living some ten or twelve miles from his home. In the night he dreamed that some men had entered his house, murdered his wife and two children, stolen his money, and destroyed his property. Knowing that he had left his money with his wife, he became uneasy and restless after his dream, and requested a peddler who was stopping with him at the house to accompany him at once to his home, for he feared there was a reality in his dream. On arriving at his home to his horror he found his wife murdered and two men sitting at the table counting out the money he had left with his wife. He and the peddler being armed immediately fired upon the men and killed them, who turned out to be the man to whom he had sold the land, and from whom he had received the money, and his son. This is one of the most atrocious murders on record, and shows what foul deeds money will lead men to commit.

INSURANCE.—A thin, cadeverous-looking German, about fifty years of age, entered the office of a health insurance company in New York, and inquired: "Ish te man in vat insahres de people's helts?' The agent answered: "I attend to that business." "Vell, I vants mine belts inshured. Vot you sharge?" "Different prices," answered the agent; "from three to ten dollars a year. Pay ten dollars a year, and you get ten dollars a week in case of sickness." "Vell," said Mynheer, "I vants ten dollars vert." The agent inquired his state of health. "Vell, I ish sick all te time. I's shust out of bed two or three hours a tay, unt te doctor say he can't do notting more goot for me." "If that's the state of your health," returned the agent, "we can't insure it. We only insure persons who are in good health." At this Mynheer bristled up in great anger. "You must tink I's a fool. Vot you tink I come pay you ten dollars for inshure my helt ven I vas vell?"

THOROUGHNESS.—Nothing is equal to thoroughness. A writer upon projectiles commences the history of shot from the "stone which whistled from David's sling."

HIS REASON.—The fellow who called tight boots comfortable, defended his position by saying they made a man forget all his other miseries.

ASTONISHED.—A modern thinker says many people will be astonished when they get to heaven, to find the angels laying no schemes to be made archangels.

A SCHOOLBOY'S ASPIRATION.—"Oh, how I wish I were a fountain, for then I could be always playing."

It is Not

Because you wear cheap boots and shoes that you become crippled—it is because they do not fit properly; neither does a bad-fitting boot or shoe last so long by half the time as one made by a first-class cutter, such as is found at Kast's fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre.

Squarza's.

Frequent attempts have been made to imitate Squarza's famous liqueurs, but the secret of his ingredients and method of mixture has never been discovered. One difference between Squarza's Punches and the imitations is, that the former retain their smoothness and flavor for years, while the latter spoil if not immediately used. The Egg-nog Punch, if kept from one Christmas to another, opens as rich and delicious as if freshly made. It is an article especially suitable for the holidays. The Morning comfort, Appetizer and Anti-Dyspeptic Punches are excellent at all seasons.

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY, Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets. *

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone. *

BLOOD AT CRAB ORCHARD.

Another Chapter in an Old Garrard County Feud.

[Louisville, Courier-Journal, August 19.

Wednesday afternoon, after the close of the day's races at Crab Orchard, a difficulty occurred near the Springs hotel between Grove Kennedy, from Garrard, and George Dollings, a watchman at the springs. Kennedy accused Dollings of calling his (Kennedy's) father a damned liar. Friends on both sides took part; two or three pistols were fired, but the parties were separated without any one being badly hurt.

Thursday evening the trouble was renewed at the Hardin House, and fifteen or twenty shots fired. During the melee Dollings was shot so badly that his life is despaired of, and Frank Smith, a citizen of Crab Orchard, was shot twice and died instantly. It is said that he was taking no part in the affray, but was only acting as a spectator. George Best was also seriously wounded. Who killed Smith is not known, but it was conceded that Dollings was shot by George Best, a friend of Kennedy. The affair originated from an old Garrard feud, and it is feared that the end is not yet. The Kennedys are a bold, reckless set, and the one engaged in the Crab Orchard affair has heretofore killed two men in personal rencounters. Dollings has a large circle of friends and kinsmen.

So well known was the character of these men, and so confident were the predictions that there would be a bloody row, that several persons, who had gone to Crab Orchard to attend the races, deemed it prudent to abandon the sport and return to their homes.

ACKNOWLEDGED THE CORN.—Not far from Susquehanna county, Penn., a clergyman, celebrated for his talent at making blunders, after having pronounced a happy couple man and wife, concluded the ceremony by "wishing them a happy and pleasant journey through life, and hoped that they would be blessed in their marriage relation as were Abraham and Sarah, in days of old." Before the company diffused themselves to their respective places of abode, a youth of Scriptural pursuits informed them that "Sarah was one hundred years old before she bare Isaac!" That was so! The clergyman acknowledged the corn, and—"then the band played."

ANDREWS ISLAND VEGETABLES.—The Pacific Rural Press says: "We have received from Joshua Poole, of Rio Vista, the inventor of a novel and useful machine for breaking up tule lands, some fine samples of onions and tomatoes grown upon such land on Andrews Island, that was first broken up last Fall. No better samples could be produced anywhere, even on our richest river bottoms. We are almost daily furnished with additional evidence of the value of these lands, and the facility with which they may be brought into the highest state of cultivation."

TOOK IT EASY.—An old general used to ask his servant, "John, what sort of a morning is it?" "A slibbery, slobbery morning, sir," replied John. "Then close the curtain, John, and call me at this time to-morrow, if it be fine," said the general.

WHICH?—A young lady, recently married to a farmer, one day visited the cow-houses, when she thus interrogated her milk-maid, "By-the-by, Mary, which of these cows is it that gives the buttermilk?"

If horseflesh won't suffice to feed the masses,
The next resource will certainly be asses;
And heaven only knows where that will end
Some people won't have left a single friend!

PREFER.—Curious to say, most horse-owners, when in difficulties, prefer their gray to their duns.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table. *

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever. *

The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the chief American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail. x

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair. *

WEDNESDAY.....AUGUST 30, 1871

Terrible Disease.

A French physician, Dr. Brierre de Boismont, has discovered a new disease—a form of contagious mental alienation—from which, he states, the members of the Commune suffered during the late insurrection in Paris, and which he terms the morbus democraticus. We have as yet no cholera here, but the cases of morbus democraticus are terribly numerous. Its symptoms are a breaking out at the mouth.

Premium Gum Chewer.

A Yankee in England being annoyed by the constant boasting as to the superiority of English girls, finally silenced laudation by declaring that "they had a gal in Boston only eleven years old, who could chew gum in seven different languages with her eyes shut."

What He Learned.

A young man, who has tried it until he knows, tells us that if you go to call on a young lady, and she sews diligently all the evening, and only says "yes" and "no," you can go about nine, or a quarter past, without anybody's feeling bad about it.

Rich and Rare.

Eberhardt & Lachman have succeeded in establishing the reputation of their Mount Vineyard Wine, which far surpasses in body and bouquet the doctored wine now imported. Their cellars are at the corner of Market and First streets.

Extremely Modest.

H. Dorsey Gough has sued the Alta for $50,000 as an offset for the damage his character has sustained by the publication of a little city item paragraph on Monday last. Who the deuce is H. Dorsey Gough?

Indorsed.

The "Citizens' Independent Club of the Fourth Ward" held a meeting last evening and indorsed John Ehlers for Supervisor of that ward.

The Evening Journal, a little campaign paper of this city, has followed its political rival, the Pelican, and has been called away—we hope to a happier and more congenial sphere. Let us pray.

An Oakland mother advised her daughter to oil her hair, and fainted flat away when that candid damsel replied, "Oh, no, ma; it spoils the gentlemen's vests!"

A Lynchburg colored woman fell thirty out of a third story, striking the sidewalk head foremost. They are filling up the hole. She wasn't hurt any.

Two new volumes by Bret Harte are announced, one of verses, to be issued in September, and another of sketches, in December.

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices. x

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. Hug & Schmidt, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. x

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

The Radical Rheumatic

Eradicator—the only known remedy. Frank H. Lashier, proprietor, No. 206 Fourth street San Francisco.

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry. x

"Uneasy Rests the Head

"That wears a crown" unless it has one of Shaber & Co's wonderful easy chairs—the best and cheapest ever offered to the public. Coin will buy furniture and bedding of Shaber & Co. at very low rates.

Don't Forget to Visit

The San Francisco Health Lift, 24 Post st.

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. Tucker & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices.

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not shrunk, send them to the What Cheer Laundry.

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Do You Know

That with Butterick's Patterns you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent, office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 118 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco.

Too Much Work.

Habitual overwork is simply slow suicide. A man may stand it for a few years, but eventually it will overpower him. The man who does a fair amount of physical or mental labor daily, who eats his meals regularly, masticates his food properly, devotes a reasonable number of hours in the twenty-four to refreshing sleep, and when he leaves his place of business leaves business cares behind him, is the one whose chances of extended life are best; and who in the long run, will achieve the most.

Industrious People.

The preliminary report of the census of Great Britian contains this paragraph:

The census returns of the United Kingdom show that during her happy reign 5,-900,000 have been added to Her Majesty Queen Victoria's subjects, not by the seizure of neighbouring territories, but mainly by the enterprise, industry and virtue of her people.

That's a neat way of putting it. We didn't know it required much enterprise and industry to get babies.

The South End.

One of the most popular places at the South End of the city, is the New York Store, 102 Second street, two doors South of Mission, where fancy goods are sold at absurdly low prices. Here may be seen any time of the day, pretty girls buying silk mohair switches and other adornments for 25 cents and 50 cents each. All sorts of pomps and vanities cost but little at the New York Store.

Moon Struck.

The editor of the Golden Era is evidently a lunatic. Speaking of "Ready," he says:

The first scen representing the balcony of the Cliff House with the Pacific throbbing under the influence of a setting moon, was superb and called forth shouts of approval.

Bah! "The moon! the sun; it is not moonlight now." A beautiful setting moonset scene forsooth.

Important Discovery.

It has just been discovered that Brutus, when he struck his dagger into Julius Cæsar exclaimed:

PROBE, BONO PUBLICO!

It is to be regretted that this fact was not known when Shakspeare wrote his tragedy.

Joaquin Miller, the new poet, is visiting a brother in Pennsylvania, where he is revising the proof-sheets of a volume of poems shortly to appear.

The fast young ladies of Saratoga say they have irrigated themselves after partaking of the waters.

The Immortal Squarza.

Squarza has departed from the Golden State, but he has left his works behind him, and even when he dies they will live after him. A magnificent monument to his memory may be seen in the Mechanics' Fair. It is composed of bottles filled with the spiritual essences which he so happily combined to make merry the hearts of man, and is surmounted by a well-executed image of Squarza himself, supported by figures representing the infant Bacchus. Something of the same kind will be exhibited at the State Fair at Sacramento, and here and there and everywhere will Squarza's famous punches bear off the first premium.

Threw Out Your Chest!

A man should stand up like a man, throw out his chest and throw his shoulders back, thus giving room for the free action of the lungs. The Champion and Pivot-action Braces sold by C. H. Burr, sole agent for the Pacific Coast, 318 Market street, will be found to afford efficient aid in accomplishing this. They are superior to all others, and cost no more.

It is Not

Because you wear cheap boots and shoes that you become crippled—it is because they do not fit properly; neither does a bad-fitting boot or shoe last so long by half the time as one made by a first-class cutter, such as is found at Kast's fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre.

New York Dry Goods Store.

313 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.

New Furnishng Goods,

Cheap, at the What Cheer Laundry.

Ward's Celebrated Shirts

At old stand, cor. 3d and Market. A. Levine.

TWIABA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street.

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few door below What Cheer House.

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st.

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure.

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line.

What Cheer Laundry,

321 Leidesdorff street, near Sacramento:

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the Figaro Saloon, opposite the stage entrance, where the red light burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. Hermann keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the Figaro Saloon once go there again.

Precisely

For the same reason that the ladies have determined to calceate for the Fair, the opposite sex, to be in juxtaposition, have determined to purchase their Patent Leather Oxford Ties and Dancing Pumps at Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre. x

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit.

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Summer street. Ladies' saloon attached. Open day and night.

A Sensation in Hats.

The new Fall and Winter styles are fast arriving at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. One in particular has already been adopted as the fashion; it is a fine low-crowned felt hat, with a curved brim, and is called "The Grand Duke." Those who wish to be in the fashion must go to "The" Hat Store, long famed for having the latest styles and for its moderate prices. x

Thirty Dollars.

French china breakfast, dinner, and tea set $30, at P. Douglas & Co's, 131 Kearny street. Other goods at same low rates.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Vivian's Treadmill Song.

"Ten Thousand Miles Away" for sale, price five cents, by Wm. Cohen, 912 Kearny street, between Jackson and Pacific streets. 10,000 different songs for sale.

Reduced Prices.

Guerin & Son, prize boot and shoe makers, 327 and 329 Bush street. Must sell $35,000 worth of boots and shoes within 60 days. Call and examine our stock. x

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

"The Octoroon," which has made such a brilliant hit at the Metropolitan Theatre, will be presented this evening for the last time, the theatre having been engaged to-morrow evening for the production of Signor Morlez's opera. All should see this splendid sensation play before it is withdrawn. Waldron's Jacob McCloskey is a very powerful impersonation; J. M Hardie is very good as Salem Scudder; Miss Sallie Hinckley makes a charming Zoe and the play is excellently well acted throughout.

California Theatre.

The attractions in the new and original play of "Ready" are numerous. Among the chief are the beautiful view of the Pacific ocean from the Cliff House at sunset; the thrilling fire scene, which absolutely frightens the audience; the terrific railroad sensation and the lovely picture of the Vernal Fall in Yosemite Valley. The first proof of the attractiveness of this piece is that the attendance at this theatre to witness it is larger every night.

The Minstrels' Return from the We—San Jose.

The ever-popular Emerson's Minstrels, whose absence, even for a few days, leaves a void in our little world of public entertainments that cannot be filled satisfactorily to the seekers after fun and amusement, will return here to-morrow. They will open in the evening at the cosy little Alhambra in full force, with Emerson, Howard, Vivian, Mack and Sheridan, in their unequalled specialties; the whole to wind up with a new comic sketch entitled "Our Trip to San Jose." The programme will appear in to-morrow's FIGARO.

Maguire's Opera House.

The performance of "Pizarro" by the colored Amateur Troupe last night for the benefit of Mrs. Cecelia Williams was not as well attended as the former performances of this troupe; the dress-circle, however, was pretty well filled with colored belles and their attendant beaux, and there were many living proofs among the former that "Ethiopia, though black, is comely." The performance did not go off as smoothly as it should have done, many of the actors being imperfect. Mrs. Williams, who has much dramatic talent, played Elvira with much power, and Mr. Cromwell's acting and reading of the part of Rollo were excellent, drawing great applause from both white and colored auditors; Miss Pullen played the part of Cora very nicely, and sang "Sweet Spirit Hear my Prayer" in a style which brought forth a most enthusiastic encore. "Pizarro" was played by Mr. G. W. Bell, who made some good points, but was very badly dressed, his suit of armor not fitting him at all. Next time the colored amateurs give a performance, we hope they will be more perfect, and that our colored citizens will turn out in greater numbers to encourage them.

Platt's Hall.

The performances of Gangero are absolutely bewildering, and he has certainly made a greater success in astonishing the good people of San Francisco than Hartz, Heller or even Hermann, for his feats seem incapable of any explanation. He is ably supported by the talented troupe of balancers, gymnasts, dancers, and other performers comprising the Royal Yeddo Troupe. All who have not yet witnessed the extraordinary performance at present being given at Platt's Hall, should lose no time in doing so.

Bella Union Theatre.

Ella Wesner's new songs have each one of them made a hit, and everyone goes to hear them; Ella Wesner is great in the extravaganza and looks charming as the Chinese prince; George and Chas. Reynolds' songs and dances are always encored, and the entertainment, the full programme of which appears on our first page, is excellent.

Theatre Comique.

Always something new at the Theatre Comique: new songs, new acts, and new faces. Miss Lotta the pretty and pleasing singer, is the latest addition to the company; Little Maggie Knight is a greater favorite than ever—her song "My Johnny was a Shoemaker," draws great applause, and J. Tuers and his great band of minstrels with a host of female artistes keep the fun alive till midnight.

Oxford Theatre.

"Burning," which is "Help" cut down to a decent length and made more funny, has made a hit of the most decided kind. It is preceded by a fine first part, a terrific Shoo-fly dance, Ethiopian sketches, and tableaux.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Cbailiu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Woodward's Gardens.

In addition to the thousand and one beautiful and curious things to be seen at this delightful resort, the Fiji Indians will be on exhibition to-day, and the price of admission to everything to be seen in the gardens will still be only twenty-five cents.

A New Opera.

To-morrow evening, Signor Carmini Morley well and favorably known to the musical world in San Francisco, will produce at the Metropolitan Theatre his new and original serio-comic opera entitled "The First Kiss, or the Rival Tenors." In this the author will take the role of Signor Fanfarranini, and Miss Viola Pomeroy, who wrote the libretto, will appear in the triple role of "M'lle Pauline," "Gretche Brekenhausen," "Norah O'Niel" and "Maria Dolores," and sing songs appropriate to the respective nationalities of the characters. Seats can be secured to-day at the box office from 10 A. M till 4 P. M.

Benefit of Wm. R. Cranna.

This benefit, postponed for unavoidable causes, will come off on Friday evening at the Metropolitan Theatre, when a good bill will be presented. Tom Taylor's sterling drama, "Retribution," with a full cast by the Metropolitan company, will be performed, and an olio by volunteers will follow; the whole to conclude with the farce of "My Friend in Straps," in which Mr. Cranna will make his first appearance as O'Blarney.

Benefit of W. H. Sedley Smith.

W. H. Sedley Smith, stage manager of the California Theatre, and an excellent actor in old men parts, will take his benefit on Friday evening. The performance will consist of "Ready" and a comedietta.

LETTER FROM DENVER.

[We have received the following from a former California professional, well known here, who has not improved his name much by shortening it.]

DENVER (COL.), August 24, 1871.

DEAR FIGARO:—As in duty bound, I report to headquarters of Pacific theatrical affairs. After a very successful though tiresome trip through California, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming and Colorado, I am taking a resting spell here. Things in general are very quiet. The Atlantic and Pacific Circus has just completed its tour through the Territory, and has gone East.

THEATRICAL AFFAIRS.

The Silvester-Hernandez combination have been playing to a losing business the past two weeks at the Denver Theatre. Their engagement closes to-night with a benefit to Miss Schott, when a grand expose of all Silvester's tricks will take place; tickets, five dollars. "How is that for high?"

Bartholomew's Circus is tied up here, but negotiations are now pending for taking them out.

A portion of the Langrishe troupe are spending the summer here, giving occasional performances—one of them an old Californian, Mr. B. S. Mortimer. I was greatly pleased to meet him.

George Wallace and Miss Lillie Harland are at a melodeon here known as "The Cricket," as is also E. M. Hall, late of the Alhambra. A most shameful affair occurred at the aforesaid Cricket on Saturday evening last. Mr. J. Rickaly, the business and stage manager, was set upon by some parties connected with the establishment and beaten to insensibility, and now lies in a very precarious condition.

Grace Greenwood, the talented authoress, gave one of her inimitable lectures here on the evening of the 22d, which was well attended.

Mr. Charles Thornton, one of your young Californian actors, is in town, on his way East. He goes to McVicker's New Opera House, Chicago, or the Fall and Winter. He appeared at the Denver Theatre upon the occasion of Hernandez's benefit and created quite a favorable impression, and was noticed by the press next day. He is talented and ambitious. May his shadow never grow less.

A NEW THEATRE FOR DENVER.

A stock company has been formed here, and soon in place of our present theatre there will be erected a grand Opera House. The plans are all drawn and approved, and the work will at once be commenced. More anon. HAM.

VANDERBILT IN JAIL.

The Owner of the "Westfield" Sent to the Tombs.

[From the N. Y. Evening Telegram, August 19.]

At eleven o'clock this morning Captain Uhlman, of the second precinct, returned the warrant issued by Coroner Keenan last evening for the arrest of Jacob Vanderbilt, President of the Staten Island Ferry Company, James W. Braisted, superintendent of the company and Henry Robinson, the engineer of the ill-fated Westfield. The prisoners were brought up to the Coroner's office without attracting any attention. Coroner Keenan communicated with District Attorney Garvin as to the course which he should pursue in reference to the prisoners, and the result of the consultation was that the Coroner determined to commit them all without bail. Accordingly the commitments were made out and the prisoners handed over into the custody of Captain Uhlman. Whilst

AWAITING THE CORONER'S DECISION,

Mr. Vanderbilt and his employes were hidden away from public view in the back room of the Coroner's office specially allotted to the Coroner and his deputies. The only thing which can ever save the lordly President of the Staten Island Ferry Company, land owner and feudal baron on Staten Island, from the indignity of being confined in a cell in the Tombs is a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court. The recommendation of the District Attorney to Coroner Keenan is postive—namely that the men who, by the verdict of the Coroner's jury, are held responsible for the slaughter of over one hundred lives should be treated as ordinary murderers who have to wait their trial

WITHIN THE WALLS OF A PRISON.

Up to the present none of the prisoners have been removed from the Coroner's office, although the commitments have been fully made out. If Mr. Vanderbilt or his friends be unable to procure immediately the writ of habeas corpus the trio will be transferred to the Tombs during the day. It is to be hoped that the judges of the Supreme Court will take the same stern view of the guilt of Mr. Vanderbilt and his servants, and that the citizens of New York will be able to boast for once that money or influence cannot open the prison door. Mr. Vanderbilt seems to take the action of the plucky Coroner very easily and evidently believes that he has only to say, "Open Sesame!" to escape the threatened indignity.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the chief American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail. x

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY, Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets.

MARIAN MAY.

Marian May was our hamlet's pride,
Worthy a queen to be,
For of all the maids in the country side
Was none so fair as she.

Her hair was like silk, and her eyes like wine—
Liquid and dark and deep;
They sparkled and danced in the broad sunshine,
Or melted in rosy sleep.

Lovers by scores for her white hand sighed,
Of high and low degree;
And many came riding from far and wide,
Her sweethearts fain to be.

The squire had plenty golden store,
Such as for him was meet;
And he wished no better, and asked no more,
Than to lay it all at her feet.

But she put his gifts and vows aside,
Laughing, and out spake she,
"I never was born for a rich man's bride,
So I cannot mate with thee."

The parson he came, with his face so grave,
Gentle and sleek and prim,
And said the best way her soul to save
Was to take and marry him.

But she only opened her eyes full wide,
Wondering, and quoth she,
"Were there never a man in the world beside,
You'd be far too good for me."

The Colonel he swore a right round oath—
"Little one, be my wife!
I've scars, and a pension enough for both,
If you'll share a soldier's life."

He vowed that he would not be denied,
Low on his bended knee;
But she tossing her head with a pretty pride,
Said, "I never will wed with thee!"

Robin came back from the sea one day,
Out of the distant West,
And the child with whom he used to play,
A woman he clasped to his breast.

She sobbed and kissed, and she laughed and cried—
"Welcome, my love," said she;
"For woe and for weal, and for whate'er betide,
I will fare the world through with thee!"

Creme de Lis.

Beautiful is the finish developed by the use of DICKEY'S celebrated CREME DE LIS, a pure transparent complexion being imparted. No poison enters its composition.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

The Elixir of Youth.

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

Every Form.

Of chronic diseases cured by chemical treatment of the blood, by Dr. Mortimore at the Marton House, Post street, near Kearny. Especially diseases of the Lungs and Throat, Ozena, Catarrh, disease of the Heart, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Epilepsy, etc.

"The Days of Forty-Nine."

Ballad for sale by WM. COHEN, 912 Kearny street, price 5 cents. Also, all of Vivian's and Louis Braham's songs. x

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

CHANCE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The Table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

Very Mean.

The Oakland evening Termini on Monday had the following:

A few circus men, almost unknown to the public, have pitched an old well-worn tent and will perform this evening. We fail to see one name of any performer of note. It performed in San Francisco, but after the the first night failed to draw paying houses. They no doubt take Oakland for a cow-county town, but their audience to-night will prove that we can appreciate a good company when presented.

This is a very stupid and very mean way of trying to get even with a show because it did not advertise in the E. T. Lying is always stupid and mean. Omar Kingsley is a performer of note, James Cooke is a performer of note, and Black Bess is known everywhere throughout the Union. The New York Mammoth Circus performed for two weeks in San Francisco to paying houses. We write this, not to puff the Circus, but to expose the stupidity of the Evening Termini.

Well Put.

The Christian Register says:

We can find women who have been married three times apiece, and whose children have been three times as numerous as their husbands, who do not speak one-tenth as knowingly about matrimony as this oracular spinster [Gail Hamilton] does.

This is a very just remark, for Gail cannot know how it is herself.

Very Sad!

Barbary Coast Ranger, (reading "Oakland Items" in yesterday's Call.)

A drunk was picked up by the police on Friday night; the inebriate had $300 in his pocket.

Darn my luck! I was over in Oakland on Friday night and never came across that drunk—and I wanted the money so bad.

Roman Wives.

Dr. Hall has written a long article to prove that it is unhealthy for a man and wife to sleep in the same room; but the Rome (Georgia) Commercial knows of some wives who would make it unhealthy for their husbands to sleep anywhere else.

Back Again.

Billy Emerson, Vivian, Howard, Purdy, Sheridan & Mack and the Emerson Minstrels, having returned from their short, but highly successful trip to San Jose, will re-open at the Alhambra to-night. *

Extra Attraction.

Josh Davis will sing Vivian's "Treadmill Song," at Wm. R. Cranna's benefit, on Friday evening, Sept. 1st., Metropolitan Theatre. Winthorp Brothers will also do their great comic act. x

These "Materfamillas"

who really feel interested in their children's gait should call at KAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, to see the sense displayed in his peculiar make of children's Balmorals and Button Gaiters, the adoption of which will certainly guarantee comfort, ease and grace. *

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices. x

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 635 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. Hug & Schmidt, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. x

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco. *

Washing Returned in One Day

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry. x

"Uneasy Rests the Head

"That wears a crown" unless it has one of Shaber & Co's wonderful easy chairs—the best and cheapest ever offered to the public. Coin will buy furniture and bedding of Shaber & Co. at very low rates. *

Don't Forget to Visit

The San Francisco Health Lift, 24 Post st. *

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one. *

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. Tucker & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices. *

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoilt, send them to the What Cheer Laundry. *

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Do You Know

That with Butterick's Patterns you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent, office of the Howe Sewing

A Great Joke.

The Oakland Transcript says:

The humorist who vents his intellectual secretions hebdomadally through the columns of the Alta California under the classic and euphonious nom de plume of "Ignotus Magnus," (which, freely translated, means Great Ignoramus,) says that the meanest swindle that has ever engaged his attention is a certain "chickening" operation of which he has guilty knowledge. Ignotus is mistaken in his estimate of his moral status. A nocturnal raid upon a poultry yard is a highly reputable transaction compared with the swindle that he perpetrates every seventh day upon an unoffending public in his chronic efforts to be witty.

Other papers term the maunderings of "Ignotus Magnus" weak imitations of the News Letter's "Town Crier." "Ignotus Magnus" says th's is a great joke, as he is the writer of both—"Sauce" in the Alta and the "Town Crier" in the News Letter. This is true; but while he is often brilliant in the News Letter, he is very careful not to be so in the Alta, as anything really bright in that paper might "bust" it. He remembers what is said in the Bible about putting new wine in old bottles.

Of Course Not.

The Sacramento Record says:

A remarkable story comes from England to the effect that the plaintiff in the famous Thichborne Baronetcy case has been at one time an Australian convict. The objection may perhaps be raised that even if this be true it is no proof that he is not the real Roger Trichborne.

Certainly not. It may after all turn out that he is the real Roger Touchbone and heir to the Thickbone Baronetcy, which of course no one but Roger Thatchbourne could claim as the Thuchbore estate belongs to him. It is all clear as mud; it doesn't take a pair of Muller's Brazilian pebble spectacles to see through that.

Unkind Insinuation.

A New Jersey editor has announced the death of his uncle in Australia, leaving him a gold mine and $4,000,000. His village contemporary professes to regard the matter as a plan cunningly devised to obtain credit for a box of paper collars and a straw hat.

A Fact About Fiction.

Our legal friends complacently assert that the eminent literary position attained in after life by Scott was due to his having been educated for the legal profession. No doubt his proficiency in the field of fiction was largely due to that fact. They know how it is themselves.

Another Paper.

The Pelican is dead, the Evening Journal is dead, and now comes the Republican Bell Ringer. This last is, unlike the others, worth the price asked for it—nothing. It is as its name implies the organ of "the ring.

The Alhambra to-night, Emerson Minstrels in an original programme. x

The Immortal Squarza.

Squarza has departed from the Golden State, but he has left his works behind him, and even when he dies they will live after him. A magnificent monument to his memory may be seen in the Mechanics' Fair. It is composed of bottles filled with the spiritual essences which he so happily combined to make merry the hearts of men, and is surmounted by a well-executed image of Squarza himself, supported by figures representing the infant Bacchus. Something of the same kind will be exhibited at the State Fair at Sacramento, and here and there and everywhere will Squarza's famous punches bear off the first premium. *

Throw Out Your Chest!

A man should stand up like a man, throw out his chest and throw his shoulders back, thus giving room for the free action of the lungs. The Champion and Pivot-action Braces sold by C. H. Burr, sole agent for the Pacific Coast, 618 Market street, will be found to afford efficient aid in accomplishing this They are superior to all others, and cost no more. *

New York Dry Goods Store.

813 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.*

New Furnishng Goods,

Cheap, at the What Cheer Laundry.

Twiaba, or White Sage Hair Restorative, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street.

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few door below What Cheer House. *

The Radical Rheumatic

Eradicator—the only known remedy. Frank H. Lashier, proprietor, No. 206 Fourth street San Francisco. *

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st. *

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure. *

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line. *

Sporting a Bit.

The morning papers tell us that Mayor Selby was down to San Jose yesterday, attending the races there. Has our Mayor become reckless since the defeat of his political aspirations for the nomination for governor, and turned his ambition in another direction? Horse racing pools in the long run will pay better than political ones; and, then Boruck's advice about the first would be worth so much more than it would be about the last.

Suggestive Misprint.

One of our contemporaries says a man was "ruined by speculating in mining snares.

Gala Night.

Samuel Piercy will recite the "Vagabonda" in character, at the Benefit of Wm. R. Cranna, Friday evening, Sept. 1st., Metropolitan Theatre. x

The Emersonians home again and will appear at the Alhambra this evening. *

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the Figaro Saloon, opposite the stage entrance, where the red light burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. Herrmann keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the Figaro Saloon once go there again. *

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit. *

Oysters and Chowder.

Try Joe Giusti's delicious chowder and luscious oysters, at 105 California Market, entrance on Summer street. Ladies' saloon attached. Open day and night, *

A Sensation in Hats.

The new Fall and Winter styles are fast arriving at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. One in particular has already been adopted as the fashion; it is a fine low-crowned felt hat, with a curved brim, and is called "The Grand Duke." Those who wish to be in the fashion must go to "The" Hat Store, long famed for having the latest styles and for its moderate prices. x

Thirty Dollars.

French china breakfast, dinner, and tea set $30, at P. Douglas & Co's, 131 Kearny street. Other goods at same low rates. *

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf. *

Since the Great Reduction

In prices at Guerin & Son's Prize Boot and Shoe Store, their store has been crowded with customers. Call and see them. 327 and 329 Bush street. x

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

In consequence of the engagement of Mrs. D. P. Bowers, commencing on Monday, "Ready" will have to be withdrawn while it is in the full tide of success. Those who have not yet seen the Cliff House and Pacific ocean at sunset, the great fire scene, the railroad sensation, the view of Cape Horn and the Vernal Fall in Yosemite Valley, must pay a visit to the California Theatre this week.

Alhambra Theatre.

Emerson and his famous band of minstrels have returned from their flying trip to San Jose, and will to-night re-open at the jolly little Alhambra Theatre, brighter, more funny, and fresher than ever. Emerson will sing new songs; Vivian will introduce new characters; Charley Howard will perform in new acts; Sheridan and Mack will appear in song and dance, and the occasion of their return will be celebrated by the production of a new sketch entitled "Trouble in the Green Room." The full programme appears on our first page.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night Signor Carmini Morley's new and original serio-comic opera entitled "The First Kiss; or, the Rival Tenors" will be produced with Signor Morley as Signor Fanfarra-ani, Professor of Music First Tenor and Musical Director of Italian Opera, and Miss Viola Pomeroy as his pupil, Mlle Pauline, Gretchen Breckenhauser, a German girl, Norah O'Neil, an Irish girl, member of the Anti-Chinese Laundry Association, and Marie Dolores, a Spanish girl. The other characters are M'lle Calalini, a rival of Pauline, played by Miss Belle Thomas; Adalina Jinks, a music-mad young lady; Miss J. Cutter and Signor Canziio, a rival of Fanfarraini, Mons. Charles. From what we can learn from musical men who have heard this opera rehearsed, it is full of delicious harmony and pleasing airs and the concerted music is of a high order of merit. We most heartily wish our first California opera success, and hope that the public will show their appreciation of musical art by crowding the Metropolitan Theatre to its utmost capacity. Seats may be secured at the box-office to-day from 10 A. M., to 4 P. M.

Bella Union Theatre.

Ella Wesner's songs are sung, hummed and whistled all over the city; Aline Le Favre as dancer, singer and fencer, is the pet of the patrons of the Bella Union; the Reynolds Brothers are original and talented; little Josie Abecco sings nicely; Fanny Garretson's new song, "Waiting," is very popular; Miss Josephine excels in song and dance, and the numerous members of the company present a programme of entertainments which would be hard to beat.

Theatre Comique.

Little Maggie Knight, who is universally acknowledged to be more talented and versatile than Lotta was at her age, is the great attraction at this house. Miss Lotta's ballads are very popular; Zadie Zelmar's performance on the slack wire is very graceful and artistic; the trio clog dance by Kelly, Scott and Mathews is a great feature, and a fine performance is given.

Oxford Theatre.

"Burning," which is "Help" cut down to a decent length and made more funny, has made a hit of the most decided kind. It is preceded by a fine first part, a terrific Shoo-fly dance, Ethiopian sketches, and tableaux

Platt's Hall.

The Royal Vedda Troupe of Japanese performers will appear but two nights more. Gangero is a whole show in himself, and Tyou, Spider, Tumi and Kumi, Kangero, the Japanese belles Fatsan and Okami in dances, Yannanowagh's butterfly trick and Otoksan's graceful performance on the slack wire are all attractive, and the liberal applause bestowed proves how well satisfied with the performance are all who attend. For the convenience of families, a grand matinee, at half price to all parts of the house, will be given to-day and to-morrow.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Woodward's Gardens.

In addition to the thousand and one beautiful and curious things to be seen at this delightful resort, the Fiji Indians will be on exhibition to-day, and the price of admission to everything to be seen in the gardens will still be only twenty-five cents.

The Skating Rink.

The fascinating Carrie Moore gives an exhibition every evening at the Occidental Skating Rink, opposite the Mechanics' Fair Pavilion.

Emerson Minstrels.

Howard, Vivian, Purdy, Sheridan, Mack, Emerson, Scott, and the full company will re-appear at the Alhambra to night in a new programme.

New Music.

We have received from the publisher, M. Gray, 623 and 625 Clay street, "The Vivian Medley," founded on the popular songs sung by C. Vivian. It is arranged for the pianoforte by H. M. Bosworth, and was played with great success by Schlotte and Schmidt's Orchestra at the Mechanic's Institute Fair. Also "The Challenge Galop" by the same composer, which has become a favorite with those attending the Fair.

Scarcity of Women.

An English preacher, we are told, declares as one having authority, that there are twelve times as many women in Heaven as men, and, by a parity of reasoning, there must be twelve times as many men as women in the other place not to be mentioned to ears polite. How the reverend Briton got his information, or why he fixed upon the proportion of twelve to one instead of twenty to one, we are not informed; but it adds a new horror to the lower hot settlements to know that when pain and anguish wring the brow there, the ministering angels will be scarce. We are scarcely convinced of the truth of his statement, however. We think that when a man is going to the devil he generally contrives to drag at least one woman with him.

A Marriage in High Life.

The following elegantly sketched description of a recent fashionable wedding, is especially commended to the Chronicle as a model of style in that sort of thing. It was translated from a Dakotah daily especially for the Petersburg Index:

A brilliant assembly convened on Sunday at the palatial wigwam of the venerable chief Glasseye, to celebrate the nuptials of his blooming daughter, French-Mustard, and the valiant young chieftain Whisky Straight. The bride was gorgeously apparelled in a magenta horse blanket, trimmed with a three-ply carpet, cut bias. The happy pair proceeded at once to Ground Hog's Glory, the country ranche of Ace-High, the groom's uncle, where they purpose to tarry half a moon.

W's V's.

There is a tradition that in its earlier days, a California paper appeared with this paragraph: "VVe have no vv in our type, as there is none in the Spanish alphabeth. VVe have sent to the Sandvvich Islands for this letter; in the meantime vve must use tvvo V's." Sam Weller would have found no trouble in the lack of W's, as he spelled his name Samivel Veller.

Not Very Strange.

It is now said that the unfortunate woman in New York, whose demise furnished the basis of the sensation story of the cholera having appeared in that city, was taken off by just such an attack as one might expect to follow a repast of twenty over-ripe peaches, two cantaloupes and a watermelon, which was her last banquet.

HOOSAC TUNNEL.—Years ago, when the project of a route to the West through the Hoosac Mountain was first started, the late Rev. Thomas Whittemore, President of the Vermont and Massachusetts Railroad, was in the western part of the State, and an enthusiastic tunnel man was urging the importance and feasibility of the enterprise. "Why," said he, "look at the route. It seems as if the finger of Providence had pointed it out." "What a pity," said the old minister, "the finger hadn't been run through the mountain."

GOOD TEST.—Agassiz says that in certain Amazonian tribes, on the day of his marriage while the wedding festivities are going on, the bridegroom's hands are tied up in a paper bag filled with fire ants. If he bear this torture smilingly and unmoved, he is fit for the trials of matrimony.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

TWO FOOLS.

A Remarkable Feat of Pistol Shooting.

[From the Cleveland Herald of July 21st.]

On Friday evening, Captain Travis, the celebrated pistol shot, volunteered to shoot an apple, a la William Tell, from the head of Henry Miller, at the Theater Comique—and he did it successfully. At the appointed time Mr. Miller took his seat at the further end of the stage, Captain Travis being seated in a private box some twelve paces distant. He took aim, and the apple was pierced near the center, but not stirred, apparently, from the head of Miller. We are in doubt which most to compliment, the accomplishment of Captain Travis or the wonderful nerve of Mr. Miller, who sat as cool as if he was eating his dinner, when the diversion of a fraction of an inch might have sent the ball from the pistol crushing through his brain. Mr. Miller describes the sensation as very peculiar while sitting in the chair waiting for the final shot. He says he felt as though he could not move if he tried ever so hard to do so, and when the pistol was fired he felt something like an electric thrill or shock pass through his whole frame. Captain Travis has been noted for many years as the best pistol shot ever known, and the feat he accomplished Friday evening shows that with advancing years he has lost none of his marvelous accomplishments with the pistol.

A Touch of Nature.

RICHMOND, Va., August 11, 1871.

To the Editor of the Journal of Commerce:

The following incident, that comes direct from one of the parties concerned, conveys an instruction which may well be laid to heart by the good people North and South:

Mrs. B., a Southern lady, who had lost a son, an only child, in the Confederate army, was sitting in the parlor of a hotel in St. Louis, when a Northern lady entered the room. A conversation soon commenced, when, after the exchange of a few words, the Northern lady asked:

"Were you in this city during the war?"

"No, madam," was the reply, "I was in the South."

"What!" on the rebel side?"

"Yes, and lost a son, an only child, in our army."

The Northern lady arose at once from her seat and throwing her arms around the neck of her late enemy, exclaimed:

"Then, we can deeply sympathize with one another. I too lost a noble boy, an only child, in the army of the Union; and both our darlings died convinced that they were doing their duty."

One of these dear ones was "a rebel," the other a "Yankee."

SPEEDY PUNISHMENT.—It is related that when Commodore Biddle was paying a visit to a Japanese junk in Jeddo Bay, in 1846, a sentry pushed him back into his gig, as he was clambering over the bulwarks. The Commodore's official wrath was kindled; he returned to his ship and sent a peremptory demand for an apology and indemnity for the insult. The reply was returned as speedily as the circumstances would admit that the sentry had acted without orders, but that his head, which had been already cut off, was at the Commodore's service.

GENEROUS.—An Indiana paper lately refused to publish eulogies gratis, but added, "We will publish the simple announcement of the death of any of our friends with pleasure."

MAD.—Irish and irate cabby—"What d're mane, running forneust the horse's head? If I had knocked ye down and kilt ye, ye'd be jumpin' up an' blaming me."

LARGEST PEACH.—Kansas brags of having the largest peach of the year. It measures eleven inches and weighs ten and a half ounces. Cannot some of our California orchards beat it?

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

The Elixir of Youth.

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

On the way home after visiting the Fairat the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

CHANCE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city, while the furnitures and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual.

Below Montgomery Block.

FRIDAY.....SEPTEMBER 1, 1871

Rough on John.

John B. Gough tells the following story, though the joke be at his own expense. Once while on a lecturing tour through England, he was introduced to a village audience in these terms :

Ladies and gentlemen, I 'ave the 'onor to introduce the distinguished lecturer, John B. Gough, who will address us on the subject of temperance. You know that temperance is thought to be rather a dry subject; but this evening as we listen to our friend, the horator, from hover the hocean, we may 'ope to 'ave the miracle of Sampson repeated, and to be refreshed with water from the jaw-bone of a hass.

A Mistake.

The Chronicle has a letter from "a subscriber" complaining of the crowded condition of the curbstone at the corner of Montgomery and California street, and heads it "Curbstone brokers." There is very little broker business transacted at the corner in question just at present; it is the great political exchange where people meet to swap votes, and we fear "a subscriber" must put up with the nuisance until the election is over.

Fatal Interference.

A. F. Patton, who shot and mortally wounded C. H. Engleke, in Alameda, on Wednesday last, says he only fired one shot, and that "only when he found his life depended on it." The fact is that he had murdered the cow, beheaded two ducks and two hens, and was about to kill the dog, when Engleke interfered with his harmless amusement by firing at him. It is a pity he was discovered before he had finished his fun.

Touching Epitaph.

A marble cutter near Lockport recently received from a German an order for a tombstone with the following epitaph : "My wife Susan is dead: if she'd lived till net Friday she'd been ded shust two weeks. As a tree falls so must she stand. All things is impossible mit God."

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again.

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit.

Who Don't Know

That to achieve the greatest desideratum in business "patronage" a person must be liberal in his outlay, by purchasing the best material, employing the best workmen, and seeing that his patrons are attentively and courteously waited on, and in a style compatible with the dignity of the establishment he pretends to manage. Such is the golden rule practiced at EAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, as is verified by the bon ton seen there daily, who are likewise to be seen at the Opera and all distinguished resorts of the city. x

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents. x

Mrs. C. Cook,

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

Ward's Celebrated Shirts

At old stand, cor. 3d and Market. A. Levine.

"Uneasy Rests the Head

"That wears a crown" unless it has one of Shaber & Co's wonderful easy chairs—the best and cheapest ever offered to the public. Coin will buy furniture and bedding of Shaber & Co. at very low rates.

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one.

New Furnishng Goods,

Cheap, at the What Cheer Laundry.

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices.

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoilt, send them to the What Cheer Laundry.

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Do You Know

That with BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Deming, agent, office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 113 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco.

Sad Fate of a Frog.

In Marine City, Mich., the other day, a young man was walking out with some young ladies, when he found a small frog, and holding it in the palm of his hand, brought it near his mouth, which he opened wide. The juvenile croaker, seeing what appeared to be a place of refuge, gave a jump into the cave. The young man looked very red in the face, and the young ladies looked down in the mouth, but the frog has never been seen from that day to this.

We Think So, To.

Olive Logan, speaking of the Fifteenth Amendment, says it is time we "lifted the white woman to our lips." We have felt that way for a long time, but we like those the best who are tall enough to undergo the operation without "lifting."

"The Demosthenic Monthly."

The first number of the "Demosthenic Monthly," published by the Demosthenic Literary Society, has made its appearance. It is a bright little paper, far above the average of amateur publications in literary ability and original thought.

It costs $75 to thrash one's mother-in-law in Chicago, but it is not stated how much such an enterprise would cost in Salt Lake.

In 1846 there were fourteen daily newspapers in Boston and now there are only eight.

Look Out!

Remember on Tuesday evening, September 5th, Johnny Tuers will take his first benefit at the Theatre Comique. A tremendous bill will be presented. x

The Immortal Squarza.

Squarza has departed from the Golden State, but he has left his works behind him, and even when he dies they will live after him. A magnificent monument to his memory may be seen in the Mechanics' Fair. It is composed of bottles filled with the spiritual essences which he so happily combined to make merry the hearts of men, and is surmounted by a well-executed image of Squarza himself, supported by figures representing the infant Bacchus. Something of the same kind will be exhibited at the State Fair at Sacramento, and here and there and everywhere will Squarza's famous punches bear off the first premium.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Artificial Limbs,

Dr. Bly's Patent. McNeo Spring, manufacturer, S.W. cor. Second and Jessie sts.

A Sensation in Hats.

The new Fall and Winter styles are fast arriving at "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. One in particular has already been adopted as the fashion; it is a fine low-crowned felt hat, with a curved brim, and is called "The Grand Duke." Those who wish to be in the fashion must go to "THE" Hat Store, long famed for having the latest styles and for its moderate prices. x

Throw Out Your Chest!

A man should stand up like a man, throw out his chest and throw his shoulders back, thus giving room for the free action of the lungs. The Champion and Pivot-action Braces sold by O. H. Burr, sole agent for the Pacific Coast, 818 Market street, will be found to afford efficient aid in accomplishing this. They are superior to all others, and cost no more.

New York Dry Goods Store.

313 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.

Washing Returned in One Day

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry. x

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices. x

TWIGGA, OR WHITE SAGE HAIR RESTORATIVE, stops the hair from falling out, and is the surest cure for baldness ever discovered. For sale by Charles E. Hinckley, chemist and apothecary, 32 Post street.

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few door below What Cheer House.

The Radical Rheumatic

Eradicator—the only known remedy. Frank H. Lashier, proprietor, No. 206 Fourth street San Francisco.

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Go and try it at Shaeffer, Walter & Co's, 302 Battery st.

To the Unfortuate.

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Private entrance on Commercial street. Established in 1854, for the treatment of chronic and special complaints. Dr. Gibbon will make no charge unless he effects a cure.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre—Benefit of W. R. Cranna.

To-night a benefit tendered to Wm. R. Cranna by many of our best citizens will come off at this theatre. The performance will consist of the thrilling drama of "Retribution; or, the Wind and the Whirlwind," in which G. B. Waldron, Miss Isabel Smythe and the Metropolitan theatre company will appear. The evening's entertainment will conclude with an olio consisting of of a recitation by Samuel Percy; "The Treadmill" by Josh Davis; "Horatio on the Bridge" by Pierpont Thayer, and a negro act by the Winthrop Brothers. To-morrow afternoon and evening the splendid sensation play of "The Octoroon," whose successful run was interrupted by the production of Signor Morley's opera and Mr. Cranna's benefit, will be re-produced and should draw large audiences as this play has seldom if ever been presented in San Francisco with an equally good distribution of parts.

Alhambra Theatre.

A crowded house greeted Emerson's Minstrels on their re-appearance last night at the Alhambra Theatre, after their return from San Jose, where they played three nights. The performance went off in the most lively style, everything being encored. Vivian's songs were applauded till the theatre rang again; "Italian Airs," by Billy Emerson, S. S. Purdy, M. Ainsley Scott, George Ashton, and Master Eugenia, caused much amusement; Charley Howard appeared in one of his very best old darkey characterizations, "Happy Uncle John;" "The Wonderful African Dwarf Tommy" made his re-appearance; Sheridan and Mack appeared in their Dutch specialties, and the performance concluded with "Troubles in the Green Room," in which the whole company appeared and Sheridan made one of the biggest hits of the season, as Kitty rom Cork. The same excellent bill will be played to-night, and to morrow there will be a matinee for the ladies and children at half the usual prices.

California Theatre.

The performance to-night will be for the benefit of the veteran actor and stage manager, W. H. Sedley Smith. The evening's entertainment will commence with the comedietta of "Blue Devils," after which the highly successful sensation play written by W. H. Sedley Smith and Fred. Lyster, which has drawn crowded houses during the week, will be played again. "Ready," with its supe b scenery, thrilling situations and local bits, has b.t two nights more to run, and all should see it before it is shelved to make way for Mrs. Bowers. It will be played at the matinee to-morrow.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Signor Carmini Morley's new and ori ginal serio comic opera entitled "The First Kiss; or, the Rival Tenors" was produced last night before a highly fashionable audience. In the fashion the opera was presented last night it can scarcely be criticised. Lack of sufficient rehearsal was painfully evident, principals and orchestra losing their cues and becoming utterly bewildered. We heard enough of the opera, however, to convince us that it is a musical composition of much merit, of the French school rather than the English or Itali an. The libretto is badly written, halting rhyme and silly prose being jumbled together in the most incongruous manner. Miss Pomeroy sings well, moves gracefully on the stage, has abundant self possession and filled her role with much credit Signor Morley was terribly nervous and could not do justice to his part last night, however Miss Belle Thomas has a voice of con siderable power, which is however lacking in harmony; M Charles was excellent as Camaglio, and some of the choruses were well sung. We claim for the new opera the right of another hearing after further rehearsal.

Platt's Hall.

The Royal Yeddo Troupe of Japanese performers will appear but one night more. Gangero is a whole show in himself, and Tyou, Spider, Tumi and Kumi, Kangero, the Japanese belles Fatsan and Okami in dances, Yannanowagh's butterfly trick and Otoksan's graceful performance on the slack wire are all attractive, and the liberal applause bestowed proves how well satisfied with the performance are all who attend. For the convenience of families, a grand matinee, at half price to all parts of the house, will be given to morrow which will be the last appearance of the troupe in this city. As the performance to-night is for the benefit of Gangero, who has done so much to astonish and delight our citizens, the house should be crowded.

Bella Union Theatre.

Ella Wesner's rollicking song, "Slap Dash," is a great favorite. "Champagne Charley" has by general request been revived, and the selections from her repertoire which she sings this week are all very popular. Aline Le Favre appears in the extravaganza in a gorgeous Chinese costume, fashionable evening dress as Pretty Charley, and beautiful satin tunic and tights at the close and looks bewitching in dress; the Reynolds Brothers, Miss Josephine, Fanny Garretson, and the talented company perform a rich programme of songs, acts and dances.

Theatre Comique.

Maggie Knight, Zadie Zelmar, Miss Lotta, H. Howard, A. P. Durand, Kelly, Scott and Mathews, the clog dancers; and a host of others will appear to-night in a great bill. Fanny Webster's song, "The Great Unknown," has made a hit.

Oxford Theatre.

The sensational burlesque of "Help" entitled "Burning" crowds this house nightly. Charley Vincent shows his versatilty by appearing in many different characters, and is ably supported by Miss Amelia Dean, Lew Parker and others.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

Woodward's Gardens.

In addition to the thousand and one beautiful and curious things to be seen at this delightful resort, the Fiji Indians will be on exhibition to-day, and the price of admission to everything to be seen in the gardens will still be only twenty-five cents.

The Skating Rink.

The fascinating Carrie Moore gives an exhibition every evening at the Occidental Skating Rink, opposite the Mechanics' Fair Pavilion.

Life in Paris—As it Is.

[Paris Correspondent of London Times.]

At present most things are very dear in Paris. There is a great fall in the price of apartments, but food is decidedly dear—fruit and vegetables exceedingly so, owing. it is said, to the cold, wet Spring and early Summer, and probably also to the destruction of many market gardens in the neighborhood, and to the crowded state of the railways, rendering it difficult to bring up those large supplies which generally come from the far south. From this latter cause there is a scarcity, also, of the commoner sorts of wine, which were drunk during the siege, and have not yet been replaced. The hot weather which has now come in declared extremely opportune for the prospects of the harvest, and any more rain is earnestly deprecated. The hotelkeepers complain of the great difficulty in which they find themselves, desiring on one the hand, by moderate charges to tempt foreigners to Paris, while on the other, there are certain things they cannot supply at the old prices without positive loss. The sudden and violent heat has caused a great exodus of Parisians. The papers say that the Prefecture of Police cannot supply passports fast enough, and that the issue lately has been 7,000 to 8,000 per day. It is observed that a great many women are leaving the city, some of them wives of partisans of the Commune now in prison, and widows of the fallen, who are either returning to their families or seeking existence in some cheaper place. It is said not a few members of the demi-monde are included in the emigration. One reason why Paris is at present inconvenient residence, especially for persons of small means, is the scarcity of carriages, or, at least, of horses to draw them. Prices are exorbitant, and tariffs totally disregarded.

WENT AHEAD.—"What are you disturbing the whole house with your yells in this way for?" demanded a New Jersey landlord of a guest whom he found late at night seemingly in pursuit of inviable foes, and yealing at the top of his voice. "I'm shouting the battle-cry of fleadom," answered the guest, as he went ahead with his search and yells.

IRREVERENTLY. — Young men nowadays have a shocking disregard for the Scriptures. Solomon said: "Go to the ant, thou sluggard;" and yet the majority of our sluggards irreverently persist in going to their uncles!

CLASSIFIED.—A leading lecturer classifies his audience as follows: The "still-attentives," the "quick-responsives," the "hard-to-lifts," the "won't-applauds," and the "get up-and-go-outs."

CIRCUITOUS.— The distance between the post-offices of Lynn and Swampscott is about two miles, while a letter sent by mail from one place to the other travels twenty-three miles by railroad.

INSTEAD.—Some one asserts on good authority that the "early bird caught cold, instead of a worm."

DESCRIPTIVE.—"2th picks" appears on a vass in a Danbury boarding-house.

The Orchestral Grand Piano.

Hallet, Davis & Co., makers—has arrived. This is the finest piano in the world. Visitors at the Fair should see this instrument. Other styles of these celebrated pianos can be seen at the warerooms of W. G. Badger, sole agent, No. 7 Sansome street. 7

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

Vivian's Treadmill Song.

"Ten Thousand Miles Away," and all the Popular Songs of the day, price five cents, or three songs for ten cents, at Cohen's, 912 Kearny, bet. Jackson and Pacific streets. 10,000 old songs for sale.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge.

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Dr. Barlow J. Smith

Gives Free Lectures (to Gentlemen only) every Friday evening, commencing at 8, at his Hygeian Hall, 637 California st., and examines patients phrenologically as to health, gratis.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the chief American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail.

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY, Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets.

Drs. Macbeth & Grattan's

Medical Institute, No. 322 Bush street, opposite Alhambra Theatre, San Francisco.—Specific and chronic diseases made a specialty, and cures guaranteed in every case according to agreement, or no charge.

Industrial Depot, New Mont. street.

Orders received for sewing by the Magdalens. Machines rented by the day or week.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

It has No Rival.

Purify your blood, strengthen your system, eradicate scrofula and humors of every description, by taking "Fluid Extracts of Sarsaparilla, and Yellow Dock with Iodide of Potash." Prepared by Moody, apothecary, northeast corner of Kearny and Sutter. x

Every Form.

Of chronic diseases cured by chemical treatment of the blood, by Dr. Mortimore at the Morton House, Post street, near Kearny. Especially diseases of the Lungs and Throat, Ozena, Catarrh, disease of the Heart, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Epilepsy, etc.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. His previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while his large connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month as per contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of its kind in the city; while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship August 1st. The Elevator attached to the house to be used as usual. au5 1m

The World's Peace Jubilee.

Mr. Gilmore has been for a long time laying plans for a contemplated international musical festival in Boston, next June, and having set the ball in motion, has sailed for Europe to interest foreign potentates in the enterprise. There is but little doubt—in the minds of Bostonians, at least—of the success of his undertaking. It is proposed to hold the Jubilee from June 17 to July 4—two weeks—one day to be dedicated to each nation represented, and to be devoted to the performance of the music of that nation. Twenty thousand singers will render the vocal music, and the instrumental will be performed by an orchestra of two thousand musicians. A coliseum is to be erected capable of seating 100,000 people—an audience of 79,000 with 22,000 performers. The form of the proposed coliseum is a quadrilateral parallelogram 422½ feet wide by 822½ feet long, covering an area of 346,734 feet, or nearly eight acres. The roof, without the elevations for the windows, monitor, etc., will have the appearance of an elongated dome, as it rounds up toward the centre from the ends as well as the sides. The height of elevation is 53 feet; the height of roof outside, 172 feet; from the parquet floor inside, 160 feet; height of corridor floor, 32 feet; length of corridor, 2,188 feet; width of corridor, 18 feet. There will be four towers, each 120 feet high, one in the centre of each end, and one in each side, on which will be emblems representing the four quarters of the globe. Sixteen towers, each sixty-eight feet high, will be over the different entrances ornamented with the flags and coats-of-arms of the different nationalities. There will be two towers, one on each extremity of the roof, 216 feet high, and a grand central tower 240 feet high. Between these three towers will be a slated monitor sixteen feet high, for purposes of ventilation.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table. *

Precisely

For the same reason that the ladies have determined to calceate for the Fair, the opposite sex, to be in juxtaposition, have determined to purchase their Patent Leather Oxford Ties and Dancing Pumps at Kast's Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre. x

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again. *

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XXX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit. *

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar sounding titles. Be not deceived. Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one. *

LETTER FROM SACRAMENO.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

DEAR FIGARO:—After a long silence I again address you.

But very little has been doing here in the way of amusements since the close of the regular dramatic season, and the companies that have been here, with the exception of that under Bert during the Joe Murphy engagement, have not fared over and above well. The Agatha States Italian Opera Troupe did a very good business, and their performances were satisfactory. These were about the most successful exhibitions, and their presence was a source of gratification to the amusement-seekers of our burgh.

Joseph Proctor, the popular manager of our Metropolitan Theatre, arrived in this city by the overland train of to-day. He is looking exceedingly well, and brings with him a full complement of plays, designs and appliances for the proper presentation of sensational and spectacular dramas. He has also succeeded in getting together a splendid stock company, including some of the old favorites of last season and several new people from the East. During his absence the Metropolitan has been undergoing thorough renovation; a new stage has been put in, and by the time set for the inauguration of the new dramatic season—the 16th of September—the house will be one of the cleanest, most commodious and comfortable resorts in the State. Next week I will send you a full list of the company engaged by Proctor for the coming season.

Paymaster J. Adams Smith, of the U. S. S. "Kearsage," will lecture at the Theatre to-night, on the celebrated naval contest between the "Kearsage" and "Alabama."

It was hoped that the famous Emerson Minstrel Company would have favored us with their presence this week, and much disappointment is expressed at their non-ability to appear. The songs of Billy Emerson and Chas. Vivian are very popular here. *

Vivian's Treadmill Song.

"Ten Thousand Miles Away," and all the Popular Songs of the day, price five cents, or three songs for ten cents, at Cohen's, 912 Kearny, bet. Jackson and Pacific streets. 10,000 old songs for sale. *

Reduced Prices.

Guerin & Son, prize boot and shoe makers, 327 and 329 Bush street. Must sell $35,000 worth of boots and shoes within 60 days. Call and examine our stock. x

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf. *

Look Out!

Remember on Tuesday evening, September 5th, Johnny Tuers will take his first benefit at the Theatre Comique. A tremendous bill will be presented. x

The Immortal Squarza.

Squarza has departed from the Golden State, but he has left his works behind him, and even when he dies they will live after him. A magnificent monument to his memory may be seen in the Mechanics' Fair. It is composed of bottles filled with the spiritual essences which he so happily combined to make merry the hearts of men, and is surmounted by a well-executed image of Squarza himself, supported by figures representing the infant Bacchus. Something of the same kind will be exhibited at the State Fair at Sacramento, and here and there and everywhere will Squarza's famous punches bear off the first premium. *

Artificial Limbs,

Dr. Bly's Patent. Menzo Spring, manufacturer, S.W. cor. Second and Jessie sts. *

A Sensation in Hats

The new Fall and Winter styles are fast arriving at "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. One in particular has already been adopted as the fashion; it is a fine low-crowned felt hat, with a curved brim, and is called "The Grand Duke." Those who wish to be in the fashion must go to "THE" Hat Store, long famed for having the latest styles and for its moderate prices. x

Throw Out Your Chest!

A man should stand up like a man, throw out his chest and throw his shoulders back, thus giving room for the free action of the lungs. The Champion and Pivot-action Braces sold by C. H. Burr, sole agent for the Pacific Coast, 518 Market street, will be found to afford efficient aid in accomplishing this. They are superior to all others, and cost no more. *

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—The thrilling play of "The Octoroon" will be presented at the matinee to-day and again this evening, G. B. Waldron as Jacob McCloskey, Miss Isabel Smythe as Dora Sunnyside, Miss Sallie Hinckley as Zoe, James H. Hardie as Salem Scudder, J. H. Vinson as old Pete, and the other members of the company in their respective parts, act finely, and the play as a whole has seldom been better presented on the California stage.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—A capital house was present last night when W. H. Sedley Smith took his benefit, and the performance gave general satisfaction. This afternoon "Ready" will be performed, and to-night for the last time. As there is no probability of this attractive piece being revived, those who have not yet seen it should go to-night, and those who have seen it should also go to take a farewell look at the beautiful Vernal Fall, as it will be long ere they look upon its like again in any theatre. On Monday Mrs. D. P. Bowers commences her engagement, opening in "Lidy Aurdly's Secret."

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—A great performance will be given this afternoon by Emerson's Minstrels. Billy Emerson, C. Vivian, Charley Howard, Sheridan and Mack, and S. S. Purdy, will all appear in some of their most popular specialties, including character songs, "Happy Uncle John," Dutch characterizations, "Italian Airs," and "The Wonderful African Dwarf Tommy." The performance will conclude with the very popular afterpiece of "Troubles in the Green Room," in which Billy Emerson makes the audience shout with laughter, and Sheridan and Mack's Barndoor Jig fairly brings down the house.

BELLA UNION.—To-night the talented and original Ella Wesner will appear in a new budget of character songs; the daring and graceful Johnny Manning will perform on the trapeze; the ever-pleasing and attractive Aline Le Favre will appear in the extravaganza of "A Lad and his Lamp," which has run so successfully for the last two weeks; the Reynolds Brothers will present their popular double song and dance "My Love she is a Cook;" J. H. Larkin will appear in his Dutch specialties, and altogether a capital bill will be performed.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—Constant improvements are being made at this cosy little theatre; new scenery, new performers and new acts are presented in rapid succession. The public never weary of little Maggie Knight; Johnny Tuers keeps the audience in good humor all the time he is on the stage; the great trio of clog dancers Kelly, Mathews and Scott, are loudly applauded. Great bill for Johnny Tuers' benefit on Tuesday night.

THE OXFORD.—New plays, new songs, new acts and new performers are constantly being brought out at the Oxford. The last additions to the strong company engaged here are Dan Lowrey and the popular vocalist, Miss Lizzie Worrell. "Burning" continues its successful run, but must shortly be removed to make way for other novelties.

PLATT'S HALL.—The benefit of Gangero, the inimitable Japanese juggler, was well attended last night, and his astonishing feats with the swords and bottle drew as much applause as ever. This afternoon at the matinee, the Royal Yeddo Troupe will make their last appearance in this city, when they will perform some of their most wonderful feats: Tamekichi will ascend the ladder of swords; the Japanese belle, Otoksan, will give her thrilling performance on the slack rope; difficult balancing feats by Tyou and Allright; aerial evolutions by Kingero, and Professor Gangero, on this, the occasion of his farewell appearance, will perform some new and difficult feats of jugglery. The admission to all parts of the house is half price, and ladies and children will doubtless take advantage of this final opportunity to see the best Japanese troupe ever in San Francisco.

HAYES PARK.—Anyone wishing a good day's sport should go to these gardens to-morrow. The retail butchers will give a grand barbecue and ball under the direction of a committee of arrangements composed of prominent citizens. Among other attractions a 1 000 pound ox will be roasted. Tickets admitting gentlemen and ladies, one dollar.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—In addition to the thousand and one beautiful and curious things to be seen at this delightful resort, the Fiji Indians will be on exhibition to-day and to-morrow, and the price of admission to everything to be seen in the gardens will still be only twenty-five cents.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Hundreds will drive out to this famous hostelry to-morrow, and enjoy a dinner with appetites sharpened by the sea breeze. Captain Foster's chef is famous, the wines are excellent. Dine at the Cliff House to-morrow and you will dine well.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

SUNDAY EXCURSION.—There is not within miles of this city a more delightful spot than the groves of San Rafael. The steamer Contra Costa will leave the wharf on Davis street, near Vallejo, to-morrow at 10½ A. M., on an excursion.

S. S. PURDY.—To-morrow night this very popular Ethiopian comedian, who has given great satisfaction during his engagement with Emerson's Minstrels, will make his last appearance. He leaves on Monday for the East to fill an engagement commencing on the 11th. Purdy goes East with a good San Francisco endorsement, we shall be glad to see him back again.

MRS. D. P. BOWERS.—This talented actress will on Monday commence an engagement at the California Theatre opening in the character of Lady Audley, in which she stands without a rival

OFF FOR PORTLAND.—Mrs. Tony Pastor, Mme. Lopez and pupils and Miss Clara Starr left on the steamer for Portland yesterday, under engagement to appear at the Theatre Comique.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them. *

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SAN JOSE.—The Emerson Minstrels opened at San Jose on Monday and continued Tuesday and Wednesday to good business. The Guide says:

They are, without doubt, the best company of the kind that ever visited San Jose. Emerson himself is a whole troupe while Vivian cannot be excelled. His "Champagne Charley" and "Ten Thousand Miles Away," are good; but Emerson's burlesques on the same piece are better. Howard made a hit as a plantation darkey; Sheridan and Mack, the versatilists, we do not think have an equal in quick changes. On the whole the performance was a grand success.

OAKLAND.—The New York Mammoth Circus performed on Monday. On Thursday a concert at St. John's Church was well attended.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—The Enterprise of the 30th ult says:

We are informed by Thomas & Co., of this city that they have secured Piper's Opera House for next Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights for the purpose of giving an exhibition of their new panorama of the Franco-Prussian war.

PORTLAND, O.—Barker's Panorama of San Francisco, Yosemite Valley, and California and Oregon scenery was exhibited on the 25th and 26th at the Oro Fino Theatre.

VALLEJO.—Professor Haselmeyer gave an entertainment at Eureka Hall on Thursday.

OMAHA.—The Atlantic and Pacific Circus exhibits on the 23d and 24th. Sam Sharpley's Silver Show, consisting of a magical entertainment and gifts of silverware, drew a good house at Mozart Hall on the 23d ult.

SALT LAKE.—The stock company are playing at the theatre. "The Octoroon" was presented on the 26th ult.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

The New York theatres are preparing for their re-opening for their Fall and Winter seasons.

The San Francisco Minstrels opened August 18th, with Bobby Newcomb, the Buffalo boys, Gibbons, Donniker, Williams, Smith, Buckner, Jack Templeton, Dwyer, Oberist, Shattuck, Stafford, Benson, Dobson, Birch, Wambold, Bernard and Backus.

The Grand Opera House opens Sept. 2d, with Herr Bandmann and wife in "Narcisse." On the 4th will be presented T. C. DeLeon's dramatization of "Edwin Drood." After the run of this piece "Amy Robsart" will be produced.

Augustin Daly's third season at the Fifth Avenue Theatre commences Sept. 5th, with the production of Mr. Daly's latest comedy, entitled "Divorce."

The Lydia Thompson Troupe, at Wallack's Theatre, have made a great hit. Since the 16th they have been greeted by overflowing audiences, whose verdict has been unanimously in their favor.

The William Horace Lingard Dramatic Company begin their traveling season at the Athenæum, Sept 4th. "Una," the joint production of Lingard and Arthur Mathewson, and "Elfie," will be the principal plays given.

The Fall season at the Bowery commenced on the 20th, with Swaine Buckley in the sensational drama of "Across the Track."

Miss Ada Harland made her first appearance at Wood's Museum on the 22d, in Maeder's drama of "Lola." George Boniface has been engaged to support her.

Joseph Emmet in "Fritz" is the attraction at Niblo's.

Sam Ryan is at Tony Pastor's Opera House. Tony Pastor returns and opens his season on the 12th Sept.

The Globe Theatre, after having been thoroughly renovated, opened on the 22d with Josh Hart, the Zitella troupe of gymnasts, a ballet troupe, Prof. J. L. Davis and his performing dogs, James Collins and Martha Wren, and many other popular performers,

The new Union Square Theatre opens Sept. 4th.

Parepa-Rosa inaugurates her opera season with the "Daughter of the Regiment," Oct. 2d.

Edwin Forrest will begin the season at Philadelphia, on the 9th of October, and will play successively in New Orleans, Galveston, Houston, Nashville, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, Albany, probably ending his season of thirty-four weeks in Boston. Mr. Forrest is in excellent health.

Miss Olive Logan has written another comedy. The title is "West Point." This new piece has been purchased by Mr. Daly, and will be brought out at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, in the course of the coming season.

James Robinson's circus was exhibiting at Washington D. C., August 23d.

Ford's New Opera House, Baltimore, is nearly completed. It combines facilites for dramatic performances, concerts, operas, etc, and we suppose for church services too; as the structure will be used by the congregation of the Charles-street Methodist Church, for their meetings until the completion of their new church.

The Chestnut-street Theatre, Philadelphia, will open September 4th, the following company have thus far been engaged: Phillis Glover, Mrs. E. L. Davenport, Lillie Davenport, Miss Maddern, C. R. Thorne, Robert Craig, with Peter Able as treasurer, and W. S. Fredericks as stage manager.

The management of the Arch-street Theatre feel a little timid about the success of this season, and postpone their opening until September 18th. The company is not up to the standard of former years the policy being to run unknown stars with the hope of attracting patronage. Adam Everly, S. Hemple, W. H. Wallis, Mrs. Thayer, Lizzie Price, are in the company.

J. T. Ford has leased the Academy, Philadelphia, to play J. W. Wallack and his star dramatic company for five weeks.

A lady correspondent of a New York journal, traveling in the West, lately witnessed at Denver City what was to her very dreadful—she says, "a revolting, almost ghastly exhibition of woman's rights." At a circus in that city she saw among the performers "two blondes who did the most daring and astonishing things on the trapeze, as acrobats, and, oh, heavens! as tumblers!" The writer adds:

An old-fashioned conservative could not have been more shocked when Elizabeth Blackwell went into medicine and Antoinette Brown into divinity, than I was at seeing these women in horrible undress, swinging and tumbling and plunging heels over head out of their sphere.

"Exhibition of woman's tights" would be better. The correspondent makes all this fuss over the beautifully graceful Romelli Sisters, whom hundreds of our bashful young San Francisco gentlemen looked at night after night, and weren't "phased" a bit.

Watson's Art Journal says of "Little Nell and the Marchioness," in which Lotta and John T. Raymond are playing at Booth's, New York:

The two characters assumed by Miss Lotta are certainly not those created by Dickens. Lotta has fashioned them after her own intelligence: and, while she has only weakened Nell a little, she has entirely remodelled the Marchioness, and made it such an odd mixture of eccentricity and slang that we are startled out of our propriety, and are fain to go with the stream and accept the broad burlesques without inquiring into the material which amuses us. Lotta is a lively, sprightly and versatile girl, with an imperturbable coolness which is equal to any emergency, and enables her to sing effectively with little or no voice, and to dash through a part to the amusement of every one, without being able to act. Whether we should characterize her faculty as talent or impudence, is a matter hardly worth considering at this time. Suffice it now to say that she is attracting crowded houses; that all she does is the right thing in the right thing in the right place, and that shouts of laughter and applause follow every new effort of her eccentricity.

Dick Swiveller was capitally played by John T. Raymond. It was not the Dick of the book, but was evidently conceived after the model of Miss Lotta's Marchioness. It out swivels Swiveller, combining the devil-may-care London cockney and the Mose of a past period—only we do not remember having seen a cockney with soap-locks. The character as conceived was acted with great spirit and much humor. Mr. Raymond carefully sustained Miss Lotta in all her points, and deservedly shared with her the applause of the audience.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever. *

It has No Rival.

The Orchestral Grand Piano.

Hallet, Davis & Co., makers—has arrived. This is the finest piano in the world. Visitors at the Fair should see this instrument. Other styles of these celebrated pianos can be seen at the ware rooms of W. G. Badger, sole agent, No. 7 Sansome street. 7

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone. *

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

J. H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE,

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of this well-known Hotel. Its previous reputation assures its being kept in first-class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reductions in the scale of charges. His intention is to keep it a family and business house, while his long connection with the traveling public warrants him in expecting a large amount of country, Pacific Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month on contract. The table will be kept on the most liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest of the kind in the city, while the furniture and fittings generally are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly overhauled. MR. PEARSON assumed proprietorship on last Tuesday. The Elevator attached to the house will be used as usual. au5 1m

Womens Rights.

We commend the following extract from an English paper, to the attention of Mrs. Pitts Stevens, and the Pioneer people. They might raise a subscription to replace the depleted wardrobe:

An extraordinary assault case came before Sir Colman Rashleigh at Falmouth on Saturday. The complainant, a lady who was visiting at the house of Mr. Stephen Nowell Usticke, a magistrate of the county of Cornwall, interfered on behalf of one of Mr. Usticke's children, with whom the father was angry, and was insulted and struck by him. The lady then knocked Mr. Usticke down, and ran away to a neighboring house, and Mr. Usticke during her absence burned her clothes. The affray took place in the bedroom of Mrs. Usticke, who had been recently confined. Sir Colman Rashleigh inflicted a fine of £5, observing that the defendant had narowly escaped being sent to prison without the option of a fine.

Oh ye gods and little fishes, what's a man without his breeches! He's bad enough; but in the name of all that is pure and holy, what's a woman without her best bustle and her Sunday back hair. Did the fiend burn her chignon? The report sayeth not, but so atrocious a wretch must have been capable of any evil, so we may presume he did. From burning, arson and fiery spite, Good Lord deliver us.

Gentle Reminder.

A gent dropped into one of the Montgomery street saloons the other morning and took a nip, without going through the usual ceremony which follows that operation. As he was going out, the polite barkeeper leaned over the counter and said: "Recollect, sir, if you should lose your purse, you didn't pull it out here." It brought him to time.

A journal testifies to the existence of a young lady who took out fifty-seven hairpins from her coiffure, and yet her hair did not come down.

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf.

Well Established.

A Good Regulation.

At the last meeting of the Regents of the State University, Regent Dwinelle offered the following which was adopted:

Resolved.—That the following be added to the statutes of the University: No Student in the University or Preparatory Department shall, on any pretense, or for any purpose, visit any drinking or billiard saloon in the city or township of Oakland.

Resolved.—That the above be communicated to the Academic Senate of the University, and to the master of the Preparatory Department, with instructions that it be strictly enforced.

This is as it should be. Any student in the University, who would drink in an Oakland bar is certainly unfit to remain there, and should be immediately expelled. The regulation guarding against the students picking up the game of billiards in Oakland, cannot be sufficiently commended. Any man who learned to play billiards in Oakland would be a curse to society at large in after-life, and would drive good players wild with his cow-county scratches. Let the young Oakland students by all means learn to play billiards—to be able to play a passably good game of billiards, is an essential part of every gentleman's education, but let them learn in San Francisco, where John Deery has his Billiard Academy. Dear youths of the University, pursue your academic studies in Oakland, and if you must take a drink, come over to San Francisco by the Chin du Wan—only a bit for fare. Here in the metropolis do your imbibations and your billiards. Obey regulations, shun the wooden billiard tables of Oakland, and the rifle whiskey of rural dead-falls. You cannot always go to Blazes, and even if you could, we don't suppose the Regents would make an exception in favor of that well-regulated hostelry. The regulation is a sweeping one but it is for your good, no Oakland billiards no Oakland drinks shall corrupt the morals of the students of the State University.

A Curious Toy.

A new and timely toy for children has been invented, and will soon be on sale. It is a miniature steamboat, the machinery of which, on being wound up, explodes by means of a spring, scattering a portion of the boat and the little men, women and children by which it is occupied in every direction. The object of this pleasing toy is to familiarize children early with the contingencies of steamboat travel.

The Immortal Squarza.

Squarza has departed from the Golden State, but he has left his works behind him, and even when he dies they will live after him. A magnificent monument to his memory may be seen in the Mechanics' Fair. It is composed of bottles filled with the spiritual essences which he so happily combined to make merry the hearts of men, and is surmounted by a well-executed image of Squarza himself, supported by figures representing the infant Bacchus. Something of the same kind will be exhibited at the State Fair at Sacramento, and here and there and everywhere will Squarza's famous punches bear off the first premium.

Ward's Celebrated Shirts

A Sensation in Hats.

The new Fall and Winter styles are fast arriving at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. One in particular has already been adopted as the fashion; it is a fine low-crowned felt hat, with a curved brim, and is called "The Grand Duke." Those who wish to be in the fashion must go to "The" Hat Store, long famed for having the latest styles and for its moderate prices.

Threw Out Your Chest!

A man should stand up like a man, throw out his chest and throw his shoulders back, thus giving room for the free action of the lungs. The Champion and Pivot-action Braces sold by C. H. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

☞A Mr. Thomas Hanna, in a speech delivered at a meeting held last week in the Tenth Ward, charged me with having assessed a number of firms at a great under-valuation. He singled out seven names and while I do not propose to notice generalities, I feel constrained, in justice to the honor and integrity of the parties named, to offer the official figures and submit the facts in the case.

One firm he alleges I assessed $150,000; another, $175,000; another, $65,000; another, $9,000; another $20,000; again $45,000; and the seventh $2,000, making $466,000.

The first six names were assessed under Mr Wheaton's administration $352,000; under Mr. Harrie, $480,000. They were ASSESSED BY ME $479,000. If this Mr. Hanna had examined with a little more care, and with a desire to avoid bearing false witness against his neighbor, he could have found that the seven names he PICKED OUT were assessed by me at $936,300.

I would suggest that Mr. Hanna should practice the rule of addition and leave detraction and substraction alone. To an intelligent public it is only necessary to mention the fact that the merchants, owing to the facilities of importing goods daily from the East, keep MUCH LESS stock on hand than heretofore, and the foundation for a personal property tax has become reduced fully 30 to 40 per centum.

He states I assessed a piece of property at only $1,400, while I assessed another piece at $2,250. I would submit that the former is 72x109 9-12, while the latter is 120x109 9-12. The gentleman produced a map during the course of his remarks, but the same not being on file in the Assessor's office, I have no means of tracing its lines and boundaries.

Relative to gentlemen seeking me in order to have their assessments corrected, and other generalities indulged in by the speaker, I would say it is mere idle rumor, and as to the matter of Mr. Cole, I will state that he called on me, requesting his assessment to be reduced. This request I declined to accede to, but suggested his submitting the assessment to the consideration of the Board of Equalization.

My records are before the citizens of San Francisco, and to their deliberate judgement I submit my case.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

To-night Mrs. D. P. Bowers, the eminent tragedienne, commences an engagement at this house. Mrs. Bowers has wisely chosen for her first appearance a character in which she stands without a rival on the American stage—Lady Audley. Mrs. Bower's acting in this character is wonderfully good and we are sure that the large audience which will doubtless be present to welcome her back to California will thoroughly enjoy it. Mrs. Bowers will be supported by John McCullough, and the full strength of the California Theatre company, and the play will be put on the stage in perfect style.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night the thrilling drama of the "Octoroon" will be presented for the last time. Miss Fanny Young, a correct and pleasing actress whom the public are always glad to see upon the stage, will fill the role of Zoe, which she played to everyone's satisfaction on Saturday night. Those who have not seen G. B. Waldron in his great character of Jacob McCloskey, should go to the Metropolitan Theatre to-night. To-morrow evening the drama entitled "The Magnolia" will be presented. The public will learn with pleasure that Mrs. F. M. Bates, the popular actress, has been engaged and will shortly appear.

Alhambra Theatre.

The crowds that nightly flock to this theatre attest the popularity of the entertainment given. Vivian is so bright, entertaining and artistic, that he is a great favorite, (he takes a benefit on Friday); Billy Emerson is always fresh and original; the scene entitled "Italian Airs," causes immense fun and Master Eugenia gains her full share of the applause; Charley Howard as Happy Uncle John, is a perfect realization of the old plantation darkey; Sheridan and Mack's Dutch songs and dances are wonderfully good, and the capital afterpiece of "Troubles in the Greenroom" sends the audience home in a good humor.

Bella Union Theatre.

Extraordinary attractions will be presented at the Bella Union Theatre to-night. The talented Ella Wesner will appear in new character songs; Johnny Manning the most graceful of gymnasts, will go through his performance on the trapeze, which is nightly received with great applause; the Reynolds Brothers will appear in song and dance, and the performance will conclude with the new sensational drama of "The Game of life, or the Modern Harem," with the charming Aline La Favre as Anna the blonde of the Harem.

Theatre Comique.

Little Maggie Knight the new Lotta, appears nightly in song and dance and character acts, Miss Lotta in pretty ballads, Rosa Vincent and Blanche in double Highland Fling, the trio, Johnny Kelly, Chris Mathews and Bobby Scott in clog dances, Ida Fish in song and dance, Fanny Webster in comic songs, Rose Durand in character song, and a multitude of others in a diversified entertainment.

Oxford Theatre.

The Management of the Oxford announce a great bill for to-night. After, a capital first part and varied interlude, Charley Vincent's new and original burlesque on "Ready," will be presented with nine new scenes after—a long way after—the originals by Porter. Charley Vincent will appear as Capt. Rose Catch-thief, a detective never ready when wanted; Amelia Dean as Susie, his wife, Hughey Morton as Archibald Flathead, Lew Parker as Samuel Scroggins, and the rest of the company in the other characters. The last Oxford burlesque proved an immense success, and this will doubtless crowd the house for many an evening.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Fiji Islanders appear daily at this delightful suburban resort and perform their war dance.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

The Skating Rink.

The fascinating Carrie Moore gives an exhibition every evening at the Occidental Skating Rink, opposite the Mechanics' Fair Pavilion.

"Pigeon, the Torment."

The above is the title of a new domestic play, in five acts, intended as a companion piece to "Fanchon, the Cricket," written by Howard P. Taylor of this city, which will be produced at the Metropolitan Theatre on next Friday evening. It will be put on the stage in gorgeous style, new scenery being painted for its production. Mrs. F. M. Bates will enact the part of Pigeon, and the other characters will be placed in competent hands.

Miss Lizzie Ingles.

This young actress who recently made her debut in Victoria, B. C., and has just returned from Los Angelis, where she played an engagement with Mrs. F. M. Bates, and will shortly appear at one of the theatres in this city.

Saturday's Figaro.

In order to remind our advertisers and those who are short-sighted enough not to advertise in FIGARO, that our boast of being "here, there and everywhere," is well-founded, we may mention that Saturday's FIGARO was distributed among no less than fifteen assemblages of people, at the theatres, Hayes Park and Woodward's Gardens. Verbum sap.

The Republican Procession.

Great preparations have been made for the grand Republican Procession which is to take place to-night, and which will be the crowning event of the campaign.

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day.—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

LETTER FROM GEO. CONSTABLE.

COUNCIL BLUFF, August 26th, 1871.

DEAR FIGARO:—The Atlantic and Pacific Circus, C. H. Pratt, proprietor, crossed the Missouri river yesterday and opened in Council Bluff last night, being the first California Circus that ever showed on that turbid stream, or in fact, east of the Rocky Mountains. We have done a fine business. All the people say our California Circus is better than any they have had from the East; and you know everything is from California—horses, wagons, harness, and every bit of property. We have got H. C. Lee and Family, Duverney the contortionist, W. Vincent, A. Lehman, the Romelli Family and C. Bliss as performers, and A. Kalmbach, Geo. Cargil, L. Myers, Frank Morris and Jacob Kohler in the band. Harry Sprague has the side show, Jerry Dodge is agent, and your humble scribe is clown—all California people except the Romellis.

C. L. Graves, from San Francisco, is in Omaha, giving concerts with some colored girls (the Hyers Sisters) from Sacramento, doing well.

We would like to engage Painter and Durand if they are to be had. We open in Nebraska City on the 1st of September, and stay two days. We are to winter in Texas. Yours,

GEO. CONSTABLE.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone.

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

Assessor Rosener.

The political sensation of the day, the charges against Assessor Rosener and their refutations, will be found fully ventilated in to-day's FIGARO.

The Immortal Squarza.

Squarza has departed from the Golden State, but he has left his works behind him, and even when he dies they will live after him. A magnificent monument to his memory may be seen in the Mechanics' Fair. It is composed of bottles filled with the spiritual essences which he so happily combined to make merry the hearts of men, and is surmounted by a well-executed image of Squarza himself, supported by figures representing the infant Bacchus. Something of the same kind will be exhibited at the State Fair at Sacramento, and here and there and everywhere will Squarza's famous punches bear off the first premium. *

A Sensation in Hats.

The new Fall and Winter styles are fast arriving at "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. One in particular has already been adopted as the fashion; it is a fine low-crowned felt hat, with a curved brim, and is called "The Grand Duke." Those who wish to be in the fashion must go to "THE" Hat Store, long famed for having the latest styles and for its moderate prices. x

Throw Out Your Chest!

A man should stand up like a man, throw out his chest and throw his shoulders back, thus giving room for the free action of the lungs. The Champion and Pivot-action Braces sold by O. H. BURT, sole agent for the Pacific Coast, 818 Market street, will be found to afford efficient aid in accomplishing this. They are superior to all others, and cost no more. *

Russ House Carriages,

Sam Moore, proprietor. Any style of team with all the latest improvements at reduced rates. Careful and gentlemanly drivers in all cases. Leave orders at the Russ House. x

P. Liesenfeld,

First Premium Billiard Manufactory, 535 and 537 Sacramento st., keeps a full assortment of billiard tables, balls, cues, and all articles connected with the trade. First Premium awarded at the late Industrial Fair. x

Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf. *

Well Established.

A thoroughly good article which has stood the test of time, is never allowed to fall into disuse; every year the sale of Cassin's XX Wild Grape Bitters increases, and thousands can bear testimony to their merit. *

Horton's Tobacco Antidote

Will destroy the appetite for tobacco. Its great success has originated many spurious imitations under the name of Orton's, Burton's, and other similar-sounding titles. Be not deceived. Take only Horton's. See that the name of Hug & Schmidt, 535 Commercial st., is on the wrapper. HUG & SCHMIDT, Successors to P. J. Reilly, Agents x

Dr. Barlow J. Smith

Gives Free Lectures (to Gentlemen only) every Friday evening, commencing at 8, at his Hygeian Hall, 637 California st., and examines patients phrenologically as to health, gratis. *

Under the Occidental Hotel,

112 Montgomery street, at the store of Anderson & Randolph, you can buy watches, jewelry, silverware, etc., of the latest styles, finest quality, and at the lowest prices. x

First Premium Hair Jewelry, 519 Montgomery street, San Francisco. *

"Uneasy Rests the Head

"That wears a crown" unless it has one of Shaber & Co's wonderful easy chairs—the best and cheapest ever offered to the public. Coin will buy furniture and bedding of Shaber & Co. at very low rates. *

The Attraction at the Fair.

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one. *

New Furnishng Goods,

Cheap, at the What Cheer Laundry. *

Watches.

The finest assortment of Gold and Silver Watches ever offered for sale in this city is offered by J. W. TUCKER & Co. Also, a large assortment of Watch Chains, Jewelry, Cameos, Diamonds, Topaz, Amethyst, Coral, Turquoise, Onyx, Pearl and Etruscan Sets, etc., all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices. *

If You Want

Your Blankets and Flannels well washed, and not spoilt, send them to the What Cheer Laundry. *

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody.

Do You Know

That with BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS you can cut and make any garment to fit perfectly? Send postage stamp for an illustrated catalogue. H. A. Dem[illegible], agent, office of the Howe Sewing Machine, No. 113 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post, San Francisco. *

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Steuart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line. *

What Cheer Laundry,

The Regatta and the Reporters—A Pretentious Affair on Both Sides.

The reporters as well as the public appear to be laughing in their sleeves at the pretentious importance given to the sailing match between the three little shrimps of schooners and one sloop—all of most ordinary sailing qualities—that constitute the fleet of the organization known as the "San Francisco Yacht Club." The Chronicle says:

The steamer Antelope was chartered by the Yacht Club, and on board were assembled about two hundred and fifty of the friends of the Club, and also a few who had been seduced into paying $5 each for the privilege of taking a trip in the same vessel with the Commodore, under the impression that they would have a good time of it and have a first-rate view of the race; but, in this, all were miserably disappointed.

The Call says:

Neither the Government steamers Wyanda, General McPherson, the steam launch from Mare Island, or the steam yacht Brisk, whose presence had been predicted with some flourish of trumpets by the Club members, had steam up.

How munificently the victims who paid $5 for the privilege of taking a trip in the same boat with the members of the Yacht Club were treated, and how fittingly and appropriately the two prominent officers of the Association were engaged, is described by the reporter of the Chronicle. After stating there had been no refreshments provided, and how the guests hunted up some salt beef somewhere, he says:

This was the only solid obtainable, although a few of those initiated into the mysteries were able to obtain a little fresh fruit. Secretary Langley came out in full force, his hat fastened on with a blue silken lanyard, his hands nearly gloved; he might be seen rushing about, first with a plate piled up with fruit, and a minute afterward starting off with the more satisfying but less tasty salt beef and bread. Commodore Platt was there in all the glories of a nautical cap with an oilskin cover, marine glass slung across shoulder; but why did he not put it on in the orthodox manner, instead of so arranging it that he was continually annoyed by its getting up under his arm? He was up to his eyes in work; and we were told that, on being asked by a hungry visitor if any lunch was to be supplied, he, whilst frantically clinging to an iron stanchion (for at the moment there was a biggish lump on the water), in imitation of Admiral Farragut, cried out: "D—n the lunch! go ahead."

One paper is particularly "indebted to the commodore, secretary and others for special attention and much information." Let us annex a few specimen bricks of "information" aforesaid about the regatta from the newspaper reports; they are particularly rich. The Chronicle notes the course of the vessels after rounding the Oakland bar stake-boat in the following nautical style:

The Peerless took a long tack to starboard while the others hugged Goat Island. This yacht was able to act in this manner owing to her carrying a topsail. The Minnie hugged the island very close until passing the west end, and then tacking to starboard was was enabled to clear all.

After taking this tack, the Peerless stood toward the shipping, taking the turn of the tide which assisted in taking her down.

The Call says the Peerless, after rounding the Oakland bar stake-boat:

Stretched off free toward the city, and tacked, running close to the wind, saving all she could thereby. The tactics of the Minnie were different. She stretched off with the quartering breeze as far as possible and then made a long reach at close-hauled canvas. The little sloop Startled Fawn, was yet differently handled. She was the last to reach the first stake-boat, and her long stretches were always long when she was sailing close on the wind, which is her best point.

There is "information" for you! The course from Oakland Bar to Bird Rock off Alcatraz Island, was near a dead beat to the windward, and yet the Call speaks of one little schooner while making it as stretching off "free," and of another as sailing with a "quartering breeze as far as possible." We are also told that the sailing master of the Minnie "seemed not conversant with the peculiarly eccentric current which was running at the time, and failed in almost every instance in making points when in his power." That peculiar eccentric current so learnedly spoken of by the reporter, was simply the usual changing of tide from flood to ebb; evidently some more of that same information before alluded to. Again:

The Peerless continued her plan of rapid tacking, keeping the weather guage whenever on the wind, and gaining each attack on the schooners.

She gained each "attack" on the schooners did she. More "information." After a half column of bosh like this we are told "The run home was made in the same style, and resulted in the Peerless winning the race." We don't know who has got the best of it, the reporters in poking fun at the yacht club, as they evidently do in the first half of their articles, or the land-lubbers of the yacht club in so bamboozling the reporters with their Bunsby-like nautical language that they did not know what they were writing about. The "information" must have had a genuine ring about it to their ears, or they would never have written such bosh. The reporters if left to their own judgment would doubtless have explained things, as they have always done at previous regattas, clearly, and understandingly and in their own language. But that would not do. They must have "pints" for this great occasion—and what points they got!

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A Card from "A Mr. Thomas Hanna," in reply to Levi Rosener.—On Friday evening last, in a speech which I delivered in Pickwick Hall, I took occasion to refer to the official acts of Levi Rosener, and in such reference I produced the proofs, as copied from the records. Mr. Rosener has published a reply, which may be satisfactory to himself, but it certainly will not satisfy the public that his official acts have been free from unfairness, and, perhaps, even dishonesty. In Mr. Rosener's card he does not deny a single proposition advanced by me, which I take this occasion to reiterate. In the first place, those thirty-three gentlemen who signed the recommendation for his nomination before the Democratic Convention are assessed for, in the aggregate, $1,211,000, while their personal property is known to be worth more than $6,615,000—a difference against the city, and in favor of his friends, of $5,404,000. Mr. Rosener, in his card, says he finds no map or record of the unfair and partial assessment on Van Ness avenue. His own books, now in the hands of the Board of Equalization, convict him of all I have charged. Potrero Block, No. 171, assessed to Jacob Strahle, cost over $50,000, is mortgaged for over $20,000, and is assessed this year for $1,700. The improvements cost about $12,000, and are assessed for $1,800.

By figures obtained from the books in the Auditor's office, a decrease in the assessment of personal property since Mr. Rosener has been Assessor, shows a falling off of over $4,000,000. How about that? Mr. Rosener avoids reference to propositions made to Haynes & Lawton, Keane, O'Connor & Co., N. P. Cole & Co., Ira P. Rankin, and others, to have their assessments reduced. When he denies that anything of that kind was done, I will prove it by the gentlemen themselves, and give a new list of unfortunates which I have in my possession.

In regard to Mr. Rosener's figures, all I have to say is, that his own card falsifies itself. He says "the first six names were assessed by him for $479,000, and the seventh one [who is Michael Reese] is assessed for $2,000," which would be $481,000. Immediately following this, he says that he assessed the entire seven at $936,300. Now, this is false, for the figures I gave are correct. Those firms are assessed, respectively, $150,000, $175,000, $65,000, $9,000, $20,000, $45,000, $2,000, which, according to my addition, makes $466,000. This is taken from the assessment roll of personal property for this year. Now, the truth is, that these gentlemen have personal property amounting to over two and a half millions. The above is submitted as an example of "addition and subtraction." Mr. Rosener says the first six names were assessed by him for $479,000, and adding the seventh (which is Reese) he assessed them for $936,300. The falsehood is apparent, as Reese is assessed for only $2,000. Now where does he get the small difference of $455,300 from? Theretofore I had attributed many of the blunders and irregularities of that office to Mr. Rosener's deputies, but it seems that the Assessor himself commits errors occasionally. Since the appearance of the card of Mr. Rosener, this morning, my attention has been called to many other curiosities in the Assessment Roll of this year, for instance, the building belonging to Dr. Maxwell, on the southwest corner of Sutter and Kearny streets, assessed for $8,000. The builder of same informs me that the contract price for it was $30,250. Now for a comparison: the house of Mr. Hammersmith, on west side of Kearny street, between Bush and Pine, is assessed for $20,000, and the contract price for the same was $23,500. Here is a nice case: a brick building on Clay street, near Stockton, owned by Mr. Renton, is assessed for $13,500. The man who built it tells me the contract price was $13,250. Here is another comparison: building northwest corner of Dupont and Clay, belonging to Mr. Goldstein, is assessed for $10,500. The contractor tells me that he got $25,500 for its construction. This list, from information now before me, given by some of our leading citizens, might be indefinitely extended, but I forbear, believing that an outraged tax-paying community will go to the records and satisfy themselves as to the correctness of the statements herein presented.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

In spite of the great attraction of a free show of fireworks and torches which kept many in the street, a good audience welcomed Mrs. D. P. Bowers last night, on her making her appearance in the sensation drama of "Lady Audley's Secret." Mrs. Bowers actually seems younger than she was when she was here before, and her voice is certainly sweeter and more melodious. All know how admirable her impersonation of Lady Audley is; the wonderfully natural manner in which she plays the part, delights every one, her emulation of madness, half controlled, is a triumph of art. Mrs. Bowers was ably supported last night by John McCullough as Robert Audley, Miss May Howard as Alicia Audley, W. H. Sedley Smith as Sir Michael Audley, Henry Edwards as Luke Marks, and the other members of the company. Owen Marlowe was capital as Sir Harry Towers, Henry Edwards excellent as the brutal Luke, Mrs. C. R. Saunders very amusing as the ungrammatical Mrs. Dawson, and Mrs. E. J. Buckley did a very neat little bit of acting as Miss Tooks. This very attractive play will be performed again this evening, and the California Theatre should be crowded from pit to dome.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The present week is the last of the engagement of G. B. Waldron and Miss Isabel Smythe. To-night the sensation drama of "The Magnolia: or the Angel of the Swamp; a Tale of the Bayou," will be presented with new and appropriate scenery and a strong cast cast, comprising G. B. Waldron as Mad Bill, Miss Sallie Hinckley as Cora, Miss Isabel Smythe as Lucy Johnson, J. M. Hardie as Geo. Bessiers, and the other members of the company in parts well suited to them.

Alhambra Theatre.

The performance at this popular place of amusement went off capitally last night. Vivian made a hit in a new and original local song, 'Strolling through the Fair;" Billy Emerson caused great fun in "Italian Airs;" Charley Howard repeated his admirable impersonation of "Happy Uncle John;" Sheridan and Mack presented their Dutch specialties and the former brought down the house in the character of Kitty from Cork in the afterpiece.

Bella Union Theatre.

After a good first part and a lively interlude in which the ever fresh and pleasing Ella Wesner presented new sketches of character, the original drama of "The Game of Life; or, the Modern Harem," dramatised from a sensational, popular novel was presented and in spite of the hitches generally attendant on a first representation went remarkably well and kept the audience interested until the fall of the curtain. Aline Le Favre played the character of Anna excellently well. The play is full of villainy, murder and mystery. After a number of scenes of the most startling description, the curtain falls on a satisfactory denouement.

Theatre Comique.

To-night the big chief in minstrelsy, Johnny Tuers, will take a grand complimentary benefit. A great bill will be presented and among others volunteers, John Woodard will appear for to-night only in the act of "The Murdered Wagon Wheel." Little Maggie Knight, the new Lotta, appears nightly in song and dance and character acts. Miss Lotta in pretty ballads, Rosa Vincent and Blanche in double Highland Fling, the trio, Johnny Kelly, Chris Mathews and Bobby Scott in clog dances, Ida Fisk in song and dance, Fanny Webster in comic songs, Rose Durand in character song, and a multitude of others in a diversified entertainment.

Oxford Theatre.

"Ready" has proved a hit of the most decided kind and was keenly relished by the audience present at its first representation last night. All the characters, music and scenery, are laughably burlesqued; Charles Vincent, Amelia Dean, Ed Parks, H Morton, Lew Parker, and all the members of the company did well in their respective parts. "Ready" is in for a run.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Fiji Islanders appear daily at this delightful suburban resort and perform their war dance.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chailila Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

The Skating Rink.

The fascinating Carrie Moore gives an exhibition every evening at the Occidental Skating Rink, opposite the Mechanics' Fair Pavilion

Saturday's Figaro.

In order to remind our advertisers and those who are short-sighted enough not to advertise in FIGARO, that our boast of being "here, there and everywhere," is well-founded, we may mention that Saturday's FIGARO was distributed among no less than fifteen assemblages of people, at the theatres, Hayes Park and Woodward's Gardens. Verbum sap.

It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster bed in the State. Try them. •

LEVI ROSENER.

We publish, in our advertising columns, a card from the City and County Assessor, to which we invite immediate and particular attention. It seems that one Thomas Hanna—whoever the man may be—addressed a Republican Club in the Tenth Ward, last Friday night, for the special purpose of assailing Mr. Rosener's official acts. An examination of the speech, and an examination of the Assessor's books, render us unable to decide which, from falsifications paraded to the public, Mr. Hanna is: a deliberate concealer of facts; an ignorant and superficial "investigator;" or a paid hireling in the interest of some one who has deceived him.

Mr. Hanna, in his speech, said that the matter he was delivering was to be published. Ah, but fortunately he spoke his piece a little too soon to answer his desired ends. Had he waited some three days later, it would then have been too late to refute the mendacities and prevarications of his loosely prepared harangue.

Mr. Hanna charges that Mr. Rosener has unduly favored certain individuals and firms in the matter of assessments, because they desire his re-election; and he designated the individuals and firms by name. We propose to expose the ignorance, or insincerity, of Mr. Hanna—whichever it may be—in the premises, and to handle his figures in each of the seven cases he has cited.

Levi Straus & Co., he says, to begin with, Mr. Rosener has assessed at $150,000, when their property is well known to be worth $1,000,000. The $150,000 assessment is on personal property, and not on real estate. The real estate is assessed separately, and at its full value. Under Mr. Wheaton's administration the personal was assessed at $175,000; under Mr. Harris', $150,000; and now, under Mr. Rosener's, which succeeds, $150,000.

The next on the investigating Hanna's list is the firm of Murphy, Grant & Co. Property assessed at $175,000, he says, when it should be put at full a million. Here again, as in all subsequent cases, the assessment is on nothing but personal property. Under Mr. Wheaton's administration it was $175,000; under Mr. Harris's, $175,000, and now under Mr. Rosener's, $175,000.

Sachs & Co. come next. Assessed at $20,000, worth $150,000, says the discerning Hanna. Assessed by Mr. Wheaton at $90,000; by Mr. Harris at $75,000; and by Mr. Rosener at $65,000—not $20,000, as Mr. Hanna would have it. And here it may be stated that where there is a reduction in the amount of assessment from that of former years, it is partly because of a lessening in the price of goods since the opening of the Pacific railroad, and partly because of a reduced stock. Everybody knows that real estate is not worth as much now as it was four or six years ago.

Next we have Michael Reese, assessed at $2,000; assessed by Mr. Wheaton at $800 one year, and $2,500 the next; and by Mr. Harris at $2,500. His real estate, Mr. Rosener has assessed at $455,370.

Sachs, Strassberger & Co., follow: Assessed by Mr. Harris at $7,000; by Mr. Rosener at $9,000.

A. & N. E. Walter; Assessed by Mr. Wheaton at $15,000 and $25,000 in different years; by Mr. Harris at $35,000; and by Mr. Rosener at $35,000 and $25,000.

Hecht, Bros., close the list of this astounding manipulator of facts and figures, as, in his speech, he repeatedly declared his misrepresentations to be. Assessed at $45,000, he says: assessed really at $55,000; by his predecessor at $40,000; and by Mr. Wheaton at $35,000

As we have before said, we have no means of knowing whether Mr. Hanna has wilfully misrepresented the facts, or whether, in a weak moment, he has been egregiously imposed upon by designing others.

But our man of extraordinary figures plunges, with the recklessness of a historical bull into the locomotive, into a number of other blunders. He says that Mr. Rosener has made "very partial assessments" in this city, and cites the following as an illustration: David Abrams has a lot on Van Ness Avenue assessed at $1,400, while a neighbor, W. K. Dougherty, has one near by assessed at $250. The truth is, Mr. Abrams' lot is 72 x 109-9, and Mr. Dougherty's 120 x 109-9. The first is assessed $1,400, and the second $2,500, instead of $250. And here it may be said that if any lots in a particular block are assessed higher than others, the corner lots must be the ones, as a matter of course.

The ingenious, but rather bewildered Hanna, goes further, and says that the taxable property of the city has decreased $4,000,000 under Rosener's administration from what it was assessed in the days of Mr. Wheaton. If Mr. Hanna will take the pains to examine the statutes of the State, he will ascertain that in the meantime the Mortgage Tax law has been repealed. Mortgages to an enormous amount were assessed in the time of Mr. Wheaton, which accounts for the large excess of taxable property under his administration. In 1866–7 the assessed property, mortgages included, was $40,960,802 58. In 1867–8, mortgages not included, $28,556,806 66. Supplemental mortgage tax $22,597,452. In 1868–9, mortgages included, $40,927,201. In 1869–70, excluding mortgages, $30,680,994. Mortgages, $14,256,748. In 1870–71, no mortgages assessed $29,587,989.

But let us dismiss Mr. Hanna, with his wild, hap-hazard, distorted and incoherent array of figures. The probability is that he has been put up to the job he has undertaken by designing and interested parties. However it may be, neither he, nor his jumble of false statements can injure, in any way, Mr. Rosener, who has made a good officer, has been conscientious in the discharge of his duties, and who should certainly be re-elected.—[DAILY EXAMINER.

CARD FROM MICHAEL REESE.

EDITORS MORNING CALL:—As Mr. Thomas Hanna has seen fit to mention my name in connection with charges of under-valuation of personal and real property on the part of Levi Rosener, present Assessor of the City and County of San Francisco, and as it may seem to the public that the valuation placed upon my personal property was extremely low for a person of my reputed wealth, I beg the use of your columns to deny that Mr. Rosener has prostituted his office for my benefit, and to state that I am taxed as high and pay perhaps more than any other individual in the State. The personal property which I am possessed of consists of two horses, wagons, and office and bedroom furniture. These have been assessed for $3,000, the bulk of my property being in corporation—for which I am not directly taxed—and in real estate. William R. Wheaton, a former Assessor of this city, to silence the importunities of certain persons, made a personal examination of my books, and even prosecuted his search so far as to prove their correctness by examining my accounts at the bankers, and comparing them with those of insurance, mining, gas, street railroads, banking houses and other companies in which I hold stock. He stated that the result was not only satisfactory, but that I was taxed as high as any man in the city. This fact known to myself makes me sensitive to the implications like those made by Mr. Hanna. I feel no pecuniary interest in the success of either candidate for the Assessorship, believing that if the office is occupied by Mr. Rosener or Mr. Beaham, that I will receive no favors from either, but be assessed as heretofore—to the full value of my possessions.

MICHAEL REESE.

San Francisco, September 4, 1871.

☞A Mr. Thomas Hanna, in a speech delivered at a meeting held last week in the Tenth Ward, charged me with having assessed a number of firms at a great under-valuation. He singled out seven names and while I do not propose to notice generalities, I feel constrained, in justice to the honor and integrity of the parties named, to offer the official figures and submit the facts in the case.

One firm he alleges I assessed $150,000; another $175,000; another, $65,000; another, $9,000; another, $20,000; again $45,000; and the seventh $2,900, making $466,000.

The first six names were assessed under Mr. Wheaton's administration $352,000; under Mr. Harris, $480,000. They were ASSESSED BY ME $479,000. If this Mr Hanna had examined with a little more care, and with a desire to avoid bearing false witness against his neighbor, he could have found that the seven names he PICKED OUT were assessed by me at $936,300.

I would suggest that Mr. Hanna should practice the rule of addition and leave detraction and substraction alone. To an intelligent public it is only necessary to mention the fact that the merchants, owing to the facilities of importing goods daily from the East, keep MUCH LESS stock on hand than heretofore, and the foundation for a personal property tax has become reduced fully 30 to 40 per centum.

He states I assessed a piece of property at only $1,400, while I assessed another piece at $2 2?0. I would submit that the former is 72x109 9-12, while the latter is 120x109 9 12. The gentleman produced a map during the course of his remarks, but the same not being on file in the Assessor's office, I have no means of tracing its lines and boundaries.

Relative to gentlemen seeking me in order to have their assessments corrected, and other generalities indulged in by the speaker, I would say it is mere idle rumor, and as to the matter of Mr. Cole, I will state that he called on me, requesting his assessment to be reduced. This request I declined to accede to, but suggested his submitting the assessment to the consideration of the Board of Equalization.

My records are before the citizens of San Francisco, and to their deliberate judgement I submit my case.

sc4-3 LEVI ROSENER.

There is Nothing

Which attracts public attention more than a genteel gait in either sex, to acquire which it is necessary that children's shoes should be made to fit well, which may be accomplished by going to EAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, where our scions of respectability are daily to be seen emerging with their purchases. x

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 683 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table. •

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again. •

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oyster men, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between the California and Alhambra Theatres. There the oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—we think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in the beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Hacke, formerly of the Antelope and Bay Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of everyone. •

The Industrial Exhibition.

On the way home after visiting the Fair at the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 640 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms upstairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roederer, Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair. •

The Elixir of Youth,

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last, and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. So hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roast in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate; and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever. •

Of chronic diseases cured by chemical treatment of the blood, by Dr. Mortimore at the Morton House, Post street, near Kearny. Especially diseases of the Lungs and Throat, Ozena, Catarrh, Disease of the Heart, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Epilepsy, etc. •

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now at 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are a guarantee when all others fail. •

What is Glucolein?

A preparation of Cod Liver Oil, without any disagreeable taste; the most efficacious remedy for all pulmonary complaints. Prepared and sold by JAMES G. STEELE & Co., No. 521 Montgomery street. •

What Cheer Laundry

Is the best laundry in San Francisco.

P. Kelly, Prize Bootmaker,

Wishes to inform his customers and the public that he has withdrawn from the firm of Guerin & Kelly, and has resumed business on his own account at 239 Kearny street, corner of Bush. All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY, Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets. •

The Orchestral Grand Piano.

Hallet, Davis & Co., makers—has arrived. This is the finest piano in the world. Visitors at the Fair should see this instrument. Other styles of these celebrated pianos can be seen at the warerooms of W. G. Badger, sole agent, No. 7 Sansome street. 7

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all he Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices. •

The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the chief American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail. x

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORSHIP

H. PEARSON,

LATE OF THE RUSS HOUSE.

HAVING BOUGHT THE INTEREST of Messrs. Tubbs & Patten, of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, has secured a lease for a term of years of that well known Hotel. The previous reputation assures its being kept in first class style, while in order to keep pace with the times he intends to make many important reforms in the scale of charges. His intention is to make it a family and business house, while in connection with the traveling public warm attention is expecting a large amount of country, from the Coast and Eastern patronage. The prices will range from two to three dollars a day for ordinary accommodation. Board by the week or month by contract. The table will be kept on the old liberal scale, and many improvements introduced. The spacious reading room is the finest in the city, while the furniture and fittings throughout are superior to those of any hotel in San Francisco. The house will be thoroughly renovated, and MR PEARSON assumes possession on the 1st. The Elevator attached to the house will be in operation as usual

The Election.

The excitement and smoke of the political battle has passed away, and the result appears to be a general gain in every part of the State for the Republicans. Though the returns are not fully in, enough have been received to make certain the election of Booth by a large majority. The Republican and Tax Payers' tickets have swept the city, with probably the exception of Rosener, the Democratic candidate for Assessor, and a few ward officers. The complete returns from the Twelfth Ward this morning give Taylor, the Tax Payers' candidate, the election by 90 majority over Stanyan. Swain, the Tax Payers' candidate, will be elected in the Second Ward by some 300 majority. This will give two Tax Payers members in the new Board in the places of Kelly and Harrold. The "Ring" is a thing of the past.

LATER.

As we go to press, other returns foot up most favorably for the election of Badlam over Rosener. Badlam was badly scratched by the Jews and the printers, who worked like beavers for Rosener; but the present indications are that he is elected after all.

The Troubles of a Type-setter.

Type-setting appears a very easy thing to the looker-on as he sees the little bits of metal quickly arranged in lines by the expert compositor, but the beginner makes sad work in his attempt to get the letters all in their right places. Witness the following which appeared in the supplement of Saturday's Bulletin, on which boys are employed:

I found the Blue Crocdile, which was the house that I had been advised to stay at, one of the pleas-tkant, old-fashioned, comtoble houses,—now, alas,-i becoming everforta—in which the the buxomo landlady oney yearld friend and caterish for one's comfort wit as an oitude. My compannion would have nothing but tea, and, seated d the teatable, she looked more beautiful and chilal like than ever. There was a piano in our rood, and, as I sat musing in the gloaming, my compnion seated herself before it, and in absent man struck a few chords. Gradually she seemed mood to more effort and in a few minutes she plainved strains of Mozart's "Pro peccat's" rose upon tive air. The melancholy solemnity of the pr the seemed to harmonize with her state of sorayer and she sang the words with her heart-felt pa row, Like Rubini, she appeared to have "tears inthos. voice," which breath the very spirit of passi her sorrow. I sat entranced in a dream of blissonate wished that I could sit and listen to such musi and ever. What a life, I thought, encompassed for such sighs and sounds and fragrance, compare by the wretched drudery of my own!

This is a little incoherent, but all members of the typographic profession know how it was themselves when they first began to set type.

Why is the earth like a blackboard? Because the children of the earth multip'y on the face of it.

Academy of Sciences.

A meeting of the Academy of Sciences was held on Monday evening, Professor Doddles in the Chair.

The presence of Professor Hum, of the Jonesian Institute, was announced by the President.

Professor Jubbles said he was glad he'd come; he'd learn somethin' now, and enlarge his mind in California, the greatest country on the earth, where there was more real science than there was in all the glass-blowin' and chemical laboratories in Europe.

Professor Stummuck presented a fossil oyster from Butte county, which he thought was an antediluvian bivalve, and claimed that it was more than probable that Adam himself before his death knew the luxury of half a dozen raw. He also presented an English black-beetle, specimens of Chinese earwigs, two more oyster shells (not fossil), and a fossil ignoramus presenting remarkable points of resemblance to the President.

Professor Jubbles moved that Professor Stummuck be requested to clear away his truck, as there wasn't an atom of science in the whole bilin' of it.

The star of the evening, Professor Hum, then rose and proceeded to speak of the oil which was used at the restaurants of this city, from the Miners' up to Marchand's, as being of very inferior quality. He said that he had been sent out here to inspect it, and would recommend that in future the oil consumed in San Francisco be purchased in New York. He could recommend, scientifically, Wobbles & Son's superior clarified olive oil, price twenty-five cents a bottle, which was used in the Metropolitan Hotel, in the St. Charles Hotel, in the International Hotel, and in fact, in all the hotels. The Profe:sor then produced a gross of show-cards of Wobbles & Son's salad oil, and requested the members to hang them up in their dining-rooms. He also thought that the soap used here was of an inferior quality, and would recommend that the soap required be purchased in New York. Wobbles & Son had a very superior article of soap——

Prof. Jubbles interrupted. "He wasn't going to sit quiet and hear California manufactures run down by any carpet-bag scientist traveling for Wobbles & Son—Wobbles & Son be jiggered. He had a friend in the oil business and in the soap business and he meant to stick to his friends." Professor Jubbles was called to order and Professor Hum requsted to proceed.

He said that the lack of rain-fall in California was in the opinion of the brightest scientific minds of the Jonesian Institue, owing to a lack of moisture.

Professor Jubbles said "any darned fool knew that," and was again called to order.

Professor Hum continued and called attention to the fact that while Jones by founding the Jonesian Institute had made the name of Jones immortal, no one had followed his example on the Pacific Coast. None here seemed to care for science.

Professor Jubbles said "his blood was a bilin' at hearin' this Yankee prig—for he wasn't no better—insultin' the people of California to their faces. There were more scientists in California and better ones by a darned sight than there were East. Hadn't Woodward a museum where you could study science till you bust and hadn't he encouraged the science of anthropophagism by engaging the Fiji Indians?

Professor Smole suggested that his learned friend Professor Jubbles meant anthropology, not anthropophagism.

Professor Jubbles replied "he knowed what he meant very well, and if Professor Smole couldn't understand his long words he'd better look in Webster's dictionary for them."

Dr. Bloke exhibited under a microscope diatoms from a hot spring in Nevada; also a rare specimen conscientia causidici, another suffragantium catalogus sine fraude; but the members didn't take much interest in them, so he showed them the feathers of a butterfly's wing, the leg of a fly, and a spider's eye, and they said that was the sort of thing they liked, and voted the thanks of the Academy to Dr. Bloke.

The meeting then adjourned.

How pleasant is a lovely thing out of season—a rose-bud in Winter, for instance, or a kiss in church when the deacon's eyes are closed in prayer! Stolen apples don't begin with it.

Philosophy of Marriage.

Unhappy marriage is the quintessence of human bondage. It wounds daily our fondest and sweetest impulses; it stifles and buries our holiest and dearest affections, and writes over the tomb thereof, "No hope." It imbitters its victim with the thought that lost forever to his or her life is the glory of a great love; closed forever to him or her the portal of a happy home, that fountain of freshness and delight, at which the soul must needs drink to gather strength for the heat and burden of the outside battle.

"It's a desp'rt thing," said old Joe Smykers; a desp'rt thing. That 'ere young couple whov'e been billin' and cooin', and makin' eyes at one another for a month, have now gone to the minister, and got a permit to see if they can't keep it up for a lifetime!"

Marriage is like a silk purse, most agreeable to bear when there is plenty of money in it.

Marriage is like a mouse-trap: Once get into it, and you are caught, without the least prospect of recovering your liberty.

Marriage is like a "rose tree in full bearing." How attractive are its flowers! But the bright leaves fall after a season, and the thorns alone remain.

Marriage, among fools, is like a boiled cals's head without the accompaniment of brains.

Marriage is like a roast leg of mutton on Sunday—served up cold on Monday—ditto with pickles on Tuesday—and hashed up cold on Wednesday.

Negro Minstrelsy.

An exchange says:

Napeleon III., in his days of empire, while quite indifferent to the fantasies of the more classic musicians, went into undisguised rapture over the simple negro melodies of the minstrels, and even now he enjoys them at his Chiselhurst home.

The San Jose people didn't know that such a distinguished personage liked negro minstrels or they would have shown more appreciation of Emerson's band when they visited that city.

A Slight Improvement.

The consequence of our flagellation of the Alta was visible in Monday's issue. "Sauce" contained some really bright paragraphs. "Swallow's" contribution consisted mainly of a well-written puff of Woodward's Gardens, in which we suppose there was "business," and "Etiquette" was entirely suppressed. For this relief much thanks.

Experienced.

A man in New Hampshire has become so used to matrimony, that on the occasion of marrying his fourth wife, when the minister requested the couple to stand up, he said, "I've usually sat."

Characteristic.

A young furniture-manufacturing apprentice was standing on Kearny street yesterday afternoon, when he observed a lady passing who was gotten up regardless of expense, and turning to his friend, said: "By Jove, Charley, isn't she splendidly upholstered?"

The following is probably the worst conundrum ever perpetrated. Why is a dog's tail like an old man? Because it is in-firm.

These "Materfamillas"

who really feel interested in their children' gait should call at KAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, to see the sense displayed in his peculiar make of children's Balmorals and Button Gaiters, the adoption of which will certainly guarantee comfort, ease and grace. *

A Fair Proposition.

We are authorized to say that Pipifax Bitters will be given free of charge to those suffering from dyspepsia, biliousness, indigestion, inaction of the liver and loss of appetite, to convince them that they can find permanent relief by drinking that valuable tonic. Nearly all Great Men

Use tobacco in some form, and fine cut is most sought for because of its exquisite flavor. Veteran chewers say that the tobacco which contains the most happy combination of flavors is the "Sunny Side" brand, it being cut from pure Kentucky leaf. *

Of all the desirable articles exhibited at the Fair—and there are legions—the best thing we have seen is the Patent Rotary Novelty Table Waiter, exhibited by Haynes & Lawton. It does its work silently, effectively, and is besides a handsome table ornament. We advise ladies to inspect it. Every family should have one. *

SACRED SILENCE.

Never with blasts of trumpets
And the chariot wheels of fame
Do the servants and sons of the Highest
His oracles proclaim;
And, when grandest truths are uttered,
And when holiest depths are stirred,
When our God himself draws nearest,
The still, small voice is heard.

He has sealed with His own silence
His years that come and go, ringing still their mighty measures
Of glory and of woe.
Have you heard one note of triumph
Proclaim their course begun?
One voice of bell give tidings
Wh n their ministry was done!

Unheralded and unheeded
His revelations come;
His prophets before their scorners
Stand resolute and dumb!
But a thousand years of silence
And the world fail to adore,
And kiss the feet of martyrs
It crucified before!

I hear in this sacred stillness
The fall of angelic feet,
I feel white hands on my forehead,
With a benediction sweet;
No echo of worldly tumult
My beautiful vision mars;
The silence itself is music,
Like the silence of the stars!

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.—The San Jose Patriot of September 2d has this item:

On the morning of the 1st of September T. J. Bowens, who resided near Lexington, was found in his cabin door dead with a bullet hole in his head. The afternoon before his partner came into San Jose to attend the Republican speaking. On going home the next morning he found Bowens dead, lying in the doorway, and a rifle gun, grasped near the muzzle by his left hand, was lying across his body. It is supposed that he drew the gun out from the corner of the cabin, and that the hammer of the lock caught on some sacks of potatoes, pulling it back, discharging the gun and sending the ball into the head of the deceased, killing him instantly.

GOOD YIELD.—The Yreka Union of September 2d says: We learn that Chris McNulty, whose place is just below town on the road to Hawkinsville, got 920 bushels of grain from a little patch of ten acres—volunteer crop at that. He says he is certain if he had not turned in some cattle, which he did, he would have had 1,000 bushels at least. And it is not a very good season for grain either.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

California Theatre.

Mrs. D. P. Bowers has perfectly captivated our public, and the applause which rewards her efforts in the character of Lady Audley attests how thoroughly art and genius is appreciated. "Lady Audley's Secret" will be performed again to-night.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night the thrilling play of "The Magnolia" with its sensational scenes, interesting plot, new scenery and fine acting, by all engaged in its representation, will be repeated.

Alhambra Theatre.

Billy Emerson is immense in Italian Airs; C. O. Vivian's new song, "Strolling Through the Fair," has made a hit; Charley Howard is wonderfully original as Happy Uncle John, and Sheridan and Mack are inimitable in song and dance, and altogether the best troupe of minstrels in the United States appear in a rich and varied programme.

Bella Union Theatre.

Amusement can be found at the Bella Union in listening to the sweet songs in the first part; gazing on the graceful feats of Johnny Manning on the trapeze, and the original dances of the Reynolds Brothers, and witnessing the wonderful characterizations of the inimitable Ella Wesner. The evening's amusement concludes with the thrilling drama of "The Game of Life," in which Aline Le Favre plays Anna with a spirit, vivacity and abandon that charm all.

Theatre Comique.

The fun at this popular place of amusement is never allowed to flag for a moment from the time the curtain rises until it falls, which is not until 12 o'clock.

Oxford Theatre.

"Ready" is most faithfully burlesqued at the Oxford, every character and scene in the drama having a grotesque counterpart in the burlesque. The sensations are of the most extraordinary character. The burlesque is preceded by an amusing first part and entertaining interlude of songs, dances, acts and tableaux.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Fiji Islanders appear daily at this delightful suburban resort and perform their war dance.

Anatomical Museum.

The Florentine Venus is the admiration of all visitors, and is one of the finest works of art in San Francisco. The Dying Zouave is an exquisite piece of mechanism; the De Chaillu Gorilla astonishes the beholder, and thousands of curiosities too numerous to mention, are on exhibition day and evening.

The Skating Rink.

The fascinating Carrie Moore gives an exhibition every evening at the Occidental Skating Rink, opposite the Mechanics' Fair Pavilion.

Benefit of Charles Vivian.

This very popular character vocalist to whom the public owe so much amusement, will take his benefit to-morrow night. His friends are legion and the house will be crowded.

A Pertinent Query.

Some "brute" of an editor asks: "If women are not naturally wicked, how is it they appear to love wickedness? Murderers and other great criminals seem to fascinate them. The latest instance is that of Hunter, the Akron murderer. When this man, who had slain the father and mother of the girl he professed to love, was being [illegible] to jail under a sentence of death, a number of women collected in the street [illegible] yard to give him flowers, while heartened so far as to kiss him."

Murder's Mishaps.

A boarder in a house in Albany overcome by the heat, one night took up his abode on top of a henhouse. Just as he got asleep the roof gave way and precipitated him among the fowls. The hens squawked and raised such a clatter that the landlord thought a thief was in the tannery and gave the unfortunate boarder an unmerciful beating, and passed him over to an officer before he discovered his mistake.

How Scott Drank Sherry.

Sir Walter Scott was temperate in his habits. Even when playing the host, he would adroitly substitute the appearance for the reality of drinking. The decanter before him might appear to contain Sherry, but Macbeth, his ponderous butler, had filled it with toast water.

Business-Like.

They do business with dispatch in Texas. A man in a certain neighborhood, who had lost a valuable mare, received the following by telegraph: "Mare here; come and get her. Thief hung."

The Place.

The Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, a few doors above Montgomery, is the place supplied with every luxury and comfort with best of attendants, and with the largest and fattest oysters. It is not strange it should do the largest oyster business in the city. Emerson Corville's oysters are gathered fresh every day—Eastern and California transplanted ones, from his own oyster beds at San Bruno; the first oyster beds in the State. Try them.

New Furnishing Goods,

cheap, at the What Cheer Laundry.

Drs. Macbeth & Grattan's

Medical Institute, No. 322 Bush street, opposite Alhambra Theatre, San Francisco.—Specific and chronic diseases made a specialty, and cures guaranteed in every case according to agreement, or no charge.

MRS. COLBURN.

A Pen-picture of the Ohio "Borgia."

[Cincinnati Gazette London (O.) Letter.]

The principal character in this now famous case has been spoken of as a woman of remarkable beauty. Those of us who see her sitting here in this examining court can see very little foundation for such a statement. What she might have been when eighteen years ago she became the bride of an old man of seventy years, is but dimly seen now. She is somewhat above the ordinary height. Her complexion is dark, in keeping with her abundant dark hair and brownish gray eyes. Her features are rather small, but well-formed, and her face wears in repose a thoughtful, half-anxious aspect, wonderfully in contrast with its animation when the merry sparkle of her eyes is wakened by conversation. Hers is not a sympathetic face. It would not win a child's confidence; it might command its respect.

She is dressed with remarkable plainness for one who has risen from a country girl to the possession of nearly a million dollars and to the position of a New York banker. She wore yesterday a plain black alpaca dress, with brown linen overskirt and close-fitting basque. To-day she wears a half-mourning silk. With her simple leghorn hat, plainly trimmed, she could not be distinguished from any well-to-do farmer's wife of Madison county.

She tries to engage herself in reading during the examination, and for that purpose she is supplied with the daily papers and with a magazine, but her eyes continually wander from the printed page to the witness or to the attorneys. To-day, however, she has eschewed reading altogether. Her husband, the well-known war correspondent of the World, sits by her side with the same unmoved face he wore when looking into the jaws of death before Vicksburg. He has no concern about the issue of the trial; he already sees his wife triumphantly acquitted of the grave charge against her. This is what his whole manner reveals. He says he and Mrs. Colburn are daily in receipt of letters from friends and strangers expressive of sympathy, and suggesting explanations of the presence of arsenic in the remains of Peter Buffenbarger. These letters are so numerous that he can not reply to them all.

Sudden Terror.

Charles Gustavus of Sweden, was besieging Prague, when a boor of most extraordinary visage demanded admittance into his tent; and being allowed entrance, offered by way of amusing the King, to devour a whole hog of one hundred pounds weight in his presence. The old General Konningsmark, who stood by the King's side, and who, soldier as he was, had not got rid of the prejudice of his childhood, hinted to his royal master that the peasant ought to be burned as a sorcerer. "Sir," said the fellow, irritated at the remark, "if your Majesty will make but that old gentleman take off his sword and spurs I will eat him immediately before I begin the hog." General Konningsmark (who had, at the head of a body of soldiers, performed wonders against the Austrians, and who was looked upon as one of the bravest men of the age) could not stand this proposal, accompanied as it was by a most hideous and preternatural expansion of the frightful peasant's jaws. Without uttering a word, the veteran suddenly turned round, ran out of the court, and did not think himself safe till he had arrived at his quarters, where he remained about four and twenty hours locked up securely, before he had got rid of the panic which had so severely affected him.

KILLED BY A HORSE.—A. M. Kent, a resident of Sweetland, on a business visit to Susanville, Lassen county, was killed by a vicious horse, August 28th. He was found in the stable about 10 o'clock A. M., in a dying condition, and died at 2 o'clock A. M. the next day.

RICH ROCK.—The Calaveras Chronicle says: An ounce of quartz taken from the Palomo, ex-Senator Gwin's mine, assayed by Dr. Hepburn of this town recently, yielded two dollars. This is at the rate of over $6,000 per ton. Where is the mine that can beat it?

NEW HOBBY.—The girls have got a new hobby. This time it is a collection of different patterns of printed calico. One in New Hampshire exhibits a thousand different kinds.

WANT TO KNOW.—We should like to hear the sentiments of the schoolmaster's wife on the subject of her husband being so often abroad.

NONE.—No people under heaven can excel the Americans in the manly art of sitting on a bench and watching eighteen men play base-ball.

LIKE.—We know of a wedded couple who are like two milestones. They are never seen together.

A QUESTION.—Can a man who is always following a good example ever be in a position to set one?

GOOD COUNSEL.—Danger should be feared when distant, and braved when present.

FRIGHTENED.—An Illinois man got married, spent the first night of the honeymoon in the woods, and ran away the next day.

A TRIAL TRIP.—A trip with two Saratoga trunks, four bandboxes and a—woman.

QUERY.—Ought a gardener's wife to have anything to do with rakes? Hoe dear, no!

The California Stock.

Very pleasant entertainments are given by the California Theatre stock company without the assistance of stars. The fact is, the stock are good. Another fact is that the fine old stock ale to be found at the FIGARO SALOON, opposite the stage entrance, where the RED LIGHT burns, is admirable, and is much appreciated by those who step out between the acts and are posted as to the best place to go for a drink. HERMANN keeps the best whisky, brandy and liquors of all kinds, and all who visit the FIGARO SALOON once go there again.

Throw Out Your Chest!

A man should stand up like a man, throw out his chest and throw his shoulders back, thus giving room for the free action of the lungs. The Champion and Pivot-action Braces sold by C. H. Burr, sole agent for the Pacific Coast, 618 Market street, will be found to afford efficient aid in accomplishing this. They are superior to all others, and cost no more.

A FATAL QUARREL.

A Cincinnati Beauty Instantly Killed by Her Jealous Suitor.

[From the Cincinnati Enquirer, August 14.]

The neighborhood of 202 East Eighth street, in this city, was startled last night by a tragedy. The victim was a young girl scarcely eighteen years of age, by name Margaret Maloney. She resided in the second story of the building with her mother, who is a widow, and her younger sister. She and her sister were employed at the cotton factory of Pierce & Co., not far from their home. Below this room, on the ground floor, lives Mrs. Duncan and her family, consisting of a husband, two boys and two girls. Mrs. Duncan keeps a few groceries for sale in the front room of her residence. She was a widow, and her name was Hussman before she married Mr. Duncan. The children are all the offspring of the former marriage.

JOHN HUSSMAN,

who committed the murder, is about twenty-one years of age. It is said he was at one time a beau of Margaret's, but for a few weeks past they have not been upon good terms. Yesterday they were known to be in a state of mutual irritation. During the day Hussman called her a night-walker, or used language of a similar import. At this she was enraged, and threatened vengeance. Last evening, about eleven o'clock, Miss Maloney and her sister were out with a friend. Hussman regarded this friend as a rival, and probably his indignation was further kindled at this circumstance. When the girls returned he was sitting in the door of his mother's grocery, which was open, and near which the party had to pass to reach the upper rooms of the Maloneys. He was heard to say, "Here comes the thing now." Maggie, as she is called, it is supposed heard the remark. Stung with it, and with former indignities, she picked up a brick or a boulder and hurled it at the young man's head.

HE DODGED BACK

into the room, and the door was shut a moment, then reopened, and the fatal shot instantly fired by Hussman. The girl spoke not a word. Her mother, who knew of the difficulty, had been attracted to the spot by the loud and angry conversation, and attempted to pacify the parties. Maggie sank into her arms and expired.

The bullet entered the fleshy part of the left arm and passed into the vital organs, where it lodged, making but one small, deadly wound, from which the blood flowed freely, saturating and coloring her garments. The boy Hussman disappeared, but was soon found in the cellar and was taken into custody.

For a short time it seemed as though the rage of the crowd would prevail over the authority of the officers. Force and reason at last prevailed, and the cowering, trembling, bleeding young man was taken to the Hammond-street Station and locked up. Hussman is a house painter, and his general character is said to be good.

Heavy Boots.

In Worcester, Mass., are several factories which make a specialty for boots for the coal miners of Pennsylvania and formidable articles of attire these are from the description. The leg is made of heavy leather and comes far up toward the thigh, and the soles are three-quarters of an inch thick and made to guard the foot like the "fenders" on a river steamer. The heels also project in the same manner, and flare out toward the bottom, so that a very respectable hold is afforded the wearer. In both sole and heel flat headed nails, the tops about as large as a gold dollar are driven as closely as possible, so that the entire bottom of the boot is metal clad, and and as if this were not enough, three long nails of Swedish iron are driven through the heel and clinched on the inside, and six are driven similarly through the shank. The sewing on these slippers is done with a six-corded thread, calculated to bear a weight of 100 pounds. A pair of these miner's boots will weigh six and a half pounds, the leather weighing five pounds, and the armor in the shape of nails one and a half.

WHAT CAN SHE WANT WITH IT?—The Territorial Enterprise says: "A day or two since a gentleman visited the office of Coroner Symons in this city, and asked to be given the rope with which Geo. B Kirk was hanged by the Vigilance Committee. He said a lady in San Francisco was very anxious to get it, and if the Coroner would oblige him by letting him have it, he would forward it to her. The Coroner brought it out and gave it to him with both knot and noose in it, just as it was used! We happened to be present at the time, and tried to learn something in regard to the use that was to be made of the rope, but made no progress toward our object. We are pretty sure, however, that it is is wanted because of some superstitious notion held by the lady in regard to the peculiar virtues of a rope at the end of which a man has died."

There is Nothing

Which attracts public attention more than a genteel gait in either sex, to acquire which it is necessary that children's shoes should be made to fit well, which may be accomplished by going to EAST'S Fashionable Shoe Store, Nos. 322 and 324 Bush street, opposite the Alhambra Theatre, where our scions of respectability are daily to be seen emerging with their purchases.

Deery's Billiard Academy.

It is as necessary for a gentleman to be able to play billiards as it is for a lady to know how to dance. Those whose education is deficient in the first respect will be glad to learn that John Deery, the ex-champion of the United States, has taken rooms at 583 Market street, between Montgomery and Kearny streets, and is prepared to give lessons in the noble game to amateurs between the hours of 12 M. and 10 P.M. Billiards and pool every day and evening may be enjoyed here. The choicest brands of wines, liquors and cigars are kept at the bar. A few lessons from John Deery will teach a man more about billiards than he could find out for himself in years by "scratching" round a billiard table.

Julien Perrault, M. D.,

Office 502 Montgomery street, northeast corner of Sacramento st., San Francisco, Rooms 9, 10 and 11. Consultations in English, French, German and Spanish.

Silver Plating.

Articles from which the silver has been worn are received for re-plating by Haynes & Lawton, Market street, under the Grand Hotel.

AT THE CIRCUS.

Across the ring, with its blaze of lights,
From fly to fly in the heated air,
A slack rope hung and its spangled tights,
But "Signor" somebody's swinging there.

Now he swung by a single arm,
Now by a single leg swung he,
A fall had done him a grievous harm,
He balanced and turned so recklessly.

I watched awhile, "It is well," I said,
"If people want reckless feats, it is well,
The tickets are bought, the money is paid,
And 'twere more of a show if he fell."

I turned away; he was swinging yet;
And I glanced on the crowded tent around—
Tier upon tier, like a ringed parquette—
Breathlessly watching without a sound.

In a graceful pose, on a cushioned seat,
I saw Her sitting to gaze at the man.
You could almost have heard my poor heart beat,
With the riotous blood that through it ran.

There she sat with her splendid eyes
Fixed upon the fellow so earnestly,
With more of the interest I should prize
Than ever she gave in a glance to me.

Every time that he balanced and turned,
O, but her eyes grew large and shone,
Her bosom heaved, and her fair cheek burned;
To me she had been like a block of stone.

This poor, pitiful circus man,
Swinging each night for his daily bread,
Had moved her more, since his act began,
Than I could, stretched on my dying bed.

Hollow, hollow, and false as hell!
Love is a cheat, and life is a wreck!
What cared I if he swung or fell?
What cared I if he broke his neck?

BEYOND.

I said, "The world is so dark, so dark,
There is never a gleam for me;
The sun is gone out of my life and love."
And I cried, "Ah, woe is me!
Must ever my lot on life's shady side be,
And no warmth from love's sunlight e'er fall upon me?"

I made my moan with an aching heart,
Looking down to the depths of woe,
And the shadows gathered and held me close,
Wherever my feet would go,
Till I cried in despair, and a voice made reply:
"Look up from this earth to the beam in the sky."

I looked; and, behold! a tiny beam
Of sunshine, golden and bright,
Shone out of the clouds with a tender grace,
Like a gleam of heavenly light;
And it fell on my heart, and the gloom passed away,
Like the shadows of light from the opening day.

While I gazed with ever fresh delight,
Lo! it spread the heavens o'er,
Filling my soul with its radience bright,
And I sang, "I shall sorrow no more;
For whatever my lot, I can bear it, while I
Can look up from this earth to the beam in the sky."

A Convention of Hawks.

The Los Angeles Star of August 31 says: On Thursday of last week there was noticed in the vicinity of the Mission, San Gabriel, a very singular circumstance which attracted great attention, as well from its novelty as from the cause of its occurrence and the object to be achieved. This was a vast assemblage of hawks over the lake, and the adjoining grounds of Mr. Wilson and Colonel Kewen. It is estimated that there must have been hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of birds in the assemblage. They were noticed for a long time—some hours—circling around, evidently holding a convention, discussing the news of the day, the prospects for grub, and the chances for passing the coming season. After cancussing and button holeing each other for a given time, they seem to have come to the decision that times were hard, that chickens were scarce, that the people were hostile, and that any other locality offered better opportunities for plunder than the precincts from which they had to come to attend the convention. We suggest that this was the conclusion arrived at, for at the end of the conference, the vast body was got into array, leaders were advanced, the flanks were protected, and a rear-guard duly appointed, and when all these arrangements were completed, the order to march, or for flight, was given, and they sailed away in a southeasterly direction. The questions for the scientists, are: why this convention of hawks, where did they come from, why meet at that particular locality, and where did they go to? Answers required.

WELLERISM.—"You are always trying to make game of people, but ain't able to do it," as the woodcock said to the sportsman.

The Immortal Squarza.

Squarza has departed from the Golden State, but he has left his works behind him, and even when he dies they will live after him. A magnificent monument to his memory may be seen in the Mechanics' Fair. It is composed of bottles filled with the spiritual essences which he so happily combined to make merry the hearts of men, and is surmounted by a well-executed image of Squarza himself, supported by figures representing the infant Bacchus. Something of the same kind will be exhibited at the State Fair at Sacramento, and here and there and everywhere will Squarza's famous punches bear off the first premium.

A Sensation in Hats.

The new Fall and Winter styles are fast arriving at "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. One in particular has already been adopted as the fashion; it is a fine low-crowned felt hat, with a curved brim, and is called "The Grand Duke." Those who wish to be in the fashion must go to "THE" Hat Store, long famed for having the latest styles and for its moderate prices.

S. P. R. R. News Agency.

James Miller supplies the reading wants of the passengers on the Southern Pacific Railroad with the latest San Francisco papers, and Eastern Illustrated ones, and magazines, at San Francisco prices. He also supplies FIGARO to the passengers on the upward bound trains, at San Francisco rates—free of charge.

Every Form.

Of chronic diseases cured by chemical treatment of the blood, by Dr. Mortimore at the Morton House, Post street, near Kearny. Especially diseases of the Lungs and Throat, Ozena, Catarrh, disease of the Heart, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Epilepsy, etc.

Washing Returned in One Day

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry.

Creme de Lis.

Beautiful is the finish developed by the use of DICKEY'S celebrated CREME DE LIS, a pure transparent complexion being imparted. No poison enters its composition.

To Bons Vivants.

There are a good many epicures in San Francisco, and a man of sufficient taste and ability to cater to their appetite is pretty sure to succeed. This fact accounts for the large business done by Winant & Co., the famous oystermen, at the Pacific Oyster Saloon, 337 Bush street, two doors below Kearny, between California and Alhambra Theatres. There oysters seem fatter than anywhere else—think Winant fattens them somehow or other—and are more artistically served up. Everyone goes there to eat new laid eggs from Winant's ranch; ladies go there to lunch in beautifully fitted up little parlors, and Charley Haacke, formerly of the Antelope and Pacific Oyster saloons, attends to the comfort of visitors.

The Industrial Exhibition

On the way home after visiting the Fair and the Pavilion, many will stop in to rest at the famous Bivalve Oyster and Chop House, 121 Market street, near the corner of Kearny street, where they can find fresh Eastern transplanted oysters served up in every style. This house is noted for having the finest private rooms up stairs of any in the city. Large rooms en suite for supper and wedding parties. Here can be found the finest wines, including Roeder's Krug, Private Cuvee, and all the best brands. The Bivalve is open nearly all night. This is the place to get your oysters after the Fair.

The Elixir of Youth.

For which the sages and philosophers of old searched in vain, has been discovered at last and brought within the reach of all. Nature has provided it in one of the choicest luxuries, and Emerson Corville & Co. are the dispensers of it at the noted Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street. Then hurry up before it is too late, and every day take a plate of their delicious oysters, either on the half shell, raw, stewed, fried, roasted in the shell, fancy roast, steamed, curried, scalloped, or in any style your fancy may dictate, and your youth and beauty will never fade, but remain glorious forever.

Deposit your Money.

With the Land Mortgage Union, interest allowed from day of deposit. No entrance fee or charge for passbooks. Office 123 Post street, open on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

It has No Rival.

Purify your blood, strengthen your system, eradicate scrofula and humors of every description, by taking "Fluid Extracts of Sarsaparilla and Yellow Dock with Iodids of Potash." Prepared by Moody, apothecary, northeast corner of Kearny and Sutter.

Look Out!

Remember on Tuesday evening, September 5th, Johnny Tuers will take his first benefit at the Theatre Comique. A tremendous bill will be presented.

Dr. Flattery.

Dr. Flattery's wide-known celebrity and Private Hospital—opportunities, a lifetime experience in this and other countries, and now 305 Montgomery street, San Francisco—are guarantees when all others fail.

What is Glucolein?

A preparation of Cod Liver Oil, without a disagreeable taste; the most efficacious remedy for all pulmonary complaints. Prepared and sold by JAMES G. STEELE & Co., No. 4 Montgomery street.

All ladies visiting the Mechanics' Fair should not fail to inspect the splendid display of Ladies' and Gents' Boots and Shoes made by P. KELLY Prize Bootmaker, corner of Bush and Kearny streets.

The Orchestral Grand Piano.

Hallet, Davis & Co., makers—has arrived. This is the finest piano in the world. Visitors at the Fair should see this instrument. Other styles of these celebrated pianos can be seen at the warerooms of W. G. Badger, sole agent, No. 7 Sansome street.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of Figaro among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines at San Francisco prices.

The Newest Publications.

All readers like to receive their books, magazines and newspapers as soon as possible after publication. Loomis, at the southeast corner of Washington and Sansome streets, on the way to the post-office, is agent for all the choice American and English magazines and newspapers and delivers them to subscribers immediately on the arrival of the mail.

Dr. Doherty

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below What Cheer House.

"FIGARO"

Published every day, except Sunday, by

P. BOGARDUS

—AT—

327 Merchant St. and 535 Washington St

Below Montgomery Block.

FRIDAY.....SEPTEMBER 8, 1871

FIGARO ON THE CALA. PACIFIC RAILROAD.

FIGARO is thoroughly distributed every day on the cars of the California Pacific Railroad, leaving Marysville for Vallejo and San Francisco at 1 o'clock P. M.

FIGARO ON THE OAKLAND BOATS.

200 "Figaros" are distributed on the Oakland Ferry boats every afternoon, mostly among the passengers arriving by the great Overland Train.

FIGARO ON THE VALLEJO BOAT.

200 "Figaros" are distributed every day among the passengers on the Steamer Capital, on her afternoon trip from Vallejo to this city.

FIGARO ON THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD

"Figaro" is circulated every day on the cars of the Southern Pacific R. R. which leave San Jose for this city at 3:20 P.M

Too Bad.

A little girl, dressed in bloomer costume, who had been seated between her elder sister and her beau, during a drive to the country, on her return addressed her mother thus: "Ma, ma, I won't ride with sister Jane and Thos. Smith any more, for he kept a-hugging and a-kissing her all the while. Now just see how mussed up my pretty bloomer hat, is at the same time holding up to the astonished mother's view a dilapidated looking bloomer. "Susan! Susan! how can you talk so?" was the mother's exclamation. "It can't be possible that your sister allows Mr. Smith to take such liberties!" "Yes, but it is possible," was the reply of the mischievous little minx, "and mother, she likes it, for she leans up to him just like brother Jack's Guinea pig when he scratches his back."

Slanderous Statement.

Patton, who shot Engleke near Alameda, confesses to having beheaded two ducks and two hens, but indignantly denies having stabbed the cow. We hope that the papers which set this cruel report afloat will, out of regard for Mr. Patton's feelings, correct it. He killed the ducks, killed the hens, nearly killed Engleke, and tried to kill the house dog, but never stabbed the cow. The cow was stabbed, but he was not the man who did the deed.

The Worst We Ever Published.

Suppose you hire a boat at the rate of $1 an hour, and the wind should suddenly rise and cause the water to dash into your boat and wet your feet and clothing; and you then take a tin wash-basin and empty all the water in the boat over the side: why would your boat resemble a prisoner who finds security for his appearance at court on the day after his trial? Because it is bailed out.

Life.

In recompense for the shortness of life entailed by some occupations, it must be regarded as a consoling, almost a sublime fact, that labor, in general, does not tend to shorten life, but rather, by strengthening the body, to lengthen it; while idleness and luxury are productive of the same results as the most unhealthy occupations.

A Profitable Sweetheart.

A toll-gate keeper in England was brought before a magistrate for cruelty to his daughter. The trouble arose from a discovery that the girl, who was frequently left in charge, used to allow her sweetheart, a young butcher, to drive his wagon through free. "She never tolled her love."

In the lives of all whom the world calls great we find that difficulties hardships, dangers, antagonisms abounded, and not till all these were overpast and overcome were they crowned with the bay leaf.

Ladies And Gentlemen.

Guerin & Son, prize boot and shoe makers are rapidly clearing out their immense stock of stylish boots and shoes, at low prices. Call to day and save your money, 327 and 329 Bush street. x

Everbody Buys Them.

What? The hundred various compounds prepared only from Stenart's refined sugar, by Canty & Wagner, 107 Montgomery street. Their candies have been famed for their delicious flavors for years, and the firm does an immense trade, both in the jobbing and retail line. •

The Old Age of Flirts.

It is remarkable, but nevertheless true, as a rule, flirts, both male and female, do not marry quickly. The chances are that a girl who becomes engaged at eighteen, and goes on becoming engaged and disengaged, as it is the custom for flirts to do, ultimately settles down into a confirmed old maid, too. If she does wed, as a general rule she developes into the most virulent wasp, makes her husband miserable, and brings up her children badly.
